HUMOR OF THE DAY

First Cat—She's 32, you know.

Second Ditto—I know, but she calls it "turned 23."—Exchange.

Jack—What did the landlady do when she found that you had left the light burning for three days.

Spratt—She turned us both out.—Detroit News.

Mrs. Gadder—And will this cleaning fluid take the spots out of everything?

Clerk—Yes, ma'am. By 1931 there won't be a leopard left in the world. —The Pathfinder.

"George broke up my party the other evening. He started to tell a naughty story and I had to send him home."

"Well?"

"But all the rest followed him home to hear the end of it."—The Medley.

Judge to prisoner—Say, when were you born?

No reply.

Judge—I say, when was your birthday?

Prisoner (sullenly)—Wot do you care? You ain't gonner give me nothing!—The Drexerd.

The Visitor—Is your eldest sister married—the one who was so proficient in all branches of domestic science?

Philippa—No, nor likely to be. She was so busy fitting herself to be the wife of a good man that she neglected to go after the man.—Exchange.

"I am a woman of few words," announced the haughty mistress to the new maid. "If I beckon with my finger, that means, come."

"Suits me, mum," replied the girl. "I'm a woman of few words myself. If I shake me head, that means I ain't comin.'"—Sidmouth Observer.

"I tell you I won't have this room," protested the old lady to the bellboy. "I aint going to pay good money for a pigpen with a measly little folding bed in it. You think just because I'm from the country—"

Disgusted, the boy cut her short. "Get in, lady. Get in. This ain't your room. This is the elevator."—Masonic Craftsman.

KALEIDOSCOPE

Nearly 85 per cent. of Belgium's export grapes go to London.

Avocados, introduced into Palestine from California, have been found to thrive near Jaffa.

Japanese women have taken their places in the faculty of colleges, in the nursing profession and in the labor unions.

England's first conducted air tour will leave Croydon aerodrome soon for a twenty-day trip covering 3,425 miles and visiting France, Spain, Portugal and North Africa.

Prince Abdul Kadir, son of the last sultan of Turkey, was ordered ejected from his lodgings in Budapest, Hungary, for nonpayment of rent. The prince has been trying to support a large family by playing in a jazz band in coffee houses.

Leaves in a garden bower in a movie set at Hollywood had to be sprayed with glycerine to keep them from interrupting a singer. It was found that the leaves vibrated in the orchestral accompaniment, so that the rustle was apparent in the delicate microphone. The glycerine was used to soften this counter-vibration.

In Otis C. West the Rogers Park Chicago Post of the American Legion claims the oldest Legionnaire in the country. West will be eighty on May 28, his next birthday. He had retired from the army after thirty years of service, during which he never answered sick call or was in the guardhouse, and when he joined the army at the outbreak of the World war, at the age of sixty-seven, he had to have special permission from the war department.

Mrs. Ella Upton, over eighty years of age, of Corona, Cal., is said to be one of the most enthusiastic motorists on record. In the last few years she has made five round trips to points as far east as New York city, always traveling alone in her coupe. She is said to think nothing of driving from Corona to San Francisco, a distance of more than 500 miles, to visit friends for a few days.

Instead of the ringing of an alarm clock, the notes of a strange canary woke Edwin H. Dietzer at his Buffalo (N. Y.) home. Dietzer rubbed his eyes incredulously. But this was no dream. There was the canary, perched on the head of the bed, trilling out a cheerful song to the morning. The bird, which had come in an open window, is extraordinarily tame, and perches at times on Mr. Ditzer's finger or on his shoulder.

Four of seven children in the family of Mrs. Frank Dvorak, a widow at Luzerne, Ia., were born on Lincoln's birthday, February 12. Three were born in Czechoslovakia before Mrs. Dvorak came to join her husband in the United States in 1913. Dvorak died a year ago. The quartet claiming February 12 as their birthday are Mrs. Frances Prchal, twenty-six; Mrs. Blanche Lagos, twenty; Mary Dvorak, eighteen, and Lillian Dvorak, nine.

STOCK PRICES SAGGED YESTERDAY IN AN EXTREMELY DULL MARKET SESSION

NEW YORK, May 15—(AP)—Speculative sentiment reversed itself in the stock market today and prices sold off during most of an extremely apathetic session. Total sales dropped to 3,675,470 shares, about 25,000 below Tuesday's volume, which had been the smallest since late February.

The list was routed from its rut in the final hour when a bear group launched a vigorous drive on leading issues, but the movement was almost entirely in the hands of the bored floor traders who just before the closing gong bought back the stocks they had sold, thereby reducing net losses to one to four points in the most active shares.

Opinion in brokerage circles is that a period of dullness will do the market no harm.

Numerous commission houses were reported to have done little business with the public today. Their advices to clients continued to advocate a conservative position in what appeared to be almost entirely a trading market.

From a news standpoint, it was a dull day. American Locomotive announced its expected reduction in the annual dividend rate to $4 from $8 but the stock was prepared for the news and yielded less than a point. Standard Oil of New Jersey likewise had discounted its 1929 earnings statement. There was good buying in Columbia Gas and Electric on further reports of an offer from United Corporation. This offer, made public after the close, revealed that the Morgan-Bonbright Holding company would give one third of a share of its preference stock and one and a half shares of common for each Columbia shares, with the total acquisition limited to a 25 per cent interest in the utility.

As a group, the utilities met considerable profit taking from yesterday's higher levels, although part of the loss was accounted for by the late bear selling. American Telephone, Public Service of New Jersey, Consolidated Gas, United Corporation, Standard Gas and Electric, Pacific Lighting and a few other prominent shares declined one to three points.

Auburn Auto was hard hit, tumbling 27 1-2 points to 158, a new 1930 low and more than 100 points below its high for the year. It recovered to 164 for a net loss of 21 1-2. J. I. Case was hammered down 19, finishing six points above the bottom. Vanadium afforded the bears a vulnerable target in the last half hour and sold off six points before it was supported by covering.

Western Pacific common and preferred mounted 4 points each on buying attributed to the Van Sweringen interests who were said to be seeking control of that road so as to provide a through line from St. Louis to the coast. St. Louis Southwestern was also strong, rising nearly five points net.

The weekly brokers' loan statement disclosed a decline of $67,000,000 to a total of $4,007,000,000. Loans for out of town banks dropped $54,000,000 and loans for the account of others $21,000,000, but there was a rise of $8,000,000 in loans for brokers' own account.

Further evidence of the slow demand for credit was revealed in the federal reserve report. The statement for the system showed a drop of about $31,000,000 in bills and securities total declined $43,000,000, and discounts $27,000,000 and government security holdings $15,000,000.

Commodity prices were firmer, wheat gained about a cent and corn rallied 3-8, while sugar, after making a new low, developed a steadier tone. Cotton was quiet, closing slightly higher on the newcrop months.

Foreign exchanges moved irregularly. Sterling cables strengthened slightly on the indications of a firmer money policy suggested by the weekly Bank of England statement.

THE CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, May 15—(AP)—Leading curb market stocks generally closed 1 to 3 points lower today, but trading continued exceptionally dull, and represented little more than the activity of floor traders scalped for profits of a point or two. Commission house business was practically at a standstill. Sales aggregated 665,600 shares.

Professional traders who have been bidding stocks moderately higher during the past few days were prompted to switch to the short side primarily by technical market considerations. There was practically nothing in the day's news to influence the market either way.

Electric Bond and Share was heavily sold, dropping about 4 points, and American Superpower lost a point in active trading. American Gas and Electric, American Light and Traction, and North American Power and Light lost 2 or 3 points in small turnovers, and Nevada California Electric, had one of its wide moves, losing 13 points in a few sales. United Gas new stock was active and closed fractionally higher. And Missouri Kansas Texas Pipe Line, also a natural gas issue was again firm.

Most of the industrials and specialties sagged, although Lily Tulip Cup was bid up about 3 points to a new high, and Aviation Securities jumped 4 points to 19, equaling the year's best level. Louis Phillips Class B stock also duplicated its 1930 peak, selling up about a point. Aluminum company lost 5 points, and Deere new stock, Anglo Chilean, Crocker Wheeler, and Driver Harris lost 2 or 3 points. Winton Engine dropped five points in a few sales, evidently reflecting profit taking on announcement of acquisition by General Motors, Brillo and National Candy touched new 1930 lows.

Oils were dull and inclined to ease. Cities Service was a soft spot, losing more than 2 points in heavy selling. Houston new and Gulf lost about a point each.

Insurance stocks were highly irregular. Employers Reinsurance, a comparatively inactive issue, sold up about 3 points to a new high at 30. Insurance Securities dropped nearly 4 points to 17, its 1930 minimum, in active selling, only to rebound to 19. Firemen's Fund lost 3 points.

BOND MARKET

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, May 15—(AP)—Drifting rather aimlessly through a dull trading session, the listed bond market turned irregularly downward at the close today.

Considerable profit taking and the competition of many attractive new offerings overcame the strength of many railroad issues and a large section of the convertible group. Stock privilege issues yielded the most ground, ranging from three points to a fraction lower, while the losses among the investment group were confined to small fractions.

United States governments, foreign bonds and the utility group were the brightest spots in the market, and were generally firm. Sales were $2,000,000 under yesterday, totaling $9,134,000.

Convertible bonds turned over in fairly large blocks. American Telephone 4 1-2s lost 3 points and Philadelphia-Reading Coal and Iron 6s, and International Telephone 4 1-2s, sagged more than a point each. Some issues, such as New Haven 6s, Chicago and Northwestern 4 3-4s, General Theatres 6s, of 40, and Allegheny corporation 5s, showed firmness.

Trading in rail issues showed the sluggishness of the market, for both prime and secondary issues moved uncertainly. The heaviest demand was for Pennsylvania 4 1-2s and Erie Improvement 5s. Both turned downward by substantial fractions joined by Missouri Pacific 5s, Pere Marquette 4 1-2s, Canadian National 4 1-2s, Chesapeake and Ohio 4 1-2s, St. Paul 5s, and Boston and Maine 5s. On the upward trend were Delaware and Hudson 4s, Denver and Rio Grande 4s and 5s, Erie 5s, New York Central 5s, and several Southern Pacific issues.

Utilities showed good strength although they were not particularly active. American Telephone 5s, and Laclede Gas and Electric 5 1-2s, led the advance.

Oils were traded extensively, and in common with the rest of the industrial group were irregular. Shell Union warrant 5 1-2s yielded half a point on heavy sales, but Phillips 5 1-2s, Sinclair Crude 5 1-2s, were firm. Among the amusement bonds, Paramount Famous Lasky 6s and Loew's 6s ex-rights were firm. Loew's 6s with warrants fell off more than a point.

Foreign bonds maintained their firm position in a quiet market. Japanese government bonds moved ahead as another large block of the new 5 1-2s was absorbed.

United States governments showed uniform firmness and moved upward on small sales.

Treasury Balance

WASHINGTON, May 15—(AP)—Treasury receipts for May 13 were $5,157,680.00; expenditures $8,579,979.88; balance $90,099,400.71.

The Bangor & Aroostook railroad has ordered three mountain-type locomotives weighing 339,000 pounds each from the American Locomotive company.

NEW YORK, May 15.—(AP)—Sale of two New York Stock exchange seats has been arranged at $465,000, which is $14,000 below the previous sale. Principals in the transactions were not disclosed.

Building and engineering contracts awarded in the 37 states east of the Rocky mountains in the eight business days from May 1 to May 9 totaled $150,541,600, F. W. Dodge corporation reports. New building and engineering work started since the first of the year has reached a total of $1,730,565,500, a daily average of $16,023,800, compared with a daily average of $19,885,300 during the first five months last year.

Application has been made to the New York Stock exchange by the General American Tank Car corporation for listing of 200,000 additional common shares upon official notice of issuance, and 30,000 additional shares. The 200,000 shares will be issued at not less than $100 a share and proceeds will be used before Dec. 31 for acquisition of interest in other companies and for working capital for expansion. The 30,000 additional shares will be used for issuance in the form of stock dividends. The company pays 4 per cent annually in stock common in addition to $4 in cash.

Stockholders of the International Arsitage corporation have ratified the directors' proposal to split the old $50 par stock into ten new shares of $5 par value.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, May 15.—(AP)—Suggestions of possibly the largest export business in breadstuffs this summer that has been witnessed for years had a stimulating effect on wheat prices today. Attention of traders focused on announcement that the amount of wheat on ocean passage to Europe is down to the smallest total in nearly a quarter century, with shipments from Argentina in particular reduced to an extent seldom equaled. Export buying of North American wheat today was estimated at 1,000,000 bushels.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 3-4a1-4c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1-8a1-2c up, oats 1-4a3-8c advanced, and provisions unchanged to 5c down.

Provisions were easier, influenced by downturns in hog values.

MONTVILLE

The Robert Gair Day team will play a practice game this (Friday) evening with the Textile Mfg. team on the Gair diamond, Uncasville. Manager Armand Plouffe will be assisted in his duties by Frenchy Caron as captain and assistant manager of this new team.

Work is progressing at the new Pappas building at Uncasville four corners.

At the state K. of C. convention held at Norwich, Edward Rowley, of Pequot council, Montville, was elected an alternate to the Grand convention of the Knights of Columbus to be held at Boston in August.

The rain of Wednesday night and Thursday was appreciated by the trout fishermen and farmers in this vicinity.

Oxoboxo lodge, A. F. and A. M., is to meet this (Friday) evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Rheaume, of Uncasville, were business callers in Waterbury Thursday.

Philip Morris, of Woonsocket, R. I., has moved with his family to the so-called Battle House, at Pequot.

Friends here sorrowed to read that Patrick H. Welch, 70, a native of Montville, died at his home in Norwich Wednesday afternoon after a brief illness.

At a meeting Thursday evening it was agreed to play the game this (Friday) evening.

$750,000 FIRE IN WHEAT ELEVATOR IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, May 15.—(AP)—One of the most exciting battles in the history of the wheat pit was recalled vividly today by the smouldering ruins of a grain elevator on Goose Island, in the Chicago river, almost in the center of the city.

The fire, an inferno through the night, destroyed the second of three relics of the famous attempt of Joe Leiter to corner the wheat market in 1897 and '98.

The late Philip D. Armour scoured the northwest for wheat, dynamited ice in the "Soo" to let wheat-bearing ships through and in 30 days, a record time, constructed on Goose Island three huge elevators to accommodate the flood of grain that broke Leiter's corner.

Fire took the first elevator in 1914 with a loss of $1,000,000 and 1,500,000 bushels of wheat. At that time the elevators were still owned by Armour. Yesterday's fire was the misfortune of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation, the Armour estate having long since disposed of the Goose Island properties.

On account of the wet weather, the baseball game between the Robert Gair Co. Corrugated department and the Eastern Connecticut Power Co., at the Gair diamond Thursday evening, which would decide the first place in the Montville Twilight league has been postponed to a date to be decided by the managers of these two teams, John McGinnis of the Gair, McCarty of the Powermen, and President Frank Richards.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre

Laugh Week, carnival of fun starts tomorrow at the Palace theatre with the showing of "Hold Everything" which stars Winnie Lightner and Joe E. Brown in the funniest comedy ever screened.

If you are tired, if you are blue, if things aren't going well, see "Hold Everything" and let Winnie and Joe smooth away your cares. And how you will laugh! Never before have two comedians raised such riotous fun on any screen and their gag a minute is bound to keep you breathless.

There is much singing in this production and Winnie Lightner who does most of it puts it over in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired. Winnie and Joe are lovers, Joe being a dub prize-fighter in the same training camp with Georges Carpentier. Georges also has a sweetheart and it is none other than winsome Sally O'Neil.

The natural coloring achieved by the improved technicolor makes every scene one of warmth and beauty. Especially lovely are the sequences made famous Busch Gardens in Pasadena. In "Hold Everything" Warner Brothers have produced one of the most amusing and spectacular motion pictures of the season. Don't fail to see it! You will enjoy it!

The Palace will present the double feature combining "Dumbbells in Ermine" a comedy which proves that the belles aren't so dumb with Robert Armstrong and Barbara Kent and "Hello Sister" a gay and impudent story of modern youth with Olive Borden and Lloyd Hughes for the last times today.

Breed Theatre

Three of the most popular leading men in pictures appear in support of Norma Shearer in "The Divorcee," her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture which will come May 18 to the Breed theatre. They are Chester Morris, Robert Montgomery and Conrad Nagel who play the three leading masculine roles in the picturization of the Ursula Parrott story, which Robert Z. Leonard directed. Included in the supporting cast are Zelda Sears, Tyler Brooke, Florence Eldridge, Mary Doran, Helene Millard and Helen Johnson.

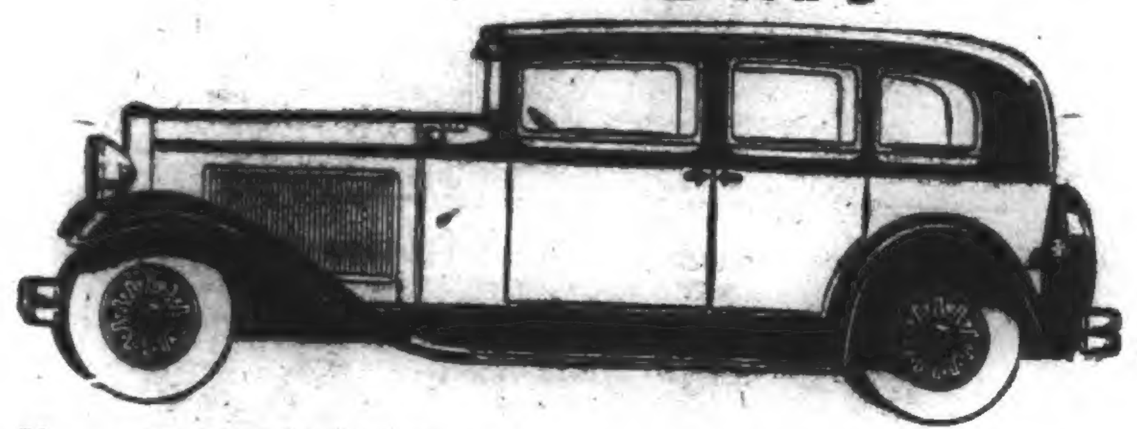
Cars

EIGHTS and SIXES



If you still think that price is the only measure of quality in motor cars you should see the Nash "400".

No matter how high you go in price you cannot buy better engineering.

Study the car closely and you'll see that Nash has the same outstanding mechanical features that costly cars emphasize.

All the materials that go into Nash cars are selected from the best that can be bought.

The finish of Nash cars, the fittings, the fabrics and the appointments are luxurious in quality and of perfect taste—you can't find better anywhere. Be sure to see the Nash "400".

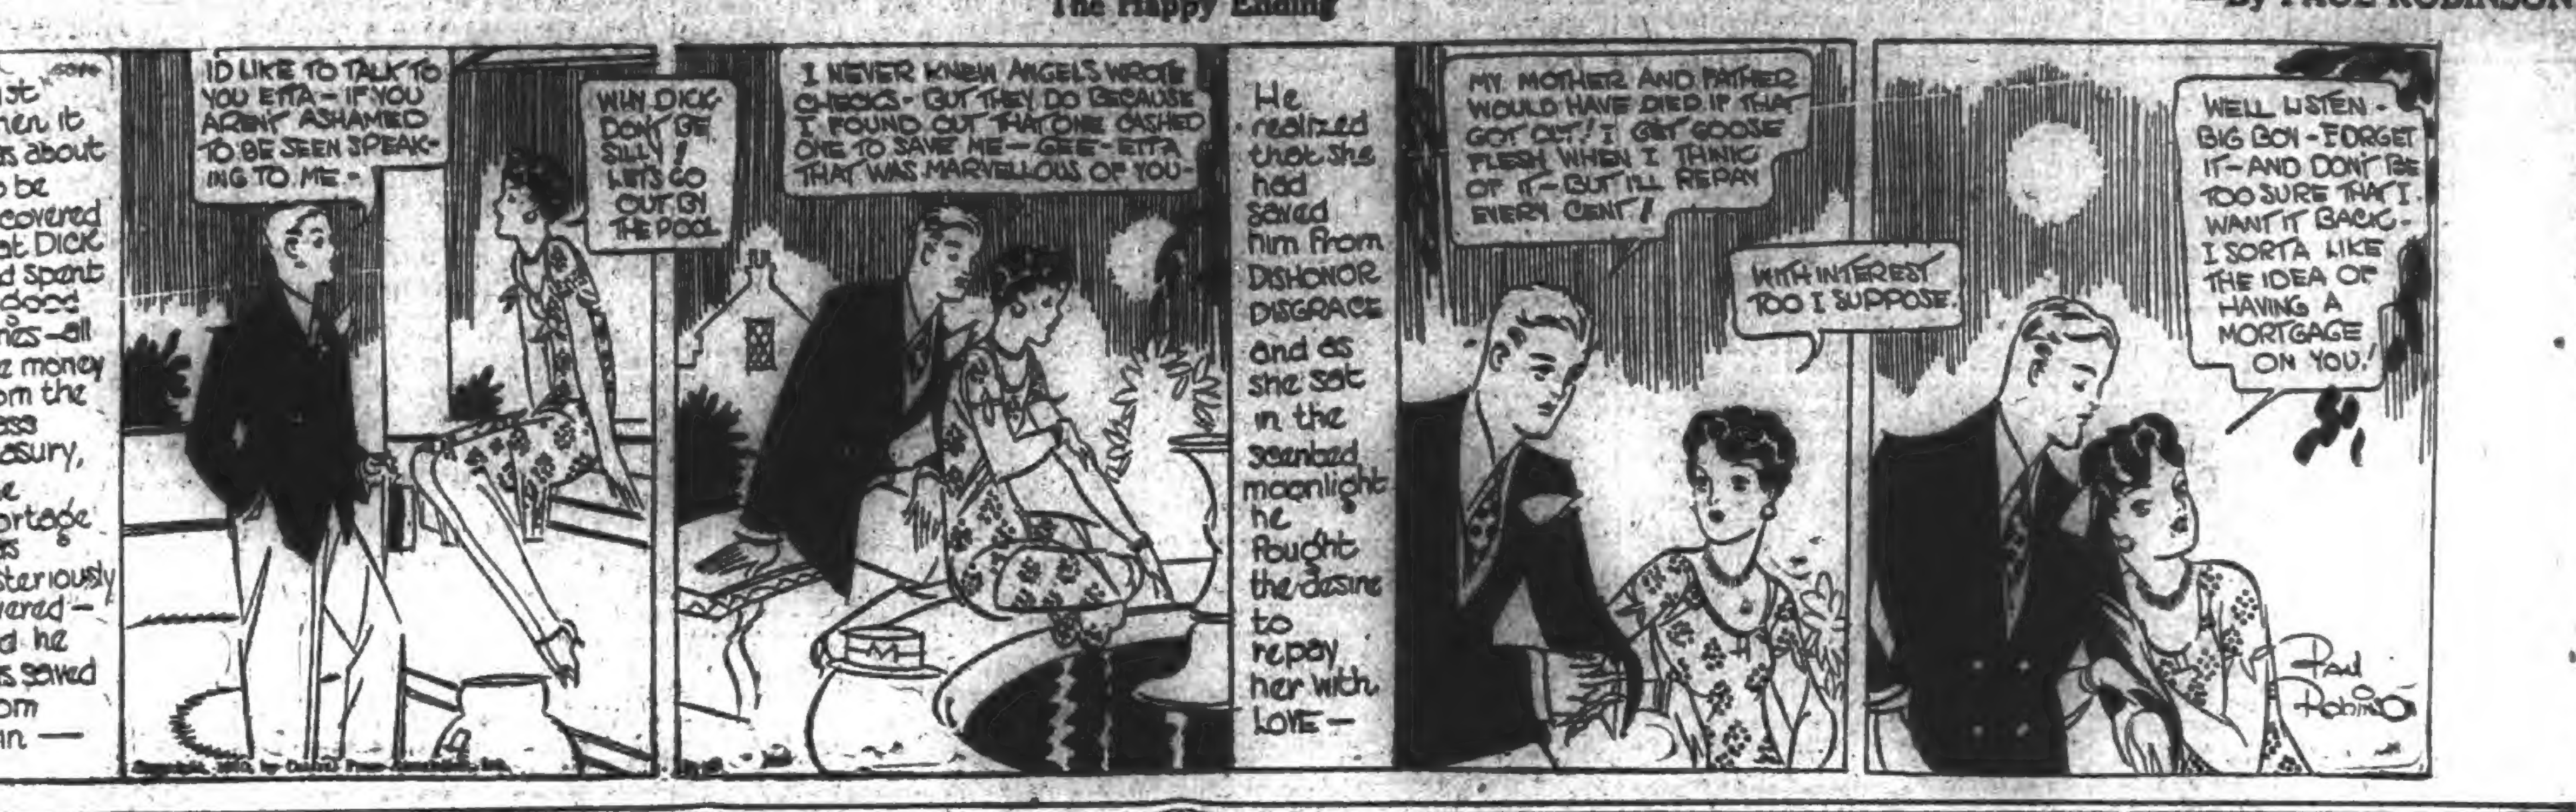
ETTA KETT The Happy Ending —By PAUL ROBINSON



Just when it was about to be discovered that Dick had spent in good times—all the money from the class treasury, The shortage was mysteriously covered—and he was saved from ruin—
I'D LIKE TO TALK TO YOU ETTA—IF YOU AREN'T ASHAMED TO BE SEEN SPEAKING TO ME—
WHY DICK—DON'T BE SILLY! LET'S GO OUT BY THE POOL
I NEVER KNEW ANGELS WROTE CHECKS—BUT THEY DO BECAUSE I FOUND OUT THAT ONE CASHED ONE TO SAVE ME—GEE—ETTA THAT WAS MARVELLOUS OF YOU—
He realized that she had saved him from DISHONOR DISGRACE and as she sat in the scented moonlight he fought the desire to repay her with LOVE—
MY MOTHER AND FATHER WOULD HAVE DIED IF THAT GOT OUT! I GET GOOSE FLESH WHEN I THINK OF IT—BUT I'LL REPAY EVERY CENT!
WITH INTEREST TOO I SUPPOSE
WELL LISTEN—BIG BOY—FORGET IT—AND DON'T BE TOO SURE THAT I WANT IT BACK—I SORTA LIKE THE IDEA OF HAVING A MORTGAGE ON YOU!
Paul Robinson

SEC. OF THE TREASURY A. W. MELLON AT NEW LONDON U. S. C. G. COMMENCEMENT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 15.—The graduating exercises of the 1930 class of United States Coast Guard cadets were held at the gymnasium at the academy this afternoon, the colorful affair being attended by distinguished coast guard officers, and representatives of the nation and city, besides many relatives and friends of the cadets. Conspicuous among the notables in attendance at the exercises were Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon and Admiral Frederick C. Billard, the latter at the head of the coast guard in Washington.

Secretary Mellon, who arrived in New London from New York at 11:20, was met at the union station by Admiral Billard and Commander J. C. Bayliss, City Manager William A. Holt, Mayor Cornelius D. Twomey and representatives of the chamber of commerce. Secretary Mellon was escorted to a waiting automobile driven by state police and with an escort of a state police officer and a member of the New London department, the national representative was driven to the academy. Upon his arrival at the reservation a salute of 19 guns was fired in his honor. Prior to the formal exercises, Secretary Mellon reviewed the cadet battalion and Machinist W. R. Kensley was presented a medal for heroism in saving human life.

The exercises at 1 o'clock began with a brief address by Captain H. G. Hamlet, superintendent of the academy. Secretary Mellon addressed the graduates and presented the students their commissions. Admiral Billard also addressed the graduates and conferred on them their diplomas. Captain Robert Adams, engineer-in-chief, and Commander Quincy B. Newman awarded the prizes with brief addresses and Lieutenant-Governor Ernest E. Rogers also addressed the cadets.

Following the formal exercises there was a ring dance aboard the cutter Champlain, at anchor in the harbor, and tonight at the academy a hop brought the commencement events to a close.

LUBCHANSKY PRESIDENT OF LOCAL ROTARY CLUB

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 15.—At the meeting of the Rotary club, held this noon at the Hotel Mohican, the club directors elected the following officers: President, Morris Lubchansky; vice-president, Frederick M. Whittemore; secretary, J. William Clarke; treasurer, Richard B. Curran; sergeant-at-arms, Frank A. Comstock. The directors of the club are: President Lubchansky, Vice-President Whittemore, Allan D. Colvin, Thornton N. M. Lathrop, Edward J. Guthrie, George Whittlesey and Robert L. Smith. Mr. Comstock was selected a delegate to the convention of International Rotary to be held at Chicago June 23-27. A second delegate will be elected within a week or two.

MORRIS LUBCHANSKY

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Johns, 201 Connecticut avenue, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Chelsea M. Johns, to Robert B. McCraw, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McCraw, 527 Ocean avenue. The announcement was made last night at a bridge party at the Johns residence.

Tytte Sternlieb and Joseph I. Sternlieb, of Norwich, executors of the will of Max Sternlieb, late of Norwich, according to a deed filed for record at the office of the city clerk, transferred title in property at Alewife and Stuart avenues, Ocean Beach, to Louis Sternlieb and the latter since has caused title to be vested in the name of Tytte Sternlieb.

VIOLATE THE MOTOR LAWS— DRIVERS AND OTHERS FINED

As a result of the activity of state and local police in their endeavors to compel auto drivers to comply with all motor vehicle laws, nearly a score of cases were tried in the police court this morning.

Elzier P. Thibeault, 76 Benham road, Groton, charged with racing with another autoist, was fined $35 and costs. Thibeault was arrested yesterday by State Officer John Smith when the driver drove in such a reckless manner that the lives of autoists and pedestrians were endangered.

Meyer M. Goldstein, Fitchville, was charged with driving without a license and was fined $10 and costs. He was arrested yesterday by State Motor Vehical Inspector Howlett and Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey.

Jacob Schleifer, Preston, charged with driving with defective brakes, was fined $15 and costs. Schleifer was also arrested yesterday by Inspector Howlett and Officer Bailey.

Lester Bendett, 28 Eighth street, Norwich, was charged with driving with defective brakes and was fined $15 and costs, but the court ordered the fine remitted. Bendett was arrested yesterday by Inspector Howlett and Officer Bailey.

Never Had a License

Reginald Atchison, 496 North Main street, Norwich, was charged with driving without a license. He had never made application for a license. A fine of $10 and costs was imposed. Atchison was arrested by the state and local officer yesterday.

Angelo Almeida, 687 Main street, was charged with overloading his truck, 1160 pounds, having been arrested yesterday by State Officer Fred Wininger. Almeida's case was continued to Saturday.

Joseph Johnson, 244 Abbott street, Waterbury, was charged with overloading his truck, 1380 pounds, the illegal use of markers and operating an unregistered truck. His case was continued to Saturday. Johnson was arrested yesterday by Officer Wininger.

Leroy W. James, submarine base, charged with driving without a license and with the illegal use of markers, was arrested yesterday by State Officer Arthur Kathe. He was fined $10 and costs.

Edgar Thibeault, 40 Latham street, Groton, was charged with overloading his truck 1050 pounds. The case was continued to Saturday. Thibeault was arrested yesterday by State Officer Wininger.

Norwich Men Forfeit Bonds

Cyril Merriman, 158 West Thames street, Norwich; Peter Bogas, 153 Franklin street, Norwich; Clifford N. Zepp, 251 Williams street; George W. DeWolfe, 38 West Pleasant street and Fred D. Blake, 44 Montauk avenue, were charged with parking overtime. As none of the drivers appeared in court their respective bonds of $2 and $5 were declared forfeited.

Anthony McAndrews, a stranger, charged with begging and intoxication, was given suspension of judgment. McAndrews was arrested last night by Patrolman William Riordan.

George Thomas, Chicago, was charged with train riding. He was given suspension of judgment. Thomas was arrested last night by Special Agent Rochelle, of the New Haven railroad.

Two cases of intoxication was disposed of. One man, an old offender, was sentenced to jail for 30 days and the other, a stranger here, who made a nuisance of himself last night at the Crown theatre, was fined $5 and costs.

PROVIDENCE PASSENGERS CONCLUDE TRIP BY RAIL

Steamer Lexington, of the Colonial line, from New York to Providence, put into port with a passenger list of about 100 this morning, the heavy gale and sea making it inadvisable to attempt to go around Point Judith. The passengers disembarked at the New London line pier and boarded the 11:25 train for their destination.

EAST LYME MAN IS HELD BUT NO ONE KNOWS WHY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 15.— Arthur Kenneth Clark, of East Lyme, was arrested in Hartford this afternoon and was brought to New London and locked up. The nature of the charge against Clark is not known, but as he is not wanted in New London for any offense it is probable that he has been sought by the authorities of Waterford or East Lyme.

Patrick Henley, 40, a laborer, was arrested tonight by Patrolman Cornelius Moriarty at the corner of John and Potter streets, charged with intoxication. Henley, who has been presented in the police court on the same charge 20 times, will be there again tomorrow. Henley was in court Feb. 10 last, on a charge of being a common drunkard and was sentenced to 60 days in jail. Two other cases of intoxication comprise the list of prisoners and offenses alleged, who are locked up and who will be in court tomorrow.

A huge limb of a tree on Church street between Meridian and Huntington streets, was blown down during the high wind early today. The limb landed on the sidewalk and obstructed pedestrian traffic until city employes removed it.

AUSTIN J. RUDDY DEAD— HAD REACHED THE AGE OF 91

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 15.— Austin J. Ruddy, 91, one of New London oldest citizens, died this morning at his home, 51 West Coit street. Although Mr. Ruddy had been incapacitated for several years because of a fractured hip, otherwise his general physical condition was excellent. Only a few days ago his health started to decline. Mr. Ruddy is survived by a daughter, Mrs. James B. May, of Montauk avenue. His son, Dr. Austin J. Ruddy, died in New York about three months ago. Mr. Ruddy was born in Ireland. He came to this country about 58 years ago and most of that time he was a resident of New London. For many years he was superintendent of the city's water works and as such he performed his duties in a most faithful and efficient manner. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

OBITUARY

Thomas J. Hayes

Thomas J. Hayes, 65, died last night at his residence, 7 Coit street, death ending a lingering illness. He is survived by his wife, five sons, Richard, Thomas, Cornelius, Robert and George Hayes; three sisters, Mrs. John Sheehan and Mrs. Stephen Lavin, of this city and Miss Bridget Hayes in Ireland, and by two brothers, Dennis Hayes, of this city and Patrick Hayes, Ireland. He was a member of Ancient Order of Hibernians, Knights of Columbus and Holy Name society. Mr. Hayes was born in Ireland, but has resided here since a young man. He was for 25 years employed at the former plant of C. D. Boss & Son and lately was watchman for the Corticelli Silk company.

Henry H. Dahlquist

Henry H. Dahlquist, 61, died last night at Odd Fellows' home, Groton, where he had been since last October. So far as is known Mr. Dahlquist leaves no relatives. He was born in Sweden and was a blacksmith. He resided in Hartford prior to taking up his residence at the home.

FUNERAL

Joseph C. Cornwell

The funeral of Joseph C. Cornwell, of 165 Willetts avenue, was held this morning. At 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church the services were attended by a large assemblage of mourners, including many of the local druggists, also a delegation of members of Niagara Engine company. The high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. William C. Fitzsimons. The Gregorian mass was sung by the quartet from St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, Mrs. Catherine Hickey, Miss Helen Ganey, Daniel D. Donovan and Edward F. Murray. At the offertory, Miss Julia Murphy sang. The bearers were: Charles Munger, Charles A. Hornby, Clayton Smith, Harold H. Starr, Frederick N. Beebe and John H. James. Burial was in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery, where the committal service was conducted by Rev. Fr. Fitzsimons. There were beautiful floral forms and emblems from organizations and individual friends.

Mrs. Robert Jaines and infant daughter, of 111 Peninsula avenue; Mrs. Armado Montali and infant daughter, 33 Smith street; Frank Clay, Mystic; Walter Jones, 38 Centre street; William Jorsen, Niantic, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered the suspension of the driver's license of Lieut. Joseph W. Stryker, submarine base, the officer having been convicted recently in the police court of reckless driving. Commissioner Stoeckel also ordered the return of the license of Carl Freberg, submarine base.

Simon Escudero, seaman second class and a member of the crew of U. S. S. Chewink, submarine base, has been declared a straggler and the New London police have been requested to maintain a lookout for him.

Woman The Offender

The number of automobile drivers who persist in violating the law was greatly diminished today for tonight there was but a single offender against the parking law who has been ordered to present herself in the court tomorrow. She is Mrs. J. G. Ely, 33 Grenada terrace.

High Surf At Beach

With a southeast gale prevailing this forenoon, the tide at Ocean Beach was greater than it has been at any time in several months. At 8 o'clock this forenoon the sea was high and even broke over the boardwalk, the water making its way to Bentley avenue, which is something that does not happen more than a few times during the season.

Busy On Fishers Island

There is a demand for ordinary labor at Fishers Island where much construction work is in progress and where a greater amount of building has been assured. At present, one contractor is seeking 50 unskilled hands and with assurance that there will be employment on the island for the greater part of another year.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theatre

Today's program at the Broadway brings to a close one of the most enjoyable double-feature bookings yet shown in Norwich, with fiery Beebe Daniels and her soon-to-be hubby Ben Lyon in "Alias French Gertie," a thrilling society crook drama with a brand-new twist, and lovely Vilma Banky in her first all-talking picture, "A Lady to Love," a clever story of the loveless marriage of an old man to a young girl, which turned, despite themselves, into a burning romance. In anticipation of tomorrow's new program, Norwichites and suburbanites in the territory bounded by Jewett City, Baltic and Colchester have been advised by the management to "watch the skies" for important news and free tickets, and many were rewarded for their vigilance yesterday. The stunt of air distribution will be continued this noon and late this afternoon, so watch the big orange and green airplane which is aiding in advertising the Broadway's big party of the stars, "Paramount on Parade," which opens tomorrow. This is something brand new in screen fare, for the bill includes every star and featured player on the huge Paramount payroll, in a jolly, intimate frolic where they're all called by their first names, and where everyone contributes to the fast and furious fun. Dramatic stars in burlesque comedy, comedians in dramatic bits, an hitherto undiscovered singing and dancing talent disclosed by the most unexpected of the stars, furnishes nearly two hours of hilarity and close personal contact with the jolliest crowd you ever met. To attempt to name the cast would require this whole column for it includes every "name" from every Paramount studio, "lot" and "location." The accompanying short subjects were specially booked to accompany this picture.

Schwartz Bros. Furniture Store

Extensive alterations, remodeling and redecorating will soon begin and will mark another step in the progress of Norwich's great furniture store, that of Schwartz Bros. Inc., the store better known as "The Big Store with the Little Prices."

Prior to this the company is staging a spectacular sales disposal undertaking in order to reduce their stock and carry out their alteration program. Merchandise has been re-marked and re-priced; the entire force and extra salespeople working behind closed doors for the last three days in preparing for this most gigantic sales event.

On Thursday the doors will be open to the public and it is expected that Norwich and people for miles around will respond with even greater enthusiasm than they ever have before. This event happens to come at just the time of the year when thoughts turn to brightening up the home, beautifying every room and changing the general appearance to permit greater freedom and relaxation.

The history of Schwartz Bros. dates back over 24 years to 1906. In that year Abner Schwartz and his brother, Michael Schwartz, started in the furniture business on Washington square, in a place known as the Washington building. On April, 1908, they bought the building at 12 Water street from the Norwich Belt Manufacturing Co. This building was prepared to meet their needs and became the new quarters of Schwartz Bros. Their growth took on new momentum when the Lahn brothers joined the firm, Benj. Lahn becoming vice president and Jos. M. Lahn, secretary and treasurer. In 1918, the company purchased their present home site, at 76-82 Main street, from the late Willis Austin. Close to $100,000 was expended to make this location suitable for their needs. The new organization coped with the situation and emerged stronger and more seasoned. The tremendous increase in their volume of business is the best proof of their ability. Much credit goes to the harmony which has always prevailed and the ability and vision of Jos. M. Lahn in working out a complete plan for the company's future and in his mastery in arranging the financial program to meet its needs.

The present and future are promising of even a greater Schwartz Bros. The friends and customers of the company are numbered in the thousands and for miles and miles around. Their response on such special occasions has been unusual. Much can be attributed to their policy of fairness, humaneness and square dealing—and above all living up to their advertising. The printed avertisement under the Schwartz Bros. signature is the word and bond of the company and is backed by nearly 25 years of faithful service and integrity.

Abner Schwartz, founder of the business, and its active head, is president and general manager and is in very close touch with every phase of the business. Mr. Schwartz is known to many—familiarly as Abner, kind, fatherly and considerate. Mr. Schwartz it is true knows furniture, but he knows people, too, understanding human nature, its shortcomings and its gifted qualities. Benj. Lahn, vice president, is a man of limitless energy and creative ability. The present undertaking is entirely under his care and promises to exceed even past records. Mr. Lahn is in charge of the company's advertising program and purchasing.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE AT PROSPECT STREET HOME

Mrs. Flora Gevers, 32, wife of Charles Gevers of 47 Prospect street, made an attempt to take her life Thursday morning at about 10:30 o'clock, shooting herself in the left breast. She was rushed to the W. W. Backus hospital and later was reported in a fair condition. The woman was in a room on the second floor of her home when she made the attempt to do away with herself. Her father, Charles Raynes, who resides with her, was busy on the floor below when he heard the shot ring out, followed by a scream of pain from the injured woman. He rushed upstairs and on finding his daughter, called Dr. Paul F. Gadle. The latter, responding immediately, in turn ordered the hospital ambulance. At the hospital it was found that Mrs. Gevers had turned the gun on her left breast and then pulled the trigger. The bullet went clean through the breast and grazed the back of her left elbow. X-ray pictures were taken to determine whether or not any of the lead was still in the body but none could be found. In fact, the bullet could not be found anywhere. While Mrs. Gevers' condition is regarded seriously it is believed that she will recover unless unexpected complications set in. No reason is given for the action.

The flowers on the altar at St. Andrew's Episcopal church Sunday, Mother's day, were given by Mrs. Robert Donahue in memory of her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell Smith, who was also a life-long parishioner of St. Andrew's church.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Belliveau, of Norwich Town, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Le Blanc, of Second street, have returned to their homes, after spending a few days with friends at Somerville, Conn.

Miss Marian Taaffe, of Albany, N. Y., is spending her vacation as guest of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Taaffe, of Eleventh street.

Stanley Chmielewski has returned to his home on North Main street from New York city, where he attended the funeral of his brother-in-law, N. E. Nielsen.

Mr. and Mrs. George Grimshaw have moved from Prospect street to North Main street.

St. Mary's sixth grade baseball team defeated the Silver Arrows by the score of 14 to 5. The features of the game were the fine fielding by Burke and the heavy hitting by Ryan and Gus Metivier. The lineup for the Saints follows: Burke and Ryan, p; Jerry Gleason, 1b; Dunion, 2b; Metivier, 3b; Cummings, ss; Neilan, lf; Cormier, cf; Belvideo, rf.

Richard Seed has returned to his home on Baker avenue, after spending a few days in Providence.

Dependable Treatment for Constipation

Millions of people have welcomed a new discovery of modern science that assures a safe dependable treatment for constipation. It is no longer necessary to shift laxatives or to suffer irregular, uncomfortable bowel action.

Science now knows that the success of any laxative depends on uniform internal distribution—that unless it is thoroughly and evenly distributed throughout the intestinal tract irregular and unsatisfactory action will result.

This explains the success of the modern chewing gum laxative known as Feen-a-mint. As you chew this delicious gum, the tasteless laxative it contains is mixed with the saliva and carried to the intestinal tract evenly, smoothly, without shock to the system.

Because of its thorough distribution, you will find Feen-a-mint effective in milder doses than ordinary laxatives. With the proper the dosage it is not necessary to increase the amount of Feen-a-mint you take nor to switch to another laxative for a change. Feen-a-mint is harmless and contains no habit-forming drugs. Truly the health laxative. Ask for a package at any drug store.—Adv.

LINK SAYS HIS MIND IS A BLANK ON ALL DETAILS OF FATAL ACCIDENT

His mind is a blank from the time he sat drinking whiskey at the home of Mrs. Mary Adazichich on the Param road in the town of Colchester until he came to in St. Joseph hospital at Willimantic, declared Andrew Link, Jr., of 1120 Main street, Willimantic, when he testified here Thursday afternoon before Judge Allyn L. Brown and a jury in the superior court. Link is on trial on a statutory manslaughter charge because of the death of John E. Shea of Colchester who received fatal injuries on Dec. 6, 1929, when the Link machine collided with a machine driven by Capt. Reis El Bara of Hartford at Wade hill on the Colchester-Norwich road.

The state claims that Link was driving the car at the time of the crash, but the defense claims that Shea was driving Link's machine.

Link testified on the stand that he was too drunk to remember anything about the accident or anything that other witnesses say he said or did between that time and when he came to in the hospital. His testimony was that he got the drink at the home of the woman where he had been collecting an insurance premium. This woman previously had testified that Link got no liquor at her house.

When he gave his name on the stand it was disclosed that he is Andrew Link, Jr., as his father is still living, and Judge Brown had the name corrected in the papers in the case before the court.

After Link's testimony, both sides rested and the arguments are to be made this (Friday) morning by State Attorney Arthur M. Brown and by Attorneys J. James Floyd and Harry L. McGuire, counsel for Link. Court is to come in at 8:45, standard time, which is earlier than usual as Judge Brown is desirous of getting the case to the jury in the morning. It was agreed that prosecution and defense are each to take an hour in their arguments.

Witnesses For The State

The witnesses who testified for the state Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius B. Shea of Willimantic, parents of the victim in the accident; Miss Mary Shea of Hartford, sister of the deceased man; Raymond Kocj, Louis Berman and John Korpach, all of Colchester, and State Trooper Roy C. Pettingell of Hartford.

The testimony of the Shea witnesses was to the effect that Link had admitted that he was driving the car at the time of the accident. The other witness testified as to conditions existing at the scene of the accident when they arrived there and as to the condition of Link whom the state trooper said was under the influence of liquor.

Testimony through the members of the Shea family was to the effect that on Dec. 22, the father of the dead man while in a cigar store in Willimantic overheard a conversation that Link was going to put the blame on his son and accuse him of being the operator of the car.

Link as a result was called over to the Shea house and, according to the testimony, Link admitted that he was driving the car.

State Policeman Pettingell testified that when he saw Link at Link's home at night several hours after the accident, Link was still drunk. The officer testified to Link stating to him that he was alone in the car.

Testimony For Defense

Testimony for the defense was begun a little before noon, when Mrs. Helen M. Link, wife of the accused man, was called to the stand and told of her husband getting home drunk in the late afternoon on the day of the accident and of what she did for him with the assistance of a nurse, Miss Katherine T. Sullivan, who lived downstairs and also is in the employ of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

Dr. Nathan Spector, who treated Link after he was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, was the next witness and was asked many questions to support the contention of Link's attorneys that he was hit by the steering wheel as indicated by the nature of his injuries. These consisted of a ruptured diaphragm and a collapsed condition of the lung.

Mrs. Mary Adazichich, to whose home on the Param road in Colchester, Link and Shea came to make an insurance collection, testified that when they drove away from the place Link was not driving, but the stranger with him was driving the car. She denied that Link got anything to drink at her house.

Fred Stula, a farmer, testified that as he was driving his team of horses and a lumber wagon past the intersection of the Param road and the Colchester-New London turnpike, he saw the Link machine, with Link and a strange man in it. The strange man was driving and asked Stula the way to get to Norwich.

Joseph, the 12-year-old son of Mrs. Mary Adazichich, a previous witness, testified that as he stood at the Ransom school, which is on the Norwich-Colchester road, he saw the Link automobile go by with Link sitting at the right of a strange man who was driving.

Miss Katharine T. Sullivan, a nurse, testified that Link came home about 5:30. He was as drunk as he could be, she said. She washed the blood off his face and got him to bed with the help of Mrs. Link.

She said she heard Link tell the state policeman he never drove a car when he was drunk, but didn't hear Link say he was all alone in the car. The nurse stayed with Link and Mrs. Link until he was taken to the hospital that night.

Mr. Link was called to the stand by his attorneys. He said he and Shea had left Willimantic about 10:30 on the morning of Dec. 6, going to Colchester to collect insurance. He said it was about 3 in the afternoon when they two were at the home of Mrs. Mary Adazichick, and that he was at the house about one hour, drinking whiskey. Mr. Shea stayed out in the car and did not drink. After that the witness said he did not remember anything. He was too drunk, he declared. He said that John Shea drove the car away. Again the witness said he knew nothing until he found himself in St. Joseph's hospital at Willimantic.

Mr. Link denied that he admitted to the Shea family on a Sunday at their home that he had been driving the car. He said there was no talk at that time about who was driving the car.

On a subsequent time he told of being at the Shea home where Officer Pettengill asked him if he drove the car. Link said he answered, "I did not," and Miss Shea then took the picture of John Shea and when he again denied driving the car, as she held the picture before him, she told him she wished he and his family would have the hardest kind of luck.

On cross-examination, Link said he couldn't tell how many drinks he had at the home of Mrs. Adazichick or how much he paid, nor could he remember being in Dr. Pendleton's office or having Dr. Pendleton treat him, nor did he remember seeing Mr. Taintor or any conversation with him. He could not remember how he got home, he said, nor of his wife giving him a drinok nor of any conversation with state policemen. He maintained that his mind was a blank on everything that occurred until he found himself in the hospital at Willimantic.

All that Mr. Shea, Mrs. Shea and Miss Shea had said about conversations was false, the witness said as his cross-examination was concluded.

NORWICH TOWN

COLCHESTER ENTERTAINERS AT HUNTINGTON SCHOOL

The Dixie Minstrel was presented by members of Colchester Eastern Star Tuesday evening in Huntington school hall before an appreciative audience. The affair was under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society of Norwich Town Methodist Episcopal church, in charge of Mrs. Richard Carter, chairman of the social committee. Home made candy was on sale by Misses Josephine and Mabel Rogers. The program was as follows: Opening chorus, Minstrels Shall Shine; Happy Days; solo, Doris Riley; tap dance, Mrs. Sweet, Mrs. Cornwell and Doris Riley; special number, Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Brown; Carolina Moon, Clarice Brown; specialty, Mr. Denman; specialty song and dance, Mrs. Hills; special dance by little Peggy Mara, of Norwich Town; cake walk, Eunice Boson; specialty, Mr. Denman; Russian Lullaby;" Bill Bailey," Mrs. Tompkins; duet, Carry Me Back to Ole Virginy, Clarice Brown and Mrs. Stebbins; closing number, Happy Days. A good sum was netted for the C. E. treasury.

Troop 2, Boy Scouts, will hold their meeting at the Methodist parsonage, Saturday evening, instead of Friday, this week, on account of the entertainment in the church Friday evening.

A special Mother's day service was carried out Wednesday afternoon in the First Congregational chapel under direction of Miss Jessie Hyde and Mrs. Ernest Washington. The Junior and Intermediate Christian Endeavor societies held a joint meeting with mothers and adult friends as guests. Raymond Barber was leader, also offered prayer. Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey, the pastor, spoke words of greeting and Mrs. Frederick W. Lester gave a most entertaining talk to the children. Betty Browning was pianist during the service, also sang Blest Be the Tie that Binds, and the choir sang Blessed Motherhood. I Want to Be a Sunbeam was sung by the juniors and there were other hymns and responsive reading. Mrs. John L. Browning spoke on What the Mother Would Like from the Children, and Eleanor Palmer spoke on A Daughter's Part Toward Her Parents. Little Robert Barber spoke from the standpoint of a son, concluding by reading a poem, "A Boy and His Mother." Other poems on Mother's day were read by Mrs. Charles Barber and Eleanor Palmer. A rising vote of thanks was given the speakers. Baskets of lilacs and tulips formed the decorations. There was a large attendance.

The annual calling of the docket of the common pleas court will take place at the court session at New London next Monday morning at 9 o'clock, standard time.

In cases which have been on the docket more than three years, cause must be shown for their continuance by oral motion of counsel on that day.

In cases which have been on the docket more than one year but less than three years, and all cases in which no appearance for the defendant has been entered, written request for continuance should be made to the clerk, according to the notice he has issued.

BOY SCOUTS TO USHER AT RED ARROW SHOW

At the moving picture to be given at the Palace theatre Saturday morning at 9:15 under the auspices of the Red Arrow club at which all the school children will attend, the Boy Scouts of the city who appear in uniform will be admitted free and will be given the opportunity to usher and to generally take charge of the seating of the young audience.

The picture, "Hold Everything" is declared to be very good. Boys and girls are being admitted to the picture for Red Arrow money. Scouts will be admitted who wear their uniform. According to the local Boy Scout office most of the Scouts of the city will avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing the show and those who do not have uniforms will get together enough Red Arrow money to see the performance.

For European Tour Into June

Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Brophy left the city Thursday evening and are to sail from New York Saturday for a tour in Europe on which they will be absent until the latter part of June. While abroad they will visit Ireland, England, France and Germany.

TAFTVILLE

FUNERAL

John Frohmader

Rev. William Penner, pastor of the Taftville Congregational church, conducted the funeral services for John Frohmader, which were held at his late home on Terrace avenue, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The large attendance of relatives and friends; out-of-town people coming from Naugatuck, Baltic and Plainfield, included delegations from the Sons of Hermann, Taftville Maennerchor club, the German Shooting club, the Ladies' Rifle club and the Odd Fellows. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The bearers were Henry Hedler, Charles Volkman, John Krauss, Lorenz Krauss, John Seidel and Richard Thoma. Burial was in Maplewood cemetery, where Rev. Mr. Penner read the committal service. Undertaker George G. Grant had charge of the funeral arrangements.

When Lisbon grange meets tonight (Friday) at the Community hall in Newent, a number of members of neighboring granges are to be present to help with the program, which for this meeting is in charge of the Seventh degree members, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mell, Mrs. Jesse Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hull.

The Taftville Rod and Gun club is conducting a contest and offering prizes for its members only, who bring in the largest bass, pickerel or trout. Either brown trout or brook trout will be allowed. The largest fish of this variety brought in to date was booked by Fred Dugas and weighs almost a pound. George Barlow opened up the pickerel contest with a bang, and made those present at the official weighing gasp, when he exhibited a pickerel weighing 3 pounds, 11 ounces. It appears as though he has almost clinched the prize at the very opening of the contest.

Local members attending the meeting of the Fifth District, 8 and 40, held this week at New London, included Mrs. Edward J. Kelley of upper Merchants avenue, Mrs. Thomas P. Sears of North Fifth avenue, Mrs. Clarence J. Nagle of South Second avenue and Mrs. Clara T. Caron of Blissville.

COMMERCE CHAMBERS WILL COMPETE FOR SILVER CUPS

President Trumbull of the Connecticut chamber of commerce announced Thursday that Connecticut communities are displaying a lively interest in winning the two silver loving cups offered for the largest percentage attendance at the state chamber's annual meeting to be held at the Hotel Bond in Hartford on Wednesday, May 21st. One cup will be presented to the community having the largest number of representatives present at the luncheon at 12:15 and the other cup will be presented for the largest attendance at the banquet at 7 o'clock. The winners will be determined by the largest delegation, taking into consideration the distance from the communities to Hartford.

Former Governor Whitman of New York, who will deliver an address at the banquet, is a speaker thoroughly grounded in business and economic subjects which he frames in a perfectly analyzed historical background. He is in great demand throughout the country, but owing to his professional responsibilities as a member of a law firm is rarely secured outside of New York. Connecticut is taking an especial interest in hearing Governor Whitman inasmuch as he is a native of the state, having been born in Hanover in 1868.

John J. Pelley, president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company, will share the evening speaking program with Governor Whitman, using "Service" as his subject.

The humorist of the evening will be Bruce Bairnsfather, creator of the character "Old Bill" and author of "The Better 'Ole" who will illustrate his talk on "Old Bill and Me" with cartoons.

Industrial executives are planning to turn out in goodly numbers to receive John E. Edgerton, president of the National Manufacturers association, who will speak at the luncheon meeting at 12:15 on the subject of "General Cooperation Among Business Men."

MAYOR WISHES SUCCESS FOR BUDDY POPPY SALES

In response to a request from Richard Hourigan post, No. 594, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for permission to conduct buddy poppy sales on the streets of the city, the post has received the following letter from Mayor Lee Roy Robbins:

May 15, 1930.

Mr. Joseph E. Eccles,
Commander V. F. W., Norwich, Conn.

Dear Sir:

Answering your request for permission to sell poppies upon the streets of this city for seven days beginning May 23rd, I am pleased to inform you that no objection has ever been raised to "Poppy Week" which we now associate with Memorial day and consider a fixed custom.

The benevolent use made of the proceeds from these sales, through the care taken of the families of deceased veterans of foreign wars, appeals to every citizen as a cause worthy of aid and indeed one to which it is a privilege to contribute.

It is my sincere hope that you receive at least the usual generous response.

Cordially yours,
LEE R. ROBBINS,
Mayor.

Synagogue Service for Boys

Lag B'Omer service is to be held at the Community synagogue this (Friday) evening. The services will be dedicated to the young boys who are interested in the service. Rabbi Leve, M. Bocker of the Jewish Theological seminary of New York will chant the services and will deliver the weekly sermon.

Abner Schwartz, president of the Community service, called upon the membership to make a special effort to have all boys present.

For Telephone Conference Board

The semi-annual meeting of the general conference board of the Telephone Employes Association of Connecticut will be open at Norfolk, Monday, May 19. The session will continue till Friday, according to the program.

President James T. Moran, Vice-President H. C. Knight and other general officers of the company will attend the session for the first three days, during which there will be a program of informative addresses by these officials.

The succeeding days of the convention are devoted to discussion among employes of affairs within the business.

Takes Westerly Position

Vincent F. Waters of Memphis, Tennessee, formerly of Norwich and Westerly, R. I., has accepted a position as traveling engineer for the Maxson Automatic Machinery Co., Westerly, R. I. Mr. Waters, who is a member of the technical association of the pulp and paper industry and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, formerly held a similar position with this firm for 4 years. For the past two years, Mr. Waters has done some consulting engineering work, also has been connected with the Memphis Power and Light Co. for a short time.

The Electric-starting
SEA-HORSE
Challenges All Inboard Motors

These new outboard motors by Johnson start at the touch of a button. They weigh only half as much as inboard motors of equal power, hence give higher speeds.

Steering by power-driven propeller increases maneuverability—automatically tilting propellers open even shallower waters to fishing and cruising with utmost safety. Battery charges itself—stores power for lights. Vacturi carburetor throttles like a motor car and increases speed from 200 to 500 r. p. m.

Johnson Sea-Horses have electric-starter and rope-starter, or rope-starter only. They hold more speed records for outboard racing than all other makes of motors combined. Their 9 outstanding features (at right) have made them outsell all rival motors combined.

Electric-starting Sea-Horses $315 to $395. Other Sea-Horses as low as $125. All prices f. o. b. factory. Let us demonstrate these motors to you. Or phone for color-illustrated catalog of Sea-Horses and Johnson Boats to match.

BOTANY IN THE GARDEN—PIGWEED FAMILY.

The lowly goosefoot or pigweed gives title to an important botanical order in the garden, the cousins of the pigweed being valuable food plants, while at least one member of the pigweed tribe is used as an ornamental foliage plant. The botanical name of the family is Chenopodiaceae, the common pigweed or lambs' quarters, being a chenopodium.

The beet and the spinach are the two valuable pigweed members. The beet botanically is Beta, named from the second letter of the Greek alphabet, because some ancient botanist thought he could detect the Greek character on the seed. The common garden beet is Beta vulgaris, the root beet. A variety, Beta vulgaris Cicla or leaf beet, is commonly known as the Swiss chard. Cicla is a geographical name connected with Sicily, from which the Swiss chard may come. It has no connection whatever with Switzerland.

The spinach, botanically, is Spinacia oleracea, the common name being a contraction and corruption of the botanical name. The name originates from the Latin spina, a spine or pricker, from the prickly seed. It is a native of southwestern Asia.

In the flower garden the member of the pigweed that is invited in while the others are rooted out is the summer cypress or Kochia scopari or tricophylla as it is variously known. This is a common plant for low hedges of upright fine-leaved growth in light green and in late summer the entire plant turning to a vivid red. It is also commonly known as belvedere and is one of several plants to which the name "fire plant" is applied.

All members of the pigweed family resemble their humble relatives in not being very particular as to soil. They will grow under almost any soil conditions, providing only they have sun. Another member, Atriplex, known as orach, is sometimes used as a pot herb. It is a large family spread all over the world with around 75 genera and from 500 to 600 species. We are fortunate in having only one real pigweed with which to contend and it is a comparatively harmless weed, sometimes used like spinach for greens.

TREE HINTS FOR SPRING MONTHS.

Shade trees are now in the important season. They should be given every possible chance to develop healthy, normal growth during the coming season. The Bartlett Tree Research laboratories have issued a "timely hints" bulletin containing the following recommendations for spring care of shade trees:

Feed all shade trees immediately which are in an undernourished condition.

Spray silver maples while dormant with miscible oils for cottony maple scale. Do not spray sugar maples with any oil spray.

Cut away dead wood from trees and burn.

Have decayed cavities treated antiseptically and filled.

Spray apple and pear trees for red bugs with tobacco solution just before blossoms open and just after petals fall.

GIVE PLANTS ROOM TO GROW.

Even the best of gardeners are apt to crowd their plants and set them too thickly in their beds. Follow distance directions on the seed packets and best results will be obtained. Judicious thinning is one of the requisites of efficient gardening. Nine out of ten gardeners plant their vegetables so thickly when they sow the seed that a large percentage of them cannot possibly function unless transplanted or thinned.

First of all, sow the seed thinly. This will obviate a lot of work in thinning and transplanting. By removing an occasional plant the vegetable may be allowed to grow in the seed row without the interruption in its progress made necessary by transplanting. Every plant you have to pull up is a vegetable wasted.

Radishes invariably are sown too thickly. Not more than half the plants in a crowded row can produce radishes. There is no use trying to transplant radishes so thinning is the necessary work. Thin them to two inches apart.

The lack of thinning is even more productive of poor results in the flower garden than in the vegetable garden. An annual poppy will make ten times the growth if given a foot of space about it than if growing in a row with other plants touching it.

Coarser seeds such as beans and corn are sown at the proper distances apart. The same care should be used with the fine seeds. Beets must be thinned. They can't be planted thinly for each "seed" is really a fruit and contains several seeds. This is the reason beets always come up in tufts. In transplanting don't crowd. If packet directions say to set a foot apart use your ruler and make it a foot. The roots need their supply of food without competition of other plants. The top and root growth are in balance, cramping of either cramps the entire plant.

By thin sowing and thinning plants after they are up the best results and large crops of both flowers and vegetables will be attained. A seed packet will go twice as far with attention paid to thin distribution of seeds.

A woman's mind is always on her dress—which may explain the frequent changes of both.

WOOD SHINGLES IN NEW STYLES QUITE "DRESSY"

Simply because many people have been going in for asphalt, asbestos and other types of fireproof or fire-resisting roofing, it should not be assumed that the wood shingle has been forced into permanent retirement. It hasn't suffered any such punishment as that, for the wood shingle is just as effective today as ever it was, and fully as economical and useful, even though it may not be as fire-proof or fire-resistinig as the other types.

We mentioned in a recent issue a house which was a perfect picture in every way except on the score of its roof. The roofing material was alien to the rest of the house and marred the general effect. A neat, stained type of wood shingle would have appeared to much better advantage, just as certain types of asphalt or asbestos shingle, or varicolored slate, would have lent a more harmonious note.

Wood shingles should, however, be given more consideration than people are giving them at the present time. Discriminating architects and builders actually are giving wood shingles fully as much consideration today as other and the so-called more modern types of roofing. One in particular, a speculative builder of "the better sort," is using wood shingles fully as much as the asphalt or asbestos varieties. He appreciates their decorative value and is taking full advantage of it, even though most of the homes he builds are of brick veneer or stucco. As a result one is impressed immediately with the perfect structural harmony found in his homes. They blend perfectly with the rest of the building materials used, and with the foliage. He favors a certain type of creosoted wood shingle and a mixture of various colors carried out without the least regard for any pattern or conventional arrangement. They are put on as they come to hand and the result is an attractive, informal blending of complementary colors.

Such shingles, when puchased on the basis of quality rather than price, are good for at least 20 years if the workmanship involved in their laying is all that it should be. The chemical treatment renders them weatherproof, while actually they are of more value as insulation against heat and cold than asbestos or asphalt shingles, even though several types of the latter are manufactured with the definite idea of adding to their insulation value.

All this applies, of course, to shingles used as roofing. The wide, 24-inch stained wood shingle never has lost its popularity as siding material. The long wooden shingles are capable of unusually attractive arrangement. Because of their length and the resulting amount of overlay in each course, they offer excellent weather resistance and seldom show signs of decay, especially where the right nails are used. Factory color treatment reduced the necessity for painting or oil treatment, although even the best of stained shingles need

FASHION CLOCK BANS ROMANCE TILL 5 STRIKES

PARIS, May 14—(AP)—By the style clock romance begins at 5 o'clock and not before.

To flash clothes that are coquettish, quaint, coy or surcharged with individuality on the well dressed world before time for cocktails, tea or what refreshments have you, is to shock clothes sensibilities in Paris.

Even after 5 o'clock romance is taken in small doses by all but the bona fide first offense debutantes. They may make their own rules providing the results are in general accord with latest style ideas and becoming enough to warrant originality.

In general the best turned out debutantes have a horror of clothes that might be called eccentric or depart far from the general trend.

Debutantes and the very sprightly young matrons go in for ankle length dresses, short wraps and cape-sleeves with long gloves for important 5 o'clock affairs.

At private receptions, diplomatic at-homes and chic teas the girls who have just stepped into the social whirl are far more frivolously dressed than their elders.

SOCIETY VIEWS $500,000 DIAMOND AT WASHINGTON TEA

WASHINGTON, May 14—(AP)—A "diamond tea," where society women gazed longingly at a diamond valued at nearly $500,000 was a spring thrill for capital wealth and fashion.

The hostess was Mrs. Lawson Johnston internationally known society leader, and the "guest of honor," twinkling, flashing and shining, was the great Nassak diamond.

Resting on a bed of ruby velvet, encased in glass and surrounded by detectives, the 80-karat blue-white stone attracted more attention than any other "guest."

The diamond was in Washington while the United States Customs court of appeals decided its status. Its owner, M. Mauboussin, Paris gem collector, contended it should be admitted duty free as "a work of educational value." American jewelers contested its free entry.

The Nassak diamond once was the cyclopean eye of the idol Siva, in the temple of Nassak in India. In 1818, a British colonel, Jonathan Briggs, brought it to England as a prize of war.

Two automobile clubs of California have a combined membership of nearly 250,000 motorists.

Sad Birthday

Oliver Wendell Holmes, associate justice of the U. S. supreme court, snapped on his 89th birthday entering the capitol at Washington. It was a sad birthday for the aged justice, for it marked the death of William Howard Taft, and Justice E. T. Sanford, his late colleagues.

CHEAP GARAGE A POOR INVESTMENT

Government statistics show that in recent years more money has been expended in the building of garages than in the construction of schools. It isn't so surprising after all when you consider the number of automobiles in America today. Yet it isn't a very flattering commentary upon our boards of education, who are supposed to keep pace with education's needs but don't.

This much must be said for the boards of education, however, they build with far greater discretion than does the average automobile owner. The school buildings of today are being built more permanently than ever before, with a greater consideration for fire safety. They aren't planned for a few years only, but for long periods. Permanent materials are used.

This isn't the rule with the garage builders. Too many of them build cheaply; consider cheapness first. Permanence, seldom, and for any considerable length of time scarcely at all. Millions have been spent for garage construction that within a very few years will have to be replaced. It is peculiarly characteristic of the heedless American point of view.

Just as the boards of education in the last few years have been returning to the use of common brick, from reasons both of economy and beauty, so too are the later generation of garage builders turning to its use. Brick garages cost but little more than the flimsy types; and they last. They reduce upkeep costs and insure a larger measure of fire safety. A common brick garage that will safely house the most expensive car may be built for the price of a flivver.

WHY YOUNGSTERS STRAY FROM HOME

Keeping the young hopefuls at home is not a difficult problem if you furnish them with out-of-doors amusement. Children tire of their regular games and are always on the lookout for a novelty.

A simple plank pivoted to the top of a short post becomes for them an enchanted merry-go-round which they can play with for hours without tiring. And nothing is more fun than a back yard roller coaster, says the June issue of The American Home. Start the track on a platform five feet above the ground and run it in a gentle curve to the ground for 40 feet or so. This contrivance may be made from scrap lumber and the car mounted on wheels taken from an old pair of roller skates. The sides of the tracks should be built up four inches to prevent accidents.

"Swinging handles" is another good back yard game. Mount an iron wheel on the top of a pole and to the frame fasten four ropes that extend down within reach. Half-inch pipe set horizontally can be used for the handles, and the wheel is held in place by a long bolt.

Where there are two sturdy trees some distance apart, an aerial coaster may be made. String very taut wire, number ten or stronger, between the trees, with one end a little lower than the other. A car made from two grooved barn door hanger wheels and a plank for a seat can be slung from the wire. Tie a line to the car so that it can be drawn up the wire again after the child has had his thrilling ride through space.

CHEAP PLUMBING POOR ECONOMY

False economy is very often shown in the plumbing of the average small home. The home builder will, in many cases, pay high prices for colored plumbing fixtures and fittings and at the same time use cheap and corrodible piping simply because it is hidden from view.

However, the best of fixtures and fittings will not serve the purpose for which they were meant if the piping that services them is rust clogged.

Brass pipe installed in the plumbing system is a permanent protection against pipe failure due to rust. Properly installed it will last as long as the home, because well made brass resists corrosion just as copper does. When one considers the unfailing service offered by rustproof brass pipe its slightly higher initial cost becomes negligible.

CLOCK CONTROL OF HOME HEATER EFFECTS SAVING

Modern homebuilders insist on the installation of every latest built-in feature for convenience and the elimination of unnecessary work and expense; yet they often overlook one of the most important features—clock control heat regulating devices. No home is absolutely modern if it has in the basement a hand-controlled furnace. And only a minor part of the work connected with tending the furnace has been eliminated until it has been equipped with a clock control heat regulator.

With the clock control practically all worry, a major part of the work, and a large part of the expense formerly associated with the furnace becomes a thing of the past. The house can be kept at an even temperature of 70 degrees throughout the day, and at a lower fuel-saving temperature, preferably 60 degrees, during the night, without any attention whatsoever, except the winding of the clock once a week.

That fuel is saved with the clock control is apparent from tests conducted by officials of fuel companies who have carried on experiments to determine whether they should recommend the device. Savings in tests have ranged from 9 to 18 per cent and more, attributed to the use of clock control.

The clock thermostat, which is installed in the upstairs living room, does not detract from the surroundings but is accepted as a part of the accessories of the room, as it is a thing of beauty and service in itself.

PUTTING COMMON BRICK ON THE MA

For some time the common brick manufacturers have realized that wha the country needs today is a $500 brick house. These manufacturers have an association with numerous district and state divisions, and most of these have been trying to dig u an architect and builder who coul produce this marvel. It begins finally to appear as posible.

Such a house is being experimented with a middle western state. The builder has it almost completed. It is a five-room house of Colonial typ built of common brick and tile—a really attractive little home. And the builder confidently declares that he will be able to keep the cost within that limit, yet produce a job of first-class workmanship.

Moreover he is planning, in case he finds his costs within the $500 mark, to perfect a construction organization for building houses of thi price or close to it anywhere.

FINAL VOTE IN SENATE ON THE TARIFF BILL MONDAY

Action Will Decide Whether the Bill Is to Remain Deadlocked In Conference—Vote Will Be On Motion to Release Senate Conferees From Informal Pledges Binding Them to the Senate's Debenture and Flexible Clause—House Managers Have Renewed Their Ultimatum That Negotiations Were Off Until the Senate Conferees Were Given a Free Hand to Work Out a Compromise.

WASHINGTON, May 16—(AP)—An answer to the question whether the tariff bill will be put to a final vote at this session or remain deadlocked in conference will be given by the senate on Monday.

The decision will come on a resolution by Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, chairman of the senate conference committee, seeking a release from informal pledges binding that committee to the senate's debenture and flexible clause.

Smoot offered the resolution today as the only means of getting the bill back to the senate without the conferees having to sign another partial agreement.

Prior to its introduction, democratic leaders assailed the house republican managers, asserting on the floor that they wanted to see the bill fail. Smoot replied that all the house conferees wanted was "free and full conference" but he agreed with Senator Simmons, democrat, North Carolina, that the managers of the other branch refused to cooperate in bringing that about.

To have signed another partial report to get the bill back in the senate would have forced separate votes on the disputed provisions in the house which already is on record against them. So is President Hoover.

The house managers renewed their ultimatum at a conference with the senate group today that negotiations were off until the senate conferees were given a free hand to work out a compromise.

The resolution was the only way out of the tangle. Realizing that its defeat will mean death for the tariff bill at this session, republican leaders immediately began a spirited drive to muster the necessary majority to put it over. The resolution was agreed upon at a conference of republican leaders called by Senator Watson, Indiana, the floor leader.

Democrats and republican independents, who wrote the debenture and legislative flexible clauses into the bill over President Hoover's protest were making no claims of victory, but were laying plans to carry on a spirited fight.

They were prepared for the contest today, as republican leaders and announced the issue would be placed squarely up to the senate late in the day. These plans were abandoned, however, when the conferees failed to decided upon the procedure in time for action.

Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, one of the conferees attacked the republicans on the floor for failure to bring the matter up as planned.

"I know there are certain republicans who were enthusiastic about this bill have heard from the country and now are trying to kill it," he asserted.

Smoot said he did not know to whom Harrison referred and the Mississippian retorted:

"I know it isn't the senator from Utah because he's the only one for it."

"The senator is mistaken," the Utahan rejoined.

Senator Simmons said the majority conferees of the senate have kept faith to abide by their promise, but I do feel that the republican conferees of the other branch have been rather obstinate." "Their action indicates they did not care to have this bill passed," he said.

Several prominent republican independents and democrats expressed doubt tonight whether they could defeat the Smoot proposal, basing their opinion on the ground that many advocates of the debenture and senate flexible provision would rather vote on the entire bill than see it killed on these two issues. The text of the Smoot resolution follows:

"Resolved, that it is the sense of the senate that the majority members of the conferee committee on the part of the senate on the tariff bill should be relieved from the promise made by them that no agreement in conference on the export debenture or flexible tariff would be made until opportunity was afforded in the senate for a separate vote on such items."

Informed of the latest turn of events in the senate, Representative Garner, of Texas, the minority leader and one of the house conferees expressed the opinion that President Hoover "does not want this bill put up to him."

"Republican leaders in the house and senate are divided as to the advisability politically of passing this bill," he said. "my judgment is that a majority of them prefer to see it defeated.

"The delay by virtue of this disorganized condition is unfortunate and is doing more to retard the stable progress of business than any other one thing.

"I've done all I could to facilitate the final disposition of the bill. Whether it is a good or a bad bill, it ought to be brought to a conclusion so the country will know what to do."

PRIZES FOR CONN. HIGH SCHOOL MUSICAL UNITS

MERIDEN, May 16.—(AP) — More than 500 young musicians, representing 19 high school musical units, gathered here today to take part in the first state band and orchestra contest to be held in Connecticut. After being greeted by Mayor Francis T. Maloney, the group was divided, the senior and junior high school orchestras holding their contest in the high school auditorium, while the band competition was conducted in city hall auditorium.

William Hall high school of West Hartford captured first prize in the band contest, while second prize in this class was awarded Hillhouse high school of New Haven. The judges in the band contest were Paul Wiggin, of Pawtucket, R. I., Arthur J. Dann, of Worcester, Mass., and J. H. Chambers of North Adams, Mass.

The winners of the senior high school orchestra contest were: Hillhouse high school, of New Haven, and second, Lyman Hall high school, of Wallingford. In the junior division of the orchestras, Central high school, of New Britain, took first place after much competition from the Jefferson junior high school organization of this city.

BYRD'S EXPEDITION HAS NOT PAID FOR ITSELF YET

PANAMA, May 16.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, interviewed in his room at the Hotel Tivoli, this morning, declared that his Antarctic expedition "has not paid for itself yet."

The explorer, who on March 11 at Dunedin, New Zealand, was quoted as saying that the expedition was on the verge of bankruptcy, today emphatically declared that it was not bankrupt.

"The expedition simply has not paid for itself yet. That is why we are working so hard to meet our obligations."

The cost of the expedition was estimated at $750,000 by the admiral's friend, Captain Railey, today, though exact figures were not available. Admiral Byrd said this amount compared favorably with the money expended by the British explorer, Captain Scott, in his ill-fated expedition.

DECREASE IN NUMBER OF RAILROAD EMPLOYES

CHICAGO, May 16.—(AP)—Railway Age in its current issue prints figures purporting to show the average number of persons employed by American railroads during the first two months of 1930 dropped to 1,552,003, the lowest number employed since the same period of 1920.

Coincidental with the release of the employment figures, railroad executives meeting here were told by R. H. Aishton, president of the American Railway association, that expenditures by the carriers exceeded by $11,772,000 the amount indicated to President Hoover at the conference of business leaders called to Washington last December. Expenditures for the first quarter were $223,772,000 against anticipated expenditures of $212,000,000. These amounts were from the capital account and included disbursements for equipment, expansion and conditioning properties.

BISHOP CANNON FOREGOES PRESIDING AT CONFERENCE

DALLAS, Tex., May 16—(AP)—The object of an investigation by the senate lobby committee and also a church committee as the result of alleged stock market speculations, Bishop James Cannon Jr., of Washington, D. C., today stepped aside as presiding officer of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South.

It was not, however, until after the rank and file of the conference delegates had applauded him vociferously that Bishop Cannon, whose turn it was to act as president for the day, turned the gavel over to Bishop W. B. Beauchamp of Atlanta.

Bishop Cannon explained he did not wish to preside "because of matters known to this conference," referring to charges of stock market gambling preferred against him by 22 prominent lay delegates, including Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy.

The Episcopacy committee of the church which is considering the charges, met late today. There have been unverified reports that the committee decided at a previous meeting to order the bishop brought to trial before a church court.

NAVAL BOARD MEMBERS ATTACK LONDON TREATY

WASHINGTON, May 16—(AP)—Two admirals, speaking bluntly the mind of the navy general board, attacked the London naval treaty today in a running exchange of opinion with members of the senate foreign relations committee.

The two officers, Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol and Hilary P. Jones, aroused to a hammering counter-attack the two senators who as members of the America ndelegation to London signed their names to the pact. For two hours questions and answers were thundered across the committee table, with both sides standing their ground.

Simultaneously it became known that a small group of senators already was verging toward a proposal to attach reservation sto the treaty, and that Ambassador Dawes, also one of President Hoover's delegates to London, was coming here. The belief prevails in high official quarters that General Dawes will confer with both friend and foe of the treaty while in Washington, although the president himself announced that this was not the purpose of the trip.

NEW FINANCING BY THE S. N. E. TELEPHONE COMPANY

NEW HAVEN, May 16—(AP)—James T. Moran, president of the Southern New England Telephone company, today announced plans for the funding of a $15,000 debt incurred by the company as a result of large additions in the past few years to the company's plant in various parts of Connecticut.

The new financing comprises an issue of $10,000,000 of 40 year five per cent gold debentures, which will be offered to the public next week by a group of Connecticut investment bankers, and an issue of $5,000,000 of capital stock to be offered at par ($100) to stockholders of record at the close of business August 11, 1930.

The new stock issue, voted recently by the board of directors, will increase the company's outstanding stock from $35,000,000 to $40,000,000.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, May 16—(AP)—Inspired by a keen desire that his age and indisposition should not hamper the efficient administration of public affairs, Sir Joseph Ward, prime minister of New Zealand since 1928, resigned his his post.

LONDON, May 16—(AP)—Dispatches from Allahabad to the Daily Mail yesterday said that the all-India congress, in its secret three-day meeting there, had passed a resolution calling on the peasants of Bengal and of Bihar to cease paying taxes for the maintenance of village watchmen.

NEGRO MURDERER BURNED TO DEATH BY A MOB

HONEYGROVE, Tex., May 16—(AP)—The body of a Negro who this afternoon killed E. F. Fortenberry, 50 year old land owner, was burned in the Negro section of Honeygrove late today after he had been taken by a crowd from a cabin near here where he had barricaded himself and exchanged shots with a sheriff's posse.

Fortenberry was killed on his farm near here. He was shot three times by the Negro, whose name was said to be Johnson. The Negro had been employed on the Fortenberry farm and the landowner was slain as he approached the Negro about a debt.

After shooting Fortenberry the Negro obtained his gun and threatened Tom Hannard, who had accompanied Fortenberry on his mission. The Negro then fled and barricaded himself in the cabin near the scene of the shooting.

Fortenberry held a deputy sheriff's commission.

Honeygrove is about 50 miles east of Sherman, where a week ago today a mob burned the Grayson county courthouse, causing the death of George Hughes, 41, Negro, when he went to trial for attacking a white woman. The rioting at Sherman resulted in a proclamation by Governor Dan Moody placing the city under martial law.

WOMEN DIRECTING INDIA'S DISOBEDIENCE CAMPAIGN

BOMBAY, India, May 13—(AP)—Two women today held in their hands the destinies of millions of India's native population, Madame Sarojini Naidu and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Kamaladevi Chattopadhyaya, leaders of Mahatma Gandhi's civil resistance movement.

Madame Naidu spent her day sitting in the hot and dusty Dhurasana roadway until, in a truce with the police, she and her salt raiding comrades withdrew from the scene.

There was no such happy ending to the exploit of Madame Chattopadhyaya. She was arrested this morning and sentenced to nine months and two weeks imprisonment for her salt raid in another quarter.

In removing her from the Indian political picture the police took occasion to make public a long list of illegal activities attributed to her.

Grave news came from various sections of India, indicating strict censorship, a dispatch was made public for the first time telling of a riot at Mymensingh, Bengal, Wednesday, in which 90 persons were injured including a considerable number of police.

MRS. HOOVER CHEERFUL WHEEL CHAIR HOSTESS

WASHINGTON, May 16—(AP)—Despite the injuries which have confined Mrs. Herbert Hoover to couch and wheel chair for more than a month, she has continued to act the cheerful hostess and dispense hospitality at the white house.

Arrayed in dinner gown, she has trundled her way in a wheel chair to lead her guests from the blue room into the dining room. Reclining on a couch in her private sitting room, she has received various delegations. She has knitted, read, written letters, and conferred with her secretaries and others regarding future activities.

Even during the first weeks of her enforced confinement after a fall on the floor at the white house, Mrs. Hoover was not idle. A few days ago she was lifted from the wheel chair into an automobile for her first ride since the injury.

TO EXAMINE BISHOP CANNON'S STOCK DEALS

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(AP)—The way was opened today for the senate lobby committee to examine all records concerning transactions of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., with two New York brokerage companies.

Permission was requested by Chairman Caraway of the committee. Federal District Attorney Tuttle of New York, who has possession of the records, replied that after conferring with the department of justice he would assent to the examination.

Caraway said he expected to send John Holland, committee investigator, to New York tomorrow to make an investigation. He will examine the records of the brokerage houses of Charles Goldhurst and Kable and company.

HOOVER HAS SELECTED U. S. MINISTER TO CANADA

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(AP)—A new minister of the United States to Canada has been selected by President Hoover and has been declared acceptable by the Canadian government.

The white house declined today to make known the name of the appointee, but it was said that his name would be sent to the senate very soon. The nomination has been held up awaiting word from Canada that he was "persona grata."

WHALEN NOT TO RESIGN AS N. Y. POLICE COMMISSIONER

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP)—A new outcropping of seemingly trustworthy predictions that New York's police commissioner, Grove A. Whalen, would soon resign caused a stir in city hall circles today, only to be denied a few hours later.

The denials were issued by the commissioner and by Mayor James J. Walker after they had held a conference.

OBITUARY

J. Edward Johnson

MERIDEN, May 16.—(AP) —J. Edward Johnson, an alderman and former mayor pro tem, died of an acute heart attack here today. He had been very active in civic affairs for many years. A native of Sweden, he was treasurer of the State League of John Ericsson republican clubs.

Many Rumors About Ambassador Dawes

One That Dawes Will [illegible]n His Portfolio W[illegible]nied By White Hou[illegible]cials.

WASHINGTON, [illegible]—(AP)—Out of a bewildering deluge of contradictory announcements and rumors, official and political Washington learned with surprise today that President Hoover expects Ambassador Dawes to return shortly from his post in London.

It was indicated at the same time that Secretary Stimson does not share that expectation, for the state department head told newspapermen, after the president had confirmed the news, that Dawes had not asked the department's permission to leave London and could not leave without it.

One of the rumors which spread rapidly was that General Dawes was coming back to hand in his resignation. That lacked confirmation, and was discredited by most of those in a position to know.

The first statement from an official source was that the general was returning to confer with President Hoover on the London naval treaty.

At his conference with newspapermen at 4 p. m. the president said his ambassador had no mission in this country other than in connection with the Chicago world's fair.

Even in face of the president's statement, Secretary Stimson summoned a special conference of newspapermen and told them the ambassador had not asked for permission to return, and could not return without permission.

Out of the rumors circulated in official political and diplomatic circles tonight one rumor in particular stood out prominently.

This was that the ambassador would resign. The rumor was denied by white house officials, however.

Reports have been current for some time that the president might ask the ambassador to come back for conferences on the treaty. As one of the delegates, the ambassador has been in intimate contact with the sharing of the London agreement.

Suburban Day Today.

For the benefit of the large trading area which Norwich serves merchants have arranged the annual Suburban day sale for today, Saturday the 17th.

This is a seasonal shopping event upon which the thrifty of eastern Connecticut have come to rely. It means a distinct advantage for those who are seeking variety and style in standard merchandise. Those who have a list of wants and have been waiting for a favorable opportunity to fill them should take advantage of the unusual opportunity.

Up to date goods, the characteristic thoughtful Norwich service and adequate stocks are available at the Norwich stores—the trading center for this end of the state.

STORES OPEN AT 9 O'CLOCK

TRUJILLO PRESIDENT OF DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, May 16—(AP)—General Rafael Leonidas Trujillo and General Rafael Estrella Urena, government candidates, today were elected president and vice president respectively of the Dominican Republic.

The names of the opposition candidates, Federico Velasquez and Angel Morales, were withdrawn Wednesday by the Alianza of national progressive parties and thus the government candidates had a clear field. The Alliancistas hope, however, to have the election declared illegal by the courts and thus bring about new balloting. They declare that members of the Junta central electoral, the body which supervises elections, were illegally appointed some time ago and that the election therefore will not stand up.

General Trujillo began in the United States Marine Corps the military career which in twelve years has brought him, at the age of 37, to the presidency of a sovereign nation.

BRITISH DIRIGIBLE TO MAKE FLIGHT TO CANADA

LIVERPOOL, Eng., May 16.—(AP)—A statement that the British dirigible R-100 would start for Canada in a few days and remain there two weeks before returning to Cardington was made today by Flight Commander N. G. Atherstone, first officer of the airship, who left for Montreal with an advance party of 12.

"The Graf Zeppelin has crossed the Atlantic all right," declared Atherstone, "and there is no reason why the R-100 should not do it. The R-100 is two and one-half times larger than the R-34, which was the first airship to fly the Atlantic westwards. The route will be by way of Cape Farewell, Greenland, and the trip is expected to take three days.

"The actual day of leaving Cardington depends on weather conditions."

NICARAGUAN CHIEFTAIN WAS SEEN IN HONDURAS

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 16.—(AP)—Information from official sources said today that President Colindres of Honduras had telegraphed to President Moncada of Nicaragua that Augustino Sandino, Nicaraguan chieftain who has been in Mexico, was seen in Honduras May 11.

The telegram said Sandino was accompanied by ten men and presumably had crossed the frontier into Nicaragua.

Nicaraguan authorities are still investigating reports of the guerilla chieftain's return. They say they have learned that he did travel through Honduras, incognito, and that he received there a $200 check from his father in Panama.

Home Brew Test Case In Chicago May 26

Attorney Clarence Darrow Will Lead Defense of Malt and Hops Store In Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 16—(AP)—The arena is being cleared here for what is expected to be a fight to the finish on the sale of equipment and materials which go into the making of home brew.

The case back of the contest will be that of Joe Grein and J. Pahls, owners of a malt and hops store, charged with violation of the prohibition law in the illegal sale of home brew supplies.

Clarence Darrow, retired attorney and staunch foe of what he holds to be encroachments upon personal liberty, will lead the defense.

He was engaged by the Chicago Malt Products association and his assistant will be Captain William F. Waugh, a former assistant United States district attorney. The International Food Products association will send its attorney, J. F. Donnelly of Cedar Rapids, Ia., into the defense ranks.

The defendants were arraigned today and their case was continued to May 26. Meantime the government will make an attempt to indict them.

Today, despite the government seizure of [illegible] worth of bottles, caps, malt, hops and other materials, Grein and Pahls began re-stocking their store with the same goods. This was on advice of the attorneys, Grein said.

The government seeks to destroy the seized stocks through libel proceedings. They are at present impounded in a warehouse.

Prohibition Administrator E. C. Yellowly, who ordered the raid on the Grein and Pahls store following the recent decision of the United States supreme court holding sale of home brewing equipment illegal, was out of the city today and others on his staff were unable to say whether the store would be raided again.

Grein said he had no fear of another raid.

Federal agents, who raided the store, said the preceded the raid with purchases, receiving at the same time instructions from the clerks on how to make good brew.

"The confiscation of wares that might be utilized in the making of home brew is manifestly unfair," declared Darrow. "Our defense will be based on the argument that the federal agents had no right to make that raid. Mr. Grein has never sold liquor in his store and should not be prosecuted."

FOUR NEGROES SENTENCED TO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

WILSON, N. C., May 16.—(AP)—Four Negroes were sentenced to die in the electric chair at Raleigh within a period of four hours on Friday, June 13, by Judge Henry A. Grady, in Wilson county superior court here tonight for the murder of Callie C. Williford, aged farmer, who was beaten to death, his home robbed, and burned the night of April 10.

Two of the Negroes, Aaron Sharp and Berry Richardson, who confessed parts in the crime and were convicted Wednesday night, implicated Wright Bynum and William Randall, who were convicted tonight after a two-day trial. Bynum and Randall maintained innocence. Sharp and Richardson were the principal witnesses for the state in this trial.

COL. LINDBERGH IN WASHINGTON ON BUSINESS

NEW JERSEY REP. PRIMARY TO BE WET AND DRY CONTEST

June 17 Franklin W. Fort, On Dry Platform, Will Run Against Morrow and Frelinghuysen For Nomination For U. S. Senator—Fort's Declaration: "I Believe In the 18th Amendment and Am Unwilling That My Native State Should Directly Or Indirectly Go On Record For Its Repeal."

NEWARK, N. J., May 16—(AP) — Breaking into the republican contest for nomination for United States senator, Representative Franklin W. Fort today came to the defense of the 18th amendment which Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and his other opponents have attacked.

"I believe in the 18th amendment which Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and his other opponents have attacked."

"I believe in the 18th amendment," Fort said in the statement announcing his candidacy, "and I am unwilling that my native state should directly or indirectly go on record for its repeal."

Scarcely 12 hours earlier, Ambassador Morrow opened his campaign by advocating repeal of the 18th amendment and return of control of liquor traffic to the states. The other candidates are Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, former United States senator, and John A. Kelly. The amendment was adopted with the aid of Frelinghuysen's senatorial vote, but he recently announced that he was in favor of repeal and governmental control of liquor traffic, without profit. Kelly proposes repeal with no restrictions.

"Mr. Frelinghuysen," Fort said, "stands for repeal of the 18th amendment with a nebulous plan which can mean only the government's entry into the liquor business. I am opposed to the government's entering any business, particularly the liquor business.

"Mr. Morrow is more definite. He proposes simply a return to the legal status which prevailed before prohibition. Despite his denunciation of the saloon, it would restore to the states every power they ever enjoyed to permit the manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicating liquors including the power to re-open the saloon."

A few months ago, in a speech in the house of representatives defending prohibition, Fort suggested that citizens should have the right to make wine and home brew in their own homes.

The primary will be held on June 17.

The Fort announcement brings three friends of President Hoover into the contes,t but Fort like the others has announced that the president is not taking sides.

The Anti-Saloon league, which today labelled Morrow, "The white hope of the liquor interests," greeted Fort's candidacy with applause.

"Fine, Bully," said the Rev. James K. Shields, state superintendent of this organization in assuring Fort that he would have its whole-hearted and enthusiastic support.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS HAVE ARRIVED IN PARIS

PARIS, May 16.—(AP)—The first contingent of 6,000 American Gold Star mothers who this summer will make a pilgrimage to the French cemeteries where their soldier sons of the Great war are buried reached the French capital at 10 o'clock this evening.

The party, numbering 231, made in comfort the ride from Cherbourg, debarkation port in war days for the A. E. F., where they landed from the liner America in the afternoon.

For their arrival, the little Invalides station, on the left bank of the Seine, once again assumed its war-time appearance. It was crowded with men in American and French uniforms and hung with intertwined French and American flags.

The mothers, headed by their elected president, Mrs. Sarah G. Thompson of New York, and by Mrs. Eva Lindsay, Bethel, Ohio, dean in point of age, were greeted by about 25 American army officers in full uniform, led by Colonel G. G. Bartlett.

The French government officially welcomed them, being represented by Gaston Bacquet, chief of cabinet for the under-secretary of tourism. M. Bacquet brought them the salute of France, but out of deference for their fatigue and emotion, refrained from making a speech.

GRAF ZEPPELIN READY FOR FLIGHT TO SOUTH AMERICA

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, May 16.—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin's historic first attempt to cross the equator and reach South America by dirigible will begin Sunday some time between 4 p. m. and 9 p. m., if weather permits.

The first lap of the journey is to Seville, Spain, which the Graf expects to reach late Monday by way of Lyons, Marseilles and Gibraltar. A mooring mast has been erected at the Spanish city, and after an all-night stay there the great ship will nose out over the Atlantic Tuesday morning for the flight to Pernambuco, Brazil.

On the first lap the Zeppelin will carry 22 passengers. Of these six will go only to Seville, where four others will be taken aboard in their places, bringing the total for the trans-Atlantic and trans-equatorial flight to 20, besides the 42 officers and men of the crew.

From Pernambuco to Havana and Lakehurst, N. J., there will be 19 passengers.

The names of those making the trip this time will be carefully withheld until the dirigible is in the air. Certain passengers fear that their relatives might object as some did in the case of Mrs. Mary Pierce, New York when even the American ambassador's intervention was asked to dissuade her from the trip to America last May.

The plane fell at the edge of a small woods and drove its nose five feet into the ground. Thurman was dead when taken from the wreckage and Allen succumbed soon after being taken to a hospital here.

STUDENTS AT BARCELONA JEERED AT AUTHORITIES

BARCELONA, Spain, May 16.—(AP)—University students paraded, sang republican songs and jeered at authorities today after they heard that Cuban students from Madrid had been arrested at Avila and charged with distributing subversive literature.

Other students taunted the republican group but no fights resulted and both factions resumed their classes.

CENSUS SHOWS GROWTH OF SOUTH AND WEST

WASHINGTON, April 16, — (AP) — Dayton, Ohio, 43d city in 1920, and Bridgeport, Conn., 44th, found the numerical gulf between them growing when they finished 1930 census count today within a few hours of each other.

Dayton, increased by 24.3 per cent, totalled 199,683, and had passed Worcester, Mass.

Bridgeport, increasing by but [illegible] per cent, had been passed by San Diego, Springfield, Hartford, Youngstown, and Grand Rapids.

Dayton, in turn, was passed by Houston, 45th city in 1920—by a long, strong leap.

"Then and now," tabulations of the three, Dayton, Bridgeport, Houston, offer a striking example of the way the 1930 census has been shifting the bits of glass in the national kaleidoscope.

The tables follow for the two counts:

1930—Houston, Tex., 290,511; Oakland, Cal., 284,213; Dallas, Tex., 260,-397; Birmingham, Ala., 257,657; Akron, Ohio, 257,378; Memphis, Tenn., 252,049; Providence, R. I., 250,2[illegible]; Syracuse, N. Y., 207,007; Dayton, Ohio, 199,683; Worcester, Mass., 19[illegible],-345; Grand Rapids, Mich., 168,324; Youngstown, O., 167,224; Hartford, Conn., 161,324; Springfield, Mass., 149,639; San Diego, Cal., 147,897; Bridgeport, Conn., 147,206.

Shaker Heights, Ohio, population 17,892, joined the large increase list. The 1920 census book showed its population but 1,616, on which basis the increase would be 1007 per cent.

This would place Shaker Heights third on the list of percentage increases, putting Pampa, Texas, back to fourth place.

SUSPENDED AS EXECUTOR OF VALENTINO ESTATE

LOS ANGELES, May 16.— (AP) — Charged by the brother and sister of the late Rudolph Valentino with mismanagement and misappropriation of the film star's estate, George Ullman today was temporarily suspended as executor.

Ullman, who had been Valentino's business manager, was named executor of the estate following the actor's death in New York in 1926.

Valentino had $164 in the bank when he died, and more than $200,000 in debts, chiefly due on mortgages on various pieces of property. Ullman took over the management of several Valentino motion pictures which had not been released. Out of the income from these the debts have been paid, considerable amounts of money given to the heirs and some money accumulated for them. No estimate of the present amount of the estates has been made.

SEIZURE IN AMOY OF RUSSIAN PROPAGANDA

SHANGHAI, China, May 16.—(AP)—Tons of Russian communistic propaganda were seized in Amoy today in raids by foreign police in the foreign settlement. Fukien province authorities believed that three houses raided were the headquarters for red activities in the province and possibly all of south China. They hoped that disclosure of the communistic plans would enable the nationalist government to take measures to suppress the depredations and wholesale slaughter which red armies have inflicted for several months upon the populace of Fukien, Kiangsi and Kwangtung provinces.

INSPECT ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF WINDHAM HIGH PUPILS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 16—About 1,000 people attended the fifth annual demonstration of Windham high school activities held at the school tonight to afford parents and friends an opportunity of inspecting the accomplishments of the students and become acquainted with the work of the school. Taking precaution against the tremendous demands in past years for admission tickets to the program in the auditorium, this part of the demonstration was conducted in two parts tonight, the hall being well filled for both performances.

The first part of the program was staged at 7 o'clock and consisted of selections by the W. H. S. orchestra, selections by the Girls' Glee club, physical culture exercises and a French play, delightfully enacted under direction of Miss Claire Calnen of the faculty.

The second part was at 8:30 o'clock and consisted of selections by the orchestra, under direction of Miss Elizabeth F. Hunt, Latin club play, coached by Marguerite Prouty, Latin teacher, selections by the Boys' Glee club, physical culture exercises, saxophone quartette and a colorful May pole.

The inspection of the activities led to every room in the building where interesting exhibits were on display. In the English department the prizes shown as won by school students were: Ralph Gardiner, Burroughs Adding Machine essay contest, national first prize, $100 adding machine to school; William Lennon, Jr., Gorgas Memorial essay contest, national third prize $500 and first state prize, $20 and bronze medal, Pauline Landeck, National Automobile chamber of commerce safety contest, first state prize $15 and silver medal.

The home-making department displayed a bedroom cleaned and repainted by the advanced class. The furniture was purchased by the girls at a second-hand shop. The bed shown has been used in the department for several years. The table which has been made over into a dressing table had been discarded by a neighbor. The total cost of the bedroom as shown was $21.50, but its attractiveness was one that aroused much favorable comment.

In the principal's office on the first floor the plans of the proposed high school addition to be erected during the coming summer were on display.

In the Latin room models of the Roman house, the Roman family, the chart of a Roman house and a map of the city of Rome were features of interest.

The display in the civics department consisted of a blackboard drawing showing a map of Willimantic with territory, business, religious and school boundaries, a chart of the national elements represented in the city and a diagram of Willimantic's government.

Going to the second floor the visitors inspected the American history room in which was grouped cartoons of historical interest. The French room presented a pictorial history of the World War entitled Le Pantheon de la Guerre.

Many, especially the women, lingered in the domestic arts department where articles made by the following pupils were displayed: Wanda Sroka, Doris Bill, Hattie Potter and Abbie Easterbrook. The student banking facilities in the commercial room met with high praise. Typewriting demonstrations were given intermittently and information on the school banking was to the effect that the bank had total receipts of $7,260.11, with payments of $4,307.66.

The visit to the third floor began with the science department which had the Horatio Bill Mineral collection on display in the corridor. Other exhibits in various rooms were: Biology exhibits, fish, frogs, leaves, flowers, birds, insects. General science exhibits. Physical laboratory and apparatus. Exhibits of dye work, photographs and chemicals made by students. Chemical laboratories. Excellent refreshments were served at the conclusion of each program.

The demonstration was considered most successful in every detail and not a few took the opportunity of congratulating Principal Egbert A. Case and members of the faculty on the splendid work of the school.

The general faculty committee in charge of the demonstration consisted of Laurence A. King, chairman, H. Chester [illegible], Mrs. Cecelia Mahoney and Mrs. Carrie Prouty. The subchairmen were: Physical culture exercises, Miss Marjorie Harvey; orchestra, Miss Elizabeth F. Hunt; French play, Miss M. Claire Calnen; Latin play, Mrs. Carrie Prouty; Glee clubs, Mrs. Thomas H. Welles; refreshments, Miss Helen Barker, instructor of the home-making classes which prepared and served the collation. The faculty members were assisted by a large group of students in preparing and carrying out the demonstration.

THREE VETERANS ATTEND REUNION OF CONN. VOLS.

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 16—The 61st annual reunion of the Twenty-first Connecticut Regiment Volunteers' association of the Civil war was held in the G. A. R. rooms of the town building today with but three veterans in attendance. The roll call as read by Dr. Charles W. Roberts of Hartford, secretary, showed 18 survivors. The three present were George T. Meach, Company C, Middletown, William H. Brewer, Company A, East Hartford and Lionel W. Coates, Company I, Bridgeport.

President Charles W. Burpee of Hartford convened the reunion at 1 o'clock and introduced John J. O'Rourke, secretary of the chamber of commerce who delivered an address of welcome. Letters of regret that they could not attend were read from Hiram L. Johnson, Company K, Pawtucket, R. I.; John R. Emerson, Company H, Batavia, N. Y.; Albert G. Brown, Company G, Voluntown; Nelson L. Treasurer Robert H. Fenton reported that the treasury balance amounted to $16.11.

Beautiful floral decorations adorned the hall and dining room. Flowers were presented by Mrs. Mary Flaherty Anderson and Miss Margaret Flaherty, daughters of the late Dennis Flaherty, carnations were distributed by Miss Annie Hatheway Smith and cigars were furnished by Postmaster Frank M. Smith and Treasurer Fenton.

The secretary was instructed to ascertain the sentiment as to future reunions, owing to the small attendance.

The present officers of the association were re-elected and votes of thanks were extended the Woman's Relief corps for the excellent dinner and to the officers and those who contributed flowers and cigars. Including the three veterans, 20 persons were in attendance, invocation being asked by Rev. W. D. Hamilton.

During the camp fire session there were remarks by several including Past State Department Commander James Haggerty of the G. A. R. and Horace J. Fenton. The necrology list for the year follows: Philip F. Talcott of Rochester, N. Y., who died in November, 1929; Jared Pearl, Company D, Manchester, January 2, 1930 and William A. Beckwith, Company F, January 20, 1930. At the close of the reading of the list "Taps" was sounded by Bugler Hadley Williams of St. Paul's Episcopal church Boy Scout troop.

The auxiliary to James J. Shea post, No. 19, American Legion has received the $5 gold piece donated by Mrs. Edna Simoneau of Killingly, chairman of the district, for having the largest increase membership committee of the fourth in members during the month of March. The present membership of the auxiliary is 125.

Brooklyn Census

Census returns from the town of Brooklyn, Windham county, show it to have a 1930 population of 2,248, as compared with 1,655 in 1920, a gain of 593 or 28 per cent. Brooklyn has 121 farms. The gain in population is to date the best recorded in the taking of the present census in the third district, Supervisor Otto B. Robinson said today. The population of the town also includes the registration of the Windham county jail which totaled 61 on the day of the census at the institution. There are 10 of the 15 towns in Windham county now completed, and the count is nearly complete in the city of Willimantic and town of Windham.

MANSFIELD DEPOT

GRANDSONS WERE BEARERS AT FUNERAL OF MRS. SMITH

After an illness of three weeks, Ida E. Hale, 80, widow of Merritt Smith died May 8. Mrs. Smith was born in Three Rivers, Mass. in 1850. She married Merritt Smith in June, 1870. She was the mother of six children of whom four survive. A daughter, Mrs. E. S. Thompson of Mansfield Depot and three sons, Frank Baker Smith, of Los Angeles, Calif.; John P. and Grover C. of Palmer, Mass. She leaves sixteen grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Smith celebrated their golden wedding in 1920. She was one of the oldest residents of Mansfield Depot having resided in the same home for 55 years. Mrs. Smith was a devout Christian woman, esteemed for her fine qualities, a kind and loving neighbor. She was active in church work as long as her health would permit, having served as superintendent of the Sunday school for about 35 years, and a Sunday school teacher for many years. She was treasurer of the Ladies' Aid society at the time of her death, also treasurer of the Mission society and a member of the Eber Dunham Memorial Baptist church. Her funeral services were held Wednesday. There was prayer at the home at 1 p. m. and public services at the church at 2. Rev. Charles G. Johnson of South Coventry officiated. The quartet from the Congregational church of South Coventry sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder." Six grandsons acted as bearers—Robert Smith, G. Merritt Thompson, Charles Merritt Smith, Fred T. Smith, Frank Baker Smith and Ronald Dubuque. Burial was in Storrs cemetery. There were beautiful floral tributes from Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania, California and different parts of Connecticut.

The funeral was postponed until Wednesday to enable her eldest son, Frank B. Smith, to attend. He arrived from Los Angeles Tuesday afternoon.

PLAINFIELD

Those who attended the Six Church conference at Hanover, Wednesday, were: Rev. William C. Prentiss, Mrs. Samuel Wibberly, Mrs. Letta Dodge, Mrs. Phelia Edwards, Mrs. Everett Dawley, and they were pleased to meet Mrs. Carl Mathewson and Juanna Dorrance of New London, formerly of Plainfield.

The Monday Evening Bridge club was entertained Monday evening by Mrs. Ralph Bardsley. The prizes were won by Mrs. James Coffey and Mrs. Oscar Dahlley. The hostess served.

Mrs. Jerry M. Sullivan is spending a few days in Providence.

Plainfield friends of Nelson Bouley were shocked to hear of him taking his life in Taftville, Wednesday. Mr. Bouley was a former resident of Plainfield.

Church Army Van Coming

The church army van comes to Plainfield again, May 24, and will be stationed at St. Paul's Episcopal church. The Connecticut church army van will spend five days in Plainfield and vicinity beginning to hold services Sunday, May 25th. Captain Sinfield, in charge of the Connecticut Diocesan van this year, is making his second visit to St. Paul's. He is a member of the large group of church army captains who came to Plainfield in June, 1923, a few months after the army came to the United States from England to conduct missions in the states and to help organize an American church army. Two army cadets will accompany Captain Sinfield to assist him in the army services to be held at St. Paul's, Sunday to Thursday night, inclusive, of the week named and with the out of door van services he will hold in this section. The efforts the van members will make will be like those of a year ago when Captain Bloxham and his assistants visited St. Paul's. The forthcoming visit will make the fifth that one or more church army men have made to St. Paul's to hold services for one or more days.

The Balanced Ration

THE principles of the balanced ration, now recognized as of great importance to human beings have long been known and practised on the farm under the name of scientific feeding.

Ask a successful dairyman about his care of the herd. Get him to explain to you the importance of proper feeding to the health and productivity of his stock. Note the great efforts made to keep each individual cow peacefully happy by intelligent attention to housing, cleanliness and balanced rationing.

Surely there's a lesson here for men and women

If the balanced ration is worth while for purely commercial reasons in the care of live stock, how much more important when the health, the vitality, even the life of human beings is at stake.

Berry Spring Ginger Ales introduce into the diet certain valuable elements lacking or but slightly evident in the foods of the average individual.

Mineral salts and fruit acids derived from the pure fruit juices help to balance the American diet, commonly heavy with proteins and starches.

"Sucrose"—the food substance developed from sugar in the aging of Berry Spring Ginger Ales, has a definite place in the well-planned diet.

Pure Ginger exercises a warming and carminative influence upon the stomach. Carbonation facilitates absorption of the energizing elements in Berry Spring Ginger Ale itself and assists the digestion of other foods.

There is, furthermore a decided health value in drinking a beverage of such pleasing avor that it encourages one to imbibe a larger than usual quantity of liquid—thus aiding in the necessary lubrication of the system.

Last (and not least) important Vitamins in the B and C class are found in appreciable amounts in Berry Spring Ginger Ales

Vitamin "B" is regarded as essential to normal appetite and growth—lack of it amounts very often for cases of dyspepsia, constipation and other intestinal troubles.

Vitamin "C" is an important factor in the diet. Lack of it causes loss of vigor, vitality, stamina. It is especially valuable for the expectant or nursing mother.

There are two 'kinds of

Berry Spring Ginger Ales, the Golden and Pale Dry. Golden Ginger Ale is of fuller body and slightly sweeter; Pale Dry has a higher fruit acid content and less sweetening. Both are good and good for you.

DANIELSON

MISS MENDELL REGENT OF DANIELSON CHAPTER, D. A. R.

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, May 16—Miss M. J. Mendell will head Sarah Williams Danielson chapter, D. A. R., as regent during the coming year, her election coming at the annual meeting. Miss Amelia B. Hutchins was named as vice-regent, Mrs. Arthur L. Cundall as recording secretary and Miss Marion D. Gholiar as corresponding secretary. Miss Adah A. Danielson has been named as treasurer, Mrs. Maud A. Kerch as historian, and Mrs. Arthur A. Dean as registrar. Miss Helen Perkins has been elected the new member of the board of management. Mrs. Elizabeth S. Bidwell will be honorary regent during the coming year, Mrs. J. Henry Milligan, state counsellor.

The annual meeting heard a particularly interesting report on the recent Continental congress of the D. A. R. at Washington, D. C., including a lucid description of Continental hall. Miss Mendell, the new regent, and Mrs. Cundall, as delegates from the local chapter to the congress, gave reports on the proceedings and their impressions of them, including excerpts from the outstanding excerpts made during the proceedings.

Edgar L. Blanchette, operator of a car that was in collision with another machine driven by Edward J. O'Connell of Main street, was fined $2 and costs when presented in the town court this morning to answer to a charge of failing to grant half the traveled right of way. The accident occurred near Dayville Four Corners, Wednesday evening.

Imposing of jail and reformatory sentences, suspended, on a group of seven Brooklyn boys ranging in age from 13 to 17 years, is expected to curb the hoodlum activities of a gang that has been operating in Brooklyn for the past three years. The boys involved in the court procedure have been placed under the observation of probation officers.

Sunday, May 25, will be Memorial Sunday at South Killingly, and the annual exercises in memory of the honored dead will be held at the church and the cemeteries there. Patriotic organizations from Danielson will participate. Numbers of veterans of the Civil war are buried in the cemeteries at South Killingly.

Captain Harold E. Greene has been named by Leo J. L'Homme post of the American Legion to act as marshal of the Memorial day procession in Danielson. Captain Greene, an overseas veteran of the World war, will name his aides. Commander James Harney of the post has designated James J. Regnier to recruit the color guard and firing squad for the day. Post members have accepted an invitation to attend the Federation patriotic service on Sunday evening, May 25.

Next Wednesday afternoon in the community room of the Connecticut Light and Power company building here Miss Fanny Gleaton will speak on the subject Jury Service for Women, something not yet adopted in Connecticut, though women are now liable for jury service in numbers of states. Miss Gleaton's appearance here is sponsored by the Killingly Woman's club.

Keep the speed of your cars down through the business section. Again this warning comes to those who drive from police circles. Daily narrow escapes for persons crossing the streets are due largely to too fast driving, not forgetting to mention that some pedestrians are mighty careless about their safety in making street crossings.

While the sun was shining here just before 3 o'clock this afternoon it was raining something approximating cats and dogs in Norwich. There were rumblings of thunder here at the time following an occasional distant flash of lightning.

Now, from Dayville, comes the timely and interesting suggestion that a new motor pumper would be welcomed there, the town, presumably, sharing with the borough taxpayers in the cost of purchase. Welcome as this suggestion is, property owners here who feel that the present equipment of the fire department is inadequate to meet a real emergency, good as it is, are advocating the purchase of another pumper by the borough. If all the town pays for another one to be stationed at Dayville, so much the better.

Purchase of a $6,500 pumper by the borough, the cost scattered through half a dozen years and represented in the tax rate by a fraction of a mill tax each year, would spread the cost out so thin that the average taxpayer would barely sense any additional charges, yet the borough would have close to double the fire-fighting strength it possesses at the present time. The Lord forbid, but one serious fire here would demonstrate the need of more adequate protection more effectively than all that could be written in a thousand columns.

Strange as it may seem, one hears predictions from some parts of the surrounding countryside that unless abundant rain comes soon that owners of some rural properties will again be reduced to the necessity of hauling water from considerable distances, for domestic and farm uses, as they did for a number of weeks during the drought of the past summer and early fall. This situation rates as an unusual one for the spring season.

County Warden Thomas G. Daniels of Plainfield was in Justice Chester B. Jewett's court in Hampton this morning to appear against Oliver Dorous, charged with fishing without a license. The young man was fined $1 and costs, a total of $10.50, which was paid.

A good opportunity to pay your taxes today. The last day for paying taxes in the town of Killingly is next Wednesday, May 21, if you would escape the 9 per cent interest penalty. Collector James R. Walsh in his office, Saturday, until 5 p. m.—adv.

Attorney Elbert L. Darbie, grand master of the Grand Lodge of Masons in Connecticut and a personal friend of the deceased, will be among those attending the funeral services for John B. Bassett of Broad street.

The Killingly high school band and orchestra members got away on schedule time this morning for Meriden, where they were scheduled to compete this afternoon in a state-wide contest for such school musical organizations.

Semi-official straw hat day has come and gone without creating much of a stir in Danielson. Sunday, being pleasant, it is hoped, will bring a blossoming of the summer head pieces favored by so many of the masculine sex.

Sunday afternoon a baseball team of St. James' parish will play a team representing the Baltic Social and Athletic club at P. and A. field here.

Road machinery and men in the employ of the town were engaged today in clearing recently oiled streets of stones that were in the gravel spread over them when the oil was applied and getting the surfaces into the first class condition for the summer season.

A number of persons from Danielson were in Dayville this evening to attend the annual meeting of the Windham County Y. M. C. A., at the Congregational church.

This evening just before 7 o'clock members of the Men's class of the Baptist church left here for Willimantic, where they were to be guests of the Willimantic Men's club.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. A. E. Gallup, who with Llewellyn Richardson is on a trip to Toronto, Ont., Rev. Joseph Richardson will conduct the services at the Nazerene church, Sunday.

Notices are being given to the comparatively few persons in this territory who may not have been enumerated by the census takers that they may be recorded by sending the required census information about themselves to the U. S. Census Bureau at 910 Main street, Willimantic.

Men! New Gillette razor and new Gillette blade free! Call in, buy a tube of Palmolive shaving cream for 35 cents, and get the razor and blade as a gift. Mose the Druggist.—adv.

Of special interest in Brooklyn, and generally hereabouts, is the announcement relative to the recent wedding in the Winsted Methodist Episcopal church of Miss Charlotte Catherine Middlebrook and Theodore Millahn of Brooklyn. Mr. Millahn is a graduate of Killingly high school.

Mrs. David King and Miss Hattie Codding are to be the hostesses when the Wesleyan circle meets next Tuesday evening at the Methodist Episcopal church for what has been designated as a birthday party.

PUTNAM

MANY ATTEND STATE TRADE SCHOOL DEMONSTRATION

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, May 16.—Despite inclement weather there were hundreds who availed themselves of the opportunity to inspect the state trade school at the afternoon and evening sessions Thursday of the 13th annual open night. The entire school was in operation, with every member of the large student body occupied with some role in the exhibition play.

The exterior of the building was prettily decorated with electrical effects, strings of lights being strung along the Providence street facade and over the long entrance walk. In every department specimen subjects, products of the boys, were on display, and attracted much interest from the spectators.

The domestic science exhibits commanded particular attention. In the cooking branch, the innumerable dishes, appearing to all be relishing and delicious, worked up many an appetite and tempted many to sample the handiwork of the young women, who, attired in snow white kitchen apparel, mixed their batters and baked their cakes with skill and surprising results, that even amazed mother and grandma, who proudly looked on. The opinion generally accepted nowadays that Miss 1930 knows little or nothing of the art of threading a needle, was convincingly exploded, Thursday evening, in the minds of all who were conducted through the room of the trade school's sewing circle. There were more than a score of young women busily engaged in the work of selecting material, patterning their chosen designs and skilfully stitching the various parts of the garment together. Seeing the various operations in process, the visitor was introduced into the finished department, where completed models were exhibited.

The other sections of the large institution devoted to manual trades held steadfast the attention of the guests. The machine, electrical, masonry and carpentry divisions of the school were running on regular schedule, while the drafting quarter housed its complete staff of planners and designers. On the whole the school depicted Young America working overtime in its channels that will mould its membership into upright, respectful and useful citizens of tomorrow.

While an air of secrecy surrounds the plans of officials of the Adams Manufacturing company, with regard to the future of the concern in this city, it was learned authoritatively that the textile company will have ceased operations in this city by Aug. 1 unless some unforeseen development transpires in the meantime. On Thursday evening a shipment of machinery, part of which was weaving apparatus, left this city on trucks bound for another plant of the company in Shelton, near New Haven. Yesterday, officials of the plant here confirmed widely circulated reports that part of the industry is now being removed, but they refused to discuss for publication anything concerning the removal of the plant as a whole, since certain departments are still operating in a small way.

Principal E. L. Robinson of Putnam high school announced Thursday names of students credited with honor roll mention for the marking period which closed last week. The first honor roll contains the names of only ten pupils who received no mark in any subject below 90 per cent: Seniors, Helen Varbedian; juniors, Beatrice Green and Viola Ouimet; sophomores, Ruth Amidon, Ellen Corbin, Muriel Johnson, Russell Ryan and Genevieve Sherlock; freshmen, Elsie Horowitz and Gladys Varbedian; grade 8, Searls Bradford and Richard Joy.

The following pupils have received no mark below 85 per cent and have been named for the second honor roll: Seniors, Philomene Caron, Roland Cartier, Marion Hayden, Agnes Johnson, Arthur Kaminsky, Edna Kent, Stella Kubuska, Winnifred Lepire, Anna Murdock, Ellie Pahikainen, Normand Sherlock, Anna Shippee, Elizabeth Smith, Rita Stone and Dorothy Whitehouse; juniors, Hattie King, Ulysses Labossiere, William Moss, Threse St. George and Newart Varbedian; sophomores, Elsa Deberdinis, Marion Emlott, Walter Hayden, Eleanor Mann, Stella Piecyk and Lillian Vaida; freshmen, James Alvord, Helen Evans, Clayton Shaw, Lorio Labonte and Philip Wheaton; grade 8, Arthur Mulrain, Marion Seder, Myrtle Hermanson and Ruth Wilcox.

Lieut. Everett C. Davis of the United States army air service, with Mrs. Davis and their children, will sail from San Francisco on May 29 for the Philippine Islands, where Lieutenant Davis will take over his new foreign assignment. The airman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett A. Davis of Gary district. Until notified of his transfer to foreign service, Lieutenant Davis was for many years attached to the army base at Langley field, Va. He is listed among the army's older fliers, having been in the service for nearly 12 years. Being an experienced pilot, Lieutenant Davis has made innumerable flights to this city on furloughs.

TRUE BILL OF MURDER RETURNED AGAINST TRUDEAU

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, May 16.—Word was received this afternoon at police headquarters in Webster that a grand jury sitting in Worcester, after hearing state evidence in the hearing of Leon A. Trudeau, Webster man charged with murder of his wife, Cecilia, returned a true bill of murder against him today.

During the week the state presented its case to the jury. Testimony of various witnesses, gathered in by the Webster police department during its investigation of the murder mystery after the beaten and strangled body of Mrs. Trudeau was found on Feb. 23, on the Thompson road between this city and Webster, was presented during sessions of the jury which began on Tuesday morning.

With the republican state campaign opened by members of the County Woman's Republican club Wednesday afternoon, the chief concern of the party at this time is the selection of candidates who will successfully hurdle the democratic wave of opposition which was in evidence two years ago when the democrats of the town defeated the republican ticket locally and elected democratic representatives to the legislature. Emphasizing that it is the duty of Putnam republicans to work hard during the coming state campaign in order to "return Putnam to its proper political sphere," Miss Katherine Byrne, vice-chairman of the G. O. P. state central committee, at Wednesday's meeting foretold a republican victory here in the fall.

Local democrats here are facing the state campaign confident that they will repeat their victory of 1928. Although democratic organization work has not been officially launched, the ball is slowly beginning to roll and when a choice of candidates has been made, the political work of both parties will move toward the early fall caucuses with added impetus.

Significant of the fact that a federal postoffice building for Putnam is receiving serious consideration of the postoffice and treasury department officials, is the announcement of the latter that on May 27 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, sealed proposals for the purchase of the government-owned tract of land on South Main and Grove streets will be opened publicly at the treasury department in Washington.

The South Main street property was purchased in 1912 by the government as a site for a postoffice building. Because of its location, it was deemed inadvisable to erect the federal structure on this site. Deciding upon the sale of the site, the officials have called for bids on its purchase. Funds derived from its sale will be added to the available funds appropriated by congress.

JEWETT CITY

J. H. BICKNELL DROPS DEAD AFTER HIS WORK AT MILL

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, May 16.—John Henry Bicknell, 57, dropped dead from heart disease, at 4 o'clock Friday morning, in the carding room in the Ninigret mill. The cards were still, and the employes were preparing to clean their machines, when Mr. Bicknell was seen to fall to the floor. He had been suffering from heart trouble for some time. His son, Henry, had just been talking with him and had gone to clean his own machine.

Mr. Bicknell was born in Providence, R. I., the son of Alfred and Elizabeth Bicknell. For over 40 years he has lived in Jewett City, where 35 years ago he married Lucy Lovemoney. He is survived by his wife and four children, Henry, of Lisbon; Mrs. Alice Davignon, New Bedford; Mrs. William McMullen, Jewett City, and Mrs. Ada DeMoranville, of Chepachet, R. I. He leaves three sisters, Miss Mary Bicknell and Mrs. R. A. Wilbur, of Jewett City, and Mrs. Annie McTwiggan, of Uncasville. A brother, Alfred, died in Providence last week and was buried Monday.

Wharf Rat Causes Stir

A great wharf rat, with a tail a foot long, appeared on Main street from some unknown source in mid-forenoon Thursday. Evidently it was the gray-back's intention to cross the highway but road scrapers, buses, shouting children and passing automobiles presented too much of a problem, even to a wharf rat, so he dodged under a pile of crates that stood on the sidewalk. The streets were crowded, men and boys ran from all quarters, traffic was held up, even the steam shovel man left the big scoop hanging in mid-air, while he hurried to join the jam. The excitement was redoubled when a glimpse was gained of Mr. Rat as he shifted his position. Then a dog showed up, followed by another. One of these fiery canine warriors rushed in, but rushed right out again, and letting out a couple of yelps, beat it down the line for parts unknown. Sticks and stones were cast as the quarry darted out, and he would have escaped the whole bunch only that a small red-headed kid nailed him with a piece of brick. The crowd slowly dispersed, buses moved on, the shovel started and the normal deafening racket was resumed.

Finn's Sunday eve. at 8, mat at 3; all-talking and singing special production, Happy Days.—adv.

Mr. Swansey, from the office of Chief Clerk W. J. Stoddard, railway mail service, Boston, was at the local postoffice Friday to examine Clerks Thomas Barnett and Gilbert Miner on the states of Connecticut and Rhode Island.

The south-bound forenoon mail closes at the local office at 10:30 and the north-bound afternoon mail at 2:30.

First Man to Cross Bridge

The last south side girder on the new bridge was dropped into place Friday afternoon. One of the steel workers walked across on the upturned edge, the first man to cross the Quinebaug on the new bridge. Today (Saturday) when the upstream side is lowered into position, the iron work will be done except the angle iron cross-braces. With this last closing, there will be five 75-foot spans, making the steel construction 375 feet over the river from the east to west abutments.

Attended Silver Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vegiard, Mr. and Mrs. John Oakes and Miss Rosanna Gobeil, of Jewett City, and Mr. and Mrs. Adelard Gobeil, of Plainfield, were in Providence Thursday night to attend the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil Gobeil. Mr. Gobeil and his wife (Louise Jacobs) were married in Jewett City.

A very successful May whist was given by the Ladies of St. Jean in their assembly hall Wednesday evening, under the direction of Mrs. F. X. Casavant and Mrs. W. R. Lapointe. The room was artistically decorated with crepe paper festoons and dogwood blossoms. Nineteen tables filled the hall. The prize winners were Cecilia Carr, Regina Messier, Lucy A. Rousseau, A. J. Lamarine, A. A. Roussel and Leo Beaulieu.

Officers of League

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Jewett City Baseball league Thursday evening, the following officers were chosen: President, Walter A. Richardson; vice-president, Alex McNicol; secretary, Timothy E. Shea; treasurer, Eugene J. Carroll; press agent, Everett H. Hiscox. Plans were discussed concerning the coming 24 games, with every promise of there being features in this summer's contests that shall be of more local interest than in the games of any preceding season.

The music at the Congregational church Sunday morning will be sung from the new Sunday school hymn books by the girls in Miss Virginia Goodenough's class. These girls gave an entertainment and earned the largest sum of money for the purchase of the books.

Miss Ida I. Foster has returned from a southern trip and a visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. Robert Malcolm, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

The old woodsman was there with the goods Thursday when he landed eight trout from Meadow brook. The fish, on exhibition in J. B. Le Claire's window, were shown with a card which read, Caught by Old Cloey Watson.

Escaped Thundershowers

During the afternoon, Friday, three separate thundershowers bombarded the sections off to the south, west and north of the borough. Meanwhile the sky was cloudless over the town.

William B. Palmer, dog warden for the town of Griswold, and a special agent from Hartford secured judgment in the local court this week against two persons who were keeping unlicensed dogs. It is believed that a considerable number of dog owners failed to comply with the registration laws.

William C. Jeffers has returned from a visit at the home of his cousin, Mrs. Annie Keats, in Atlantic City, N. J.

Mrs. T. B. Keen entertained the wich, Friday afternoon.

Joseph LaBonne, of Cornwall, Ont., is spending the week-end with his sister, Mrs. James Foley. Mr. LaBonne was a former master mechanic at the W. A. Slater mills.

The R. H. club met at Miss [illegible] Harmony club at her home in [illegible] Dugas' this week. Bridge prizes were won by Misses Pauline [illegible] and Doris Riendeau. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

INCREASING SCHOOL FACILITIES

In including a vote of thanks with the vote of endorsement of the recommendation submitted by the committee of the Taxpayers' association in an open meeting to which many of the citizens were attracted, the meeting was fully justified.

It gave the citizens, for the first time, some light on the school situation other than that which has to do with the construction of two junior high schools at an expense of $500,000 and no one knows how much more.

It gave the taxpayers an opportunity to consider another proposition, one more considerate of their pocketbooks and one which will take care of the congested situation in the Academy and also in the grammar schools.

It brought to attention the fact that the situation can be met by the retention of the present school system, that the recommended outlay will be justified as part of the permanent school programme and that the state commissioner of education had stated that the junior high school idea would not be advantageous for Norwich.

While the Taxpayers' association has got an important expression of opinion from the citizens, it has yet to take action itself upon the report. That it will uphold its committee is strongly indicated and it will be surprising if it doesn't get the approval and thanks of the townspeople unless some better solution develops.

The existing situation is not the result of a complaint over the present school system. It has developed because so many are going to the Academy under the plan whereby the town pays the tuition that the institution cannot accommodate them. The situation has existed before. Relief was secured through the provision whereby the Academy was able to increase its accommodations. That method of meeting the situation is available now, and the meeting of Thursday night indicates that it is the way the townspeople prefer, because it can be done for less and because it does not interfere with present efficiency. If the people look upon it with favor because it represents the difference between a sound outlay and extravagance it is no more than should be expected. The need for more facilities at the Academy and in certain grammar schools exists; the need for junior high schools doesn't exist. Such was the report of the committee and such was the verdict of the meeting after hearing the committee, following the pleas for the junior high schools.

The open meeting has decided nothing. It brought about an expression of opinion, however, that is significant. It displayed the disposition to take care of school requirements in a common sense manner and a regard not only for what is being sought but the business-like method of doing it.

THE FORT CANDIDACY

When it was indicated a few days ago that Congressman Fort of New Jersey would run as a dry candidate for United States senator in New Jersey if Dwight W. Morrow should announce his candidacy as a wet, there was no fear that such a prospect would have any influence upon Mr. Morrow's course. He is known as a man of pretty sound opinions and not inclined to wobble from one side to another for the sake of expediency. In other words, there was no reason to expect that Mr. Morrow would sit on the fence and his declaration makes it evident that he had no such intention. His position is the result of convictions and he set them forth in a manner which must weigh heavily with many others.

Congressman Fort is a dry. He will be one of three prominent republican candidates in the primary, but the only one on the dry platform. It will, therefore, be expected that he will get the dry vote of the state of New Jersey, and this may include certain dry support from the other party.

Evidences have accumulated to indicate that there is slight chance for a pronounced dry in Jersey. At least, former Governor Frelinghuysen, always dry, has come to the conclusion, as the result of the study he has made of the situation, that he had no prospect of winning if he continued to maintain his dry stand. Consequently, he flopped and is running as a wet. In his case it might be said that expediency dictated his action. He wants the nomination and he also knows Jersey sentiment.

Mr. Morrow has not been in politics and his declaration is the first public statement of his views in regard to prohibition. He hasn't beat about the bush but has gone into the situation thoroughly. His views are understandable.

With the entrance of Mr. Fort into the contest, others will watch with interest the developments. If, through the combined dry support in the state, Mr. Fort succeeded in getting the republican nomination he will find himself pitted on election day against a democratic wet candidate and in any contest between two candidates on the wet and dry question in New Jersey there can be little question as to the outcome. It has been shown before how well Jersey thought of the democratic candidate who was as "wet as the Atlantic." If the Fort candidacy results in the election of a democratic senator and a wet senator there will be two reasons for regrets on the part of the backers of the Fort candidacy, whereas, except for the possibilities under the Fort candidacy, there will unquestionably be success ahead for Mr. Morrow, whose services have been so valuable to the country in other roles.

DR. BLUNT'S INAUGURATION

The inauguration of Dr. Katharine Blunt as president of the Connecticut College for Women at New London means the continuance of those services which were begun last year at this growing institution and formally attaches her to the college.

Dr. Blunt came to the institution thoroughly equipped to administer its affairs in the efficient manner that is needed. Not only had she made a record in her other work which gave every promise of success, but she has, since coming to Connecticut college, justified in every way her selection for that responsible position. She has made a most favorable impression upon the graduates, the undergraduates, the faculty, trustees and the friends of the institution. She has helped much to develop the proper interest in the institution from a Connecticut as well as an educational standpoint, and made it apparent that the aims of the college were certain to be carried out under her guidance.

Connecticut college has long since demonstrated that there is demand for its services. While it has encountered certain drawbacks it has, nevertheless, made pleasing progress. Under the presidency of Dr. Blunt it is hoped and expected that the difficulties of the past will not reappear.

On the occasion of the installation of its new president, Connecticut College for Women is to be congratulated upon its good fortune in the choice of such a leader and the most favorable look ahead that is secured thereby. May the term of service be long and favorable, a credit to all concerned.

"NO MORE DROWNINGS"

It is gratifying to note the efforts that are being made in different cities for the prevention of drownings. At last there appears to have been some attention paid to the appalling lists of those whose lives are snuffed out every year because of inability to take care of themselves in the water.

Out in Toledo the slogan "No more drownings this year," has been adopted. It will be remarkable if it can be lived up to, for no matter how carefully the plans are laid there will always be those instances where heedlessness or unavoidable accidents will claim their victims.

Nevertheless, it is a desirable thing to have such a slogan, to give recognition to the need of establishing a movement for such an end and to make every possible effort to carry it out. Toledo has been accomplishing good results in recent years in this respect. There was the year when 27 drownings occurred. To have cut that down to three last year was something to crow about. It indicates the thoroughness with which the endeavor was made and the cooperation that was given by those whose lives might otherwise have been at stake.

Toledo relies upon keeping down the drownings by teaching the children how to swim. It is one of the most important safeguards. That does not insure that the knowledge will be accompanied by good judgment while in the water, but it eliminates much of the uncertainty and the fact that there were but three drownings in that city las summer is a record of which it may well be proud.

It discloses the importance of knowing how to swim and the advisability of taking advantage of every chance to learn how to swim, such as will be offered by the Y. M. C. A. here next month. Why not a slogan "No more drownings in Norwich this year"?

IN RIGHT DEPARTMENT

Regardless of how one may feel concerning prohibition, there can be little doubt but what there is general recognition of the need of having the work of enforcing the dry law placed under the department of justice instead of left with the treasury department. Opinions may differ as to whether any better results can be accomplished by the department of justice, but it will be recognized that such efforts should come under the law department of the government rather than the bookkeeping department.

That ought to have been recognized in congress long ago, but it has been only after the hardest kind of work that the transfer has secured approval. The president urged it, following the report of the Wickersham committee. It got little attention. The senate balked. A second message was necessary. Finally the house bill was gotten into the senate and after more needless delay favorable action was taken.

It was disclosed on more than one occasion that the delay and failure to act was due in no small degree to the opposition which has manifested itself in the senate to anything and everything that the president has proposed. Even the recognized drys have failed to display an interest in what is expected to help prohibition. They have shown their willingness to obstruct it and do nothing rather than to provide a chance whereby someone might claim a bit of credit for the president. If getting the transfer actually made takes as much time as getting sanction for it from congress required, it will be many months before any indication of new influences can be expected. Even then enforcement may come far from meeting expectations, but it will be in the right department.

While the rain has put a damper on the forest fires, it has also given some slight relief to the threatened water shortage in some places.

The disciplinary measures taken by Yale following the recent clash of students with the police might have been more severe without overdoing it.

While crowded conditions are reported in penitentiaries, the places where they are located will probably welcome any increase in population.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

The burst of really hot weather that came upon us during the first week of this month caught the rank and file of us totally unprepared for the sudden change. Doubtless it has aroused in many minds thoughts of vacation. Do we realize that the pleasure of a change through vacation is essentially a modern idea? Less than a century ago only the rich who were not burdened with business cares ever thought of a vacation. Working from sunrise to sunset for men and far into the night for women was regarded as a virtue. To have a job and keep at it from January to December, year after year, was the very proper thing for a man to do according to the ethics of only a few generations ago.

Possibly the writer of these paragraphs is not the oldest person in the United States, but said person can very distinctly remember when only the very rich had the luxury of two dwelling places; a winter home and a summer cottage. Sometimes that cottage was up in the mountains, but more rarely at the seashore. In the middle of the last century there were only two conspicuous summer resorts, Saratoga and Newport. Going to either for a week put one into the ranks of the uppercrust. But today the number of vacation places is simply legion, and the general wealth of the country is so great that the majority of our people can go for awhile to any attractive place within a reasonable distance from their homes. The American wage has been so good that a person with average thrift can select any place that suits his taste and convenience.

To have a good time that involves rest, invigoration and pleasure, is no longer looked upon by good people as either foolish or sinful; but rather in accordance with the laws of our nature. The generations that have preceded us here in America did not as a rule take vacations. They were a hardy race that lived in sparsely settled communities, mostly in the open air, and had to use all possible time in reducing a wilderness to the purposes of civilization. Their simple living gave them a strength of body that could easily resist the rigors of our northern climate. They kept steadily at their life work until the Lord called them home. They were not made uneasy because it was bitterly cold in winter and extremely hot in summer. A kind Providence adapted them to the great civilizing work that had to be done.

Now that the great pioneering work has been done, and to day as a result of this civilizing process, we are doing those finer things that greatly increased wealth and broader cultural knowledge have demanded. We have nothing but profound respect for the brawny men who built our New England stone walls, but let us thank God that the day is past! Go today into any of our great manufacturing plants and see the wonderful diversity of machines that have superceded mere muscle and we can hardly help rejoicing that brains have taken the place of muscle as a conquering hero. Now this speeding up of brain power takes a larger toll of human energy than laying stone walls. Hence rest and recreation are more demanded than in the age of stage coaches. As money is more plentiful, and rest more urgently demanded, we can understand the annual exodus to seashore and mountains.

Were not the American Indians—who by no stretch of the imagination could be called expert farmers—wise in their nomadic form of life? With no surplus of goods such as civilization entails upon us, their roaming from place to place served at least two important purposes; to avoid the extreme cold of winter and the excessive heat of summer. Likewise it gave them the natural satisfaction of seeing a wide range of territory. Now the rich man of today who has a winter home in Miami and a northern one in summer is carrying out the old Indian program with a larger degree of refinement. But in both cases the idea is largely the same for both are obcessed with the desire to see just as much of the country's natural scenery as possible. Both desire to avoid the extremes of heat and cold. The main difference between the two is that while the Indian used his legs the tourist of today uses his Packard.

We sometimes wonder what are the fundamental facts that underlie sudden changes in the weather. Along general lines the scientist can give the reason as long as nature keeps within the scope of known laws. But nature not infrequently takes a notion into her erratic head to break through the arms of law and go upon a regular rampage just for sheer deviltry of meteorology. But probably there is a valid reason for such strange happenings, and if we understood better our vision would be clarified. Why is it that a few days after we let the furnace fire out the temperature has the audacity to run up to 90 degrees in the shade and make us feel like taking off our heavy flannels in the middle of the street at 2.15 p. m.? What a wonderful world we should have if only we wiseacres run it!

In this great age of intensity in which so much is done in a short time does it seem possible that it was exactly 13 years ago tomorrow (May 18, 1917) that President Wilson signed a bill creating an army of 500,000 men under selective conscription system? But it is an historical fact, and the young men who comprised this contingency acquitted themselves worthy of a nation's pride. This fact has come to the writer's mind because of the reception that France has given to "The Gold Star Mothers" who have recently visited the hallowed ground where their beloved sons lie sleeping. One can easily see what a drain upon a mother's sympathy such an expedition is, but it shows the intensity of her love to be willing to undergo such an ordeal to even cast her eyes on that consecrated ground. How appropriate this seems at the season of the year when the country has been observing Mother's day!

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

Poultry news is again looking up in eastern Connecticut. Hardly a month goes by nowadays without some new development to excite the emulation, the envy or the imagination of the chicken fancier. March brought news of the white Wyandotte that lived for eight months imprisoned under a haymow in East Killingly. In April, Bulletin readers learned about Helen, the trained pullet belonging to William Franklin of Noank, which does a solo to a piano accompaniment, can count up to ten and fulfills the functions of a watch dog around the place. Now Danielson comes forward with a white Leghorn belonging to Arthur G. Bill that crows, but lays eggs.

Such specimens are worthy descendants of the eastern Connecticut progenitors which, as the back files of the Bulletin attest, won countrywide fame in their day by laying eggs as big as footballs, developing two pairs of legs and utilizing the sun's rays to hatch out their offspring.

The first of these wonder-tales relates to Ledyard. It appears in The Bulletin of April 8, 1869:

J. R. Peckham of Ledyard has shown us an egg laid by a black Spanish hen, seven and five-eighths inches around lengthwise, and six and three-eighths across. It is larger than the average of turkey eggs. He has several more about the same in circumference, though not quite so long.

In the issue of April 20, 1869, another neighbor community placed itself in the large-egg competition:

L. M. Kinney of Griswold has a pullet's egg, the last of six laid in as many days, measuring six and seven-eighths by seven and three-fourths inches. All these eggs were double yolk.

These announcements brought out a third contestant, whose entry was described on April 27, 1869:

Charles Phillips sends us a hen's egg, eight by six and a half inches, and weighing a quarter of a pound.

Wonder Hens of Norwich

Four years later the appearance is noted of Norwich claimants for recognition as possessors of unique poultry, Greeneville, Preston, Thamesville, Bean Hill and the West Side alike are represented in the special honor roll.

Greeneville is first in the field with an egg whose size must have been almost equal to that of the heroine which laid it. It is described in the Bulletin of May 15, 1873:

Austin Harris of Greeneville took from a hen Tuesday an egg without a shell that measured 16 by 14 inches, and was five and one-half inches in diameter. It seemed to be a formation of several eggs into one solid mass. Guess Brother Bailey and his Danbury hen will have to give it up now, certain.

On May 1, 1875, Preston is heard from:

Hugh King of Preston has a Brahma hen which performed her little feat yesterday and seemed proud of it. She deposited an eight by seven-inch egg, which when opened was found to contain not only its own yolk and shell, but also another egg, shell and all, which was as large as an ordinary-sized egg. This hen must have belonged to Old Grimes tribe, which laid two eggs Sundays.

From Thamesville, two days later. The largest egg on record, so far as we know, has been sent to us by Thomas Burke of Thamesville. It was laid by a Brahma hen and measures nine and one-half inches by seven and one-fourth.

A Bean Hill Prodigy

That same month a sister Brahma brought fame to her Bean Hill owner by the following exploit, which was reported in the Bulletin of May 20:

On May 5, we noticed the fact that a Brahma hen belonging to Mr. H. R. Gardner of Bean Hill had laid an egg measuring six and seven-eighths inches round and eight and one-fourth inches in oval circumference. Subsequent to that date, the egg was pierced by Mr. George H. Ford at the end, to be blown, that the shell might be preserved, when it was discovered that there was enclosed within the outer shell a second egg two-thirds as large as the first, with a shell much harder.

That was also punctured and the contents drawn, which showed it to be a perfect egg. The outside egg contained no yolk, holding only the albumen in which the inner egg was enclosed.

Mr. Ford now has an egg within an egg, which is as puzzling to hen fanciers, as the question "whether the egg preceded the hen or the hen the egg, originally," is to country debating clubs. Was there ever a like phenomenon before?

On Aug. 5, 1879, the Bulletin published the subjoined item in answer to the question it raised on May 20:

Hoosier Paper Is Heard From

The Belvidere (Ind.) semi-weekly Recorder of July 31st responds to an "egg item" that started in its travels from the local columns of the Bulletins in May last, as follows:

The Norwich (Conn.) Bulletin notices the fact of a Brahma hen belonging to a Mr. Gardner near that city, laying an egg measuring six and seven-eighths inches round, eight and one-fourth inches in oval circumference, and which, on being pierced and blown, was found to contain another egg two-thirds as large as the first, with the shell much harder. That was also punctured and the contents drawn, which showed it to be a perfect egg. The Bulletin asks: "Was there a like phenomenon before?"

We reply, there was, and in substantiation of which, quote the following from the Belvdere Standard of October 19, 1875:

"In the line of hen fruit, Mr. Enos Tomkins of this city has a medium-sized hen that beats them all. Among the enormously large eggs she had produced the past summer, is one measuring eight and seven-eighths by seven inches, and weighing five ounces and one drachm. To preserve the shell the egg was blown, and strangely to relate, the inside was found to contain another perfect egg, a little larger than a good-sized pigeon's egg."

In its issue of July 11th, 1876, the Standard has notice of this same fowl producing an egg measuring eight and three-fourths by six and five-eighths inches.

This reply and the fact that in a western state back files of three and four years had to be referred to to produce its equal, shows Mr. Gardner's hen performed a rare feat when she spread herself.

The Big Egg of 1926

Nor have eastern Connecticut hens lost the art of laying giant eggs even in these days, as is evidenced from this item, which appeared in the Bulletin so recently as March 11, 1926:

An egg measuring 10 inches in diameter and seven inches in circumference was found to contain the yolk and white of another perfect egg, the ordinary size of an egg. The hen that laid this unusual egg is a black Laushang owned by George B. Swain of Old Mystic.

Four-Legged Poultry

As for the four-legged chickens, they seem to be a product peculiar to Norwich and its environs. From the issue of June 25, 1874:

Henry Smith, West Side, has a chicken monstrosity that has four perfect legs, two being for pedestrianism and the other two being laid reverentially over the back. He has already designs on Barnum.

A Mr. Lathrop of Bozrah exhibited a fine Leghorn hen in this city, Saturday, possessing four legs, but she could not walk any better than a two-legged hen, nor lay better either. Truth is, the extra pedals, posteriorly carried, seem to have been gotten up to excite the curiosity of the genus homo.

Old Sol Subbed For Mother Hen

On April 7, 1879, the Bulletin contained this item, relayed from a farmstead that overlooked the salt water:

On April 7, 1879, a Bozrah hen-quadruped is thus noticed:

The Narragansett Weekly says: As ex-Sheriff Billings went into his barn a few days ago, he found upon the floor a young chicken, apparently just hatched. He was at a loss to account for its appearance, as he had no missing hens and no "cluckers" among them. While in a quandary over the matter, he heard the peeping of other chickens up in the hay loft, and ascending thither he found upon the hay 11 more chickens, besides several eggs unhatched, but no mother hen could be found. The presumption is, that the warmth of the hay and the sun's rays upon the roof of the barn did the work of incubation. The little orphans are cared for by the household, and eight of them are in a fair way to live."

SUNDAY MORNING TALK

The Solitary Places of Life.

It is said of Christ in the Garden of Gethsemane that "He went a little further," to endure the agony He had to bear, apart from His disciples. They could not follow Him in person or in spirit all the way. Their sympathy was sweet and helpful. In presence they could go with Him a certain distance. But when it came to the supreme measure of the anguish of the hour no human heart could help. He must be alone with God.

Just so are there times in our lives when all human help fails to help. However loving and willing to render aid our friends may be, and however responsive to them and unwilling to separate ourselves from them we may be, yet there must come a place of division, a point from which, with all our thoughts and longings and heart-needs we must "go a little further." Companionship must stop short of the depths of our Gethsemane. Christ "went a little further" and was alone with God. So must we go into some of the solitary places in life, the heart and flesh crying out for the living God, and with no one but God able to meet us or understand us, commune with or comfort us as we tarry in the depths of the garden of grief or solitude into which we have entered.

What are some of these solitary places in life? One is the Gethsemane of bereavement by death. Friends may be ever so kind, may do ever so much, may send sweet messages or say the most tender and sympathetic words and yet we must "go a little further." All companionship is left behind and we suffer alone. No one can appreciate just how lonely we are without the loved one, just how much he or she was to us and how deep the grief we experience.

There are many solitary places in life, but we mention only one other, the valley of death. We die alone. If you have ever stood at the death-bed, then you know what we mean. Have you ever seen a soul start off on the long journey? Then you know how lonely a thing it is to die. Loving friends may be about the bed, and glad to go just as far along as ever they may, but there comes a point of separation. They must stop and the soul go on—alone out into the great unknown.

But we are not quite right in speaking of these solitary places in life as being necessarily absolutely without companionship. When Christ went "a little further" in the garden, God was with Him. And blessed be God, when we must go into our Gethsemane we have Christ with us, a companion and friend who can understand us and help us. He can do for us what no other friend can do. When bereaved or seeking guidance or in bodily pain He will be with us if we have taken Him for our friend to guide and to cheer. And at last, when we come to die, He will still be our faithful guide, and we shall be able to say with David, "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil, for thou art with me: Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me." The fact that there are solitary places in life only serves then to give emphasis to that other fact of our need of Christ for a friend. He will be your friend and mine if we let Him. He stands at the door of your heart. Let Him in.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 16—His Excellency, Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state, returned from the London naval pow-wow with a number of very heavy jobs confronting him.

For one thing, as chief of the American delegation, it was his task to function as major witness in behalf of the three power pact as it makes its way toward senate action.

Since that process takes place on the eve, so to speak, of congressional elections it could be expected both in senate committee and on the senate floor to be examined minutely. It might conceivably develop good campaign material for somebody.

A four months schooling in practical diplomacy in London in intimate association with the present day European leaders in that art should stand Stimson in good stead. He had not great background of diplomatic experience when he came to the state department, nor has his secretarial career been vexed by many difficulties to give him practice.

The naval parley and the Chinese-Russian clash in Manchuria, supplemented by a little friction with Canada over American rum blockade procedure, were the major incidents of the Stimson administration of the American foreign office up to April 1930.

Tests Of His Mettle

Yet at the time Stimson was preparing to undertake the duty of launching the new naval pact into senatorial waters, other things calculated to test his diplomatic mettle were taking shape. On the day the treaty was sent from the white house to the senate, for instance Representative Crisp of Georgia, as emergency democratic spokesman in the tariff matter, was making this statement:

"Do you know that 38 nations of the world have protested this tariff bill and are threatening to put into effect reprisal tariffs? They have officially protested to our state department."

On the same day there were cable advices published from several quarters of the globe indicating that retaliatory tariff legislation might be operative or, at least, ready for instant putting into effect, long before the American tariff bill reached its final disposition. And with each of those cases, it is to be assumed, Stimson sooner or later will be called upon to deal diplomatically.

Immigration

At that time, also, it was far from certain what was going to happen to the further immigration limitations, aimed at Mexico in particular, with which the senate was dallying. Stimson seemed quite likely to be drawn into that discussion almost at once. In the senate, also, the question of committee action on Philippine independence proposals had been deferred to await his return—and that of Navy Secretary Adams.

So all in all, it seemed that a busy time lay just ahead for Secretary Stimson. Whatever he may have learned in London of the practice of diplomacy—and no man could have failed to learn much in the circumstances—ought to be mighty valuable to him at home.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

Nanny's Terrible Journey

Take heed and to this truth attend:
The best and worst must have an end.
—Old Mother Nature.

For quite a while after Blarina's visit to the old tin can in which she was living, Nanny Meadow Mouse was uneasy. She would have been even more uneasy had she known who it was that visited her home while she was out. But Blarina didn't come back and after a while Nanny stopped worrying. It is that way with the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. They may be terribly frightened or terribly worried, but the fright and the worry seldom last long. They are soon forgotten.

Nanny was out getting her breakfast one morning when she heard heavy footsteps. She looked up to see one of those terrible two-legged creatures coming her way. Really, it was Farmer Brown's Boy and, of course, he isn't terrible at all. Nanny didn't recognize him and she took to her heels in fright. She made straight for that old tin can and popped inside. There she crouched down and waited for what would happen next.

What happened Nanny will never forget as long as she lives. Nanny has had many of frights, but never one to compare with this. You see, Farmer Brown's Boy saw the old tin can and just for fun, not knowing that Nanny was inside, he pretended that that old can was a football and tried to see how far he could kick it. Of course, when his foot hit that can, it made a tremendous noise inside. It was worse than a clap of thunder. And then before she could start to run that old can rose in the air and turned over two or three times. When finally it landed on the ground with a thump Nanny was so frightened that she couldn't run.

Then up came Farmer Brown's Boy. "This old can," said he, "shouldn't be out here on the Green Meadows. I'll take it along with me over to those bushes on the edge of the Green Meadows, where it will be out of sight. If there's anything I dislike to see, it's old cans lying around. Besides, this would be in the way in mowing time."

So Farmer Brown's Boy picked the can up. You see, there was a little handle on the top. When he picked it up this way, there was no chance for Nanny to get out, for the hole was in the top. So there was nothing for poor Nanny to do but to shiver and shake in her bed at the bottom of the can and wonder what would happen next. She began to feel very uncomfortable as well as frightened. You see, Farmer Brown's Boy was swinging that can as he walked and that motion gave Nanny a most uncomfortable feeling in the pit of her stomach. All she could do was to say over and over to herself: "Oh, dear! Oh, dear! Oh, dear!"

Meanwhile, Farmer Brown's Boy was tramping across the Green Meadows without ever once thinking that there might be any one in that can. He was whistling as he walked. When he reached the bushes he gave the can a toss. It just happened that that can landed right side up. Yes, sir, it landed right side up. Nothing could have been worse for Nanny. You see, that hole in the top, the only hole there was, couldn't be reached by jumping and of course she couldn't climb the straight sides of that tin can. She was in a fix, was Nanny Meadow Mouse. Fortunately, she didn't realize it at first. She was so badly frightened that all she did was to crouch down in that bed of grass at the bottom of the can and try to make herself as small as possible. Then she listened to the whistling of Farmer Brown's Boy fade away in the distance and wondered what was going to happen next.

The Questioning Child

By Adrian Scolten,
St. Louis,
(From Gorgas Memorial Institute)

A little three year old stands beside you at a fire. As fast as the baby mouth can frame questions he hurls them: "Why do firemen wear such funny hats? Why do they wear rain coats? Why do they chop holes in the roof? Why do they throw things out of the window? Why do they wear rubber boots? Why is the water cold? Why does everybody come to the fire? Why is a fire?"

Of course an unusual occasion like a fire has awakened many new ideas in the small mind which naturally express themselves in questions. These questions may be purely an expression of his own excitement and not asked for the purpose of getting an answer. His mind has been overstimulated—which should make us realize that exciting occasions such as fires, and accidents, and most movies are excellent things from which to keep a small child away.

But perhaps the child is only asking questions to get attention. He asks about things he already understands and does not listen to the answer. With small children this is their way of making you think about them. It is a habit not to be encouraged, for if he is successful in getting your attention that becomes the chief objective and he will soon employ other methods which bring the same result. If he is repeatedly successful he not only expends much energy in this direction, but he is distinctly unhappy when unsuccessful. This soon becomes a habit patter which may stay with him through life, making of him a discontented individual continually reaching and striving for the limelight by fair means or foul.

When your child earns attention legitimately then give it to him whole heartedly, praising him for the thing which he has done. "That is a fine boat, Tolen," not "You are a smart boy!" You will in this way stimulate his interest in achievement and he soon learns that it is only through worthy achievement that he gets the personal attention which unearned and easily gotten, is a vicious thing.

But if, as a third possibility, the child is really asking for information—and you can tell whether he is or not by the way he listens to your answers—then give him that information in as simple and understandable a manner as possible. Do not weave a long and intricate tale delightful to your adult but confusing to the child. Confine your answer to his questions. By so doing you not only flatter the child's intelligence and develop his self-esteem, but you stimulate his interest in objective activities, and last but not least you increase his likly and admiration for himself. If you are a parent this is no light consideration. It will stand by you in many a day to come.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Memorial Day In Plainfield

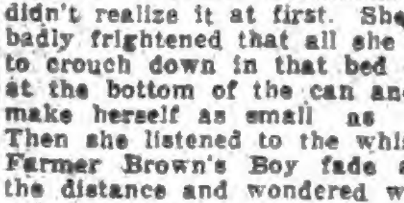
Mr. Editor: Having read a statement in the Plainfield Journal that a conference would be held in the town hall to make plans for Memorial day observance, I would like to say the plans have already been made by the two organizations.

The American Legion, a good many weeks ago, hired a band and made other arrangements. As the time drew near for Memorial day plans, Richard Daggitt, acting as our representative, has nearly or quite completed all arrangements.

The committee of the Legion has asked the committee of the G. A. R. to meet and talk over affairs for some reason known to themselves. Surely, the people, generally spoken of, cannot wish for peace on the day we pay tribute to our dead, not only of the Civil war, but of the World war as well, any more than the ladies of the G. A. R.

MRS. EVERETT LADD,
Chairman Committee G. A. R.
Central Village, May 15, 1930.

Exports of frog legs from the vicinity of Tsu, Miye prefecture, Japan, now amount to 1,083 pounds a month and are increasing as rapidly as growers can raise frogs. Shipments are being made to both Europe and America, with exporters unable to meet the demand. Upwards of 1,000 persons in the district now own 300,000 frogs which are being retained for breeding purposes in the hatching season from April to May. Each female frog is expected to lay some 20,000 eggs. Bull frogs were introduced into Japan from the United States and have adapted themselves to the marshy regions of Miye prefecture until they rank among its major assets.



A HISTORY OF CONNECTICUT INDUSTRY

Released by Manufacturers Association of Connecticut

Sargent & Company, New Haven.

The beginnings go back to Leicester, Mass., where in 1813, Joseph Denny Sargent began the manufacture of hand cards used in home spinning. On his death in 1849, the business was acquired by Joseph Bradford Sargent, his son, who was established as a commission merchant in New York city. Among other concerns, he represented The Peck & Walter Manufacturing company of New Britain, which had begun the manufacture of andirons and smaller articles of hardware in 1842 and in which he had purchased a tenth interest. This concern went under the panic of 1857 and he became the largest creditor and a majority stockholder. With two brothers he re-established and continued the business and the enterprise, known as J. B. Sargent & Co., prospered. More factory space being urgently needed, land with harbor frontage was purchased in New Haven, new buildings erected and on May 1, 1864, production began in the new plant; at this time the business was incoroporated as Sargent & Co. A large and varied line of builders' and shelf hardware was made and in 1882 the company began the manufacture of a complete line of locks, knobs, escutcheons and other door and window hardware. It is now one of the largest producers of this class of goods and its products are used on important buildings in all parts of the country as well as abroad.

POETRY

My Mother Knitting

There are many pictures hanging on the walls of mem'ry's room
That within my heart is builded. They hang shrouded in soft gloom,
Until urge to see them stirs me—then
I turn the searching light
Of my love and longing on them, and they stand out clear and bright.

There is one that's most appealing, hanging on this memory wall;
Just a simple, homely picture—but it holds my heart in thrall.

In a room of cheer and comfort I can see my mother sitting,
In her little, straight-backed rocker, by the big fire, knitting—knitting.
I can see the firelight playing on the walls and all about
And the needles flashing, flashing, like
thin rapiers, in and out.

I can see the pattern growing, underneath the busy hands.
It may be a long, warm stocking, or a pair of wristlet bands;
It may be a hood for Mary, or bright mittens for our Nell,
But 'twill always make for comfort of the ones she loves so well.

I must close the door of memory, for this world of work-a-day Calls and will not let me linger—I must hasten and away;
But full oft I'll see this picture, lighted by my heart's desire—
See the big room, cheerful—cozy—and the roaring Winter fire.

See again with tender loving, my dear little mother sitting
In the prim, old straight-backed rocker, by the great fire, knitting—knitting
See the firelight playing redly, here and there and all about,
And the needles flashing, flashing, like
thin rapiers, in and out.

The Sun Begins

Robed in flames and amber light,
The clouds in thousand liveries dight;
While the ploughman, near at hand,
Whistles o'er the furrowed land,
And the milkmaid singeth blithe,
And the mower whets his scythe,
And every shepherd tells his tale
Under the hawthorn in the dale.
Straight mine eye hath caught new pleasures,
Whilst the landskip round it measures;
Russet lawns, and fallows grey,
Where the nibbling flocks do stray;
Mountains on whose barren breast
The labouring clouds do often rest;
Meadows trim, with daisies pied;
Shallow brooks, and rivers wide;
Towers and battlements it sees
Bosomed high in tufted trees,
Where perhaps some beauty lies
The cynosure of neighbouring eyes.
Hard by a cottage chimney smokes
From betwixt two aged oaks,
Where Corydon and Thyrsis met
Are at their savoury dinner set
Of herbs and other country messes,
Which the neat-handed Phillis dresses.

At a military dance, one officer said to another as they adjourned for refreshments:

"I don't know how it is, but my wife's lipstick always tastes different from any other woman's," and he carefully wiped his lips.

"Yes, doesn't it," remarked the other, absent-mindedly. — Detroit News.

The farmer owned fields on each side of the golf links. It so happened that he was taking a short cut from one to another when the club's worst member was adressing his ball.

The worst member waggled his driver to and fro for several minutes, missed four swings, and finally managed to hit the ball about a dozen feet. Then he glanced up and saw the farmer.

"I say," he protested, "only golfers are allowed on this course, you know."

The farmer nodded.

"I do know," he replied. "But I won't soy nothin' if you don't."—Answers.

MONTVILLE PREPARING FOR MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

MONTVILLE, May 16—Owing to the late date that the Memorial day parade was turned over to the Montville post, No. 112, American Legion, the Legion post Memorial day committee, headed by Commander Henry Jerimias has been busy trying to secure military and naval units to participate in the parade. At the meeting last evening at the Robert Gair plant's office Walter Bergman was elected treasurer. Many of the local military units in this locality have been assigned to different towns and the local Legion post has encountered much difficulty in securing units but has had a unit of marines assigned here. They have also encountered much difficulty in securing a band as all the bands have been hired to play in the morning parades and it looks as if the parade in this town will be held in the afternoon instead of the morning as has been the custom in the late years but the Montville post will hold another meeting Sunday, May 18, at 11 a. m. at Gair field, at Uncasville, to make further plans and there may be a possibility that the parade will be held in the morning and a band be secured. If the weather doesn't permit an outside meeting the meeting will be held at the home of Commander Henry Jerimias, close by.

SPEAKS AT BAPTIST CHURCH UNDER Y. M. C. A. AUSPICES

The thinking people of the world are probably giving much thought to the terrible problems of Russia. Taking advantage of a rare opportunity, the Norwich Young Men's Christian association has succeeded is securing a man who has for several years been close to the Russia situation. Edgar MacNaughten will speak on Sunday evening at 7.30 o'clock in the Central Baptist church, on "Russia and Her Problems." Mr. MacNaughten has been giving close study to this difficult problem, and therefore is fully capable to discuss it. He is now grappling with the problem of serving some two millions of Russians, who have been forced to leave their country, and are scattered over a wide area, with an outlook that is most serious. In addition to the timely address a musical treat has been arranged. Maurice Wallen, the popular tenor soloist of Hartford will render several selections. The public generally is invited, and doubtless a large number will avail themselves of privilege offered.

EDGAR MACNAUGHTON

Mr. MacNaughton is a Wesleyan college man, graduating there in 1904 and in his college life was captain of the basketball team during his junior and senior years, manager of the baseball team in his senior year, and president of the senior class.

They were found to be of a minor character. The child is said to have darted from the sidewalk into the path of the truck.

HOUSEKEEPER GETS $15,654 FROM CHAS. J. GREEN ESTATE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, May 16.—Late this afternoon, after trial of the civil case, Waterman vs. Green, during the week at Kingston courthouse in Washington county superior court, a verdict was returned for the plaintiff in the sum of $15,654.85. Suit was brought by his housekeeper to collect $20,000 from the $100,000 estate of Charles J. Green, town treasurer of Richmond for many years. In this estate it was reported that no will was found. At a previous trial of the case in Westerly the presiding justice directed a verdict, but later the case was set back for a re-trial.

It is expected that the April term of superior court will adjourn from Kingston to Westerly Wednesday or Thursday of next week, to give consideration to the Westerly docket.

FIFTH NORWICH BROADCAST HOLDS INTEREST OF MANY RADIO AUDIENCES

Good radio receptivity between 10 and 10.30 Friday evening when the fifth in the series of Norwich broadcasts from Station WTIC was on the air contributed to the pleasure of the many who listened in for the entertaining and instructive dialogue between the Doctor 'n the Schoolmaster.

Here is what they said:

ANNOUNCER: The old Doctor and his old friend, the Schoolmaster, return to you again, ladies and gentlemen, in a program sponsored by the Merchants Bureau, Chamber of Commerce, of Norwich, Conn., the "Rose of New England."

Our listeners will remember that the state of Connecticut is roughly oblong in shape. The eastern boundary is almost a straight line, the line that sets us off from the state of Rhode Island. Over in the southeast corner of Connecticut, you'll find the Thames river, which flows south to Long Island Sound. Near the mouth of the river is the city of New London, farther north, at the head of the river, is the city of Norwich, an inland city as well as a seaport, connected by tide-water with the seven seas. Norwich schooners, brigs, and square-riggers sailed to the four corners of the globe before George, the Third, was king.

All of this southeastern corner of the state was ancient long before the Revolution. The traditions of the Indians run back many years before the coming of the white race. Here were white settlements generations old when the first gun was fired at Lexington. Many of the giant industries of the United States had their beginnings in the tumbling streams that riot into the waters of the Thames river.

A short ride out of Norwich is the new Norwich inn, overlooking the river and a country of rolling hills. On the porch, in their usual chairs, we find the Doctor and the Schoolmaster. The time is about sunset, the night is thrusting dark fingers into vale and glen, fireflies streak the dusk with gold. A restful hour anywhere—in Connecticut, incomparable.

DOCTOR: Sundown in Connecticut! How do you like it, professor?

SCHOOLMASTER: For me, doctor, it's an old, old spectacle in a new setting. Makes a new show out of it!

DOCTOR: You were talking last week about literary lights of Norwich. We had a man here once, a storekeeper, his name was Perry. He raised a couple of boys in Norwich. One of them turned out to be quite a writer. His writing is quoted a lot 'round Fourth of July.

SCHOOLMASTER: Perry, eh? You've got me, doctor! Can't think whom you are referring to.

DOCTOR: The father, Christopher Perry, served in both the American army and navy during the Revolution. He had a son in the navy, too, Mathew Galbraith Perry, who opened up Japan to the commerce of the world.

SCHOOLMASTER: I remember him, certainly, but I didn't know he was a writer.

DOCTOR: No, the other son was the writer, Oliver Hazard Perry, the man who said: "Don't give up the ship" during the battle of Lake Erie.

SCHOOLMASTER: I remember my history, doctor, but I can't recall any of Perry's literary work.

DOCTOR: What little he did was very good. I mean the masterpiece about "we have met the enemy and they are ours, two ships, two brigs, one schooner, one sloop. He was the first of our Norwich boys to make good on Lake Erie.

SCHOOLMASTER: And the only one, wasn't he?

DOCTOR: No, we had another Norwich boy who made good on Lake Erie. Did you ever hear of Moses Cleveland, lawyer and surveyor?

SCHOOLMASTER: Don't believe I ever did.

DOCTOR: He started a town on the south shore of Lake Erie. Perhaps you've heard of it, Cleveland, Ohio?

SCHOOLMASTER: How is it your Norwich boys go elsewhere to make good?

DOCTOR: Not all of them. The Olcott home in Norwich has remained in the possession of the Olcott family for two hundred years. They don't all leave town. And some of them come back one time or another. Sometimes their sons come back.

SCHOOLMASTER: Indeed!

DOCTOR: This town of Norwich has had chartered government since 1659, 271 years ago. When we celebrated our 250th anniversary in 1909 President Taft came up as guest of honor. And say, professor, his father used to teach school in a little red schoolhouse, just outside of town. It's a small world, isn't it?

SCHOOLMASTER: By the way, doctor, I saw an interesting sight yesterday, the Old Torrent Engine No. 1. Did you ever see it?

DOCTOR: I guess you mean the old fire engine. No, I know we have an old fire engine in town, but I've never had a look at it.

SCHOOLMASTER: You'll find it over in the central fire station. The boys are prouder of that old relic than they are of their newest auto.

DOCTOR: It's an old-timer. I suppose you know all about it.

SCHOOLMASTER: It is the sixth oldest fire engine built in America. John Bliss made it, back in 1769. It's easy to see that it was built before the Revolution. There's a crown and the letters "M. S." on one of the wheels. When Williams' blacksmith shop on West Town street burned, the boys had Old Torrent out and on the job. That was in 1870.

DOCTOR: It wouldn't be one-two-three at a fire nowadays.

SCHOOLMASTER: No, you'd get more water out of a modern fire engine in five minutes than you'd get out of Old Torrent in a week. Its present capacity is rated in sentiment. The old engine was at the Cincinnati exposition, it was at the Centennial exposition, at Boston, Hartford, and Kansas City. And it is always in demand for parades.

DOCTOR: While we're on the subject of fire engines, let me say a word about the next best thing, fire insurance. The fire insurance business of the state began here in Norwich.

SCHOOLMASTER: Always thought it began in Hartford, Connecticut.

DOCTOR: If you're so well-informed as all that, we'll not mention where it began. I believe it's a controversial subject. Anyway, our Mutual Assurance company, of Norwich, was organized in Dec. 1794. That makes it 135 years old.

SCHOOLMASTER: Very few of those old companies lasted very long.

DOCTOR: No, fire insurance was a tough game in the days of frame houses and hand-pumps.

SCHOOLMASTER: Our forefathers were hardy pioneers in more ways than one.

DOCTOR: The company might not have been started only for a big fire in Norwich in 1793. It destroyed six shops, four dwellings, four barns, and the meeting-house of the Second Congregational society. Total loss of $40,000.

SCHOOLMASTER: Naturally, that started everybody thinking about insurance.

DOCTOR: A few months later, there was a meeting in the court house at Norwich Town and the Mutual Assurance company was organized. And while I think of it, the original minute-book is still in use, with the first entry as legible as the day it was written. The organization never had a president.

SCHOOLMASTER: Never had a president?

DOCTOR: No, the rules call for a chairman, secretary and treasurer, and directors, elected annually by the policy-holders. The first policy was issued the next year to Christopher Leffingwell, policy Number 1. The policy has never been allowed to lapse. And the house it protects is still standing.

SCHOOLMASTER: That's unusual, doctor.

DOCTOR: Next time you're out in Norwich Town, walk around near Harland's corner and inquire for the house where Capt. Benjamin Huntington used to live. His daughters are living there. That's the house.

SCHOOLMASTER: Any others of those old policies in existence?

DOCTOR: Several of them. The Porter home has policy No. 4. The Gardner Thurston home has No. 9.

SCHOOLMASTER: Well, it seems to me you have a little aristocracy of old policyholders. It's a comfort to know there are a few on earth who manage to renew their insurance.

DOCTOR: And there's the General Harland home, still carrying policy No. 36. But there's a mystery about the "Colt House." In 1795, Daniel Colt insured the place with policy No. 53. You know where the "Colt House" is on the east side of Main street? It passed by inheritance to the Gilman family.

SCHOOLMASTER: Where's the mystery?

DOCTOR: Remember the plates all the houses used to wear, giving the name of the fire insurance company and the policy number?

SCHOOLMASTER: Yes, but I haven't seen one since I was a boy.

DOCTOR: There's one on the "Colt House." But it has the wrong policy number. Instead of 53, it's 203, a policy issued to John French, back in 1797. How it came there, no one knows, not even the Ladies Gilman who are now living in the house.

SCHOOLMASTER: If I ever need any fire insurance, I'll know where to come for it.

DOCTOR: Sorry, professor, but the company hasn't taken any new business for the past ten years. You'd have to whistle for it.

SCHOOLMASTER: I'm afraid that wouldn't make them change their tune. History would have been different, if Nero had owned a policy instead of a fiddle. For the present, I'll choose the fiddles.

SCHOOLMASTER: You were telling me several weeks ago about the time Andrew Jackson visited Norwich to dedicate the Uncas monument. Why didn't you say something about the parade? Andrew Jackson said it was the longest parade he had ever witnessed in a town of that size.

DOCTOR: Well, there's a reason for it. The head of the parade swung round in back of Andrew Jackson and fell-in behind the tail of the procession. They circled around him four or five times in an endless chain, just to get a good look at him.

SCHOOLMASTER: I don't want to change the subject, doctor, but did you ever read Longfellow's "Evangeline"? Yes? You'll remember how the Acadians were driven from home? Well, some of them landed in New London and built the Shaw mansion. Still standing down there.

DOCTOR: You're not telling me any news. Did you happen to find out yet that the first railroad tunnel in America was built right here in this county of New London?

SCHOOLMASTER: No, but the first steamboat to cross the ocean, the Savannah, was officered by two men of New London, the Rogers brothers.

DOCTOR: At one time, the commerce of the port of New London was third to New York and Boston. And across the river, in the town of Groton, there was another remarkable family, the Daboll family. Nathan Daboll was a famous teacher. He was the authority in this section on navigation. In 1799, he wrote a book on arithmetic. And mighty few of the sea-captains of his day left port without a copy of his "Practical Navigator."

DOCTOR: In 1773, he began publishing the famous "Connecticut Almanac." His two sons carried it on after him. And he had a grandson, can the clarinet player of the orchestra hear us talking out here?

SCHOOLMASTER: This grandson took the principle of the clarinet and applied it to a fog horn. And his brother made an adaptation so that it could be worked by steam. They were the first to make use of the vibrating reed in fog horns, not a small contribution to the safety of humanity.

SCHOOLMASTER: I didn't learn that yet, but there's an interesting fact I picked up in New London. It's the birthplace of George Deshon, who was a room-mate of General Grant at West Point.

DOCTOR: General Grant, huh! Did you ever hear anybody in Norwich speak of Christopher Huntington? You did? You bet you did! He was one of the founders of the town. Well, he had a granddaughter named Martha, who married a man by the name of Noah Grant. They were ancestors of Ulysses S. Grant.

SCHOOLMASTER: So General Grant comes of Norwich stock, too!

DOCTOR: If you're going to keep nosing around in the small towns, there's one you don't want to miss. That's Lebanon. It's within easy riding distance of Norwich. Why, as early as 1709, troops went from Lebanon to serve in the Indian wars. It was a very important town in its day.

SCHOOLMASTER: What happened to it?

DOCTOR: Well, one thing which made it important was its location, on the Post Road between New York and Boston. It was a link between New England and the Southern Colonies. For another thing, there were two men there who made it important, the two Trumbull brothers.

SCHOOLMASTER: That name bobs up every so often.

DOCTOR: They were among the largest shipping concerns in the colonies, their boats sailed all over the world.

SCHOOLMASTER: Hey, hey, doctor, wait a minute! You're getting the wrong family mixed up in this! Lebanon isn't a seaport.

DOCTOR: No, but it was the headquarters of the Trumbulls. Their boats sailed out of New London and Haddam, and their cargoes were all

DR. BLUNT INAUGURATED THIRD PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE

NEW LONDON, May 16—(P)—Dr. Katharine Blunt today was inaugurated as the third president of Connecticut College for Women and became the first woman to be president of a college or university in this state.

The ceremonies were attended by visiting delegates from nearly one hundred universities, colleges and schools, many of whom were presidents of their respective institutions.

Miss Blunt, who actually assumed office last fall came to Connecticut college from the University of Chicago, where she was chairman of the department of home economics. She was inducted into office by George S. Palmer, chairman of the Connecticut's board of trustees.

Greetings to the new president were brought by Henry N. MacCracken, president of Vassar college; Ellen Fitz Pendleton, president of Wellesley college from the University of Chicago, representing President James Rowland Angell, of Yale university.

An academic procession, led by Prof. Herbert Z. Kip, of the college, preceded the ceremonies which were held under canvass on the lawn. The visiting delegates, faculty, board of trustees and students marched through the grounds to the pavilion.

DR. KATHARINE BLUNT

In her inaugural address, Miss Blunt recommended that the curricula of women's colleges be revised to meet woman's changing position in life from a viewpoint of community service, home making and the professions.

Dean Gordon J. Laing, of the graduate school of the University of Chicago, speaking at a luncheon following the inauguration, declared for a radical departure in educational methods to get the students away from "lesson-learning and professorial lectures."

He recommended division of the college term of four years into two units, with the student completing his general education during the first two years and entering upon a field of specialization during the last two.

Other speakers at the luncheon were Miss Elizabeth Forrest Johnson, headmistress of the Baldwin school; Miss Mary Bulkeley, Hartford, representing the board of trustees; Miss Irene Nye, dean of the faculty; Miss Esther Batchelder, representing the alumnae; Miss Constance Green, retiring president of student government, and Miss Blunt.

Lieut.-Gov. Ernest E. Rogers presided.

LINK FOUND GUILTY; GIVEN PRISON SENTENCE

Andrew Link, Jr., of 1120 Main street, Willimantic, was found guilty on the charge of statutory manslaughter by a jury in the superior court here Friday and was sentenced by Judge Allyn L. Brown to from one to two and a half years in state prison. Link was tried on the manslaughter charge because of the death of John E. Shea of Willimantic, who was riding with Link, when the Willimantic man's machine collided on Dec. 6, 1929, on Wade hill, Colchester, with a car driven by Capt. Reis El Bara of Hartford. Shea died in the hospital in Willimantic five days after the accident.

The verdict ended the trial which had taken two days in the superior court. The jury came in with the verdict about 1 o'clock, after being out about 75 minutes. Louis J. Fontaine of Baltic was foreman.

State Attorney Arthur M. Brown at once moved for sentence and the two attorneys who had been Link's counsel, Harry L. McGuire and J. James Lloyd, made a plea of leniency for him on the ground of his family, which consists of his wife and three children, the youngest of which is three months old.

Judge Brown spoke both to the jury and to Link as he imposed the sentence, speaking as follows:

"I think it is only fair in the first place, gentlemen, to say that your verdict is more than amply warranted from the evidence.

"It seems to me at least perfectly obvious that this man after he found himself in this predicament naturally was doing the best he could to get out of it. I don't think there is any doubt that he was guilty as found."

Addressing Link, he said: "Of course, Link, your situation is one that often happens when a man is convicted of a crime and somebody else in a sense has to suffer more than he and it is not pleasant for the court to have to pronounce sentence on anybody in the situation in which you find yourself, but the fact remains, this was not the first time that you have been convicted of driving a car while drunk, but it is a second time and this time with fatal results.

"I don't know how the court in the discharge of its duty is going to take any other course to discourage a man who seems possessed to get intoxicated and then drive a car on the road at the public's peril. It seems to me that the court has a plain duty to perform in pronouncing sentence in a case of this kind. As sorry as I am for your family I see no other course to take. Sentence of the court is that the accused be confined in state prison not less than one nor more than two and one-half years."

The jury was excused until next Tuesday morning to which date court adjourned. At that time trial of the case of the state against William S. Huber on a charge of arson will commence.

Poquetanuck Parent-Teachers

The Parent-Teacher association of Poquetanuck held its final meeting of the season Wednesday evening at the school house.

Following the business meeting a very successful benefit bridge was held, netting a good amount for the organization's treasury. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Alonson Fuller, Mrs.

NO TROUBLE AT ALL NOW

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Has Benefited This Woman

Millions today are eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

The cause of constipation is the lack of roughage in food. Add sufficient roughage and constipation disappears. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is nearly all roughage.

Here is a letter from Mrs. H. Gilbert, 107 E. Knight Ave., Collingswood, N. J., which will be interesting to many sufferers:

"I had a very serious operation in October and when I came from the hospital my main trouble was constipation. One day I said to the doctor, 'I am going to eat ALL-BRAN,' and since I started I have no trouble whatever. So you see I can't praise it enough and am always telling my friends what it did for me."

You will enjoy the nut-like flavor of this delicious, ready-to-eat cereal. It is rich in iron, and when eaten with milk or fruit juices, adds important vitamins to the diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is an essential in any reducing diet. It means every-day health to people all over the world. Your grocer has it in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Charles Harkness, and Supervisor James F. Connolly were the committee having charge of the arrangements.

HAS BEEN NINE YEARS WITH CENTRAL CHURCH

"A Great Church for a Little City" will be the pastor's topic at the Central Baptist church Sunday morning. This Sunday will close Rev. Dr. David A. Pitt's ninth year of service in Norwich. Next week he leaves for Mount Hermon where he will be the preacher at the Mount Hermon School for Boys next Sunday. From there he will go on to Cleveland to the Northern Baptist convention as delegate from the Connecticut Baptist convention.

The evening service will be under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Secretary Edgar MacNaughten who has recently returned from Russia will tell of present-day conditions in Russia. Special tenor solos by Maurice Whalen of Hartford will be in the musical programme.

McKINLEY AVENUE CHOIR GAVE VERSAILLES PROGRAMME

The pastor and choir of McKinley avenue A. M. E. Zion church contributed towards a very enjoyable evening Thursday at Versailles Methodist Episcopal church when the men's class of the church held its last meeting before vacation. Invitations were extended to the wives of the class members and supper was served, after which a programme of Negro spirituals was finely given by the Zion church choir. Their numbers included the following:

Shout All Over God's Heaven, Walk in Jerusalem, My Lord What a Morning, Roll Jordan Roll, One More River to Cross, Weeping Mary, Every Time I Feel the Spirit, Jonah and the Whale. Two beautiful readings were given by Mrs. Florence A. Whitted, who was called back to render a third number. A splendid piano selection was rendered by Miss Emma J. Cook, organist of the choir.

The following had part on the programme: Robert H. Johnson, chorister, Miss Emma J. Cook, organist, Mrs. Florence A. Whitted, reader, Mrs. Cornelia Johnson, Miss Idella Scott, Miss Irene Gwathmey, Mrs. Edward W. Gantt, Miss Rosamond Johnson, Miss Florence Jubrey, Miss May Ockery, Andrew Marshall, James Anderson, and Walter Johnson. The last three named, along with Mr. Johnson, make up the quartette. A few remarks were made and the benediction was given by Rev. Edward W. Gantt.

ATTENDED TENT MEETING IN NEW LONDON

Mrs. Jennie S. Newbury, past department, Mrs. Annie B. Turner and Miss Gladys B. Newbury, past president of Clara Barton tent, and Mrs. Lillian M. Whiting, attended the meeting of Ann Rogers Lyon tent, No. 1, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil war, in Union lodge rooms, New London, Friday night.

Versailles Sunshine Class

The Sunshine class of the Versailles Methodist church held its business meeting this week at the home of Mrs. Louis Barton. Sandwiches, cake, fruit tapioca, tea and coffee were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Louis Erlbeck. There were seventeen members present.

Numerous games were played throughout the evening, every one having a fine time.

ACADEMY-BULKELEY TILT LOOMS AS STELLAR ATTRACTION AT CAMPUS TODAY

Probable Lineups

N. F. A.	Bulkeley
Arico, 1b	ss, John Murphy
Reardon, 2b	cf, Haleftiras
Gibbs, ss	c, Buonano
Fontaine, c	lf, Barclay
Breen, 3b	1b, Gigliotti
Weisgraber, lf, p	rf, Beebe
Pepin, cf	3b, Joe Murphy
Flather, lf	2b, Brennan
Crowell, rf	p, Dayton

Game starts at 3 p. m.

Possessing the fact that they are facing the best Bulkeley team to come to the campus for the annual classic in five years and with the reminder that Tiger teams, anyway, always rise to the heights for their battles with N. F. A., it is no wonder that the Academy is not in an over-confident frame of mind for its game with its ancient rival at the campus this afternoon. The game, which starts at 3 o'clock, is the first of the two-game series between the two oldest high school rivals in New England and will see Bulkeley after its first win since 1926.

Academy Slight Favorite

Notwithstanding the fact that Bulkeley has shown itself a greatly improved team in the past two weeks and one which will give any of them a busy afternoon, the Academy boys are rated as favorites to cop the decision. This is on the records of the two clubs to date. The Wildcats have won ten and lost one and are state title contenders, while Bulkeley has five victories and three defeats.

An added feature today will be the appearance of the bands of the two schools for the first time at one of these games. The new Academy band, which was formed last fall and which has only been seen a few times in public, will be opposed to the two-year old Bulkeley organization that has won much praise since its organization. They will each play before and during the game.

N. F. A. Pitcher Unknown

The Academy's pitching assignment was still in doubt Friday night. Butsy Weisgraber was originally slated for the job and will probably get it, being the veteran member of the staff but then Boots Greene has not worked in ten days and a last-minute announcement may send the latter to the hill and Butsy to left field.

The latter order of things would seem to carry some weight too, after announcement by Coach Brigham that Chet Berghinzo, who has seen much service in the left pasture, has been suspended for failure to report for practice sessions. Whether he will be in there today is not known. If he isn't then the coach may see fit to shove Weisgraber into the breach with Boots doing the hurling. The rest of the Academy lineup will be intact with Bud Fontaine again behind the bat fully recovered from a shoulder injury.

Callahan Probable Hurler

Eugene Callahan, who turned back Chapman Tech last Saturday easily, will in all probability be the Bulkeley hurler today. Coach Bill O'Brien, (the same Bill whose 1928 Stonington team ruined an unbeaten record for the Wildcats) has three hurlers in readiness, Callahan, Art Dayton and Pat Haleftiras, the latter a left-hander. The remainder of the Bulkeley team will be the same as has trampled over Deep River, Chapman Tech and Stonington in its last three starts and also beaten Westerly, conquerors of N. F. A., in an earlier contest. Bulkeley beat Deep River by a margin of one run better than N. F. A. turned the trick.

Then aside from all the glamour of the classic, there is a little league matter to be settled today. Bulkeley, by virtue of its recent spurt, finds itself in second place, only a half game behind the Wildcats. A Tiger win, today, therefore, will put them in first place with an even chance to take the championship away from Norwich after it has rested here five long years.

Arrangements have been completed for the banner turnout of the year. Central board officials from Hartford have been secured to handle the game.

SUFFIELD OPPOSES N. F. A. IN TRACK MEET TODAY

The Academy's track team will engage in its fifth dual meet of the season this afternoon, when the Wildcats travel to Suffield to tackle Suffield prep. Coach Murphy expects stiff competition in this meet, but has high hopes of corralling the majority of points in the dashes and placing well enough in the weight events to achieve victory.

The Academy has won two meets, from Chapman Tech and Westerly, and lost two, to Bulkeley and Hartford.

ANNUAL SCHOLASTIC TRACK MEET SHIFTED TO KINGSTON

Because of the poor condition of the track at Connecticut Agricultural college, Storrs, the annual track meet of the Eastern Connecticut - Western Rhode Island Interscholastic conference, which was to have been held there next Wednesday, May 21, has been shifted to the Rhode Island State college at Kingston, R. I. This is the first year that the event has been held away from Morgan park at New London. The Academy will defend its first league championship in this year's meet.

Accept Challenge

The Laurel Hill Athletics accept the challenge of Bayne's baseball nine for a game Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at Norwich Town. Call 3507-W or 2904-M between 1:30 and 2 Saturday to arrange for field.

BROOKLYN TROUNCES REDS, LUCAS SENT TO SHOWERS

CINCINNATI, May 16.—(AP)— The Brooklyn Robins ended their first tour of the west today by defeating the Reds 10 to 3 for their second victory in the short series.

The Robins hit Red Lucas hard in the first two innings and continued against Ray Kolp, scoring eight of their runs in the first three frames. Dazzy Vance hurled the entire game for Brooklyn and held the upper hand in all but the first inning, when the Reds scored twice to take the lead for the only time.

CARDS BLAST CUBS' THREE RUN LEAD IN 9TH AND WIN

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 16—(AP)— The Cardinals scored four runs in the ninth inning today to defeat the Chicago Cubs, 9 to 8, in the first game of the series. Although the Cardinals made 21 hits, they trailed until Douthit singled in the ninth, bringing in the tieing and winning runs.

Cuyler and Heathcote of the Cubs and Gelbert of the Cards hit for the circuit. Gelbert's home run was one of his five hits for a perfect day at bat. Douthit also had five hits, but he batted once more than Gelbert.

SENATORS ROMP INTO 1ST PLACE BY BEATING A'S TWICE

PHILADELPHIA, May 16. — (AP)— Bump Hadley and Ad Liska pitched a pair of good games for Washington's Senators today to send them into first place in the American league with victories over the Athletics in both games of a double header. The scores were 5 to 3 and 4 to 0.

Liska, the young submarine ball pitcher, turned in the best performance, holding the world's champions to three hits in as many innings in the second game. A home run by Joe Judge in the eighth inning accounted for three Senator runs in this contest. Washington made but six hits off Earnshaw and Rommel. In the opening contest Washington nicked George Walberg for pairs of runs by bunching hits in the second and fourth innings, added one more off Quinn then held off a Philadelphia rally at the finish. Hadley, giving ten hits, was never in danger except in the eighth when the Athletics scored all of their three runs.

By hitting safely in both games, Sam Rice, Washington outfielder, ran his string of consecutive games to 27.

J. B. MARTIN VS. HARTFORD SUNDAY

Clarkin, rf	1b, Dugas
Murray, c	lf, Gaudette
Carroll, p	p, Lindner
McGrath, p	p, Magnum

The Hartford K. of C. baseball team will invade the J. B. Martin field on Sunday afternoon with one of the best semi-pro ball teams that has represented the Charter City in many years and are out to take the scalps of the Velvetmen. Led by Frankie Farrell, former Holy Cross luminary, the Kacey's roster includes several players who have gained state-wide reputation in colleges and in minor leagues. Campion, formerly with Asheville in the South Atlantic league, will hold down first base, with Farrell playing at second and Hayes and Kilray, of [illegible] of the Middlesex league, at third and short, respectively. Flaherty, Bailey and Clarkin will patrol the outfield, while Carroll and McGrath will take care of the pitching with Murray at the receiving end.

To cope with this aggregation of ball tossers and in a vain attempt to jump into the winning column, Manager Eccleston of the J. B. Martin has secured the services of Walter Lindner, former Deep River high school sensation, and until recently a member of the New Haven Profs, to do the hurling. Lindy has a large following of fans in this section and a big crowd is expected to be on hand to see him make his debut as a semi-pro hurler hereabouts a successful one. Jim Murphy will be behind the bat, Eccleston going to right field. The remainder of the lineup, with the exception of Krauss going to center field and Normandin coming in to cover short, will be the same as appeared on the field last Sunday. Following several strenuous workouts during the week, the team is raring to go and feels certain that it can beat Hartford.

BOSTON STAGES RALLY IN NINTH TO TRIM YANKEES

BOSTON, May 16.—(AP)—In an exciting ninth inning, punctuated by a thunderstorm that halted the game for 15 minutes, the Red Sox staged their final rally today to defeat the New York Yankees, 5 to 4, in the first contest of their series of five. The defeat ended the longest Yankee winning streak of the season at four games.

After seven innings of a close mound duel between Danny MacFayden and Vernon Gomez, young Yankee hurler, the important scoring started in the eighth. New York got one run in that frame and Boston two, driving Gomez from the box. Bill Dickey, a pinch batsman, tied the score at 4-4 in the ninth with a home run off Durham just before the shower arrived. With Roy Sherid on the mound for New York, the Red Sox came back in the home half with a walk and a double by Sweeney which brought home the deciding run.

GREENEVILLE A. C. IN GAME WITH BOYS CLUB SUNDAY

The Greeneville A. C. hopes to turn the tables on the New London Boys club when they meet Sunday afternoon at Hollyhock Island at 3 o'clock and gain revenge for a previous defeat. This game will also offer a bit of a comparison between the twilight leagues of the two cities as the Boys club is one of the four teams in the New London loop and the Greeneville lineup will be dotted with local Dusty league players. Several former N. F. A. and Bulkeley luminaries will also be seen in the batting orders.

SACRED HEART TROUNCES ST. MARY'S; SCORE 12 TO 3

Bunching hits in the fourth and fifth innings to score ten runs, Sacred Heart baseball team easily defeated the St. Mary's nine by a 12 to 3 score Friday afternoon at Taftville. The locals were only able to score in one inning, the fifth, counting for three runs. LeClaire hurled for the winners and Kirby was on the slab for Norwich. Dupuchio of St. Mary's poled out a homer. DIANA FISHWICK DEFEATS COLLETT FOR BRITISH GOLF TITLE, 4 AND 3

FORMBY, England, May 16.—(AP)— Miss Diana Fishwick, a mere slip of a girl in her teens, today defeated Miss Glenna Collett, American champion, four up and three to play, to win the British women's golf championship the very first time she tried.

Miss Collett lost to Miss Fishwick at the 33rd hole after the clever American girl had fought her way through six rounds and defeated three of the greatest players on this side of the Atlantic. In fact, in all but the actual count of holes, Miss Fishwick was the victor after the morning round which left the British girl five up.

Putting lost the day for the visiting title holder, although many of her other shots were not all that they should have been. Miss Collett played as though she was very tired, which she should have been after opposing the English champion, Miss Molly Gourlay, for 21 holes, and barely nosing out Misses Enid Wilson and Hilda Cameron on the 18th green.

It was a day of summer weather and bright sunshine, as though made for the American. A gallery of 2,000 in the morning and 5,000 in the afternoon showed the interest in the match although the British really had little hope for the youthful Diana's success.

Glenna was off to a good start, winning the first hole, but she missed a five-foot putt at the second to see the match squared. Miss Collett took three putts at the fourth and from then on she had trouble with her erratic putter.

The match see-sawed with the American drawing level at the sixth with a brilliant shot from a trap. Glenna became afflicted with a slice and Diana was one up at the turn. The British hope began to get the feel of her putter about this time and she won four holes of the second nine to become five up after the first 18 holes.

Immediately after luncheon Glenna took her putter and went out to practice. Her preparation seemed about to show results for she won the 20th hole, where she made a clever second shot to the green, but she hooked her tee shot to a trap at the 23rd and lost this hole and the next.

The British girl was hitting the ball straight and sending her approach putts dead. For a time Miss Collett recovered her faltering game, winning the 27th and running down a putt of 18 feet at the 28th. She was only four down then but suffered another lapse and could not break through on the next three holes, which were halved.

Glenna chipped from a bad lie close to the pin to win the 32nd and became three down with four left to play. There was a faint hope in the heart of the Americans that their champion might start a golfing miracle here but it was not to be.

At the 33rd, where she was in trouble yesterday, Miss Collett sliced to rough and was short of the green in three. Miss Fishwick, too, was in the rough from the tee but she was able to use a spoon and sent a great shot to the green, ending the match.

N. S. TEAM WINS WALKER CUP FOR SIXTH TIME

SANDWICH, Eng., May 16.—(AP)— With ten matches won and only two lost Walker cup honors today went to the United States for the sixth time. With a ceremonial dinner in old Guild hall at Sandwich tonight, Bobby Jones, captain of the American team, was given again the international golfing trophy which Britons never have won.

Jones' men today gave Roger Wethered's team the most decisive defeat a British team ever received in this country and the largest crowds ever to see Walker cup matches in England watched the contests.

Results of the day's plays:

Harrison R. Johnson, St. Paul, defeated Cyril J. H. Tolley, five up and four to play.

Robert T. Jones, Jr., Atlanta, defeated Roger Wethered, nine up and eight to play.

George Von Elm, Detroit, defeated Rex Hartley, three up and two to play.

George Voigt, New York, defeated Sir Ernest Holderness, ten up and eight to play.

O. F. Willing, Portland, Ore., defeated John Nelson Smith, two up and one to play.

T. A. Torrance, London, defeated Francis Ouimet, Boston, seven up and six to play.

Donald K. Moe, Portland, Ore., defeated J. A. Stout, one up.

Roland Mackenzie, Wilmington, Del., defeated William Campbell, six up and five to play.

BALTIC SENIORS PLAY DANIELSON PACOS SUNDAY

The Baltic S. and A. C. (Seniors) nine will play the Paco Manufacturing Co. team of Danielson at Sayles field, Baltic, Sunday afternoon, and will endeavor to return to their winning ways. Baltic was badly beaten in Jewett City last Sunday as the result of several holes in their lineup, caused by illness of members. Tommie Charron, who was out sick, will return to the lineup Sunday, as will Manager Art Coullard.

Danielson, managed by George DeForest, is considered one of the fastest nines in that section, last year having been represented in the Danielson Twilight league. This is the first of a home and home series. Baltic will go to Danielson the following Sunday and if necessary a third game will be played. It would appear from a glance at the lineups that a good game will result.

Following are the lineups: Danielson—S. Gasiorek c, Nap. DeForest p, Murnier 1b, Bisson 2b, B. Regnier ss, Sambewski 3b, B. Hukert lf, G. DeForest cf, Cote rf; utility, S. MRS. GAUT MEETS MISS KENNEDY IN FINALS

SEDGEFIELD COUNTRY CLUB, Greensboro, N. C., May 16.—(AP)—Mrs. Dave Gaut of Memphis who is heading for her fourth southern title tomorrow will meet Miss Anne Kennedy of Tulsa, Okla., for the women's southern golf championship.

The Memphis entry today entered the ante-room to the title by vanquishing Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake of New York and New Orleans, one up on the 19th hole, while the southwest's standard bearer was winning as she pleased from Mrs. Kennon Rodwell of Savannah, Ga., 4 and 3.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL TRACK MEET NEXT FRIDAY

The grammar schools of the city will hold their annual track meet at the fairgrounds next Friday at which time five schools will compete for the cup donated by The Bulletin. Over 200 boys and girls are expected to take part in the various events and a turnout of 1,000 pupils and parents is again expected to cheer on the contestants.

Suffers Heart Attack In Fight With Wolgast

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP)—Midget Wolgast, of Philadelphia, flyweight champion of the world in the eyes of the New York state athletic commission, won on a technical knockout from Willie Lamorte of Newark, in the fifth round of their fifteen round title fight tonight. Stricken by a heart attack at the end of the fifth round, Lamorte collapsed and unconscious, was carried from the ring.

Lamorte was carried to his dressing room and soon recovered. The committee physician said he had suffered a heart spasm, probably from a punch under the heart just before the fifth round ended.

Wolgast had gained a wide lead over the New Jersey fighter in the first five rounds. Concentrating his attack on the body, the little Philadelphian dealt out terrific punishment that began to have its effects on Lamorte near the end of the fourth round.

MOROSKY HURLS POWERMEN TO WIN OVER GAIR TEAM

The Eastern Connecticut Power Co. won their second game of the season in the Montville Industrial Twilight league and took the lead in the standing Friday evening at the Gair diamond, Uncasville. They defeated the Robert Gair team by 2 to 1, the game going eight innings.

Pete Morosky, last season's pitching ace of the Powermen, allowed the Gair team four hits. The Powermen scored the first run in the fourth inning on a double by Meddie Dugas which scored Nortosky and the Gairmen evened the count on an error by the Powermen's catcher. The winning run was scored when Hallisey, batting for Rogers, made first on an error by the third baseman and Killeen, coming up, hit to the third baseman who again muffed, advancing Hallisey to third, Notosky drove the run across with a sacrifice fly. Jack Kiely of the Gairmen led the hitters on both teams, collecting a three bagger and a single in three times up. Score:

GENARO BEATS GRANDE BY TECHNICAL KNOCKOUT

CAMDEN, N. J., May 16.—(AP) — Frankie Genaro, recognized by the N. B. A. as flyweight champion of the world, won on a technical knockout over Frisco Grande, Philippines, in the fourth round of what was to have been a 10-round bout. Genaro weighed 116 1-2, Grande 113. The champion's title was not at stake.

GALLANT FOX WITH SANDE UP HEAVILY SUPPORTED TO WIN KENTUCKY DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—(AP)— Racing fortune, so far as the luck of the draw is concerned, smiled today upon the chances of Gallant Fox, outstanding favorite for the Kentucky derby tomorrow, with the famous Earl Sande up, and the east's chief hope for another triumph over the west in this $56,000 classic of the turf.

In the field of 16 crack three-year-olds named to start, Gallant Fox drew the seventh position from the pole and horsemen, eager to seize any and all portents, immediately regarded this as a favorable break for the big brown colt, already heavily supported to win and backed down to the unusually short odds of around 7 to 5.

In capturing the two big eastern races, the Wood Memorial and Preakness, earlier this spring, Gallant Fox drew the pole position, was caught in bad early jams and forced to come from behind or go around to win. The result of the derby draw was considered to have minimized the chance of a bad getaway for the horse which will carry the colors of William Woodward of New York.

Tannery, Edward F. Prichard's chestnut colt and most heavily backed of all the Kentucky entries, was not so lucky in the draw. This strapping son of Ballot placed well on the outside, at No. 13, an ill-omened number among the superstitions of the turf. Even less fortunate were the Kentucky pair of Edward R. Bradley, whose Breezing Thru drew position No. 14 and Buckeye Poet the extreme outside place, No. 16.

H. N. S. PLAYS ROBERTSON PAPER CO. TEAM SUNDAY

The H. N. S. plays the fast Robertson Paper Co., Sunday, the 15th, at Slater's park, Jewett City. The Robertson Paper Co. is a member of the Montville Twilight league and was one of the leading teams last year. The H. N. S. will put their strongest lineup against this team. With three victories to their credit, the H. N. S. will be out to make it four straight.

CANADIANS BEATEN BY U. S. DAVIS CUP PLAYERS

J. G. SULLIVAN PRESIDENT SMOKE SHOP BASEBALL ASSO.

At a meeting of the Smoke Shop Baseball association held Friday evening at the Smoke Shop, John G. Sullivan was elected its president for the 1930 season. The other officers chosen were vice-president, Sidney Shabecoff; secretary, Daniel X. O. Shea, and treasurer, Philip Hertz.

The Smoke Shop nine were champions of the Industrial league twilight league for 1929 and are also represented in the league this year. The management has secured the services of four new players, and with these added to the veterans of last year the team ought to have another successful year.

A FAMOUS NAME A FINER CAR

Smooth.... YES!

because of its rigid, counterweighted crankshaft, Harmonic Balancer and new-type engine mountings

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values . . . Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

$745 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac Michigan

Smoothness is an outstanding quality of Pontiac performance—because Pontiac design includes those features essential to smooth operation.

The 60-horsepower motor operates at moderate engine speed when developing maximum power. The 53-pound crankshaft is counterweighted and has the Harmonic Balancer to offset torsional vibration. The crankcase is heavily ribbed to retain the main bearings in accurate alignment. And the engine is insulated from the frame by rubber mountings.

You can sense the result of these quality features the minute you take the wheel of the Pontiac Big Six—smoothness at low speeds; smoothness when accelerating; smoothness when the throttle is open wide! And smoothness is the distinguishing characteristic of a well designed, up-to-date automobile!

THOMAS L. ARNOLD DEAD— MERCHANTS, YACHTSMAN

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., May 16—Thomas Lyman Arnold, 74, retired New York tea and coffee merchant, died at his summer home, "Arnolds" on the Boston Post road in Charlestown, R. I., at 10 a. m. Friday.

Mr. Arnold was born in Boston, March 2, 1856, the son of Lemuel H. and Harriet Sheldon Arnold. The greater part of his life was spent in New York. He retired from active work a number of years ago. About five years ago Mr. Arnold and his wife came to make their permanent home at Charlestown, although they had been regular summer residents there for about 25 years. April 3 last, they celebrated their golden wedding and at that time both were in excellent health. Mr. Arnold was stricken ill about three weeks ago. He was an ardent amateur yachtsman and at one time was vice commodore of the Brooklyn and Atlantic Yacht club, Brooklyn, N. Y., and a member of the Larchmont, N. Y. Yacht club.

His wife, who before marriage was a resident of Wakefield, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Robinson, survives him. He leaves nine nephews and nieces. One, Thomas L. Arnold, 2d, lives at Charlestown, and another, Frank W. Arnold, resides in Providence.

Red Cross Needs $800

A total of $461 was reported by the Westerly Red Cross chapter Thursday night in its drive to replenish the funds spent in relief work during the recent forest fires. Harry R. Milner, chairman of the drive committee, said the chapter could use $800 instead of the $500 first indicated. While the drive is scheduled to end tonight, (Saturday) contributions will be received at later dates.

A booth opened at the Westerly post office Thursday netted $31 while $58 was received by the drive committee. Miss Esther Sherman was in charge of the booth, assisted by Misses Katharine Perry and Katherine V. Cottrell and Mrs. Alexander Blake, Mrs. Edward B. Coy, Mrs. Wells R. Fowler and Mrs. Charles Blake. Friday, Miss Augusta Stanton and assistants were on duty in the post office lobby when subscriptions and donations continued to be received up to a late hour.

The executive committee of the recently re-organized Westerly chamber of commerce, Dr. John Champlin president, met Thursday evening in the council chamber of the town hall to lay plans for committee re-organizations. One of the principal changes that prospective members will find recommended at the next meeting of the chamber will be that in regard to committees. The plan is to do away with many of the 16 odd committees which have encumbered the chamber of commerce and to appoint only the chairmen of half a dozen active committees, these chairmen to appoint temporary members of their committees as problems come up for action.

It was decided to recommend a change in the time of holding the regular meeting from February to the first Monday in May. That would make it so that the officers of any chamber of commerce in a given year would be elected in late spring when the work of the winter has been completed by the old officers.

The organization would then get into full swing by the following October. The committees appointed Thursday night by the president and endorsed by the executive committee are:

Traders and manufacturers, Chas. P. Eccleston; reception, Frank J. Ahern; municipal improvement, Harry R. Milner; retail trade, president of the Retail Merchants' association; traffic, Henry L. Burdick; health and sanitation, commander of the sanitary corps; membership, Wells Fowler; advisory, George B. Utter and William D. Dolan; finance, Lewis Stanton; statistician, J. Harold Kenyon; publicity, chairman of publicity bureau. The question of the trains that have been taken away from Westerly in the new time table was brought up and the matter referred to the traffic committee.

It was announced that tourists' secretaries to the number of 30 are expected in Westerly, the middle of June and the chamber of commerce is expected to take care of them and see that arrangements are made for their entertainment.

It was decided to hold the next meeting of the chamber May 26th.

Friday morning in the Third district court, Judge Oliver H. Williams disposed of business as follows: New writs entered before the calling of the docket—Trespass and ejectment, Peter J. Olchowich vs. Frank Labrack and Thomas Michaelwitch vs. Charles H. Greene. Both answered by Attorney C. E. Roche and continued two weeks. Criminal docket — State, John F. Lightning's Pranks

During a recent thunder shower, a lightning bolt entered the home of Minor Moxley in the village, but did little damage. The dead branch of a maple tree in the yard adjoining, in front of the home of Mrs. Harmon L. Perkins, was struck and it is supposed the bolt entered Mr. Moxley's place from the tree, over the electric light wires. Mr. Moxley had just risen from his chair at the kitchen table when the ball of fire entered, breaking a vinegar cruet and a peppersauce bottle, scattering the glass and contents about and tearing a place in the oil cloth cover on the table. Salt in a wooden dish was thrown in a shower over the table and chair and into Mr. Moxley's face. He was dazed for a time but escaped injury.

A prominent citizen of New London county, who is thoroughly alive to the seriousness of the forest fire situation in the county, has offered a reward of $100.00 to any one who furnishes sufficient information to convict the party responsible for the fire of May 2, 3 and 4, which burned such a large area in North Stonington near the Ledyard line, and a $25.00 reward for the arrest of any person setting any fire without a permit from the fire warden in the towns of North Stonington, Preston, or Ledyard. This reward to be good until the parties responsible for four fires have been convicted.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Fifty years ago this week, E. R. Thompson was elected president of the Dime Savings bank. H. H. Osgood and W. R. Austin were elected vice presidents. Company C, Third Regiment, C. N. G., Captain J. J. McCord, was planning its annual spring parade for the following week. Interesting extracts taken from the files of The Norwich Bulletin of May, 1880, are as follows:

Monday, May 10, 1880—Mr. George E. Smith, a prominent contractor and builder of this place, died at his residence on West Main street, on Friday, at the age of 42. He was the son of the late Captain Benjamin J. Smith of this place and has always resided here. He was a master builder having at one time been associated in business with Mr. Joseph B. Carrier and having contracted for and built some of the handsomest residences in the city.

Dr. Byron Sweet, the Franklin bonesetter, is a broad-shouldered athlete about five feet, eight inches in height, who is said to lift over 1,300 weight. One of his feats of strength is to take raw potatoes and by an even pressure, jam them to pumice.

More dogs have been registered in Norwich this year, than the combined number registered in the cities of Hartford, New Haven, and Bridgeport. In the western part of the state the dog owners have either killed two thirds of their canines or lost all ambition to be law abiding.

Tuesday, May 11, 1880—The Rev. E. A. Wood of Providence occupied the pulpit of the Central Baptist church for the last time for the present on Sunday last, having accepted a call to settle at Patterson, N. J. The Rev. E. T. Hiscox of Mount Vernon, N. Y., and the Rev. S. Graves, D. D., of Grand Rapids, Mich., both formerly pastors of the Central church, are expected to occupy the pulpit in the near future.

John Byrnes, well known in this city, has just formed a partnership at Cincinnati with Andy McKee, the famous minstrel, and after a season there, is to make a tour via Leadville, of the Pacific coast, and will then take in Australia.

A genuine spring hand organ was heard in Norwich thoroughfares yesterday, but, as it played, "Make Room For Uncle Ned," we felt, considering the atmosphere, that we were being crowded, more than a genial disposition could bear. That rascally tune drew but a few pence.

Wednesday, May 12, 1880—The Rev. J. P. Bodfish lectured at St. Patrick's church, last evening, under the auspices of the St. Joseph's Sodality and Literary society, before some 800 people upon the topic, Why I Became a Catholic.

The Vesta Baseball club of the Hopkins & Allen Manufacturing Co., have challenged the Victoria nine to play a matched game on the 22d inst., the challenge to remain open until Saturday, the 15th, inst.

The reform club are to hold a meeting tomorrow evening at 7.15 to discuss the political necessities of the temperance work.

Thursday, May 13, 1880—The mum party held in the vestry of the Universalist church, last night, was a unique affair. There were about 75 persons present, engaged in a commandable competition to see who could hold their tongue the longest. The first speaker was to be fined 25 cents and receive a leather medal and every other speaker forfeited a dime, when he spoke, those holding out for two and a half hours receiving a chromo each.

The Ladies' Benevolent society of the Central M. E. church, held its annual meeting yesterday, in the vestry of that church. Rev. E. F. Jones presided. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. James Allen; vice presidents, the Mrs. E. A. Jones, and A. P. Park; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. C. A. Mowry. A very interesting meeting was enjoyed.

At a meeting of the directors of The Dime Savings bank, held at their banking house, yesterday, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, E. R. Thompson; vice presidents, H. H. Osgood, W. R. Austin; secretary and treasurer, William G. Abbott; attorney, Allen Tenny.

Friday, May 14, 1880—The Norwich Bleaching and Calendaring Co., have reconstructed the interior of the large building formerly owned and occupied by the Mowry Machine Co., making two stories where there were previously four. It is to be used for the extension of their print works.

It will be well for everybody to be on the guard against pick pockets. They are the kind of shark that follow in the wake of such an attraction as will command the attention of Norwich today.

The Great London Circus—The announcement of the coming to this city of the London Circus and Menagerie has created an enthusiasm and interest seldom seen in this locality. They give entertainments today at 2 and 8 p. m. on the Preston lot.

Saturday, May 15, 1880—In view of the high price of ice, many grocers and provision dealers in the eastern part of this state are having wells sunk in the cellars of their stores for the storage of butter and perishable articles to save the expense of taking ice.

A crowd of drunken women on Main street attracted as much attention yesterday afternoon as the baby elephant did in the morning. They had so much "tarantula juice" on board that they kept getting down on all fours and crawling. The police gathered in one of them.

Company C, Third Regiment, C. N. G., Capt. J. J. McCord, will make its spring parade on Monday. The men have been ordered to be on hand at 7.30 o'clock sharp. The forenoon will be occupied in drilling and in the afternoon the company will shoot at a target on the range of the Norwich Rifle club.

PRESTON

Sunday evening the C. E. society held an open air service with a good number present, the leader being Mrs. Charles Zabriskie and the topic discussed being, "Developing Good Will Through the Home." Following the C. E. service, a Mother's day pageant, "Mother's Devotion," was presented at the church under direction of Rev. John Smith. The parts were taken as follows: First mother, Mrs. Clark Woodmansee; mother, Mrs. Florence Benjamin; Boyten, Wilfred Prue; young man, Elmer Daniels; boy returning home, J. A. Smith. There were solos by Anny Hall, Dorothy Bennett, Lydia Foote and Charles Zabriskie. The reader was Mrs. Eckford Pendleton. There was an interesting talk by Rev. G. W. Clark and poems were given by Lois Woodmansee and Winifred Burdick. The pageant very beautifully showed a mother's love for her child.

Friends of Miss Alice Krug at the Thermos Co. plant, where she is employed, gave a shower for her recently, in honor of her approaching marriage with Fredrick Amburn, of Norwich.

Tuesday evening the grange held its meeting with an attendance of over fifty, including visitors from Stonington, Norwich, Ledyard and Pachaug. A most interesting debate was held on the question "Resolved: that the present system of taxation is right," with Mrs. Ida Richardson heading the affirmative and Albert Lillibridge, the negative. Each participant presented his or her side of the question in a convincing manner. At the close, a rising vote on the merits of the debate was taken, it being in favor of the affirmative. This was followed by a general discussion of the subject. A basket lunch concluded the program. At the next meeting the first and second degree is to be conferred.

Driving, although he was not in the driver's seat or even in the machine, was the charge preferred at Butte, Mont., against Joe Belanger, whose truck went on a personal tour that ended against the desk of City Health Inspector M. SOCIAL CORNER POETRY

It's a Wise Wife

Jane's improved her diction
Within the last nine weeks,
She knows the exact meaning
Of every word she speaks.
She's looked up definitions
And words that little vary
Until it seems she's mastered
The whole darn dictionary.
And yet, in spite of knowledge
That she's crammed in her bean,
I fear that she will never Learn what expenses mean!

"My Boyhood"

Oh, that I lived in Voluntown,
And was a boy again;
To hunt gray squirrels in the woods,
And fish in every rain.

I'd fish the Doctor Campbell brook,
For the yellow spotted trout;
And Deacon Rice's saw-mill pond,
For pickerel, perch and pout.

I'd go to Henry Wylie's woods,
With my little dog and gun;
And hunt gray squirrels in the fall,
To have such piles of fun.

I'd snare the partridge and the quail;
For wild bees I would look;
Among the hollow maple trees,
Along the Bowditch brook.

In Beach Pond clams, I'd hunt for pearls—
No hero half as big;
With magic wand, and mineral rod,
For money I would dig.

I'd hunt the cows in pastures wide,
In woodland, grove and dell;
For well my ear was trained to hear
The sound of that old bell.

I'd have me a little saw-mill,
And build me a little dam;
The boys would help me wheel the dirt,
And we'd dine on Apple Jam.

And then to Bitgood's cider mill,
We'd hie ourselves away
To suck sweet cider through a straw
And play the livelong day.
I'd go in swimming twice a day,
With Royal, Al and John;
In Captain Bassett's meadow brook,
When the days were nice and warm.

Now when we wished to stay out late,
Secure from wind and rain;
We'd take some snaps, and sly away,
To the coal hut on the plain.

I'd go to huskins' in the fall,
To husk red ears of corn;
Eat Pumpkin' pie, and kiss the girls;
And dance 'till early morn.

From winter school, I'd run away,
While I lived with Uncle Sam;
To ramble in the Blye woods,
And skate on Tipucan.

Now if I was a boy again,
And lived upon the "Ledge,"
I'd set fifty snares in Kinney's woods;
Yet build that same long hedge.

I ne'er would run away from home,
To starve in other lands;
But stay at home, save up my scrip;
And be a little man.

Who robbed old Tanner's melon patch
And hid the wagon wheels?
Who wrecked the coal cart in the 'pike,
Up near the Patten fields?

Who backed the citrons through the swamp
While hunting after coon;
And caught the pole-cat by the tail;
To get deluged with perfume?

Who hung the Deacon's boards so high,
And turned his gig about?
Who covered up the chimney top
To smoke "King David" out?

Who took the ox yoke from the bars
And hung it in a tree?
It must have been some naughty boys;
I'm sure it wasn't me.

Oh, where are all the boys now
With whom I used to play?
They are stretched for o'er land and sea;
And some have passed away.
They have passed their sunny days of youth
To climb life's rugged way;
And like the "Comic poet" now,
Are growing old and gray.

And where are all the worthy sires
That lived about there then?
They were mostly—Jackson Democrats;
And all good honest men.

They were temperate in their habits,
And—Sundays—punctual in their slips;
Oh! they've gone the way of all the world;
They've all passed in their ships.

Excepting Elisha P——, Esquire,
Who then was in his prime;
He still survives the hand of death;
A living monument of time.

Yes, there are two more living yet;
Who cheered my early life?
They are living on the homestead now,
'Tis Uncle Jimmy and his wife.

How familiar are all these names!
The spot—so dear to me;
Where, in youth, I played by the roadside;
'Neath that stately elm tree.

The elm, and buttonwood are standing yet;
There's a new house near the ground;
The barn and shed have gone to ruin;
The old house has tumbled down.

Now as we can't be young again,
Since we've grown to be a man;
We'll try and make the most of life,
And do the best we can.

And through adversities we'll struggle on,
Since FATE has willed it so;
Cherishing sweet memories of "my boyhood"
Of near forty years ago.

Beyond

It seemeth such a little way to me
Across to that strange country—the Beyond,
And yet not strange for it has grown to be fond.
They make it seem familiar and most dear
As journeying friends bring distant countries near.

I cannot make it seem a day to dread
When from this dear earth I shall journey out
To that still dearer country of the dead
And meet the loved ones—so long dreamed about.
I love this earth yet shall I love to go
And meet the ones who wait for me I know.

And so for me death has no sting
And so the grave has lost its victory
It is but passing with abated breath
And set, white face, a little strip of sea
To find the loved ones waiting on the shore
More beautiful, more precious than before.

Away

I cannot say and I will not say,
That he is dead—he is just away.

With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand
He has wandered into an unknown land.

And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.

And you—O you who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return.

Think of him faring on—as dear
In the love of There as the love of Here.

And loyal still, as he gave the blows
Of his warrior's strength to his country's foes.

Mild and gentle as he was brave
When the sweetest love of his life he gave

To simple things: Where the violets grew
Blue as the eyes they were likened to.

The touches of his hand have strayed
As reverently as his lips have prayed.

When the little brown thrush that hardily cherred
Was dear to him as the mocking bird;

And he pitied as much as a man in pain,
A writhing honey-bee wet with rain.

Think of him still the same I say
He is not dead he is just away!

POEMS FOR DORINDA

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Although I am weary with much writing I am sending the complete poem, "Away", requested by Dorinda. Probably it was not all quoted at the service you mentioned. With it, I am copying it from memory a similar poem I like also—'Beyond."

I have been wondering if anyone can tell me where Anastasia is. She welcomed me so kindly into the Corner after my first letter, nearly ten years ago and I have looked in vain for word from her lately.

I have peas growing rapidly and corn peeping up in my garden, although the blackbirds are much trouble to my corn. The asparagus has come so fast I have canned some. It keeps a very good flavor for a winter treat, more than most vegetables. I blanche it five minutes and process it an hour with the usual salt to taste.

Will try to write more next time.

Yours, THIRTY TWO

A VERY HAPPY DAY

Dear Friends of the Social Corner: I have been thinking I would tell you of a very happy day I spent recently in company with my two brothers and their wives. We had prepared our dinner the day before and having packed it in boxes with dishes, napkins and cups for our tea, we started in our auto and drove to my brother's, who was to lead the way to our destination. We went over Preston bridge and over the plains where there are so many potatoes raised, through North Stonington, saw Lantern hill, which to my eyes looked like a small mountain, on through westerly, taking the Watch Hill road but turning to the left and arriving at Atlantic beach to watch the water which was constantly moving and away off we saw barges loaded with coal being drawn by a tug boat. After our picnic dinner we went on to Watch Hill and the sight and sound was wonderful. The waves were the highest I have ever seen, rising and breaking on the shore as loud as thunder and almost catching us as we stood and watched them. It was glorious and spoke to us of God's power. There is something about the ocean I cannot understand. I just stood and watched it.

It was hard to leave it in all its splendor, but it was a sight I shall not soon forget, a picture I shall carry in my memory for many a day.

We finally turned our faces homeward having had nothing to mar the pleasure of a happy day. We were treated to ice cream at my brother's and then came on home where we arrived tired but with pleasant memories which are still fresh in our minds.

As my eyesight is very poor I was glad to see the ocean once more.

With best wishes for you all, I remain your SISTER BARBAR

A MEAT EATING PLANT

Dear Corner Friends: Here is a bit of news for those who are interested in flowers.

In New York a plant called the "Darlingtonia" has become quite the rage.

The butchers no longer show surprise when they hear, "And a little meat for my plant, please."

For, believe it or not, this plant eats hamburger steak!

It combines, so to say, the outstanding features of a dog and a jack-in-the-pulpit. In looks, it somehow suggests the latter; in dietetic preferences it is very likely the former.

If this strange, fascinating plant is placed outdoors it lures insects with its honey-glands, traps them and straightway proceeds to devour them. If, on the other hand, it is kept indoors it must be fed raw beef twice a week!

Perhaps if it were a darling without a "toney" attachment it would exercise its insect trapping abilities indoors as well as outdoors. Flowers in place of flypaper! Think of it. What a boon that would be! ELLY JAY

CLUB NO. 6 TO MEET THE 20TH

Dear Social Corner Members: The Corner page has certainly not been over crowded the past week or two. It has been a busy time for everyone, I guess. Maybe some people enjoyed those hot days but I did not. Yesterday I enjoyed a trip to Storrs. Everything looked beautiful, so many apple trees, all in bloom.

Rose Lee: Would have liked to have said hello to you but only had a few minutes in Willimantic as we had several stops to make.

Bo: I enjoyed your letter you wrote a few weeks ago. It made me think how a friend and I managed. We have always been splendid friends but of course there were some things we did not agree upon and when those subjects came up it was very natural to express our views and I could see that it was just as well if we didn't so one day I said: "Now that is a subject we can't agree upon so we won't talk about it and since that time which was several years ago, we have followed that rule and we are still the best of friends. I feel she has just as good a right to her opinion as I have but if they are going to clash, its best to talk about something else and we have had some wonderfully good times.

Sumac: Thanks so much for your letter. It was lovely of you to give me all the details. Have not decided to go yet, but probably will in the end.

Now everyone take notice that Club 6 has a meeting next Tuesday, the 20th, in Mechanics hall, Westerly. Rebe is to be the hostess and Ravena has charge of the program, so come all who can. Remember its the food you bring that makes a good dinner.

Callie: Am glad to hear you are better.

Cosmos: Aren't you getting "sporty"? Why don't you drive around my way?

Fire-Fly: Did you learn who is who yet?

Golden Glow: I saw your place yesterday but was in too much of a hurry to stop.

Connie: Wasn't that some good time we had with Mrs. B.? Why don't you write about your driving experience?

ENJOYED CLUB MEETING IN NORWICH

Dear Editor and Sisters: I have wanted all winter to atend the Social Corner in Norwich and when last week Saturday I read there was only one more meeting in the Buckingham Memorial I said well I must go this next Wednesday, so I did. Baystate made me welcome and I found the some social crowd there that is always at Club 4. That was the first and only time I had been to any only my own club. I found some old friends whom I had not seen for some time and was so glad I could go and my greatest pleasure was expressed when I was introduced to Quid Nunc. I have thoroughly enjoyed his letters and wished I might know him.

We all, as we grow old, live somewhat in the past and think of our early homes. It is just natural for us to love our early homes and children should be taught to love their homes more. It is an anchor for everyone.

"It is the dear old scenes I long for
No matter how rich or far do I roam
When day is done and the shadows fall
My soul cries out for Home, Home, Home."

EASTER ISLAND

Dear Editor: Perhaps our readers would like to know of a peculiar "Island of Statues," situated in the middle of the Pacific and only 50 square miles in size, called Easter island and having more carved statues, proportionately, than any other part of the world.

C. A. F. Macbeth tells us that geologists assert that this island is the remaining part of a submerged Pacific continent. It consists of an extinct volcano from whose crater three wide roads run down to the sea. Hundreds of statues once bordered these roads and fringed the shore where the dead were placed under stone slabs. All statues, save one, faced inward the crater of Karaku. One gazed seaward and was called "Friend that Watches."

The statues, cut from the brown volcanic rock, are all of the same design. Some are forty feet high, others are sixty feet high. They have enormous faces with tightly closed lips, large noses and elongated ear lobes and are sometimes spoken of as "Long-Ears." The shoulders and backs are carved in a natural manner to the hips, where the figures taper to a peg inserted in the ground. Each face is surmounted by a hat of red stone.

Side by side with the remains of these stone images are wooden carvings of much finer workmanship which resemble the statues only in the elongated ears.

The present inhabitants view the statues with awe and believe they were carved by order of Chief Tokoytu to keep evil sea spirits from the "Holy Mountain." But how the sculptors ever did the work without tools will forever remain a mystery.

QUERY ABOUT DELPHINIUMS

Dear Editor and Corner Members: Many thanks for the yellow slip. Every little helps and I always have a use for one. Like many others I'm late with my house cleaning and that makes me late in sending i n my thanks.

At this time of year there are so many things waiting to be done, waiting is the correct word, as it seems I'm never quite caught up with the work.

Our gardens are dry as dust; it seems useless to plant before we have a rain. So many write of their gardens that I'm sending a little verse which I think very appropriate, it fits in with my garden experience anyway.

Garden Fancies

Roses, white, aconite,
Larkspur, tallest ever seen
Cutworms, borers,
Aphis, horrors,
Blackleaf 40, Paris green.
Cleveland Plain Dealer

Will some one please tell me if they buy new delphiniums plants every year, or are they hardy. If raised from seed will they blossom the same summer? I have no blue flowers other than bachelors buttons and think the delphiniums are beautiful. O. D.

HARVESTING FALSE WHISKERS

Dear Social Corner: P. W. Luce tells of an interesting Japanese colony on one of the small islands in the Queen Charlotte group, British Columbia, who are engaged in harvesting false whiskers from the floor of the Pacific ocean. Grass beds covering large areas are cut by divers, the ocean hay hauled ashore and spread out to dry, then shipped to Japan. The finer quality grass is used to make false whiskers for moving picture actors. It is so tough it can be pulled, twisted, or curled without any damage. On the screen the ocean whiskers look very natural.

The coarser grass is manufactured into gelatin, isinglass and pouri cake and has the trade name "agar agar." Cross word puzzlers take note.)

This has no food value, but is used largely as an article of diet by diabetics.

WHY GO AWAY WITH CHIP ON SHOULDER?

Dear Corner Members: Being a 1930 member I'm not personally acquainted with many members but I cherish the friendship of those whom I have met. It must be fascinating when one knows the writer of each letter but I find it as interesting watching and following letters from different members. I form my opinion of each writer, hoping sometime to met her and see if I've been a good judge. I must say there are some very faithful members and here's more power to them.

Canterbury Bell must have enjoyed the sunny south. Tell us more about it. Were you back north for the past few days to share some of the hot spell? Don't worry over your pets, although they must miss you, some of your neighbors love them, too, and will see to it that they get crumbs and suet to their hearts' content.

I'm glad the middle age criticism is fading out. After all, why judge the world by a few who can't see the bright side of life, why go along with a chip on your shoulder? Many times gossip is started when the neighbor or friend turns out with a new car or a nice home or something that is the envy of the other fellow. Then it starts something like this:

"Did you see the new purchase so and so made? Well, how in thunder do they do it, with a house full of children? The husband doesn't work half the time and they all look so delicate, almost starving in order to run that car." Then they step a little closer as if to speak so confidentially but hoping the world will hear, one of those stage whispers, "you know of course they mortgaged the home or probably on the dollar a week plan or some other easy terms" Without doubt some good soul is being carried over the coals because someone is jealous. All I care to say is, I'm glad it's not I that has that worry, but on the other hand if the easy term plan didn't meet with the salesman's approval that person would not have the article. So why not live your life as you think best and let the other fellow do likewise? Cheap gossip will never get you anything or anywhere; a good reputation, will.

Have any of you taken notice of the street cars while in larger cities than ours? Isn't it surprising when you compare them? We can feel proud of the good condition ours are kept in, always a new coat of paint when needed and everything in good order. Ride in some and get a surprise while out of town.

Do you agree when I say May is the most beautiful month in the year, with the trees in full bloom? Have you an orchard in your back yard to enjoy as I have? The flower beds are stunning with their many blooms of different hue.

Can some sister tell what makes tiny white spots on fern leaves? Then some leaves turn yellow while others look so fresh. I have tried to give my fern good care, but it sure doesn't look it. I will be very grateful for any good hints.

Hoping the silver lining is shining for everyone. FIDELIS

CARD SHOWER SUGGESTED

Dear Editor: Just a line to tell you what a splendid time we had at meeting of Club 5, on May 7th. In spite of a terribly hot spell of weather, 64 sat down to dinner. The table decorations were vases filled with various colored hare-bells and the paper napkins had pink edges. The food was delicious and plentiful as usual.

Olga showed us a handsome diamond pattern quilt she had pieced. It was worth the trip to Norwich to see it. As the heat was so oppressive Yours Truly left for home early and missed an excellent program.

Clam and corn fritters: One egg, 1 pint clams, 3-4 cup canned corn (solid), salt to taste, 1 level teaspoon baking powder, flour.

Method—Drain clams, save liquid, squeeze out black part of clams, unless you can for this part left in. Put clams through meat chopper. Beat egg, add liquid from clams, clams, corn and salt. Sift baking powder into flour and add flour to liquid until stiff enough to drop into deep hot fat, spoonful at a time. Serve soon as done.

Am sure all have read with pleasure and profit Ann Tenna's letters in the Corner page. She has been dangerously ill and I am told has had a slight shock. May we not send her a shower of postcards or letters to show our appreciation of her efforts in the past. Address, Mrs. A. Putnam Flagg, 17 Main street, Danielson, Conn. Best wishes to all. ARIES.

GREETINGS FROM WOODSIDE

Dear Social Corner Members: Now you have been so kind as to let me join your Corner, I want to write a letter and get acquainted.

E. Phiribus Unum: As you and I joined the Corner at the same time, we must be twin babies of the Corner.

Aries: Thanks so much for your prompt answer. I did everything just wrong. I think I went to W. H. Smith, your cousin J. G.

Jennie: Enjoyed your Easter letter very much.

Theoda: Know two of your nieces; would like to meet you.

Maine Lover: Expected you up before this.

Trottie: Often think of you.

Don't Worry: How about a letter? Do tell us about fixing over your house. Have been thinking of you today, May 12. Enjoyed my short call very much.

Aunt Sarah: Hope you are better.

Rosary: I went to school to you. Wish I had one of the beautiful apples now your father used to bring down.

The Friendly Voice: Aunt Het, Phuller Phun, A Gardner's Daughter: Why not write?

One sister asked about a Jerusalem cherry tree. I have a yellow one, six years old. It had one cherry this year, the first one in three years, and the baby picked it off. I, too, would like to hear about their care.

Ella Jay: I would like to see a card. It would take some time to itemize my duties. How about you? Best wishes to all. WOODSIDE.

BUSY WITH GARDEN

Dear Social Corner: Many thanks to the editor for the yellow slip. Am going to plant it in my garden, and hope that it will grow.

White Chrysanthemum: You might be surprised if you could see my garden. So far it has given me a lot of hard work, some disappointments, a great deal of enjoyment, and but very few flowers. However, there will be more later (I hope) and I am trying to get enough hardy plants to have a succession of bloom from early spring until the ground freezes. The plants set out last year are mostly looking good. Some of them are budded. Last year's seedlings are coming along slowly. Many of them have been breakfast food for the cutworms. Seeds planted this year are mostly up. The dwarf sweet peas, though failed to germinate, shall have to try them again.

Pernickety and Sister Rhody must have fine gardens. I think a mole must have burrowed under the oriental poppies. They usually take kindly to transplanting, as do most plants, so when things die wholesale, I look for a mole as the mischief maker.

As for fertilizer, I prefer the "home made" brand. Where livestock and poultry are kept it is also the most convenient. If I do use commercial fertilizer I take whatever is handiest whether marked "acid phosphate", "potato," or "corn." I know a man who used to work in a fertilizer factory and he says the bags were all filled from the same bin anyway. The principal thing in the use of any kind of fertilizer, is to so thoroughly mix it with the soil that it cannot burn the tender plants and bulbs.

Clarissa Lyle: Tried your chili con carne and thought it fine.

BETSY BOBBETT.

PLEASANTLY SURPRISED

Dear Editor and Sisters of the Social Corner: Being unable to attend the social gathering of Club No. 5 on May 7th, I was very pleasantly surprised when I received a package bound with a social cord of unity and fastened with a knot of friendship. To the hostess and her co-helpers, I extend many thanks for their thoughtful remembrance.

The spring winds blowing now will soon merge into a summer breeze. Song birds have been thrilling their notes of gladness along the way that winter days are over and spring is here again. And as we note the more active outdoor life, that furrows have again been turned, seeds sown and aided by God's sunlight and rain drops, will soon be growing and the summer season will help materialize the little seeds into a ripened product in autumn.

So man, the sower of seeds, is very closely allied to God's green earth by the ties of fruitage working in unity of spirit. It is through these united efforts that life is sustained and when the harvest time comes and the reaper's work is finished, Mother Earth's resting period begins; going to sleep in frozen silence, but to rise again, when King Winter's reign is over.

GUSTA, (Club No. 5).

PIECES WANTED FOR QUILT

Dear Social Corner Editor, Brothers and Sisters: I am so busy cleaning house, I cannot find time to write a good letter to our beloved Corner. I was pleased to have so many at our anniversary meeting in March, and I am glad Ann Tenna is able to read the Social Corner page again, after her illness.

Now, I could tell the ladies how to make one kind of cheese, if there were any that cared to know. We make Dutch cheese. When I was a girl on the farm we made real cheese that weighed 30 pounds or more. I never had the chance to even see a trundle bed that the members have been talking so much about. I had what was called a crib bed for my children. It was large enough for a child to sleep in.

I was much interested in Winona's letter, especially the part about Lincoln's log cabin, as I do enjoy seeing something with a history, or anything or place I can get to.

I am always interested in Quid Nunc's letters, and I still think that the good old husking bees and quilting parties were things to be remembered long after this jazz age has gone by, although it was my good fortune to attend only one husking bee, as my father did not believe it was the place for young girls to go. I was married at 20, so did all my going after that. I do enjoy so many of the letters.

Now, ladies, I have written this long letter because I want to ask you one and all, if you care to give a few pieces for a quilt for a war nurse who is very sick and lives in Kingfisher, Okla. They should be four by seven inches, no two alike, and if you will bring them to our next meeting at East Killingly, I will be thankful. Some of the Putnam ladies will be there to get them.

Have you ever tried this for filling cracks? Make a quart of heavy flour paste, fill with very fine pieces of paper (cut with scissors) and one tablespoon of alum. Cook and cook and use when cold.

A BARREL OF POTATOES

Dear Corner Sisters: Since spuds grew in "both places" with such excellent results for Jane of R. I. there may be hopes for me. I'm only expecting them to grow in one place—"in a barrel."

A man who lived many years in Alaska told me that was how it was done there.

You got a barrel, placed it in a sunny spot in the back yard, and drilled a few small holes in the bottom for drainage. Then you put about six inches of good rich soil into the barrel. In this you planted your potatoes, first cutting them into several pieces, being sure, however, there were three or four eyes to each piece. You poked your finger into the dirt and buried a piece in the hole thus made. You planted the pieces five inches apart.

When the potato plants were an inch or so high you covered them with six inches of good soil, being very careful not to break the heads of the plants. When the plants were again an inch or so over ground, you again covered them with six inches of soil as before. This process you continued to the top of the barrel. Then you left the plants grow undisturbed.

In the fall when potatoes should be harvested, you broke the barrel, and voila! A barrel of potatoes!

You would find roots had spread from the stalks in each layer of earth that had been added and potatoes would be on these roots.

No hoeing, on hilling, no trouble at all—no potato bugs either, I hope—and a heap of fine potatoes! Almost unbelievable.

Well, I'm trying it out, so I'll know whether to believe it or not. If it works, and the Alaskan swears it will, even those with the tiniest back yard can raise sizable crops of potatoes wth little or no trouble.

CARING FOR JAPANESE ROBIN

Dear Social Corner Friends: In last week's paper there was a request from a member for the care of a Japanese robin. As a relative of mine has one I asked her about it, and she told me that she fed her bird, Mocking Bird food, with a little fruit occasionally. The care is the same given a canary.

White Chrysanthemum: I make a guess that you live some where between New London and Norwich on the west side of the Thames. If I'm not right, then I'll have to guess again.

E. Pluribus Unum: The description of the car fits alright, but not the description of the driver. I make no claim to being an expert driver. I think you must have taken some one else for me.

I hope all who can, are taking advantage of this lovely weather to get out into the country and see the trees. The dogwood seems to be more beautiful than even this year, and the apple blossoms. When a tree is completely covered in blossoms it looks like a "bride's bouquet," I think.

WHEN MOTHER FIRST TOOK ME TO CHURCH

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: Sunday, May 11th, was perfect, and most beautiful for the observance of Mother's day. It was a pleasure for me to look back in memory and recall again to mind the first church service that I attended. I was about three years and three months old. It was Sunday morning in the summer time, and my mother took me to church. I remember so well, how she held my hand as we walked up the aisle, and we occupied a pew on the left side. It was almost a new church, only built two years, a very nice large brick building in the city. How I did look around on all sides, admired the stained glass windows, first I had ever seen. The ceiling was so high it appealed to me, this was an immense "big house." There was a large pipe organ just back of the pulpit, and the choir sat between the organist and the minister. These upright pipes of the organ were beautifully painted in colors of blue, red and gold, and attracted my attention and curiosity. When I heard the first soft, low tones of the music, I wondered where it came from, as I saw nothing (that I thought) could produce it. It was wonderful to me, that music, and in this large space, and everything was so quiet and still! The mystery was so deep in my youthful mind, and suspense was limited, so I ventured a whisper to my mother, "Where does the music come from?" How well I remember her reply: "It comes out of those pretty pipes." When the choir stood up to sing, I thought that was nice, too and later the congregation and choir sang together. Why, I never had had heard anything like that before, so many voices in unison. I cannot recall anything else of this service, but what little it is, it is a pleasure to think it over again. I should have been glad of an opportunity, could I have attended Mother's day service in that church where it was mother that first took me. I should not have heard that same organ, for it was removed some years ago, and replaced by another, the gift of one of the parishioners, and the hand of the young mother, who lead me as a little tot, up the aisle, that Sabbath summer morning, has since been rested from her labors. Beautiful impressions of youth do not pass away, but are sweet memories to us while life shall last.

Our Mother

"Gone and the world to go on as before,
Near faithful mother to come back never more.
Home is not home for she is not there,
Dark is her room, empty her chair.

"Dear willing hands, they did their share,
Long years ago they were dimpled and fair,
Can we forget she who caressed,
Or babyhood lullaby into sweet rest.

"And when we're done with earth and its care,
And uttered our last penitent prayer,
Mother's hand will lead us as of yore,
And guide our footsteps with love as before."

BRING A PENCIL

Dear Social Corner Editor and Members: Just a few lines to ask all who expect to attend Club 6's next meeting to please bring a pencil. The meeting will be held as usual at Mechanics' hall, Westerly, with Rebe as hostess. Hope to see a good day and a good crowd. Hope all sick members are improving.

KING'S DAUGHTERS CONFERENCE HEARD INTERNATIONAL REPORT

The 26th annual conference of The King's Daughters and Sons of New London and Windham counties was held at St. James' church in New London, as guests of St. James' Circle on Wednesday. The altars and steps were decorated with wistaria and purple and white lilacs, the King's Daughters cross emblem being conspicuously displayed. Mrs. Grace H. Manning of Norwich, the county president, presided. The devotional service in the morning was conducted by Rev. Philip M. Kerridge, rector of St. James. His main idea was the outstanding point in Margaret Bottome's personality which was her interest in folks, which he affirmed should be the guiding motive of The King's Daughters organization.

Miss Emma G. Keeney, state treasurer, gave a very warm and unique welcome in the guise of an original poem, to which Mrs. John Kukla, president of Norwich City Union responded. Mrs. Manning appointed as resolutions committee Mrs. Louis Geer, Mrs. Herbert Branche and Mrs. Lena Perkins, all of Norwich. The minutes of the last conference were read by Mrs. E. H. Hiscox of Jewett City, who was given a rising vote of thanks in view of her 14 years of service in that capacity. Mrs. Wilson J. Heighmore sang Consider the Lilies, accompanied by Mrs. A. Blanche Cadman, who officiated as organist for the day's services.

Two County Reports

The reports of New London and Windham counties was given by Mrs. Manning as follows:

Another year has rolled around and again it is my privilege to report the progress of The King's Daughters and Sons in New London and Windham counties. There are now 19 Senior and 2 Junior circles; the membership varying from 4 to 129 members. One new circle was formed in January, the Fellowship Circle connected with the Congregational church of Groton. Although the total membership of both counties is slightly larger than a year ago, we have not earned quite as much. Last year the total receipts were $3,543.41 and this year $3,243.23, a falling off of nearly $300. Some circles have earned nearly double what they did the year before, others only one-half as much, but we have been generous with what we had, as we distributed nearly as much as in the previous year. As our aim is to help the needy and care for the sick or shut-ins the line of work of all circles is about the same.

Entertainments have been given at homes for elderly people and sewing done for hospitals. Sales, musicales, porch parties, catering, birthday offerings, and numerous other methods have been used to obtain money to furnish comfort and cheer for the needy. Much happiness was given a convalescent girl by a large pumpkin filled with gifts. The children of the County Home were given a May-basket party. All our energy has not been confined to our own state as the Jennie Benedict Home, the Margaret Bottome Memorial and the Near East have received contributions.

If each group continues to give its mite and each member will try to give a little cheer "In His Name" the work of the King is bound to grow. A bright smile, a cheery word may help some weary one along the road.

Let us all strive to give something of our best, remembering Our Master said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Reports From the Circles

All the circle reports for the past year were used during the morning. The amount of the happiness in terms of effective ways cannot be estimated. All to make sick or invalids more comfortable, to cheer the sad and weary, to aid with money or materials, many people, hospitals, sanitariums, schools, Red Cross, churches and King's Daughters Homes. Twenty-one circles in the two counties, all working in His name and lending a helping hand. Mrs. Manning announced that the literature of the order was to be shown in the parish house under the direction of Mrs. J. W. Dean of New London. A luncheon was served by the Woman's association in the parish house. The tables were attractively decorated in pansies, sweet peas and wistaria, lilacs, all of purple colors, the blessing being invoked by Rev. Mr. Kerridge.

During the intermission many visited the Hallam chapel connected with the church, named for Rev. Robert Hallam.

Afternoon Session

The devotional service in the afternoon was led by Mrs. Charles Chittenden of New London, whose topic was how to serve and how to prepare for service. The first address was delivered by Rev. J. Chauncey Linsley of Berkley Divinity, New Haven. His text was Bear Ye One Anothers Burdens. He most convincingly proved how everything in earth and sky, man and beast bears the burden for something or someone else, and that, as in architecture burden bearing divides, diminishes and distributes. With burden bearer should be sympathy which finds the best in people. It should not be wasted but kept for a good purpose and saved to be used when greatly needed. There should always be contact and communion with Christ and faith, trust and confidence in God, and His burden will be light. It was a wonderful address, making a powerful impression on every listener.

Roll Call

The roll call was responded to by each circle with its text. The number present were: Bright Jewels 0, Bixler's Busy Bees 1, Charitable 13, Cheerful Doers 0, Comfort 11, Dorcas 3, Earnest Workers 0, Ever Ready 2, Euphemian 0, Fellowship 4, Friendship 7, Grace 2, Happy Days 0, Home Chapter 15, Independents 0, Loyal 6, Mizpah, New London 16, Mizpah, Putnam 0, St. James 22, Trusting 3, Whatsoever 4, Visitors 6; total 116.

The solo My Task was sung by Mrs. Edward P. Calvert.

State President's Address

Mrs. George H. Prior, the state president, of Jewett City gave the second address, which was a very interesting and informative report of the International convention which she attended in New Orleans. She called the report, Breezes From Dixie and told briefly of interesting points concerning New Orleans. There were 166 delegates at the convention, 24 coming from Iowa by bus. She spoke of the Presbyterian church of which Dr. Palmer has been pastor 40 years and was Miss Sophie Wright's church, and whose grand-daughter, Mrs. Someville had charge of the arrangements. A few amendments were mentioned, and she said copies of the history of the Order are to be published, asking that at the state convention, each circle will be prepared to say the number it would purchase. The election of the international officers re-elected Mrs. M. W. Leibert of New York, president, re-elected Mrs. Henry S. Eley, Virginia, first vice president, Mrs. A. R. Crittenden, Michigan, second vice president in place of Mrs. Miller who resigned, re-elected Mrs. R. S. Logan of Canada as third vice president, Mrs. Laura Goodhue of Cleveland, executive secretary in place of Mrs. Menet, Mrs. Walter Willis of New Orleans as recording secretary in place of Mrs. Silcox, re-elected Mrs. H. H. Thurlow, Providence, as treasurer, and re-elected Mrs. Claude Leber of Maryland as editor. She described the Central Council luncheon at the Louisane in the old French quarter, the banquet and branch president's night at Hotel Roosevelt, and the trip to Mandeville. Three most interesting people were Dorothy Dix, the syndicate newspaper writer, Mrs. Taylor of Greenville, a Mississippi flood heroine and Dr. Carl Gray, president of Tusculum college. The various conferences were noted, emphasizing the good news that the Silver Cross nearly paid for itself this year. The Baptist Bible institute had charge of the music. The gifts to the order were $3,000 from Afterglow Circle for Chautauqua, left by Kate Bond to Clara Morehouse, for the order. Chautauqua Circle of Chautauqua, N. Y., gave to the order the Jennie Benedict Memorial House free of debt and with money enough for extensive repairs. Every circle in the order has helped with contributions for this home, and this conference gave $75 last year to the cause. The order donated $1,000 to Tusculu college toward a chapel. The next international convention in 1932 will be held at Columbus, Ohio. It was voted that extension work be the aim of the order for the next two years, $1,000 was granted Canada for extension work, $1,500 to the United States and $150 for Around the World Work. The only two delegates to attend this convention from Connecticut were Mrs. Prior and Miss Ida Foster, both of Jewett City.

Invitation to State Convention

Mrs. Ida Bragaw of St. James' chapter, New London invited the circles to the state convention which is to be held in New London in the fall, as guests of the New London and Groton chapters. Mrs. Louis Geer, chairman of the resolutions committee, thanked everyone who had in any way helped make the conference so pleasant and inspiring. Euphemian Circle of Greenville extended the invitation for the 1931 conference, Mrs. Prior accepting the invitation for the counties. The conference adjourned by singing Blest Be the Tie That Binds and with benediction by Dr. Linsley.

On the In Memoriam list were the names of Mrs. Ida B. Ladd, Mrs. George E. Zimmerman, Mrs. Charles Horton, Mrs. George Morris, Mrs. Hattie Crocker, Miss Sarah Blodgett, Miss Irene Gray, Mrs. Edward Fenner, Mrs. Clinton Harvey, Mrs. John E. Blackburn, Mrs. George W. Fillmore, Miss Bertha A. Metzger, Earle H. Christman, Miss Susan C. Allen.

I'LL TAKE THE BOY

AN UNUSUAL STORY OF A MAN WHO LOST HIS ZEST FOR LIFE AND REGAINED IT THROUGH THE MEMORY OF A LITTLE BOY WHOSE IMAGINATION KINDLED THOUGHTS OF ADVENTURE AND PEOPLED THE WORLD WITH FAIRY PRINCESSES AND ARMORED KNIGHTS

By ALLEN RAYMOND

FROM London to the Howden airdrome in Bedfordshire is seventy-five miles. Cardigan rang a garage in Knightsbridge for a motorcar; gave brief instructions to his assistant, opened the safe and took £20 from the envelope marked "Emergency Fund." Ninety-two minutes later, with the aid of a moonlit, vacant road and a skilled chauffeur, he arrived at the Seagull's hangar, only to find that his birds had flown.

Somewhere, headed toward the open Atlantic and death or a seven days' fame, were his old friend, the colonel, and that gay, reckless elf of a girl whom the stage knew as Virginia Strange, the dancer. Dawn lit the hoar-frost over sheds and flying field, making their gray-white surface sparkle like jewels. The sky above them was tinted with a delicate rose. The morning was crisply cool, the beginning of a beautiful day. But beyond all other things it was empty.

The field and the air were empty of the plane that one or the other should have contained. Cardigan was oppressed with an emptiness within him, as if some part of him had gone away with these adventures, and he was in the grip of a lonely, futile rage and fear.

He raged because Virginia had told him she would not go, and then had gone. "Don't I love life too well?" she had asked. Cardigan felt that if anything happened to her now he would remember to the end of his days the way she had asked that question.

She had sat upon the arm of his easy-chair in his lodgings in Jermyn street. One of her hands was in his, and she had dropped the lightest suspicion of a kiss upon one of his eyebrows. Yet he had known then Virginia kissed him merely reminiscently, whimsically saluting a memory of her past, and his, that she would always recall at least with tender amusement. Her eyes, shining now with a deeper flame than the one reflected from his grate, were upon the crippled aviator, Caldwell, who was seated upon the floor before them poring over a chart of the Atlantic. For the moment Cardigan knew she believed she loved this aviator. The journalist had introduced them to each other only recently.

Standing now with a smart captain of the Royal Air Force at the empty airdrome at Howden, Cardigan was obsessed by fear. The weather reports were distinctly adverse to any prospect of success in a trans-Atlantic flight. It was madness for Caldwell to have taken off. Yet the airman had reassured him, not once but several times, when they were discussing the project and speculating over the fate of those others who had essayed the perilous ocean flight from east to west.

"When I go," he had said, "I won't be committing suicide. I'll get there."

Confident in the colonel's skill, in his plane and in his engine, nevertheless, Cardigan feared for him and the tender loveliness of his baggage. There was a great depression in the air highway from the Irish coast to Newfoundland, with prospect that the normal adverse wind would rise to thirty, perhaps to forty, miles an hour. The fog, stretching out for miles to enshroud the American coast, was dense.

"Forty to one they never get there," growled the Royal Air Force captain gloomily.

Cardigan was sick at heart and lonely. Two more friends vanished? There remained his continual job. A few more questions asked, and he sped to the nearest telephone in the Royal Arms, a country inn close by the airdrome. Caldwell and Virginia had spent the night there before their flight, he learned. He rang his office in London and glanced at his watch.

Six-thirty in the morning, Greenwich time. That would be 1.30 in New York.

Steadily and carefully, pausing only for the phrasing of his sentences, he gave his London assistant the news from this out-of-the-way rural hamlet, so that some eighty minutes later it was rolling through printing presses across the ocean in the roaring plant of the New York Express, to be read at breakfast tables that morning all the way from Westminster County to Hoboken.

He stepped from the door of the little inn, out into as picturesque a village street as ever delighted tourists. Thatched-roof cottages, built half of timber, half of brick, and dating from antiquity, were leaning toward each other sociably from each side of the road. The signboard of the Royal Arms creaked invitingly above his head and over across the way stood the inevitable Red Lion, with a charming woman polishing its sandstone steps.

TURNING to re-enter the inn, Cardigan saw a small boy sitting upon a bench beside the door, looking up at him wistfully. Something vaguely familiar about the lad caused the journalist to stop short and look at him closely. Somewhere—he could not remember where—he had seen that child before.

Cardigan hailed him: "Hello, there, sonny!"

The boy was not handsome, and seemed at first glance to consist principally of two great eyes, their magnitude exaggerated, perhaps, by a pair of oversize horn-rimmed spectacles that rested upon a sharp, thin nose. With most of his personality concentrated in his eyes and that narrow, inquisitive beak, the boy looked much like a little owl. Only after Cardigan's attention had passed with difficulty beyond the eyes of the lad was it noticeable that he had a face full of freckles, a shock of unruly hair. The boy was about 10 years old, Cardigan judged.

"Haven't I seen you somewhere?" asked Cardigan, when the boy continued to stare at him silently. Then he saw, with an inner chuckle, a pink flush rise from beneath the boy's golden-flecked cheeks, intensify from a red almost as deep as tawny port and spread over all the lad's face. It was a magnificent blush.

"I—I think n-not," the boy replied bravely. "I haven't been anywhere much—but I'm going most everywhere some day."

"Good for you," prevaricated Cardigan heartily. "I'm sure you'll enjoy it."

"Have the fliers started across the Atlantic?" asked the boy.

"This morning," said Cardigan.

"I thought they would," nodded the boy with an air of satisfaction, "just as soon as I saw them going to church."

"To church?"

"They went this morning when it was barely light."

CARDIGAN paused in front of this child. Here was news to be had; news for New York which the journalist had stumbled across by chance.

"How do you know?" he asked. "Did they tell you?"

"I saw them. You see, they interest me very much, fliers do. And when this one's alarm clock rang this morning and he got up and knocked on the door of the lady, I knew he was going to do it. So I got up, too."

"Yes?"

"He looked like Sir Launcelot, didn't he?"

"Very much," agreed Cardigan.

"Sometimes I wish I were Sir Launcelot," said the boy, "although Richard the Lion-Hearted did some splendid fighting."

He spoke as one who is a connoisseur in fighters, weighing gravely the merits of one knight as against the other.

"What did you see when you got up?" asked Cardigan.

"I saw them go to church," the boy replied. "And the aviator's lady was in flying costume also. She was his loved one, probably."

Cardigan chuckled. "What makes you think so?"

"Why—why—she must have been. It—it wouldn't have been life."

"Would it have been life—if she hadn't been?"

The boy was so excited at Cardigan's suggestion of doubt that he dropped his book.

"She was just like Guinevere, wasn't she?" he asked. "Didn't she look like Guinevere?"

"She resembled Guinevere very much," the journalist assured the boy. "What do you know about life?"

The blush appeared once more as fiery as before, seeming to burn the boy inwardly. The blue eyes which had held steadily to Cardigan's were shifted. He looked over the journalist's shoulder, far away.

"I'm reading about it, studying it," he said softly, somewhat defensively.

Cardigan felt rebuked. "I should have known you were," he apologized. "Did you see them go away?"

"They came out of the hotel door holding each other by the hand," the boy informed him. "They were carrying their armor over their arms. The great lady had an automobile. Perhaps she was rich. And he was a poor adventurer. It would be better that way. She drove the automobile down the street and pretty soon I saw them from my window climbing the hill to the church. When they drove away from the church I didn't see them any more, but I knew they had gone away to fly the Atlantic."

Cardigan nodded appreciatively. "And so they had," he commented. The lad had intuition. "And after they fly the Atlantic?" He asked the question quizzically.

"Why—why—I hadn't got that far," objected the boy, then brightened. "Maybe they'll fly the Pacific."

"Of course, they might," conceded Cardigan.

More than ever Cardigan knew he had seen him before. "What's your name?" he inquired.

"Jim," said the boy.

"Do you live here?" Cardigan inquired.

"I'm staying here awhile," said the boy.

"So am I," the journalist told him. "Perhaps I'll see you again."

"What's your name?" the boy inquired.

"It's Jim," he called back with a grin flung over his shoulder. "The same as yours."

A queer kid, nourished on fairy stories, old legends and tales of heroes, thought Cardigan. He moved up the street to ask his way to the village church. Queer kid! He felt a wave of sympathy for the lad sweep over him, recalling that probably no odder stick than he himself had ever emerged as a boy, bespectacled and wondering, from his father's library into a world of real people.

HE FOUND the church whereof the lad had spoken. Cardigan found the verger in a cottage close by his church and from him obtained a picture of that early scene near an English altar which had preceded the Seagull's flight.

Virginia always had a sense of the dramatic, Cardigan chuckled. Few persons, seeing her on the stage, with those doll-like blue eyes that coquetted beneath her crown of wheat-colored curls, would ever have dreamed of the small but active intelligence which lay behind them. Nobody, watching her slim body borne through the air like a feather above her twinkling toes to answer each whim of the jazz band's bidding, would have suspected her nature of a cool, acquisitive shrewdness. As for her bringing Caldwell to church before they flew to death or triumph, Cardigan realized that was principally due to her flair for histrionics. It was good "press stuff" if she and her comrade won, and would be a fillip to the final legends of her if she vanished. Very clever!

They had walked down the aisle to the altar hand in hand and had dropped to their knees with hands still clasped, laying their flying costumes upon the floor beside them. But before they arose the colonel's arm crept around the waist of the girl beside him. They stood at last. Then their two figures were merged in one. Their lips were joined.

"A fair long kiss it were, sir," the verger recollected. "You say they're flying the Atlantic?"

"They've started," snapped Cardigan. His mind was busy elsewhere.

So finally the girl had landed Caldwell. Cardigan wondered if Mrs. Caldwell knew it.

The reporter turned back moodily once more toward the village inn. Along a rural golf course, a sporty little affair of lakes and wooded knolls, with pretty vistas that lured him like singing Loreleis. "I must come back here some day and knock about these greens," he resolved. Perhaps the friendliness of this pleasant countryside could drive away the sense of loneliness assailing him.

IT WAS with thoughts of indigo blue that Cardigan walked down the hill from the old abbey church to that quaint little village of Howden, where the Royal Arms was waiting to receive him hospitably with a cheery hearth and a Scotch with soda. The boy whom he had left upon the porch was sitting there as he returned, apparently gazing fixedly at something beyond the sky.

"Hi, there!" Cardigan interrupted him.

The boy looked through him for a moment without recognition, then saw who he was and ejaculated, "Oh!"

"You been gone far?" chuckled Cardigan.

"I've flown to India and back."

"It's a very long way to India," flattered Cardigan soberly.

"They've got elephants there with silver howdahs," the boy answered, as if by way of proof that he actually had accomplished the journey.

"You don't say!"

"They were. I passed your fliers on the way out."

"Over the Atlantic?" asked Cardigan. "I thought you went east."

"I went west to get to the east, like Columbus, only much faster. Your fliers have only one engine, haven't they?"

"Only one," winced Cardigan, thinking of the colonel and Virginia somewhere over that stormy sea.

"I had three in my plane," the small boy told him. "That's the way to do it. Then you go faster, and if one engine gives out you've got a couple more. I passed your fliers over Ireland, heading straight into a fog. But they'll get across all right."

"I hope so, sonny."

"They will," the boy insisted excitedly. "There's fog about a quarter of the way and they'll have to fight it. That will be very exciting. They'll go up trying to get over it, and then they won't be able to see anything. They'll come down until the angry waves are just under them and still they won't be able to see anything. And the wind will knock them about, and they'll just keep on fighting till suddenly they'll dive right out of a cloud into sunshine. That's the way it goes."

"That's the way it went with you?" asked Cardigan humbly.

"Every time so far. But, of course, there's always the chance it won't. That's what makes the fun. It wouldn't be any fun if you were sure, would it?"

"I suppose not," granted Cardigan, moving away. "Well, good-by."

"Where are you going?" called the boy.

"I don't know," said Cardigan overtaken once more by blue devils. "To Africa, maybe."

"I wish you'd take me with you," the boy appealed wistfully.

"I'm afraid I can't take you, sonny," laughed Cardigan.

He was the lad's face give way to disappointment an dreproach.

"Good-by," he said again. He swung on his heel and entered the inn.

When he emerged to his automobile for the spin back to London the lad was gone, but the image of him and his queer, imaginative conversation, together with some insistent intuition that he had seen the kid before and might see him again, remained.

LONDON swallowed Cardigan. In his individual cubicle among the million cubicles of the city he peered along ticker tapes and scanned the newspaper columns, straining his eyes for a glimpse of Virginia and the colonel.

The Exchange Telegraph reported: "Fishermen off the Galway coast at 5.30 this afternoon reported a plane believed to be Colonel Caldwell's headed toward the open sea. It was flying low, apparently heavily loaded, and going slowly. Latest weather reports indicate fog in the North Atlantic extending from about 200 miles west of Ireland almost half the distance to Newfoundland."

Cardigan's office boy announced Mrs. Caldwell to see him.

A tall, willowy woman in her early 30s, with a clear skin pale as ivory, which accentuated the darkness of her large brown eyes and made of her full lips, always rouged, a vivid splash of scarlet. Amy Caldwell, daughter of a Baronet and well-to-do in her own right, was a conspicuous beauty upon one of the fringes of West End society. But as she entered his office the sight of her shocked him.

She was dressed entirely in black, creating a conscious picture of widowhood, as if the worst fear for Caldwell's fate already had been realized. Her lips, pressed tightly together, were like the wound of a knife across the pallor of her complexion. There was agony in her staring eyes.

"What do you hear from them?" she asked intensely.

Cardigan strove to reassure her. "They were going well at last accounts," he answered, placing a chair for her. "The plane is good and you know how able a pilot your husband is."

"They'll get there."

The woman said it almost in a whisper, "They'll get there."

But her next words greatly surprised him.

"It doesn't really make any difference now."

She was looking over his head, and it struck him she spoke more to herself than to any listener. From his chair across the broad flat-topped desk he watched her almost breathlessly, careful that no word, sound or motion from him should interrupt her. He noticed that her hands, with their long, tapering, bejeweled fingers, were slowly clenching into two tight fists, then opening and squirming unmanageably, as if strung on jangled wires which some directing force was trying to put in order.

Cardigan moved no muscle. He waited and listened.

"I've lost him. * * * She's got him. * * * Or she thinks she has, the little fool!"

Then softly, with a voice that murmured plaintively, like the purest crystal brook that ever rippled gently over smooth white stones, this beautiful woman proceeded to curse that London dancing girl who now was flying across the Atlantic, braving death with her vanished husband.

"The fool! She thinks she's won his love. He doesn't even see her half the time she thinks she's with him. He's seeing the insides of engines. She'll make him look at her silly face, but when she thinks his eyes are on her they'll be looking through her as if she didn't exist. They'll be looking into some new oil-feed piping that probably never yet was part of an engine except in blueprint. * * * He's married to engines. He's kind of an engine himself—more engine than man. That's what I've often told him. He's got a carburetor where his heart should be. I hope they neither one come back."

"You must be well insured," suggested Cardigan icily.

One corner of her scarlet mouth began to twitch downward convulsively. "I'm rich," she said. "I've fed him. I've clothed him. When he got knocked out in the war I nursed him. When he was demobilized without a bob in his pockets and no chance of getting a job, I married him. I made him."

While she was speaking her lips would twist to end each phrase, an involuntary punctuation that betrayed even more than the revelation of her words how anxiety and wounded pride had betrayed her into the grip of so great a fury that she was far beyond self-control. Cardigan feared she was going to cry. He was embarrassed at the spectacle of her self-exposed humiliation. Being a man, he experienced a wave of dislike for her because she was thus disturbing him, but he could not help feeling a little sorry for her. He silently blessed the office boy for entering then with tape from the ticker.

"Steamship Corfe Castle, two days out from Glasgow bound for Montreal, reports hearing an engine and seeing the light of an airplane flying westward through rain at 8.45 p. m.," read the tape. "Steamship gives position latitude 52 north and longitude 26 west, which is about 400 miles off north coast of Ireland."

"They're going all right so far," said Cardigan cheerily, passing the tape to his visitor. He figured the time and mileage aloud. "From Howden airdrome to Newfoundland is approximately 1930 miles. Four hundred miles from Ireland would place them about a thousand miles on their way. They've been in the air about fourteen hours. That would mean a speed so far of only about seventy miles an hour, but they've lost a good part of their petrol load, so they ought to go faster the rest of the way. They'll be over land certainly by 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, and ought to reach New York by 9 tomorrow night. With forty-five hours of petrol, that's pretty scant margin for New York, but perhaps they'll do it. The farther they go the faster they ought to be flying."

"I'm sure they will," insisted the flier's wife.

"They'll make land, anyway," declared Cardigan stoutly. "And that's the main thing, isn't it?"

"Yes, that's the main thing."

Somehow, with coaxing, reassurance and cajoling, he induced her to go home. He promised he would phone her every bit of news that came to London. But for many hours thereafter no news came.

A MORNING gray and rain-flecked followed the sunlit pink one wherein the Seagull had risen from Howden airdrome. An afternoon so black that lighted taxis had to lurch their way by careful inches along London's winding streets succeeded it. The forty-five hours during which the vanished airplane should have had petrol supply were ended. Night came and no word of the Seagull! news merely of fog and storm that had laid across the course of the two adventurous fliers.

Opposite Cardigan once more, in a chair beyond the broad flat top of his desk, sat Mrs. Caldwell. She turned the pages of a dozen magazines which he had brought for her when she reappeared during the early evening. She obviously saw little of what was in them.

"They'll get there," smiled Cardigan once when her eyes crossed his.

"They're safe," she answered.

"I wouldn't begin to worry for a couple of days yet," he advised her with hollow confidence.

"They'll be found," she predicted. "They're safe!"

Cardigan's night assistant shouted in the outer office. A door burst open from the office boys room and the head boy rushed in, carrying a small gray square of paper held high in front of him. "They've got there, Mr. Cardigan!" The boy was panting and his hands were shaking. The night assistant was just behind him, with a length of tape. Cardigan and Mrs. Caldwell had risen from their chairs.

"Here, give me that!"

Cardigan snatched the office boy's paper and read aloud.

"Flash—Quebec, Ontario. Seagull safe.

"Bulletin—Quebec, Oct. 30—Colonel F. E. Caldwell and Miss Virginia Strange have crossed the Atlantic safely from east to west in the airplane Seagull. Blown miles off their course by the wind and lost in a driving rainstorm, they dropped at 6:12 p. m. today into an open field near Chapdelaine, Ontario, a pulpmill village ninety miles northeast of here. The fliers escaped miraculously unhurt, though the descent was forced by lack of gasoline and the undercarriage of the Seagull was damaged in alighting."

Cardigan looked up with a laugh of delight.

The knees of the flier's wife gave way. She seemed to crumple as if she were shot. She fell heavily into the chair where she had been sitting and her head struck the desk in front of her. Then, with one arm dangling limply toward the floor and the other thrown around her face, she started to weep aloud. First a paroxysm of grief and then long sobs that shook her body as if they were torn from her. The reporter waved his aides from the room. More than passionate anguish was in the woman's weeping. Cardigan winced at the note of animal suffering. He tiptoed away and closed the door, leaving the woman alone.

"YOU must be very happy now," he told her when she had stirred about the room once more and he had rejoined her.

"You—you may say I am very happy," she answered, drawing herself up for a fleeting instant with a futile attempt at dignity. Then her voice was dulled and her eyes stared, dry and bitter, beyond him. "I suppose that I should be."

He knew she was not.

After such of the story was written as could be and wired to New York, Cardigan sat alone in his office for many minutes looking at a vacant blotter on the desk before him. Slowly and hesitantly, after much thought, he opened a lower drawer at his side. He took from it a little tin box which he unlocked with a key. Some papers were in it and, shuffling through them, he took out a letter dated several months before, a letter that had been smudged with much handling. It once had been half torn, then placed away, he had said, to be read whenever he was in danger of making more of a fool of himself than usual. It ran as follows:

Jimsie dearest:

I think you are a little pig though rather sweet. Can't you understand that a woman, particularly a woman like me, might love a man to the extent of spending a holiday with him in Cornwall without being willing to marry him? Why not be fair, reasonable and honest instead of so old-fashioned? I love you a little Jimsie. You are so absurd and quixotic that you think you love me with an undying passion. You couldn't love any woman that way for life if you tried. Sooner or later we'd both of us be tired of it all, and then we couldn't chuck it without a lot of legal mess and scandal. Please be nicer to me. You are so unreasonable I'm thinking of falling in love with that stunning aviator you introduced me to at the Carlton—Colonel Caldwell. Maybe he and I will fly the Atlantic together, and perhaps be drowned. Then you'd be sorry. You'd remember then how you'd robbed yourself—and me—of just the love we're wanting, no more and no less. I won't write to you again like this, Jim. Please be nice.

YOUR V.

Cardigan read the letter through slowly, then placed it on his desk in front of him and sat long minutes looking at it. When he picked it up again he did not return it to its drawer. He rolled it into a long, thin tube, struck a match to it, then gravely watched the little white torch ignite, turn brown and blaze by successive stages down to his fingertips. He flicked its ashes into an ashtray.

"I'm going to take a short vacation," he told his assistant. That little golf course near Howden was calling him. He would slap a ball around those fields for two or three days and sleep without a memory or dream in that old inn where he had met the funny, imaginative lad named Jim. Perhaps he might even write a little upon that great never-finished novel which nearly all journalist scribble at sometimes. At any rate, he would close his eyes to news and newspapers long enough to recapture some zest for them before he returned to the job.

On his fourth day he started to buy a newspaper, just to see what one looked like, but repressed the impulse sternly. That way lay London and labor. He was tired of labor.

He dabbled in the pleasant idiocy of introspection, trying to figure out what was the matter with himself, but could not diagnose his case. Certainly his affair with Virginia was a matter of such ancient history now that it should not weigh upon him. It had been eight months since their first attack of passionate madness and almost seven since the winds of reason had turned their ardor to cool amusement. His friend, Colonel Caldwell, was safe. And Mrs. Caldwell's griefs were her own, not his to share.

WHAT, then, was troubling him? Divine discontent? The remedy for that was to scribble away at his novel. But somehow that great story of his—that story conceiving modern life as high adventure through which heroes still might ride with pure white hearts and uplifted swords into battle, wherein heroines now, as always, might let down their long golden hair from high casements by moonlight, a ladder to Paradise and villains plot their knavery from black, sinister motives, doomed to frustration by the gallant and good—that was an empty story, devoid of likeness to truth and signifying nothing.

Heroes, heroines and villains had vanished from the sequence of human plays which appeared before him. Today men leaped through the sky over oceans quite prosaically, rather than stay at home with nagging wives who would not be satisfied. Women flew with them, sometimes, who were arrant cowards before such adventures as keeping faith in love or growing old or beating children. Why, even the troubadours who sang the world's exploits had exchanged their lutes and singing voices these better days for the smudged ink of printing presses and the croaking of radio amplifiers.

One thing alone remained eternally, high comedy, whereat an intelligent adult might laugh with glee at the pompous antics of his fellows or sympathetically share their ridiculous tears.

"The boy to write my great novel," thought Cardigan, "is little Jim; that funny kid I met here when I'd come to see Virginia and Caldwell jump toward America."

He had not seen the boy this visit to Howden and wondered where he had gone. He asked the manageress of the Royal Arms about him and was amazed to hear no such child was remembered.

Cardigan felt resentful and annoyed. He knew he had seen that youngster and he made other inquiries. Apparently nobody in the village except himself had seen the lad. He would have begun to doubt his own recollection except that the memory of the boy's zest for life, travel and adventure was so strong with him. He must have seen him.

He retired to his room in the inn, as if the village that had lured him back had cheated him of its major attraction. He started to shuffle through the portfolio of papers which held his worthless novel and other half-finished yarns in which he could lose himself through working.

A small book of photographs memorabilia of his travels since early school days, dropped from the papers he was handling. How had that come there? He started with wandering mind to turn its pages, reconstructing old scenes, and suddenly he found the youngster for which he was looking.

That romantic lad with the book in his arms, all eyes and spectacles, with freckled face and unruly hair, with plain cheap clothes kept patched and reasonably clean by his mother, was himself, Jim Cardigan, at the age of 10.

A glimpse of that boy had been vouch-safed him in his weariness by one of those inexplicable miracles concerning which unimaginative, dull intelligentsia are skeptical, but wise men of science curious. Beyond the ocean's storm the boy had told him lay sunshine for courageous fliers. "Why, I'll take the boy with me," chuckled Cardigan, "and back we'll go to London and the job."

A movement has been started in Hongkong to abolish the practice of hiring out little Chinese girls as servants—"mui tsai"—to have them become virtual slaves in the homes of their employers. The custom, which is an ancient one in China, consists of the parents of the girl accepting a certain amount of money for turning the girl over to another family for domestic service. Virtually the girl is sold into service, although legally this is not so. Attempts will be made to register all the mui tsai in the Hongkong colony. At present there is no way of knowing their number.

NET CHANGES IN STOCK MARKET WERE MIXED AND OF SMALL PROPORTIONS

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP)—Wearied by its own inertness, the stock market dozed through a dull session today. Only during the last 50 minutes did traders take much interest in the list, but in that interval they bid briskly for a number of rail and farm implement shares, sending them up one to four points. Net changes were generally mixed and of small proportions.

Total sales were the lowest since January, amounting to 2,083,300 shares.

With the leading issues displaying firmness in the early dealings, operations on the short side concentrated upon two or three soft spots, notably National Supply, American Locomotive and Electric Storage Battery, all of which were pushed into new low ground for the year. The first named was sold on its unfavorable earnings report, while liquidation of locomotive represented a belated reaction to the dividend cut.

Such rails as Atchison, Delaware and Hudson, New York Central, Southern Railway, New Haven and Western Maryland were leaders in the late advance, while St. Louis Southwestern and Chicago Great Western preferred carried to new peak prices for the year. International Harvester, Caterpillar Tractor and Oliver Farm Equipment rallied about 3 points each. J. I. Case moved up 8. United Aircraft rose 5 points in what appeared to be a driving in of shorts. Celotex gained the same amount on dismissal of the receivership petition.

Several interesting items came out in the day's news. The foreign trade report for April showed a decline of about $90,000,000 in exports and of approximately $100,000,000 in imports in comparison with the same month a year ago. The gold movement for April embraced imports of $65,129,000, mostly from the far east.

The annalist's business activity index for April showed an upturn of 3.2 points from the low of March, with most of the gain in freight car loadings, electric power production and cotton consumption.

The weekly trade reviews emphasized the uneven course of business. Dun's said there was an absence of a decisive trend, pointing out that the fall in commodity prices had not been definitely arrested, that adjustments in production were continuing and that there was also evidence of "the operation of other forces which are natural to a period of economic change."

Bradstreet's recalled that commercial consumers' stocks of soft coal on April 1, were the smallest, with the exception of last July 1, since November, 1922.

Time money declined a quarter of one per cent in the 90-day maturity.

The grain markets were strong. Wheat sold up 2 cents on continuation of the export demand and bullish weather. Corn was 1 3-4 to 2 1-8 cents higher on predictions of frost in the central west, a firm cash market and large Chicago shipments. Raw sugar was firmer while cotton closed steady, up 15 to 23 points.

Foreign currencies fluctuated narrowly.

THE CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP)— The curb market was again purely a professional trading affair today. There was some bidding up of the utilities, and United Light A developed marked buoyancy, but oils ran into moderate selling, and industrials and specialties were dull and irregular. Total sales only moderately exceeded 800,000 shares.

United Light A took the market by surprise with a sudden spurt of more than six points to 54 7-8, within a point of its peak. This stock has been drifting along rather quietly since its run up some weeks ago on announcement of a natural gas distributing project.

Natural Fuel Gas was also a strong spot, surging up five points to a new high at 40 7-8, then losing some of its gain. The speculative enthusiasm for natural gas issues was apparently kindled anew by the news of the Columbia Gas, United Corporation affiliation. United Gas was firm, and Appalachian Gas and a few others were fairly active. Electric Bond and Share sold up more than a point, but such recent favorites as American Superpower and Niagara Hudson did little, and American Gas lost a point. Columbia Oil dropped 5 1-2 points to a new low at 11 1-2, then rallied to 15. This evidently reflected disappointment that the United Corporation exchange offer for Columbia Gas was announced as after deduction of the dividend of Columbia Oil shares to Columbia Gas stockholders. Gulf lost 3 points and Humble a point, but Cities Service rose 3-4 in heavy trading. A further cut in Pennsylvania crude prices, and continued dissension among Santa Fe Springs Producers in California were evidently adverse psychological factors.

The aviation issues turned quiet and irregular. Irving Air Chute was a firm and active spot, and Detroit Aircraft rose fractionally. Irving management announces that its business has increased 50 per cent since the first of the year, which is regarded as favorable in view of earnings of $2.15 a share in 1929.

Dresser B stock rose a couple of points. Deere was quiet and firm, but failed to participate in the advance of the farm implement on the big board. National Steel lost more than 2 points, and Van Camp Packing, which recently touched 16, again sold off, getting down to 8 1-4. In the merchandising group, Sally Frocks and Russeks reached new 1930 lows.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP)— Bond prices receded slightly on a ragged front today as the volume of sales became reminiscent of the dull days during the bull stock market.

The market has been somewhat dyspeptic and showed it today as price trends pursued an uncertain course that varied only fractionally either way. During the earlier trading convertibles were most active. Towards the end an increased demand developed for railroad bonds and some briskness in the bidding turned many upward.

The favorable conditions for bonds was mirrored in the record low rate of interest paid by the treasury in its offering of bills. The bank discount rate bids for the $100,000,000 treasury bills averaged 2.34 per cent and constituted the most favorable rate at which the government has been able to dispose of its short term bills. Bonds have not reflected this easy credit as large investors have been attracted to new issues.

Prime and secondary rails joined in the mixed movement, and in few did the range extend beyond a point. Baltimore and Ohio 4 1-2s, Boston and Maine 5s, Rock Island 4 1-2s, Missouri Pacific "F" 5s, New Haven 6s and Pennsylvania 4 1-2s were among those to record fractional advances. Erie 5s, St. Paul 5s, Seaboard 6s, San Francisco 4 1-2s, sagged.

Stock privilege issues alternated through the trading day in weak and strong movements and most of them finished at a slight advance. Philadelphia Reading Coal and Iron 6s, with a gain of 1 1-2 points, and Missouri Pacific 5 1-2s with a loss of 1 1-4 points were the two extremes.

Numerous inactive issues made their appearance in the foreign group but the sales were thin generally except in a few bonds. The general trend was irregular.

The market for United States governments was the lightest of the year. Sales were confined to Liberties and all lost ground.

COTTON

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP)—Cotton futures closed steady, 15 to 23 points higher; spot steady; middling 16.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, May 16.—(AP)—Big export business, together with indications of irreparable crop damage in southern and southwestern Kansas, did a good deal to send the wheat market soaring today. It was estimated that during the last two days, 3,000,000 bushels of North American wheat has been bought for shipment overseas. Highest prices here since April 29 were reached today for wheat, and a burst of activity carried corn also to the topmost level in some time.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong, at nearly the day's summit, 2 1-4a3 1-2c a bushel over yesterday's finish. Corn closed 2 1-8a2 5-8c up, oats 1-2a1c advanced, and provisions varying from 25c decline to a rise of 2c.

In the provision market lard was firm, but meats suffered a decided drop.

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP)—Business failures for the week as reported to R. G. Dun and company totaled 517, compared with 525 for the previous week. The figures, however, show an increase of 42 over the 475 defaults a year ago. Defaults of firms with liabilities of more than $5,000 rose to 327, from 311 reported last week.

World's spinners takings of American cotton for the week totaled 194,882 bales, Dow, Jones and company reports, compared with 174,651 last week and 256,270 a year ago. The crop movement into sight was 120,068 bales, compared with 84,172 last week and 95,686 last year. Certificated stocks at the seven delivery points increased to 482,927 bales on May 15 from 466,225 the previous day. Exports for the week totaled 36,620 bales against 84,654 last week and 79,684 a year ago.

Pennick and Ford, Inc., has called for redemption July 1, of 6,890 shares, one-half of the outstanding preferred capital stock.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Picnic in Prospect

On the late afternoon of Tuesday, June 3, there is to be a picnic to which we are all invited, old people, young people, children. Where? In the Lucas Memorial park on the Thames near Trading Cove. The civics department of the Woman's City club is planning it. Let's go.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOM

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY

Norwich grange, No. 172, held its regular meeting Wednesday evening in Grange hall with an attendance of 123 members. Worthy Master A. W. Lillibridge conducted the business meeting. A play held recently netted the sum of $50 which was turned in to the grange treasury. A Grange Sunday is to be observed at Trinity M. E. church, Sunday evening, at 7.30. All grangers are asked to meet in the vestry room at 7.15 p. m. to march in a body into the church.

The literary program was in the hands of the lecturer who put on a well balanced program: Song, by the grange; dances, by Miss Helena Crandall and pupils, accompanied by Mrs. Mabel Stebbins; solo, Miss Bernice Underwood in Garden songs, illustrated, Mrs. Abbie Olsen, accompanist; reading, Old Colonial Gardens, Mrs. Ida E. Richardson; costume dance, Miss Helena Crandall; a talk by Mr. F. W. Armstrong on Spraying of Fruit Trees. The next meeting of Norwich grange is to be May 28th, memorial night.

The auxiliary held a sewing circle and completed much work in the afternoon and a quilt was awarded to Mrs. Alida Boyens. A play entitled Sally of the Music Store is to be presented by the lecturer in Grange hall, in which Miss Helen Bellows is to take the principal part. A prize essay entitled "The Home Maker" is for the first meeting in June. All members are asked to try for the prize. Refreshments of wafers and punch were served by Division E at the close of the meeting.

MOOSEHEART LEGION

At a meeting of the executive committee of Mooseheart Legion, Thursday evening, it was voted to hold the memorial service for departed members after the next regular meeting and to have it open to the public. All officers and all members of degree teams are to wear white.

PYTHIAN SISTERS

A district convention was held in Union lodge rooms, New London, on Wednesday, May 14, which was well attended by members from New London, Norwich and Mystic. Different parts of the ritualistic work were exemplified by the three temples, Clover Temple, No. 9, Norwich, having charge of installation, Lillian Rogers acting as grand chief, Mildred Wilson as grand senior and Charlotte Fowler as grand manager. During initiation, E. Grace Fowler acted as past chief. Supreme Chief Addie Kemp of Adrian, Mich., and Grand Chief Nellie Bailey from Durham, Conn., visited the meeting in the evening. A delicious supper was served by members of Goff and Pequot temples. Gifts were presented to the supreme chief, grand chief and to District Deputy Gertrude Norris. A convention was also held in Middletown on Thursday, May 15, in charge of District Deputy Amanda Chamberlin. Sisters Lillian Rogers, E. Grace Fowler, Mildred Wilson, and Charlotte Fowler attended from Norwich and members from all over the state were present. Initiatory work was exemplified by members from West Haven and Branford. Ruth Delgarde of West Haven, acting as M. E. C. The brigadier general and staff of the Uniform Rank, D. O. K. K. made a fine appearance and presented the supreme chief and grand chief with large bouquets made up of colors of the order.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS

Sedgwick Corps, No. 16, held its regular meeting Friday afternoon at the Buckingham memorial with the president, Mrs. Iola Bjurstrom, presiding. Mrs. William Whiteman, chairman of the sewing circle announced the next meeting to be May 21st for all day. It was voted to have a food sale in the near future. It was voted to accept the invitation of Rev. Gurdon Bailey of the First Congregational church in Norwich Town on Memorial Sunday, May 25th, to which the members of the G. A. R. have also been invited. On May 8 and 9, the following members of the corps attended the department convention in Willimantic; Mrs. Jayne Seed and Mrs. Louise Atterbury, department counselors; Mrs. Mary Austin and Mrs. Lena Pukallus, department aides; Mrs. A. Boyens, Mrs. Carrie Prentice, Mrs. Edna Browning, Miss Rose Quinn, Mrs. Lydia Perkins, Mrs. Emily Irish, Mrs. Hattie Kinney, Mrs. Grace Fowler, Mrs. Gertrude Tootill, Mrs. Iola Bjurstrom, Mrs. Grace Manning, Mrs. Florence Dean, Mrs. William Bell, Mrs. Rose Graham, Mrs. Myrtice Tibbetts, Mrs. Mary Quinn, Mrs. William Whiteman, Miss Maria Briggs and Miss Lola B. Roath. Patriotic Instructor Mrs. E. Grace Fowler is to present a flag to the First Congregational church at Norwich Town on Sunday May 25th. The meeting closed with the salute to the flag.

MOOSEHEART LEGION DEGREE TEAM

Mooseheart Legion degree team held its regular meeting in Moose Home, Thursday evening, with Captain Teresa Watters presiding. On account of some of the members of the team being unable to go to the convention on Friday, it was voted for all to leave Saturday morning instead of Friday, as planned. Plans for the new uniforms are all complete and every member is to communicate with the captain as soon as possible in reference to fitting. A card party is to be held at the Moose Home before the next drill meeting.

FORTY AND EIGHT SALON

At the monthly meeting of the Forty and Eight Salon, held this week at the home of Mrs. Iola DeGrasse of New London, Mrs. Charlotte Denison of this city and Mrs. Grace McNally of New London were elected delegates, Mrs. Sara Bennett of this city and Mrs. DeGrasse alternates to the state convention to be held in Bridgeport, July 24,26.

The society voted to send $25 to the national May day fund for child welfare, and $10 to the state treasury toward convention expenses. It was voted to cooperate with the Forty and Eight and entertain the American Legion post and auxiliary of this distict at the state armory in Norwich in the near future. Following the meeting luncheon was served by the hostess. Those in attendance from Norwich and Taftville were Mrs. Charlotte Denison, Mrs. Clara Caron, Mrs. Frances Kelly, Mrs. Dorothea Nagle and Mrs. Thomas P. Sears.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Nagle in Taftville, June 3.

DEGREE OF POCAHONTAS

Subsequonash council met in the Buckingham memorial, Wednesday evening with a very large number present. An invitation was read to be present at Field day at Savin Rock, June 18. A meeting will be called to order at Wilcox's on that date at 11 o'clock. After the meeting, a public whist and pinochle was held by the social committee. In whist, the prizes were taken by Mrs. Hasting, Mrs. L. Bruett and Mrs. McKelvey; Mr. Webber, Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. A. La Turner. In pinochle the prizes went to Mrs C. Bush, Mrs. Casey, and Miss May Danahey; H. Leiblerman, Mr. Spencer, and Mr. J. Lafferty. The committee in charge was Ida Clifford, Mary Kinney, Rose Carter, Mary LaVallee and Grace Hallisey. A number were present from New London.

CATHOLIC LADIES OF COLUMBUS

The regular social meeting of Mercier Assembly, No. 12, will be held next Tuesday evening. The social committee has arranged an interesting program at which Rev. John J. Reilly will speak. Following this a May party will be held. A large attendance is expected.

On Sunday, May 25, a meeting of the state board of directors of the Catholic Ladies of Columbus will be held at the Hotel Garde, Hartford.

V. F. W. AUXILIARY

The semi-monthly business meeting of the R. E. Hourigan auxiliary, No. 584, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was held at the V. F. W. post rooms, Olympic building, on Monday evening, with the president, Mrs. Lena Maynard, presiding. A very interesting report of the quarterly meeting of the department of Connecticut, V. F. W., held at Waterbury on Sunday, April 27, was read. An invitation from Hourigan post to assist the comrades in the sale of the "buddy poppies" for Memorial Day was accepted. The buddy poppies will be on sale from Friday, May 23, until Memorial Day, May 30. The trustees reported the books of the secretary and treasurer in perfect order. The delegates to represent the auxiliary at the department encampment to be held in Danbury on June 20 to 22 were elected as follows: Delegates, Mrs. Ida Fairbanks, Mrs. Agnes Poliquin, Mrs. Emma Kavanagh, Mrs. Clara Holmes and Mrs. Anna Haelck. Alternates, Mrs. May Richmond, Mrs. Louise Guilfoyle, Mrs. Frieda Mandeville, Mrs. Emma Hull and Mrs. Anna Mills. Mrs. Rosamond Jacques, department council of administration member, and Mrs. Mary Hull, department guard, will also represent the auxiliary. The newly organized auxiliary to Gold Star post, No. 1724, of Willimantic, will hold its installation of officers Saturday evening, May 24. Department President Helen Shanahan of Waterbury will be installing officer.

FORESTERS OF AMERICA

During the past week all members of the Foresters of America in Connecticut were interested in the state convention which was held in New Haven. A total of 170 delegates and grand court officers were in attendance.

After the opening ceremonies Mayor Tellier was introduced and after welcoming the delegates to the city extended to them the freedom of New Haven.

Encouraging reports were given by the different committees and several important projects for the welfare of the order were discussed.

Election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Grand chief ranger, W. S. McGowan, Watertown; grand sub chief ranger, Ed. F. Girard, Putnam; grand secretary, Thomas O'Loughlin, Naugatuck; grand treasurer, James J. Walsh, Meriden; grand recording secretary, Fred Anderson, New Britain; grand lecturer, Harry Stuck, Bridgeport; grand senior woodward, Thomas Redfern, Broadbrook; grand junior woodward, P. H. Gleeson, Torrington; grand senior beadle, John E. Nooney, Norwalk; grand junior beadle, L. F. Brandeby, Oakville; chairman trustees, E. J. Bolduc, Norwich.

Waterbury was selected as the place of the next convention. Retiring Grand Chief Ranger Cook was presented with a diamond ring by the members of the executive council and a purse of gold by the delegates attending the session.

Chief Ranger P. J. Fogarty of Court Wequonnoc, No. 66, of Taftville was chairman of place of next convention committee, and Henry A. Congdon acted as chairman of state of the order committee for the third successive year.

JUNIOR AMERICAN MECHANICS

Buckingham council, No. 14, held its regular meeting Wednesday evening in Eagles hall with Councilor Jerry Angell presiding. The business of the evening was put through in regular order and the dance committee reported progress on the openig dance at Happyland. Bros. Harold Kinney and Welton Hoxie were reported on the sick list. After adjournment of the business meeting the members played pinochle.

SHEPHERDS OF BETHLEHEM

Rose of New England lodge, No. 92, held its regular meeting Monday evening in the rooms on Main street, with Commander Margaret Rogers presiding. Past Supreme Commander Mrs. Brown of New Haven was a guest and proposed a new plan for a membership drive. After the meeting, Past Supreme Commander Mrs. Brown, entertained with a solo and Sir Prosper Laurette also gave a very pleasing solo. Each member is to get one member for the last meeting in June.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre.

Sunday there opens at the Breed theatre the greatest of talking screen triumphs—the amazing Norma Shearer in the most heart-gripping love story of the decade, "The Divorcee." Really, you have never seen anything in the legitimate theatre or in the de luxe picture houses that can compare with this masterpiece of the audible screen. The show is a shock of delight—stunning. In plain words, we beg to present this picture as one of the international events of universal interest—something that one in Paris or Tahiti, Singapore or Boston, must accept as an act of the huddlers of the hosts of cinema art—or Providence—or of both of them. Can we interest you in this picture? If we cannot, please believe that the gossip of your own nook in our city will convince you that "The Divorcee" is something to see.

Chester Morris plays opposite Miss Shearer and gives an intensely human characterization as the husband. Robert Montgomery and Conrad Nagel, as the divorcee's lovers, play their roles with deft artistry. The intelligent direction of Robert Z. Leonard is apparent in every scene.

Broadway Theatre.

All roads lead to the Broadway today, for the stars are giving a party! Yes, indeedy, the Paramount studios have given them a little four day vacation so that they may appear on the Broadway screen in their own, personal, intimate jamboree of fun, frolic and friskiness. Its called "Paramount on Parade," and before the show is over, you'll be calling the stars and featured players by their first names—and the salaries!—my dear, only Paramount would have the nerve to take such a heap of players and put them in one film—why, the payroll looks like the U. S. mint report. There's Jack Oakie, Skeets Gallagher and Leon Errol, as the three dumbest masters of ceremonies in the world, Buddy Rogers and Lillian Roth in a clever singing and dancing sketch, there's Warner Oland, William Powell, Clive Brooke and Eugene Pallette in a roaring burlesque on "Dr. Fu Manchu"; Maurice Chevalier and Evelyn Brent in a rough-house, rib-tickling explanation of the origin of the Apache dance; Nino Martini, a new singing marvel, in a wonderful Venetian gondola scene; Jack Oakie and Zelma O'Neil in a fast and funny gymnasium skit with a flock of cuties. Harry Green playing "Isadore the Toreador" to Kay Francis' exotic Carmen; Ruth Chatterton singing in a dramatic Parisian cafe sketch; Chevalier as a nosey gendarme spying on young lovers in a Paris park; Mitzi Green in convulsing imitation of Moran and Mack and her pal Chevalier, Helen Kane as a demure (?) school marm with a class of mischievous kids; Dennis King in a dramatic burlesque on "The Vagabond King," in which Pallette and Gallagher rescue him from the rope to "save the show." Nancy Carroll with Abe Lyman's band in a hot dance number, George Bancorft almost behaving himself at a society affair; Gary Cooper, Dick Arlen and a troop of sweethearts in a romantic song-sketch; Clara Bow with half the fleet in the spectacular and thrilling scene "I'm True to the Navy Now," and the tremendous finale number, "Sweeping the Clouds Away," with Chevalier and a bevy of gorgeously beautiful girls in a pageant of song and color. Many of these scenes are in brilliant technicolor. Such a bewildering array of talent has never been gathered on one screen before. Songs? at least a dozen—and all hits—dancing?—enough to make you yell for more—comedy?—enough to chase the blues for ten years—personality? trainloads of it!—in fact, everything you like your favorite stars to do, they do in this great production, which is making movie history everywhere—and to miss it is to miss the greatest thrill and treat of your life. The surrounding program includes "Hot Dog," a comical talkartoon; the latest Paramount Sound news, and specially booked Vitaphone novelties.

Palace Theatre.

Laugh Week, Carnival of Fun, starts today at the Palace theatre where Winnie Lightner and Joe E. Brown will be shown in "Hold Everything," the funniest musical comedy ever screened.

"Hold Everything" have everything. There is Winnie putting across her songs in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired; there is Joe with a face that is his fortune; there is a real prize-fight with Georges Carpentier and there is Georges' sweetheart, charming Sally O'Neil.

A feature most worthy of note is the dialogue of this production. It sparkles with wit and as lovers who cannot agree, Winnie and Joe put over a gag a minute which keeps the audience in the highest of spirits. Georges Carpentier proved himself to be an actor of no mean ability and in the bout which is staged he also displays his power in the ring.

"Hold Everything" has been filmed entirely in technicolor and an improved process makes each scene clear and warm. Particularly notable are the scenes of the training camp which were filmed in the famous Busch Gardens in Pasadena, California.

One of the most amusing scenes in the whole production is the fight staged between Joe E. Brown and his over-powering opponent. Joe completely sags between each round but he is hastily revived by his faithful aides and the outcome of the bout is a riot. But Brown is not unfamiliar with ringside tactics or any kind of sport in fact.

Among the other stars in "Hold Everything" are Bert Roach who is the roly-poly camp cook, Dorothy Revier in a slightly villianous role, and Edmund Breese, one of the most experienced stars in the films.

"Hold Everything" will be shown at the Palace through all next week. Don't miss the greatest comedy ever filmed.

A sure sign is one that reads, "In God we trust."

Try slo-baked bread for this ONE reason

It tastes so good!

White or Whole-Wheat, as you prefer

WE might give you a score of reasons for trying slo-baked Wonder Bread... and tell you why we spent $6,000,000 to perfect it... and why we invest $2,000,000 extra each year for superfine ingredients ...and about slo-baking...purity... high nutritive value...!

But we want you to try it for just one good reason— because we believe it's the best-tasting bread you ever served. Try it—and have your family try it—for toast, sandwiches, puddings—for every bread use.

If you have hungry children who come bounding home from school with huge demands for food, turn them loose on a loaf of Wonder Bread. It's just as easy to digest as it is good to eat.

Imagine the most delicious sandwich you can make. It will be even more delicious if the delicate Wonder Bread flavor is added to it. And no matter how dainty the sandwich, Wonder Bread will slice as thin as you wish without crumbling.

Then there's bread pudding, French toast, stuffing for fowl— but the uses of Wonder Bread, you see, are almost unlimited. To really know Wonder Bread, you must try it for one whole week. After a week we think you'll agree with us that slo-baked Wonder Bread deserves a permanent place on your table. Look for Wonder Bread at your grocer's—it's delivered to him twice a day, fresh from the ovens.

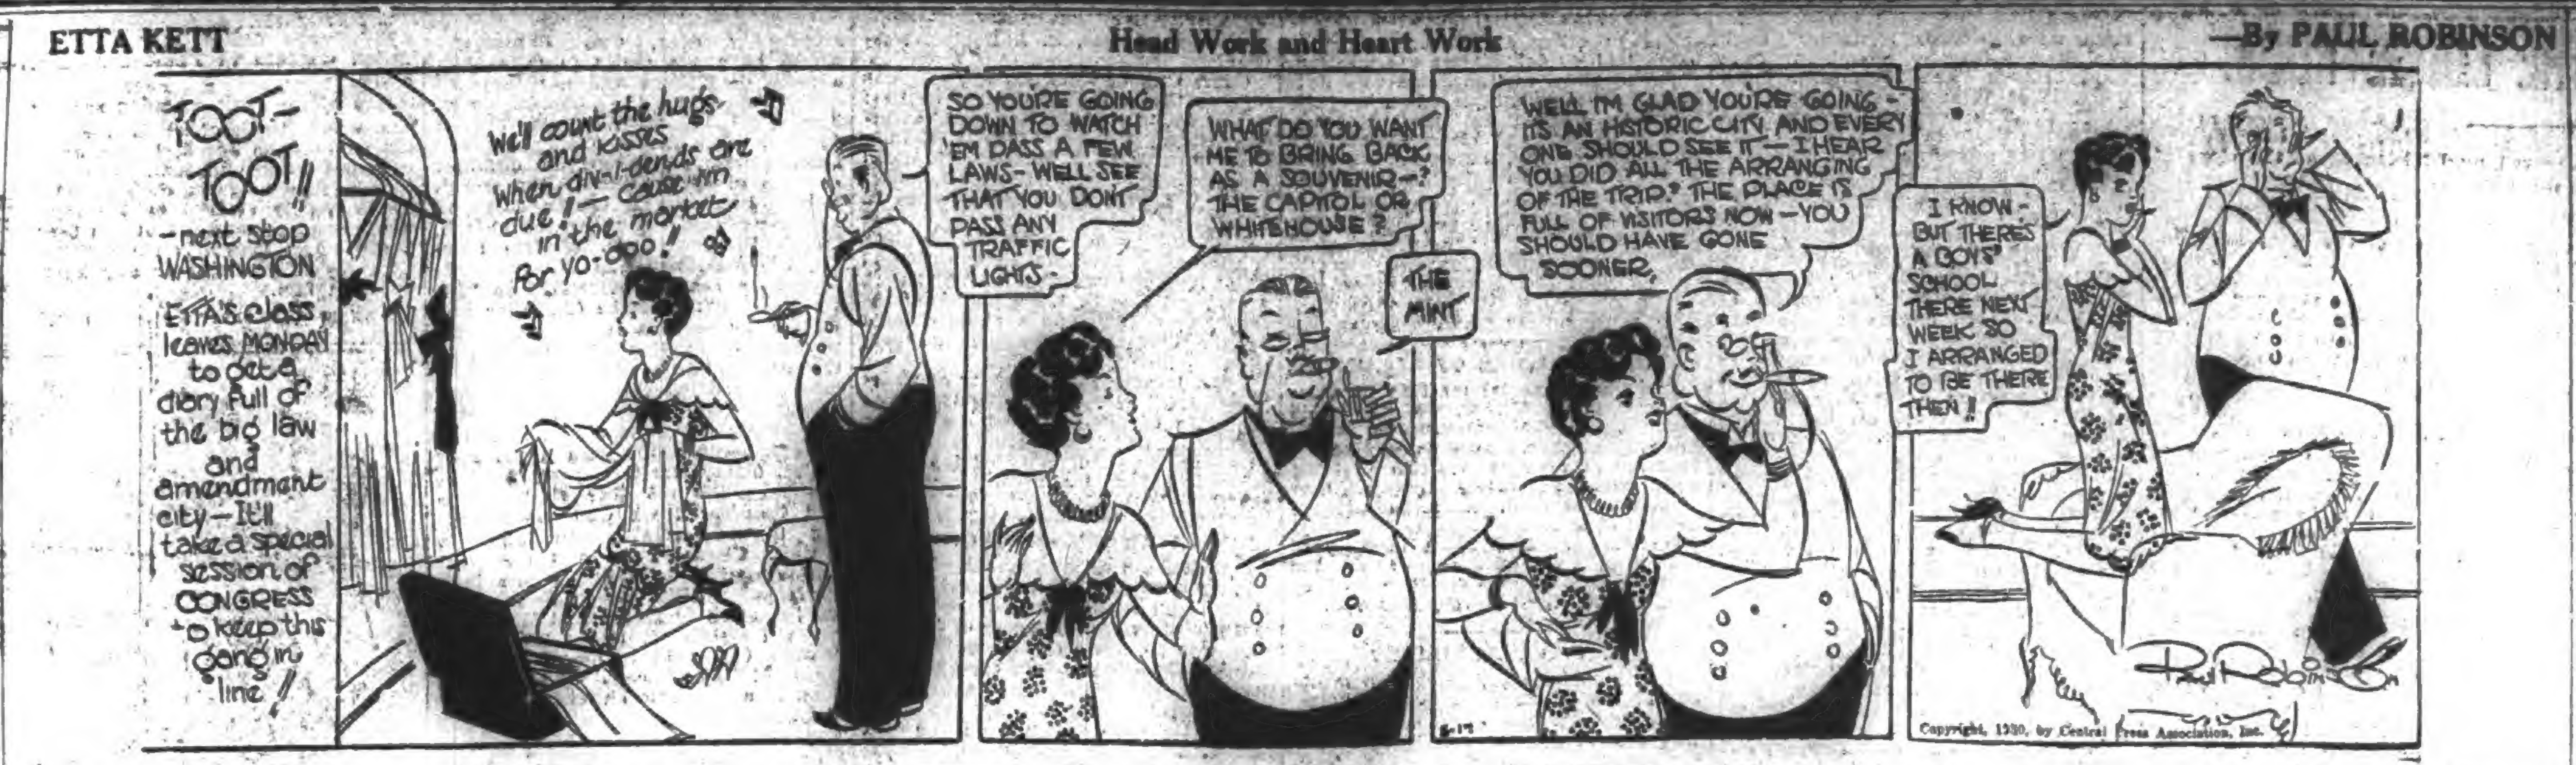
ETTA KETT

Head Work and Heart Work

—By PAUL ROBINSON



TOOT-TOOT!! —next stop WASHINGTON
ETTA'S class leaves MONDAY to get a diary full of the big law and amendment city—It'll take a special session of CONGRESS to keep this gang in line!
We'll count the hugs and kisses when div-i-dends are due!—cause I'm in the market for yo-ooo!
SO YOU'RE GOING DOWN TO WATCH 'EM PASS A FEW LAWS—WELL SEE THAT YOU DON'T PASS ANY TRAFFIC LIGHTS—
WHAT DO YOU WANT ME TO BRING BACK AS A SOUVENIR—? THE CAPITOL OR WHITEHOUSE?
THE MINT
WELL I'M GLAD YOU'RE GOING—ITS AN HISTORIC CITY AND EVERY ONE SHOULD SEE IT—I HEAR YOU DID ALL THE ARRANGING OF THE TRIP? THE PLACE IS FULL OF VISITORS NOW—YOU SHOULD HAVE GONE SOONER.
I KNOW—BUT THERE'S A BOYS' SCHOOL THERE NEXT WEEK SO I ARRANGED TO BE THERE THEN!!

MOOSUP

MORGAN PRIZE AWARDS MADE BY COMMITTEE

The committee on the awarding of the Morgan prizes for Junior Achievement work found it impossible to confine the award to three prizes. Nine pieces were selected and the amount available has been divided into nine equal prizes.

The action has been approved by the town school committee, as being the fairest solution of a difficult problem.

The amount and excellence of the work submitted far surpassed the committee's expectations and honorable mention has been made of most of the exhibitors.

First prize have been awarded as follows, the fictitious name first, the real name second:

It was found upon opening the envelopes that the pupils indicated are the prize winners.

The following pupils have received honorable mention for work submitted as indicated:

Parents' Day at M. E. Church

Parents' Day was observed May 11th in the Methodist church under the Epworth League auspices. Boutonnieres were presented each mother attending the morning service in observance of Mother's Day. Misses Marguerite Smith and Ruth Griffiths acted as a welcoming committee, while Misses Mary Loring and Lillie Howard ushered. The flowers were in charge of Misses Dorothy Salisbury, Marjorie Briggs, Elizabeth Baker and Mrs. Luman Bennett. Luman Bennett and John Gallup served as collectors.

The sermon by the pastor, Rev. A. E. Tingley, Ph. D., helped to make Parents' Day an outstanding day in many memories. A little welcome service during the morning consisted of three numbers—Parents' Welcome, Dorothea Main; Tribute to Mother, Alice Smith; song, "A Flower and a Kiss for Mother," second year intermediate girls.

The special observance of Parents' Day or Mother's Day has come to be an established part of the league work and each year the little invitation to the church service, and the little remembrance of flowers has come to mean much to parents. Mothers who were not present at the church service were remembered with flowers.

The committee in charge of arrangements was, Mrs. John B. Gallup, Mrs. Luman Bennett, Elizabeth Baker, William Baker and Janet Loring.

Baptist Church Interests

The annual meeting of the church was held Monday evening. Tuesday evening, the Ladies' Aid society served a fine supper. Roswald Corey, William and James Pratt, R. W. E. DeWolfe and Marguerite Miller provided harmonica music. After the supper Harold Burgess took the young men to the Cushing farm, Allen Hill, Brooklyn to bowl. The class organized, electing William Pratt, president; Olin Miller, treasurer and James Pratt, secretary. An athletic committee was appointed Olin Miller, Howard Roper, and Roswald Corey. Wednesday afternoon the Junior and Intermediate boys and girls met with June Playdon. The Ladies' Aid society met in the vestry during the afternoon. Thursday the primary ages met with Mr. DeWolfe in the vestry. The mid-week topic was, "Conversion." Friday evening after choir rehearsal, a choir party was full of fun for all.

NEW LONDON NURSES OFF DUTY ENTERTAIN WITH MINSTREL SHOW

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 16—A nurse from Norwich was among the entertainers this evening, when at the Lyceum theatre the Alumnae association of Lawrence-Memorial hospital gave a snappy and attractive minstrel, for the diversion of a good sized and enthusiastic audience. Members of the association who won favor included: Lillian Sawyer, nurse at Atlantic Coast Fisheries plant, Savilla Kelley, who will be graduated from the training school next year; Eloise Richter, nurse at Connecticut college, Ruth Forbes, also a member of the class of 1931; Eleanor Murphy of Charlestown, Prince Edward Isle; Carol Kane, Norwich; Hazel Austin, member of the class of 1932, and Grace B. Platt, Waterford public health nurse and president of the alumnae association.

These graduates and members of the local school for nursing had the valued assistance of three who are not alumnae of the school, but are on the hospital staff, Miss Marion Kramer, the office nurse, who is a graduate of Mt. Sinai hospital, New York; Miss Catherine O'Connell of Kalispell, Mont., the practical instructor at the hospital, who attended the University of Washington in Seattle for two years studying journalism and who later went into training at the Mercy hospital in Kalispell where she was graduated. She was surgical supervisor in Cincinnati for two years, did general duty in Pasadena, Cal., for a year and has been at the local hospital for a year. Miss Hazel Farrell, floor supervisor at the hospital, is a graduate of Grace hospital, New Haven.

Mrs. Russell Field and infant daughter, of 25 Tilley street; Miss Ethel Willows, 1 Richards street; Cornelius Leary, Jr., 47 Franklin street; Oliver Beckwith, Golden Spur, East Lyme; Mrs. Stanley Jordan, Waterbury; Tony Kokosky, 26 Sixth street, Allen Whetmore, 202 Connecticut avenue, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Motorcycle Officer Augustus Ray, who has been confined to his residence, Fitch avenue, for two weeks as a result of injuries sustained when the motorcycle he was riding was struck by an automobile, has resumed duty.

The west-bound palatial train, the Senator, Boston to Washington, made its first stop in New London yesterday. The train which is due to arrive here at 2:48 o'clock, came to a stop at the union station to permit Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon to board it. Secretary Mellon had addressed the graduating class of the Coast Guard academy.

FUNERAL

Henry W. Dahlquist

The funeral of Henry W. Dahlquist, formerly of New Haven, who died Wednesday at Odd Fellows home, Groton, was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home. Services were conducted by Rev. George R. Atha, pastor of Groton Heights Baptist church. Burial was in the home cemetery.

Charge Non-Support

Arthur Kenneth Clark, East Lyme, was presented in the East Lyme justice court this forenoon charged with non-support. He was bound over to the next term of the superior court. Clark was arrested in Hartford yesterday by State Police Officer John Smith and was locked up at local police headquarters over night.

Philip Horowitz, of Providence, was arrested in Stonington by State Police Officer Arthur Whitmarsh yesterday charged with driving without a license and driving with insufficient brakes. He posted a cash bond to insure his appearance in the Stonington town court next Tuesday.

The first circus of the season will exhibit here early in June when the 101 Ranch will show at the St. Germain lot, Broad street extension. It is understood that a second circus will exhibit here before the end of the season.

Mrs. William Searle, of Riverview avenue, has gone to Westport, where she is receiving treatment at a sanitarium.

The New Haven railroad, owner of the former C. D. Boss & Son factory site, Water street, is having the north end of the building on the ground floor converted into a garage, which will be leased.

A defective sidewalk on Union street, between Methodist and Pearl streets, has been in a dangerous condition many weeks. Today Patrolman Clarence Wells reported the existence of the danger spot at police headquarters and the matter was referred to the city's highway department.

Inviting Burglary

Patrolman George Bruhns discovered the front entrance to the Woolworth store, State street, unlocked last night, a clerk in departing having neglected to secure the store. An employe was summoned and locked up the place.

An unoccupied house on Bank street, opposite Colman street, is being entered by youths and damaged. The mischievous acts of the boys has been reported at police headquarters and the automobile patrol officer has been instructed to see to it that the boys refrain from entering the building.

Three cases of intoxication were tried in the police court this morning. One man who was before the court for the 20th time was sentenced by Judge Daniel M. Cronin to 30 days in jail. The other men, one a resident of Groton, were given suspension of judgment.

Mrs. J. G. Ely, 33 Granada terrace, charged with violation of the city's parking law, did not appear in court, so her bond of $2 was forfeited.

WEDDING

Stewart—MacArthur

Ensign John Rupert Stewart, of Dayton, Ohio, a member of the class of the United States Coast Guard graduated yesterday, and Miss Christina M. MacArthur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacArthur, 31 Hempstead street, were married yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at Groton Congregational church in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Henry W. Hulbert, pastor of the church, assisted by E. Wallace Archer, of Yale Divinity school. Ensign George A. Knudsen, of Baltimore, was best man. Miss Helen MacArthur, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and the other attendants were Miss Helen McWalters, Hartford; Miss Mary Rafferty, Mrs. John MacArthur and Mrs. Charles W. Harvey. The ushers were Ensigns Edmund E. Fahey, Binghamton, N. Y.; John F. Harding, Richmond, Ind.; Clifford R. McLean, Saulte Ste. Marie, Mich.; William Q. Maloney, Waterloo, N. Y.; Kenneth E. Phillips, Glenbrook, Conn., and Russell J. Roberts, classmates of Ensign Stewart. Upon the conclusion of a wedding trip, Ensign and Mrs. Stewart will reside in New London. Mrs. Stewart was formerly employed as assistant to Treasurer Edward M. Huntley, of the Winthrop Trust company.

OBITUARY

Henry Treadway

Henry Treadway, 83, a former resident of Groton, died yesterday at the Soldiers' National Home, Togus, Mass., where he had been a resident for several years.

Assistant Assessor John M. Mallon, of Brooks street, has been operated on at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, the operation being an abdominal one. It is Mr. Mallon's second operation within two months.

Inspected Academy Site

During his stay of five hours in New London yesterday, coming here to attend the graduating exercises of the Coast Guard academy, Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon inspected the site for the new academy, off Mohegan avenue; also Section Base No. 4, state pier and destroyer force headquarters. Secretary Mellon was accompanied on the tour of inspection by Admiral Frederick C. Billard, commandant of the service, with headquarters in Washington, and Capt. H. G. Hamlet, superintendent of the academy. Admiral Billard will not leave for Washington before Monday, remaining here over the week-end for the purpose of discussing several urgent matters with Captain Hamlet, principal among which is the contemplated cruise of the cadets later in the summer.

Caramel Fudge and Vanilla

OPINIONS DIFFER. People have different ideas and varying tastes, too. It's indeed rare that all tastes agree on two flavors—companions in the same dish! But there's no doubt about Caramel Fudge and Vanilla; they've understood each other for years—one has helped the other to universal popularity.

So we've divided the same pint package of Ice Cream between them. Half and half—it wouldn't do to play favorites, because they're both favorites! Vanilla is so mellow. It soothes and lingers. And chocolate, made into a caramel fudge, so completely satisfies the desire for something rich that you'll have no other "craving" for hours to come!

STATE OFFICER WININGER RESIGNS FROM THE FORCE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 16.—State Police Officer Frederick Wininger tendered his resignation last night and it is believed that the resignation will be accepted by Superintendent Robert Hurley within a few days. No reason was given by Wininger for resigning his post, but from friends it was intimated that the officer intended to devote his time and energy to civil life. Wininger is one of the late appointees to the state police force. He is a resident of Norwich and, after his appointment, he received training at the Ridgefield barracks. Later he was transferred to headquarters barracks at Hartford and about three months ago was transferred to Groton barracks.

In the police court this morning, the continued case of Edward Murray, of Hartford, charged with speeding was nolled. Murray was arrested on Broad street two weeks ago by Sergeant John Courtney and Automobile Patrol Officer Clarence Martin. Murray explained his fast driving as being due to the fact that he was hurrying to the union station to meet friends.

HEEDLESS DRIVERS IGNORE PARKING REGULATIONS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, May 16.—In the police court tomorrow, several automobile drivers will have cases against them for failure to adhere to the rulings governing the parking of cars. Included among these drivers are James Risposetti, 52 State street; Maurice G. Rolfe, 159 Howard street; Thomas Agar, submarine base and Anna Jaczinski, 229 Colman street. The last named, besides parking overtime, is guilty of blocking traffic. Each of the drivers was required to post a bond for appearance in the police court tomorrow morning.

Eugenie Vescevi, 284 Willetts avenue, was arrested tonight by Patrolman Dennis Murphy, charged with parking overtime on Potter street and will be in court tomorrow.

Jack Fitzgerald, 19 Lenox street, and Salvatore Impellitri, 123 Willetts avenue, reported to the police tonight that their bicycles had been stolen while the owners were at Chapman Technical high school. The police are of the opinion that other students stole the wheels.

Over 100 attended the annual bowling banquet of the Elks held at the Washington street clubhouse last night. A vote of thanks to the sports committee, headed by Frank Saunders, which had charge of the bowling league, was unanimously adopted at the dinner.

GREENEVILLE

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR MISS MABEL McGEE

A surprise party was held Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Antone McGee, on Boswell avenue, in honor of their daughter, Miss Mabel McGee, on her 18th birthday, with 20 of her friends present. During the evening many games were played and enjoyed. Dancing was enjoyed with music furnished by the radio. Miss McGee was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother. The party broke up at a late hour with all present wishing Miss McGee many more pleasant and happy birthdays.

Mr. and Mrs. William Banfield, of Fourteenth street, are spending the week-end as guests of relatives at Boston and Providence.

The Ladies' guild of St. Andrew's church met Thursday afternoon in the guild room of the church. Regular business was transacted. Reports were read and accepted. The supper committee made a very gratifying report, financially, on the supper which was held this past week.

The Fourth Street Sluggers defeated the Boswell Avenue Owls Thursday afternoon on the Shetucket campus by the score of 14 to 8. The features of the game were the heavy hitting of Edward Fuller and the fast fielding of William Krause. The lineup for the winners was: Sammy Rapport c, William Martnicki p, Edward Fuller 1b, Eddie Humphrey 2b, William Krause 3b, John Enright ss, William Daley lf, Louis Metiviere cf, Harold Mosstick rf.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith have returned to their home at Holyoke, after spending a few days with relatives in Greeneville.

Mrs. Elizabeth McCormick, Miss Molly and Daniel McCormick, of Prospect street, have been spending the past week in Yonkers and Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., and Washington, D. C.

The Greeneville N. M. Sewing circle met with Mrs. Harry Richmond, on Boswell avenue, Friday. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Harold Wickham and Mrs. Alvin Barrows. The dining room was prettily decorated in red and white. The circle will be entertained next Friday evening at the home of Mrs. William Day, on Boswell avenue.

Last Sunday, memorial flowers were placed on the altar at St. Andrew's Episcopal church by Mrs. R. Donahue, of Central avenue, in remembrance of her mother, Mrs. H. Smith.

To Attend Memorial Service

The members of Sachem chapter, No. 57, O. E. S., are to attend the memorial services at St. Andrew's church on Sunday, May 25, at 10:30 a. m.

Miss Catherine Bergon, of Fifth street, is spending the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Bergon, at Waterbury.

HINCKLEY STREET BARN STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Hit by a bolt of lightning about 2:15 o'clock Friday afternoon a barn on Hinckley street, owned by Andrew Wolinski, was destroyed by fire. A quantity of hay stored in the barn was consumed by the flames. A telephone call to the fire department called out Squad A and Acting Chief Dennis J. Brennan. The fire was extinguished by 31 gallons of chemical.

This city had two sudden thunderstorms of the summer variety, which came about an hour apart Friday afternoon, with a space of sunshine in between. In the second storm the rain came down in torrents, accompanied by hailstones of good size that sprinkled the tops of automobiles with a coat of white.

WILLIMANTIC INVITES SURROUNDING TOWNS TO COMMUNITY REUNION WEEK

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 16.— Invitations to 16 towns surrounding Willimantic will be sent out within a few days by the community reunion week committee for the residents of these towns to attend and participate in the local celebration which begins Sunday, June 15. The letters which will be sent by Secretary John J. O-Rourke of the chamber of commerce who is also secretary of the reunion, will be addressed to the first selectmen of the various towns and will include the tentative programme. Among the towns to receive the invitations will be Chaplin, Hampton, Mansfield, Ashford, Willington, Andover, Columbia, Hebron, Lebanon, Colchester, Coventry, Franklin, Scotland, Phoenixville and Eastford.

At a meeting of the representatives of various organizations on Community week held tonight the reunion badges, bearing the spool of thread emblem of the city of Willimantic, and the frog, seal of the town of Windham, were inspected and a large number were taken up by the representatives to be disposed of within the organizations. Several additional reports of floats to be entered in the parade were received and announcement was made that over 1,000 invitations to former residents, pupils and teachers had already been sent out throughout the country, calling them back for the big event.

Practically all of the leading industries in the city have already signified their intention of entering into an elaborate industrial exhibit which will last for three afternoons and evenings at Elks park where various rides and other attractions will be featured. It is expected to have dancing in the park pavilion.

The programme begins on Sunday, June 15, with special morning services at the churches. In the afternoon there will be the flag day observance under the auspices of Willimantic lodge of Elks, when a new flagpole will be dedicated at the Elks' home with impressive exercises. Sunday evening there will be a public mass meeting with the subject, The Home and The Church. Among the representative speakers at this session, which will be held in the state armory, will be Rev. Ashley Day Leavitt, of Brookline, Mass., former pastor of the First Congregational church of this city, and Rabbi Silverman of Hartford. Another noted speaker will also be secured for this occasion and representatives of all the local churches will be seated on the platform.

The musical programme will include community chorus singing and Negro spirituals. Monday will be registration day with the visitors to register at the chamber of commerce where information on group meetings will be given. Tuesday will be devoted to group reunions in homes, churches and schools and fraternity rooms. Automobiles will be available to visit places of interest in and about the city.

There will also be sports in the afternoon and grammar school graduations in the evening. Special arrangements for an entertainment for the women visitors are being made for that afternoon.

Wednesday will be civic day with a gigantic afternoon parade and an address by some nationally known speaker. Special themes of the day will be education and civic government. In the evening the community reunion will be held at the state armory in conjunction with the annual Windham high school reception. Group acquaintances will be renewed in the various boxes designated by years. Thursday will be the Windham high school and Willimantic state normal school graduations. The reunions and rallying around former teachers will be held Friday with general headquarters at the high school. In the evening will be the Windham high school reception and old-school banquet at the Nathan Hale hotel. As a special feature the old Natchaugers will pass the torch of the high school spirit to the beedites and bid them carry on. Then will come au revoir until 1940.

Facilities at the golf club will be available during the week.

WOMEN'S FEDERATION SOCIAL FOR PARK CHURCH MEN

The May meeting of the Women's Federation of Park Congregational church took the form of a social Friday evening in compliment to the men of the church.

An orchestra under the direction of Raymond B. Sherman entertained at intervals with lively and familiar airs, its members being Mr. Sherman, drums; Ebenezer Learned, banjo; Bruce Rogers, saxaphone; Tyler Gilbert, violin; L. B. Sampson, piano. A double trio composed of Mrs. James A. Bidwell, directing, Mrs. George L. Ingalls, Mrs. Charles E. Schwenk, Mrs. Harrison Gray and Miss Alice Sayles, rendered the following charming songs: The Snow, by St. Saens; Song of Summer, by L. V. Saar, and Lullaby, by Brahms, with a duet, On the Moonlit Stream (Giebel), by Mrs. Bidwell and Mrs. Schwenk. Miss Annie L. Taft was at the piano for the accompaniments.

A quartette composed of J. Todd Hynd, Wm. A. Lund, Arthur R. Blackledge and James Lockhart, gave great pleasure by singing the familiar tunes, Little Cotton Dolly and Close Harmony.

The members of the program committee received during the evening. Delicious ice cream and cake were served by them, assisted by Miss Esther Evans, Misses Laura and Alice Blake, Miss Marion Wightman, Miss Muriel Hynd, Miss Ruth Dieschsler and Miss Elizabeth Shipherd.

The whole entertainment was arranged by Mrs. John F. Rogers, chairman of the program committee and gave great pleasure to a large audience.

SUES FOR DAMAGE DONE TO AUTOMOBILE

Suit for $1,000 damages has been brought in the common pleas court against Massie B. Miller by Frank J. Mitchell, both of this city, because of an automobile accident last Tuesday night on West Thames street, when machines of plaintiff and defendant were in collision. The plaintiff claims that the damage to his machine consisted of right side and left side completely dented in, car knocked out of line and body sprung, rear end and shaft wrecked and whole rear of the car completely demolished.

WOMAN IS PLAINTIFF IN AUTO CRASH SUIT

Flora Gilchrist of this city, who was riding in an automobile driven by Edward Gilchrist, when there was a collision on March 6 at the corner of Broadway and Washington street, with a car driven by George Milton Geer, son of Adelbert S. Geer, has brought suit against the last named as owner for $10,000 damages. The suit is brought in the superior court and is for personal injuries suffered by Mrs. Gilchrist.

MISS McCLENATHAN DOING FINE WORK IN CALIFORNIA

Miss Ruth H. McClenathan, principal of Brooklyn school, San Diego, Cal. and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. McClenathan of Norwich, is very active in work for the Parent-Teacher association in San Diego and the state. Recently she was a delegate to the state educational convention at Riverside, Cal.; also aided when a course of study was arranged for the schools of the state. The course which she arranged was accepted, with four others, out of 12,000 courses submitted.

Even more noteworthy is the fact that a course of study in languages for elementary schools, prepared by Miss McClenathan, has been adopted by Columbia university as standard.

Holding Everything

The Joe Brown figure swinging from a trapeze over Rose place in front of the Palace theatre is holding everything, a fashionably dressed model in the theatre lobby with whose flimsy skirts the wind plays tricks is doing the same, and the "Leaping Lena" that cavorts around the streets has its crew holding everything. All three are novel reminders arranged by Manager R. B. Hamilton for the "Hold Everything" picture which he is running at the theatre.

TEXTILES AND MINIATURE FOREIGN SCENES SHOWN

Two new exhibitions have been arranged in Slater Memorial museum and will be shown on Sunday from 2 until 4. The first of these is hung in the annex of Slater hall. It is a collection of textiles assembled from gifts that have been made to the museum during the winter. It includes old prints and chintz, brocades and damasks, peasant embroidery and weavings and is very colorful. The second exhibit is a series of scenes from foreign lands done in miniature. Dolls in costumes and foreign toys are arranged against a painted background. The tableau most effectively suggests the country illustrated. Children and their parents will enjoy these little sets. Both exhibits will remain during the exhibition of the work of the Norwich Art school which opens next week.

Sixth Birthday Party

On Friday afternoon, Mrs. Edward Moumblow, of 31 Cliff street, entertained several little schoolmates of her son William in honor of his sixth birthday. On the dining room table was a large birthday cake with six candles, the color scheme being pink and white. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Miss Doris Brown. The children received May basket favors and little William received many pretty gifts. Those present were Catherine O'Sullivan, Mary Moumblow, Margaret Serra, Goldie Moumblow, Ethel and Doris Brown, Florence, Jack Kane, Ubald Tellier, Thomas Shea, John Analopus, William Brown and William Moumblow.

BEGINS NEW MAIL SERVICE, NEW LONDON TO PUTNAM

The new contract for transporting the mails between New London and Putnam started Friday and is run by Adam Rojeske of Jewett City, who has furnished two new trucks, painted on the sides in gilt letters, U. S. Mail.

The morning mail is to leave New London at 4.45 a. m. daily and the places to be supplied by the double truck service will include Gales Ferry, Norwich, Jewett City, Plainfield, Central Village, Wauregan, Danielson, Killingly and Putnam.

The truck that supplies the Norwich post office makes a stop at Gales Ferry and on the first trip Friday was at the Norwich office before scheduled time. This truck then goes on to Jewett City, arriving there about 7 a. m. It leaves Jewett City on the return trip at 7 p. m. and Norwich at 8 p. m.

The second truck makes no delivery between New London and Plainfield on the first trip up, but stops at Norwich to pick up morning papers for points up the road. This truck makes two round trips New London to Putnam each day, and will carry parcel post on all trips. This is an advantage as under the old contract parcel post was carried only on the early morning and late night trips. This improved service will be appreciated by Norwich citizens, the local postal authorities believe.

NOVA SCOTIA LISTENER HEARD NORWICH BROADCAST

Listening in at Halifax, Nova Scotia, last Friday night, a resident there heard the Norwich broadcast and wrote the following letter to Station WTIC, at Hartford.

284 Rolse Street,
Halifax, Nova Scotia
May 9, 1930

The Director,
Station WTIC,
Hartford, Conn.;

Dear Sir:

Having just heard the splendid programme sent out by the Norwich, Conn., chamber of commerce, I wish to advise that it came through clearly and gave a great deal of pleasure. It was particularly enjoyed by my aunt, Mrs. K. Whiteley, of Norwich, who is at present visiting us, and was delighted to hear from home.

Thanking you for this and many fine programs which we can usually tune in when many other stations cannot be heard, I am,

Yours very truly,
(Miss) R. E. HORTON

Backus Hospital Dismissals

Patients dismissed at the W. W. Backus hospital Friday were the following:

Edward Dorcek, Sterling; Mrs Thomas Fish and infant daughter Mystic; Mrs. Martial Russi, 8 Hunters avenue, Taftville; Robert Crouch, R. F. D. No. 1 Ledyard; Richard Blackburn, 57 Freeman avenue.

Mrs. J. W. Bowne Recovers

Many friends are pleased to learn that Mrs. John W. Bowne, who has been ill for several weeks, is convalescing. She is now visiting at the home of her aunts, the Misses Kirby, in Plainfield, Conn.

NORWICH BOYS REGISTERING FOR VACATION AT Y. M. C. A. STATE CAMP

Camp Hazen, at Cedar lake, located at Chester, which is the boys' camp of the Connecticut State Y. M. C. A., is opening its eleventh season on July 5.

Among the Norwich boys who have already sent in their applications are: Theodore Kennedy, Russell McNeely, Robert Tongren, Robert Bartlett, Lester MacGregory and Elwood Fowler.

Already over half of the reservations have been taken, so that only 100 more boys can be accommodated at each period. Anyone expecting to go to camp this summer is advised by the local Y. M. C. A. to attend to their reservations soon. Any parents interested in Camp Hazen, can secure more information by communicating with Emery H. Davis, local boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

The camp site includes 60 acres of farm and wood land, a wooded hill several feet above the lake level, and plenty of spaces for campus, playgrounds, and gardens. The camp has a lake frontage of one quarter of a mile and the water is clear, cool and clean. To develop in boys a virile Christian character, and to inspire and train them in Christian service, are the main objectives of Camp Hazen. By means of a co-ordinated four-square program the campers are kept busy in physical, education, religious, and social activities.

The camp director, F. A. Stanley, the state boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has had 27 years' experience as a boys' camp leader and camp director, including five years at Camp Becket, and nine years at Camp Jewell the boys' camp of the Hartford Y. M. C. A. R. William Cheney, Springfield '33, begins his second year as assistant camp director. Mr. Cheney has had several years' experience in Y. M. C. A. boys' camps.

The department directors are chosen from boys, and county work secretaries, physical directors and other employed officers of the Y. M. C. A. and other experienced workers with boys. The tent leaders are mostly mature college men, employed under salary for the full camp season.

Twenty-five 14x16 tent houses with board roof and floors, and canvas sides supply sleeping quarters, well ventilated and dry even in the stormiest weather. The campers sleep on canvas cots, eight boys and one leader in each tent house. The dining hall, 40x80 is ideal not only as a place in which to feed a large group of hungry boys but as a center for social events, when it is not practical to hold such events out of doors.

Care is taken to provide a varied and well-balanced menu, food elements being included in the right proportion for proper nourishment. The table is supplied with fresh vegetables from the camp garden and neighboring farms. Only high grade fresh fruits and meats are served. The drinking water is supplied from an artesian well, 100 feet deep. The food is prepared by experienced cooks in a well-equipped kitchen.

Campers enter the water only at regular, prescribed times, when the director of swimming and life savers are on duty. A boy must be able to swim a reasonable specified distance before he is allowed to use a boat. Only boys who take the lake test are allowed to enter canoes. All of the regular out of doors athletics are conducted on a large scale including every camper.

Any boy between the ages of 11 and 18 may go to Camp Hazen. Camp opens on Saturday, July 5 and closes on Aug. 30, and the season is divided into four two-week periods. Boys should arrive at camp on the morning that their period opens and leave before noon on the day of closing of the period.

A 16-page booklet may be secured by calling at the local Y. M. C. A.

transported overland to Lebanon. From there, they were distributed throughout New England. Naturally, there was a lot of manufacturing done in Lebanon, linen, woolen, and cotton cloth, leather, boots and shoes, saddles and harnesses, axes, hoes, scythes, even made pianos there. And coffins, chairs, tables, or what have you?

SCHOOLMASTER: I'll make it a point to visit the town. Is there anything worth seeing.

DOCTOR: Well, five governors of Connecticut have come out of that little town, and you can see the birthplace of four of them. The one big sight, which every American should see, is the War Office. That was Governor Trumbull's old store. More than 1200 meetings were held there before and during the Revolution. You hear a lot of Faneuil Hall and Independence Hall, but the War Office deserves more attention as a close third in importance.

SCHOOLMASTER: I'll say so, too!

DOCTOR: George Washington visited the War Office, Count Rochambeau, the Generals Sullivan, Knox, Putnam, Parsons and Spencer. Samuel Adams came often, and John Adams, John Jay, also Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin. You can see the old French bake oven, where bread was baked for the French soldiers who camped on the commons in 1780-81. Yes, sir, professor, don't miss Lebanon.

SCHOOLMASTER: Do you ever stand in those old shrines alone, doctor, and try to people them with your imagination? By force of mind bring to life my lady and lord of colonial days? The rustle of silk, the powdered wigs, a roaring fire on the hearth, candle-light, the rumbling of the coach outside, their laughter, and the music to which they loved to dance?

DOCTOR: I see you're a dreamer, too, professor. If a man can't live in his imagination, what's the sense in reading history?

SCHOOLMASTER: I understand the channel in the Thames river is being deepened to 18 feet. Is there to be another bank in town?

DOCTOR: What has the Thames river got to do with another bank in town?

SCHOOLMASTER: It seems to be one of your customs in Norwich. I was talking with a man in the Uncas Merchants National bank. He had an interesting story. It seems the Merchants bank was organized in 1833, the year Andrew Jackson saw your circular parade.

DOCTOR: I don't see the connection yet with the Thames river.

SCHOOLMASTER: You will, in a moment. Before the state would grant a charter to the new bank, a contribution of $30,000 was asked for, to aid in the clearing and deepening of the River Thames.

DOCTOR: Oh, they had to dig down?

SCHOOLMASTER: Yes, and they dug. The new bank began business in the west room of Kinney's hotel, in 1833. The first year was hardly up before the directors got into a squabble over the matter of paying rent. New fangled ideas were creeping into commercial life.

DOCTOR: And what were they? I always looked upon bankers as very conversative.

SCHOOLMASTER: Their landlord wanted his rent by the month, instead of by the age-old custom of once a year. The early records of the bank show some red-hot sessions of the board over the matter of monthly rent. In the end, the landlord won over the board and $6.67 was paid on the first of each month, instead of $80 on the first of the year.

DOCTOR: If I'm not mistaken, Francis A. Perkins was the first president of the bank, and Joseph Williams the first cashier.

SCHOOLMASTER: Nineteen years later, another bank, the Uncas bank, was organized as a state institution. James A. Hovey was the first president and E. H. Learned the cashier.

DOCTOR: Did they have to deepen the Thames, too, or was it already deep enough?

SCHOOLMASTER: In 1852, when the Uncas bank was organized, nobody thought much about rivers. There was one question in the public eye. When that was settled, in 1865, both banks joined the national system. In 1928, both banks merged and became the Uncas-Merchants National bank.

DOCTOR: Making big ones out of little ones.

SCHOOLMASTER: A move in the right direction. We need fewer banks, and larger and better ones. The Uncas-Merchants National bank is the only national bank in this vicinity, and the only member of the federal reserve system.

DOCTOR: Quite right, professor. We'll find other ways of deepening the Thames river. Let the banks merge and pay rent by the month.

SCHOOLMASTER: But there's one thing, doctor, you can't point out any Revolutionary battlefields near Norwich.

DOCTOR: No, Norwich fared very well in that respect. At no time during the war were the people alarmed in that manner, except when Benedict Arnold appeared off New London. But few battles of the Revolution were fought without Norwich men in the line. Back home, there was much we could do in another way.

SCHOOLMASTER: Manufacturing, I presume.

DOCTOR: Well, cannons, for one thing. You didn't know we had an arsenal here, did you? The first iron works were established by Elijah Backus, on the Yantic river, in 1750. He turned out anchors, some of them weighing 1200 pounds each. And he made cannons for the army.

SCHOOLMASTER: Oh, yes, I forgot about the Backus Iron Works.

DOCTOR: William Lax used to make gun-carriages. And then we had a man here, Samuel Noyes, he made and repaired guns for the light infantry. Captain Ephriam Bill, of Norwich was the state marine-agent. Captain Jabez Perkins was contractor and dispenser of public stores. And the town was sort of prison camp for Tories.

SCHOOLMASTER: Norwich must have made an ideal prison camp.

DOCTOR: Most of them were distributed among private families. They had a pretty easy time of it. Washington came through the town several times. For that matter, Washington came to Norwich once and met Governor Trumbull at Colonel Jedidiah Huntington's. Had dinner there. Lafayette was here, several times, once with an army of 2,000 men. They camped for one night on the Plains.

SCHOOLMASTER: Those graves of French soldiers.

DOCTOR: No, they're from another time. Detachments from the Continental army were passing through Norwich continually. Along in 1778, a body of French troops came through and camped in the town for ten or fifteen days. They were bound toward the south, and had to stop here on account of sickness among the men.

SCHOOLMASTER: Any other notables?

DOCTOR: Pulaski, the Pole, he came to Norwich, and Baron Steuben, the drillmaster of the Revolution. And there was a time when Duke de Lauzun's hussars were at Lebanon. Colonel Huntington invited him and his officers to Norwich.

SCHOOLMASTER: Until you mentioned it, I never knew hussars fought in the Revolution.

DOCTOR: But the time of times, I guess, was nearly fifty years later, when the aged La Fayette came to Norwich for his last visit, I believe it was in 1824. Old people right here in town crowded around him, embraced him like a long-lost son, some of the women cried of course. And old LaFayette himself had a tear or two. It must have been impressive, from what I read of it, great day, professor. Flags, banners, streets thronged with people, the bands playing.

SCHOOLMASTER: You have your history down very fine, doctor. Before we go in, let me ask you one question. Did you ever hear of Thomas Sterry Hunt?

DOCTOR: I might have, but the name has slipped my memory.

SCHOOLMASTER: He was born in Norwich in 1826. He was professor of chemistry at McGill university, professor of geology at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was presented with the cross of the Legion of Honor in Paris, in 1855, I believe. Never heard of him?

DOCTOR: That's strange! Did he ever do anything in which I would be interested?

SCHOOLMASTER: Yes, he invented the first permanent green ink for printing greenbacks! Laugh that off!

ANNOUNCER: The program just concluded, ladies and gentlemen, was the regular weekly half-hour of the Merchants Bureau, Chamber of Commerce, Norwich, Conn., the "Rose of New England." If you are planning a motor tour through Connecticut, the Chamber of Commerce, of Norwich, wishes to remind you again that no trip through our state is complete without a visit to the "Rose of New England." If you can, arrange to stop over at Norwich for several days, making it your headquarters for side-trips to the surrounding towns. See Lebanon, which the old Doctor mentioned this evening, ramble along the shores of the Yantic and the Shetucket rivers, go out to Jewett City, you'll find scenery here unequalled in any other part of the country.

As a finishing touch, tour down the Thames river to New London, taking in the small towns on the way. All of this southeast corner of Connecticut has a background of history and tradition extending back to Indian legends. This invitation is extended to all, and most especially those who are descended from Connecticut stock.

Next week, at the same time, the old Doctor and his friends, the old Schoolmaster, will be on the air again, and they now bid you "good-night."

Does Hot Weather Make You Feel Tired and Lazy?

Then Let Bon-Tone's Herbs Give You The Pep And Vitality That You Need

Mr. Atanasio Reate, of 28 North Bank street, New London, well known chef at Lou's Lunch, 33 Atlantic street, New London, states:

"My stomach became very much upset about a year ago, and soon I was troubled constantly with indigestion. Gas pains in the pit of my stomach choked me up, and sometimes these gas pains would go clear around into my back. At times I'd get dizzy, and headaches troubled me quite a lot. Sour tastes in my mouth were very unpleasant, and disgusting, too, and my bowels gave me some trouble, as they were not at all regular. I tried dieting in the hope of getting rid of my troubles, but it didn't do me a bit of good—I needed something to remove the cause of my disorders.

"One day I read of what wonderful results Bon-Tone is getting for unwell folks here, and all over the country; so I went to Starr Bros. and got some. That was only a few weeks ago, and today I feel like a different man. My stomach has been cleansed of those poisonous trouble makers, and my bowels are now as regular as clockwork. With these two wonderful changes the dizzy spells, backaches, headaches, and sour tastes have all disappeared—simply because the cause was removed by Bon-Tone. These statements concerning Bon-Tone sometimes seem too good to be true, but I've found out for myself, so I'm passing the good news along to you. You can't go wrong on Bon-Tone!"

MR. BUTLER
Bon-Tone Representative

Call on Mr. Butler today!
He will tell you how Bon-Tone has helped thousands back to health.

The Bon-Tone man is at Smith's Pharmacy, Norwich, Conn., and will gladly explain the merits of Bon-Tone.

GRAF ZEPPELIN IS ALOFT ON AN 18,000 MILE AIR CRUISE

Started Sunday At 11.18 A. M., E. S. T.—It Is Expected the German Dirigible Will Arrive At Seville, Spain, This Evening—Will Take Off Tuesday For Brazil—Schedule On Return From Rio Janerio Calls For Flight Along the South American Coast, Across the Caribbean Sea to Havana—From Havana the Graf Will Come to Lakehurst, N. J., Preparatory to Return Trans-Atlantic Flight —There Are 64 Persons Aboard.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, May 18. — (AP)— Under a glowering murky sky the Graf Zeppelin, giant German dirigible, sailed from here late this afternoon on an 18,000-mile cruise which will take it twice across the Atlantic, and, for the first time, south of the equator.

The ground crew, releasing the big craft at 5:18 p. m. (11:18 a. m. E. S. T.), started it on its way on the first lap of its flight, to Seville, Spain, where it expects to arrive Monday evening between 5:00 and 6:00 p. m. It will moor there for the night and take off Tuesday morning on the 5,000-mile trip to Pernambuco and Rio Janeiro, Brazil.

There were 64 persons aboard, 22 passengers, and 42 officers and crew. Dr. Hugo Eckener, who has piloted the craft on all of its major cruises save one, was in command. Of the passengers four were Americans and four were women. Six of the passengers are booked as far as Seville only, others to be taken aboard there will complete the passenger complement to South America.

Dr. Eckener announced that as far as he could determine the course would be by way of Neuchatel, in the Swiss Juras, and thereafter, depending on the weather, by way of Geneva or Pontarlier, although he said that beyond that he could not prognosticate. It was understood the craft probably would head down the Rhode valley toward Marseilles, and would follow the Mediterranean coast toward Gibraltar and Seville.

The start was delayed somewhat when Dr. Eckener found that atmospheric conditions had made the craft too heavy. He ordered half a ton of weight taken off, half of it in oil and half in water ballast. The auxiliary engine, upon which the gyroscope compass and radio are dependent, then had to be coiled with compressed air, since it had been tuned up two hours before the start and was in danger of over-heating.

Lady Grace Drummond-Hay was the first of the passengers to arrive at the hangar, she carried some evening dresses on hangers underneath her arm, and went immediately to her stateroom. Others arrived thereafter and stood about as the band played for the crowd of well-wishers who had gathered for the take-off. Frau Eckener, smiling, presented her husband with two red carnations which she said would bring him luck.

The Graf was not removed from its hangar until a few minutes after 5 p. m., but within seven minutes it was headed southwest on its trip to Seville. As it rose the crowd roared its bon voyage, the band played Deutschland Uber Alles, and the ship's propellors kicked up a snowstorm of dandelion fuzz from the ground.

Although weather reports for the start of the trip, once Lake Constance was crossed were favorable, here the sky was hazy and cloud covered, with a threat of rain. There was little wind.

Besides passengers and crew the Graf Zeppelin carried with it todav six tons of gasoline, 2,000 kilograms of oil, 75,000 cubic meters of hydrogen gas, 25,000 cubic meters of Blau gas for fuel, and nearly two tons of water ballast, the amount of which is to be greatly increased at Seville. These supplies were reckoned as being sufficient for 120 hours flying.

The ship also carried 25 tons useful load, including 1,260 pounds of letters and postcards, provisions weighing almost 2,000 pounds, including 120 bottles of wine, 6,000 eggs. and 200 pounds of special Zeppelin bread, and 1,500 pounds of ice.

The present trip of the Graf Zeppelin should approximate 18,000 miles just 1,000 miles less than its most ambitious venture thus far, the trip last year around the world, which covered about 19,000 miles.

From Seville the Graf will fly by way of the Canary Islands to Pernambuco, Brazil, and head down the South American coast, an additional 1,260 miles to Rio Janeiro where a brief stop will be made. About four or five days is expected for this state of the journey.

Leaving Rio Janeiro it will turn back up along the South American coast and across the Caribbean sea to Havana, where another stop will be made. From Havana it will go to Lakehurst, New Jersey, preparatory to the take off on the return trans-Atlantic journey, which will be its seventh crossing between Europe and the Americas. About four or five days are expected to be consumed between Rio Janeiro and Lakehurst.

Not since the Graf Zeppelin first began its longer cruises has there been a take-off accompanied with less ado than today.

For the first time there were no special trains bringing spectators to the field. The departure seemed to attract almost no attention at all hereabout, the Graf and its trips being accepted now as if she were an ocean liner.

PROGRESS MADE BY THE GRAF ZEPPELIN

LYONS, France, May 18.—(AP)— The Graf Zeppelin, making for the Mediterranean on her way to Seville, passed over this city at 11:15 p. m. (5:15 p. m. E. S. T.) and headed down the Rhone valley. She was flying at an altitude of 1800 feet and traveling rapidly.

VALENCE, France, May 18. —(AP)— The Graf Zeppelin, speeding down the Rhone valley to the Mediterranean, passed over this city at 11:55 p. m. (5:55 p. m. E. S. T.) today. She was flying rapidly at a height of about 1,000 feet.

EXTORTIONIST SUSPECTS ARRESTED IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, May 18.—(AP) —Ten extortionists suspects, accused of levying tribute from North Side business men, were arrested today by a police detail from the state's attorney's office after they had trapped a man in the act of lighting a bomb in a coffee shop doorway.

The capture of William Ortin, alleged ex-convict, as he stopped to touch off the fuse, probably prevented injury to a score of persons who danced in a night club adjoining the building where the explosive was planted.

After a four-hour vigil behind the headquarters of the organization. Chief Investigator Patrick Roche and three operatives saw Ortin emerge from the dark basement carrying a package under his arm. They trailed him to the coffee shop in the same block. As he placed an iron pipe containing three sticks of dynamite on the threshold and bent to apply the end of his lighted cigar to the fuse, the officers fired into the air.

Ortin drew a pistol and returned fire blindly as he dashed down the alley but was overpowered by other members of the squad before he could reach the street.

Raiding the headquarters of the gang, Roche took the nine men into custody and seized 1,000 feet of fuse, a quantity of percussion caps and other bomb making material.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS PRAY BESIDE GRAVES

PARIS, May 18—(AP)—Seventeen gold star mothers whose sons sleep their last sleep on the slopes of Mount Valerien at Suresnes, just outside Paris, had their first real test of fortitude today when they knelt and prayed beside their graves.

Although plainly shaken with grief at first, and with many of them sobbing, they soon recovered their composure and pride for their soldier dead restored their spirits.

The cemetery visit was devoid of all official pomp and speeches, the mothers wishing to be alone with their sons buried on the beautiful green hill where every grave is marked with a white marble slab on which the name is engraved in black.

Wreaths of white flowers were placed by nine mothers on each of six graves holding unidentified dead in the Suresnes cemetery.

FOUR KILLED AT MASS MEETING OF NATIONALISTS

ARTEMISA, Cuba, May 18—(AP)—Four persons were killed today and 20 others severely injured, when soldiers broke up a nationalist mass meeting. Shots were exchanged between the troops and the nacionalistas, who are opponents of President Machaudo.

RETURNS FROM PRIMARY ELECTION IN OREGON

PORTLAND, Ore., May 18.— (AP) — George W. Joseph, seeking the republican nomination for governor on a platform of "vindication," seemed assured of triumph today.

The man whom a committee of Oregon lawyers recommended for disbarment, from the practice of law for life for alleged attacks on two justices of the state supreme court, had a commanding lead of 4,207 votes over Governor A. W. Norblad, with but 137 of the 1,902 state precincts incomplete.

On the basis of unofficial returns from 1,801 precincts Josephs had a total of 50,362 votes against Governor Norblad's 46,155.

Of the four democrats seeking their party's gubernatorial nomination, Edward F. Bailey with 10,923 votes led the field after 1,801 precincts had been counted. His lead over George F. Wilbur was 834 and mounted steadily as outlying state precincts trickled steadily in.

11 FAMILIES ESCAPED FROM BUILDING AFIRE

BINGHAM, Me., May 18.— (AP) — Eleven families jumed or slid down ropes to safety early today as fire swept through three wooden business blocks here causing damage estimated in excess of $100,000.

The R. V. Brown block, a three-story structure, was burned to the ground. A one story building of the Central Maine Power company, used as a show room, and the adjoining three story V. I. Pierce block, remained standing but were total losses.

Trapped in their apartments as fire cut off escape by stairways, the residents of the buildings, many of them women, turned to the windows for escape. Some jumped to the roof of the power company building and thence to the ground while others slid down by ropes.

The infant son of V. I. Pierce, owner of one of the blocks, was carried to safety down a rope in his father's arms.

FLOOD WARNING ISSUED BY WEATHER BUREAU

NEW ORLEANS, May 18—(AP)—The weather bureau tonight issued the following flood warning:

"Third day of heavy rain has caused Ouachita river at Arkadelphia, Ark., to reach a stage of 16 feet, with a flood stage of 12 feet, and the river is expected to pass the 20 foot stage Monday. With a flood stage of 30 feet at Camden, Ark., it is predicted the river will rise to between 39 and 41 feet between May 21 and 23. Flood conditions also prevail in Little Missouri, western tributary of the Ouachita."

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

LISBON, Portugal, May 18—(AP)—The ministerial council adopted a resolution for Portugal's participation in the colonial exhibition to be held in Paris next year.

PARIS, May 18—(AP)—The American gold star mothers who arrived in France to visit the graves of their sons, paid tribute to France's nameless World war dead.

VATICAN CITY, May 18—(AP)—Pope Pius sent to Cardinal O'Connell of Boston a reliquary containing relics of the passion of Jesus Christ. With it he gave best wishes and a special benediction for the archdiocese.

LONDON, Eng., May 18—(AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V, challenger for the America cup, had her first race against big yachts in the Royal Harwich club's annual regatta yesterday, but could do no better than third in her first trip around the course.

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlements, May 18—(AP)—Miss Amy Johnson, pretty 23 year old British aviatrix, made a perfect landing at the Singapore air base today and then went away for a square meal of British cooking. The officers here entertained her at their mess hall.

BOMBAY, India, May 18—(AP)—Elaborate police precautions failed today to prevent desultory raiding by nationalist volunteers on the salt depots at both Dharasana and Wadala. Four hundred Hindus were arrested at Wadala alone by the officers. Others were taken into custody at Dharasana.

MUSSOLIN REVIEWED SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

FLORENCE, Italy, May 18—(AP)—Benito Mussolini, Il Duce of Italy, firmly seated on a splendid bay horse, today reviewed soldiers, sailors and fascist militia in what was probably the most imposing military concentration in Italy since the armistice.

While 45 scout airplanes droned overhead in battle formation, the duce received the salute of Italy's armed forces. The premier, accompanied by the ministers of war, navy and aviation, and 40 aides, trotted down the lines and then took a position on a small hillock in front of the grandstand of the Cascine race course.

In the long line of troops, the greatest ovation wa sgiven to four battalions of Italian bluejackets. The welcome showed the effect of the duce's speech on Italy's naval aspirations yesterday. All branches of the forces were represented.

Il Duce made a brief speech to the troops, in the course of which he said. "Prepare yourselves with arm and heart in order that when the fatherland shall call you, you will be ready to defend it."

TRINITY COLLEGE STUDENT SUSPENDED FOR DRINKING

HARTFORD, May 18—(AP)—Arthur B. O'Keefe, Jr., of West Haven, a freshman at Trinity college, was suspended indefinitely last Friday for violation of the rules in regard to drinking, it was learned today.

In the latter part of February, O'Keefe who is 17 years old received much publicity for a letter to Congressman George S. Graham, of the house judiciary committee, in which he described liquor conditions in the colleges, and with a consequent invitation to appear before the committee and testify to conditions as he had found them.

The boy was prevented from testifying by his father, a West Haven attorney, who in forbiding the adventure, told the boy that at his age he had no business entertaining ideas on prohibition.

TRAWLER AGROUND ON SHORE OF VIRGINIA

NORFOLK, Va., May 18—(AP)—A trawler, reported to the coast guard here aos being the Toris, was aground tonight on Machipongo inlet on the eastern shore of Virginia. There were five or six men aboard, the coast guard was informed.

The trawler was in about five feet of water but was believed in no immediate danger and her crew refused to leave her. Coast guardsmen from the Hog Island station were attempting to float the vessel. Available shipping records did not show a vessel named Toris.

DEATH OF REAR ADMIRAL JOSEPH FOSTER, U. S. N.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 18—(AP)—Rear Admiral Joseph Foster, U. S. N., retired, died at Portsmouth hospital tonight at the age of 89. He was a native of Gloucester, Mass., and entered the navy as a captain's clerk October 3, 1862. He was retired December 9, 1902.

JAPANESE COMMITTEED SUICIDE BY INCINERATION

SPOKANE, Wash., May 18—(AP)—After worrying two days over disciplining given him by his superiors, Y. Nagasaka, 54, a Japanese employe in the Great Northern repair shops, crawled into a roaring fire box and was cremated last night, Dr. I. S. Collins, deputy coroner, said.

OBITUARY

Clement D. Spaulding

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP)—Clement D. Spaulding, former advertising director of the Curtis Publishing company, Philadelphia, died at his home here today.

Mr. Spaulding was born in Ravena, Ohio, and was educated at Ohio State university. He became advertising manager of Harper's Magazine in 1895. Five years later, he accepted a position with the Curtis Publishing company and remained there as advertising director until his retirement from active business in 1911.

William Frederick Sternberg

NEW BRITAIN, May 18—(AP)—William Frederick Sternberg, Civil war veteran, and a general on the staff of the national commander in chief of the G. A. R., died today at the age of [illegible] years.

He was prominent in New Haven affairs for many years following the Civil war, before coming to this city.

Mr. Sternberg was a past vice commander of the Connecticut department, G. A. R. During the past 15 years, he had served as adjutant and quartermaster of Stanley post, G. A. R., of this year, of which he was a past commander. He was a member of the Union League club of New Haven, the Connecticut Historical society and Harmony lodge of Masons.

Fleet Of 67 Wars[illegible] In New York W[illegible]ers

Will Sail Toda[illegible] Virginia Capes to Pas[illegible] Review Before President Hoover.

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP)—Uncle Sam's fleet and 30,000 sailormen said farewell to New York today.

After a 12-day visit to the metropolis, 67 ships of the combined battle and scouting fleets from the Pacific coast and Atlantic ports will have steamed out to sea by sunset tomorrow.

Passing down the Atlantic coast at 15 knots they will reach the Virginia Capes by Tuesday, where they will pass in review before President Hoover.

Tonight the great exodus was already under way. Two of them, the Argonne, submarine tender, and the Arctic, supply vessel, had led the long procession out of port. Aboard the others there was much activity as officers and men hurried back from shore leave.

More than 35,000 men, women and children took advantage of the last minute opportunity to go aboard the vessels. From morning to night thousands of others took a farewell glimpse of the long grey line of vessels that for almost two weeks has stretched from Staten Island far up the Hudson river to Yonkers.

Among the first of the ships to pass out to sea tomorrow morning will be the Texas, flagship of Rear Admiral W. V. Pratt, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet. Admiral Pratt returned to New York last night from Washington to resume command. Behind the Texas will stretch the long column of eight battleships, and many cruisers, mine sweepers and auxiliaries.

Two of the ships will be left behind. They are the Arkansas and Wyoming which are to remain at the naval yard pending decision as to which of them will be scrapped in accordance with provisions of the London naval treaty.

300 MEN ARE IN JAIL IN DETROIT FOR GAMBLING

DETROIT, May 18.— (AP) — Three hundred men who spent the week-end in jail here following a series of police raids on gambling places last night have a Detroit Free Press police reporter to thank for their predicament.

Discussing the vice situation with Police Commissioner Harold H. Emmons, the reporter aroused the commissioner's ire by asserting that gambling houses were operating within a stone's throw of the city hall. Mr. Emmons said he did not believe the stories the newspaper had been printing about gambling in the city. He offered to allow reporters to lead police raids and the bid was accepted.

Today Mr. Emmons expressed himself as satisfied with the raids and announced that the policy would be continued until the city is "cleaned."

Reporters who previously had placed bets in gambling places to obtain evidence, took officers to "wide open" handbooks, where they said bets were placed by strangers without difficulty.

Mayor Charles Bowles was in Louisville attending the Kentucky Derby yesterday. Friends of Commissioner Emmons said they feared the mayor will consider the raids a political move during his absence from the city. City Councilman John S. Hall, acting mayor during Mr. Bowles' absence, yesterday re-appointed Frank Couzens, son of Senator James Couzens, to the office of street railway commissioner. The younger Couzens was removed from office by Mayor Bowles last Wednesday "for non-cooperation," after Couzens charged other members of the commission with showing favoritism in awarding street railway insurance contracts.

Mr. Couzens has not announced whether he will accept the re-appointment, but may be removed from office by Mayor Bowles again tomorrow if he does accept.

COLONIAL BOND AND MORTGAGE CO. INSOLVENT

HARTFORD, Conn., May 18—(AP)—State Bank Commissioner Lester E. Shippee said here that the Colonial Bond and Mortgage company of New Haven, with $5,000,000 in outstanding notes and approximately 1,500 noteholders, was insolvent.

That the bondholders are reasonably safe in their investments was the belief expressed by Commissioner Shippee who says that they have ample equity in the property in which their money is invested. It is the stockholders who will suffer by the crash for the entire capital stock of $250,000 is practically wiped out.

Liquidation of the company will be necessary, but whether or not it will be done by creditors or by receivership is not known.

YOUTHFUL AUTO RACE DRIVER WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED

WOODBRIDGE, N. J., May 18—(AP)—Joe Miller, youthful Philadelphia racing driver, was seriously injured today in a thrilling upset in the 25-mile feature automobile race here. Fred Frame of Los Angeles was the winner.

Miller, following Frame and Ralph De Palma in a qualifying heat, sustained several fractured ribs when his car threw a rear wheel and rolled from the top of the track to the ground.

Herman Schurch of Hollywood, Calif., who finished second, also had a close call when his car hit a smooth spot on the track, shot over to the dirt infield and spun around twice. It remained upright, however.

Frame led all the way to finish in 19.50. Deacon Litz, of Du Pois, Pa., finished third.

BRIDE KILLED HERSELF AFTER SEEING HUSBAND DROWN

RICHESTER, Mich., May 18—(AP)—A 22 year old bride shot and killed herself here tonight after seeing her husband drown in a lake near Orion, Mich., this afternoon.

The bride, Mrs. Rachel Long, watched for two hours while vain attempts were made to resuscitate her 24 year old husband, Marvin Long. Afterward she was taken to the home of her sister here. She went up stairs and secured a revolver, and returning to the living room, kissed her father and mother and shot herself through the temple.

Series Of Week-End Automotive Accidents

Jockey and Two Companions Were Burned to Death Near Collinsville, Ill

COLLINSVILLE, Ill., May 18.—(AP)—Jimmy Shelton, 23, veteran jockey at Fairmount race track; James Eaton, 25, an exercise boy, and Randall Smallwood, 27, a jockey's agent, were burned to death early today when their automobile caught fire after crashing into a concrete abutment on a road three miles northeast of here.

The three men were burned to death before help could reach them. Their bodies were not removed from the twisted wreckage of the car until five a. m. today.

11 PERSONS INJURED WHEN BUS SKIDDED

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—Eleven persons were injured today, when a passenger bus of the Capital Bus company skidded on a wet roadway in the Bronx, crashed into an elevated railway pillar and then sideswiped a taxicab.

The most seriously injured was a passenger in the bus, Sherman Dickson, 30, of New York, who suffered a fracture of the skull and lacerations.

AWARD BY THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF ARCHITECTS

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP)—The American Institute of Architects announced today that it had awarded its fine arts medal for 1930 to Adolph Alexander Weinman, New York sculptor, widely known as the designer of the dime and half dollar of the current coinage and monuments in southern and western cities.

The institute awarded its craftsmanship medal to John Kirchmayer, of Cambridge, Mass., wood carver, who carved the altars, pulpits, reredoses and bishop's thrones in several churches in New England, Detroit and Pittsburgh.

The medals will be presented on Thursday in Washington during the institute's 63rd convention.

BERLIN PRESS SKEPTICAL OF EUROPEAN UNION

BERLIN, May 18— (AP) —Aristide Briand's European federal union memorandum, delivered yesterday to German authorities, today found a skeptical, not to say antagonistic, reception in the Berlin press.

Left wing newspapers were an exception. Otherwise, the press accuses M. Briand of being "a good Frenchman as well as a good European" in putting forward his plan.

The Lokal Anzeiger, nationalist organ, professes to see a significant coincidence in the issuance of the memorandum and in what it considers France's political isolation since the close of the London naval conference.

It asserts that M. Briand's "gesture" is an attempt to exert pressure on England, Italy and the United States because they "refuse to become parties to sanctifying the territorial splitting up of Europe."

On the other hand, the social democratic 'Vorwaerts," organ of ex-Chancellor Mueller's party, advises the German government to accept "this opportunity for realizing the great idea of promoting solidarity among European nations.

TO RECEIVE ANNUITY FROM THE ART STUDENTS' LEAGUE

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP)—Mrs. Edward McDowell, who got only $5,000 by the will of her husband, the painter, will receive a life annuity from the Art Students league, to which he left $250,000.

This step was taken, it is understood, in view of Mrs. McDowell's refusal to join wit hher sister-in-law, Mrs. Beata Clayville Smith of Baltimore, in contesting the will. Litigation based on the contention that McDowell left his wife only $5,000 because he suffered from insane delusions as to her fidelity, laste dfour years and has just been decided in favor of the Art Students league by the United States supreme court.

The will provided that the league set up three traveling art scholarships of $2,500 each, Elbridge R. Adams, general counsel for the league, announced today that one of these scholarships, had been awarde dfor life to Mrs. McDowell. He explained that it was in the nature of an annuity rather than a scholarship, since Mrs. McDowell does not paint, so far as he knows, and is not required to travel abroad.

The two other scholarships will go, for the ensuing year, to Elizabeth Nottingham, 22, of Culpepper, Va., and Howard J. Ahrens, 20, of Brooklyn.

McDowell, who died in Montclair, N. J., in 1926, stipulated that the scholarships be founded in memory of his father.

LAST WEEK OF M. E. CHURCH SOUTH GENERAL CONFERENCE

DALLAS, Tex., May 18— (AP) — Swinging into what will probably be the last week of the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church South, here, the delegates tonight looked forward to action on the stock market speculation charges against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Washington, D. C., and the election of three new bishops.

The Episcopacy committe of the church is scheduled to take up again the charges against Bishop Cannon, Monday afternoon. Later that night, the bishop is scheduled to preside at a mass meeting on temperance and law enforcement. He is chairman of the board of temperance and social service of the church.

16 PERSONS WERE KILLED BY TORNADO IN ARKANSAS

All of the Victims Were Negroes — Report Indicates That More Than 100 Persons Were Injured, Many of Them Fatally—The Tornado Swept Over Eastern Arkansas, Causing Heavy Damage — A Check-Up of the Dead Is Impossible, Due to the Heavy Rains That Washed Out Country Roads.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 18—(AP)—A tornado striking in east Arkansas early today killed at least 16 persons, all Negroes, and injured perhaps 100, while flood waters swept over a vast area in southwest Arkansas, making hundreds homeless in the oil fields section and causing huge property damage.

The tornado fatalities were in the town of Elaine, near Helena, and on the levee-enclosed Lambrook plantation, owned by Gerard B. Lambert, a St. Louis pharmaceutical manufacturer. Eleven Negroes were killed on the Lambrook plantation, on which virtually all buildings were demolished; two were killed at Elaine; two on a rice farm, two miles west of Wabash, and one on a plantation near Elaine.

Smackover creek overflowed in the oil field section near Eldorado, which together with a flood from the Red river, brought one of the most serious flood situations southwest Arkansas ever has known.

Many persons were reported marooned and rescue parties were searching the flood waters in boats.

The oil field towns of Kanova, Griffin and Louann were under water and the residents were being taken to Smackover, which was partially inundated, and to Eldorado.

Midwestern headquarters of the Red Cross at St. Louis were rushing relief workers to the section.

A company of the Arkansas national guard at Eldorado also was assisting in rescue and relief work. Many persons were brought to hospitals in Eldorado suffering from exposure.

Damage to the oil industry alone in the Eldorado section was estimated at a million dollars by Colonel W. C. O'Ferrall, production superintendent of the Standard Oil company there, who took charge of relief work at Smackover.

Measles already has broken out in the refugee camp at Smackover, and fear of an outbreak of typhoid resulted in a hurried call for serum.

The Red river was on a rampage in southwest Arkansas and northeast Texas, demoralizing rail and highway traffic.

Hundreds of persons north of Texarkana in Arkansas were moving out of the lowlands, many of them taking household goods with them. Rescue work is under way also in that section.

No loss of life was reported either in the Eldorado or Texarkana flood sections.

Although the Elaine section was the only place in Arkansas known to have been struck by a tornado, one struck the town of Somerville, Tenn., injuring seven persons.

The floods in southwest Arkansas followed several days of heavy rainfall, which also has brought serious high water situations in other sections of the state. Highways in many sections of the state are under water, bridges have been washed out and rail traffic in some places has been interrupted.

Highways in the Elaine section also were in bad condition, which handicapped tornado relief work and made it difficult to determine whether there were any fatalities in addition to the 16 Negroes or to determine the number of injured.

The known dead as a result of the tornado included:

MEASLES EPIDEMIC IN CAMP OF FLOOD REFUGEES

SMACKOVER, Ark., May 18—(AP)—Measles broke out in the crowded refugee camps filled with flood sufferers here tonight as doctors and nurses sent out pleas for serum for both that disease and typhoid fever. The camps were being swelled hourly by the added influx of homeless from the inundated area.

SHARPERS "SOLD" WORCESTER AIRPORT FOR $10,000 CASH

BOSTON, May 18.— (AP)— George Williams, 70, of Wellfleet, wandered into police headquarters here tonight with a tale of two wily confidence men who "sold" him the Worcester airport for $10,000, his life savings.

Williams met the men in Wellfleet some weeks ago and again in a Portland, Me., hotel, where he had visited them to learn the secret of "multiplying his money four times."

One, named Baldwin, wired him last week to gather all the money at his command and meet them in Worcester today. He met the men in Worcester, was shown the airport there and "bought" the place for his life savings, which he had ready to turn over in cash.

A sadder and a wiser man, he reported his loss to Boston authorities tonight.

FRENCH PRESS WELCOMES EUROPEAN FEDERAL UNION

PARIS, May 18.— (AP)—The European Fedesal union scheme of Aristide Briand, distinguished French foreign minister, was welcomed by the French press today with high hopes and some reservations. The scheme, often known as "The United States of Europe," was presented to 26 European nations yesterday in the name of M. Briand.

As an idealistic document, it was contrasted sharply by many newspapers with the vigorous speech of Premier Mussolini at Florence, Italy, yesterday, in which Il Duce reaffirmed Italy's intention of fulfilling her ambitious naval program.

Le Temps said that the Duce's speech was "the most bellicose harangue we have heard in times of peace during this century."

MAN CAPTURED IN ACT OF TOUCHING OFF BOMB

CHICAGO, May 18.— (AP)—A score of persons are believed by police to have been saved from possible serious injury and two of Chicago's 1930 bombings are thought to have been cleared up by the capture early today of a man in the act of touching off a bomb in the doorway of a sandwich shop.

The man, William Ortin, was caught by officers after a four-hour vigil. A shot in the air frightened him as he was about to touch off the fuse and he was seized after a chase. A score of persons were dancing in an adjacent building.

ENGINEER AND FIREMAN WERE FATALLY INJURED

HAMMOND, La., May 18—(AP)—The engineer and fireman of the Illinois Central railroad Panama Limited, were fatally injured, a 14 year old boy seriously hurt and three passengers slightly injured early today when the boy's automobile stalled on the track at Tangipahoa station and was hit by the train, overturning the locomotive and derailing three cars.

MAN WHO CHANGES COLOR DISCOVERED IN AUSTRALIA

SYDNEY, Australia—(AP)—A human chameleon, a patient in the Lewisham hospital in Sydney, has aroused much interest among Australian doctors.

Fifty physicians and specialists visited the man recently but could assign no reason for his peculiar disease. Apparently the sufferer has a surplus of red corpuscles for he changes color daily.

His skin changes from its normal hue to a mottled red, to a dark blue, to black, to pink, and finally resumes its natural shade.

HOUSE WOULD WELCOME ADJOURNMENT JUNE 1

WASHINGTON, May 18—(AP)—With but few controverted pieces of important legislation to be disposed of by the house at this session, the republican leaders in that branch have advised the administration followers in the senate that adjournment of congress would be welcomed about June 1 if the tariff bill issue is settled.

Speaker Longworth said the house would be able to conclude the session within two weeks after definite action on the tariff by acting on Muscle Shoals and deficiency appropriations legislation.

Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the house republican floor leader, said it had been planned to bring about adjournment the first of June, but added:

"Adjournment now is entirely contingent on the action of the senate on the tariff."

WOMEN PRESS CLUB MEMBERS NOT OUTSPELLED BY MEN

WASHINGTON, May 18. — (AP)—A spelling bee between nine members of the Women's National Press club and eight men of the National Press club ended in a draw Saturday night when Martha Strayer, of the Washington News, and K. Foster Murray, of the Virginia Pilot, Norfolk, Va., had correctly spelled each word given them during two-hour session.

Wilbur Forrest, New York Herald-Tribune, was the first to miss, going down on "trafficking" while Paul Anderson, of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch could not get the letters in their right places in "infinitesimal."

Ray Tucker, New York Telegram, who won the spelling bee between members of the National Press club and members of congress, was the eleventh to go down. Tucker could not spell "portmanteau."

HOOVER RETURNS FROM HIS WEEK END TRIP

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP)—Riding most of the way over wet roads, President Hoover arrived early tonight at the white house after his week end trip to the presidential camp in Virginia.

In the car with the chief executive on the three-hour drive from the camp were Senator Fess of Ohio, Representatives Blackburn, of Kentucky, and Free of California, all republicans.

The president expected to retire early to get a good rest before he leaves late tomorrow night for Hampton Roads to review the United States fleet off the Virginia capes Tuesday.

20 PERSONS DROPPED FROM PLANE 3,000 FEET IN THE AIR

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., May 18—(AP)—Twenty persons dropped from a plane 3,000 feet over Roosevelt field today in parachutes, setting a new record for a number of persons jumping from a single plane. The previous record was 16.

The feat was accomplished as part of a field day celebration of the Loyal Order of Moose.

INDIAN VILLAGE RAIDED BY POLICE AND SOLDIERS

SHOLAPUR, India, May 18—(AP)—Police and soldiers at dawn today raided the village of Valsand, about 16 miles from here, and arrested ten men wanted for their part in the recent rioting here.

Aside from this raid, military and police activity has greatly diminished in this area. Martial law probably will be abrogated next Saturday.

JABS FISH-SPEAR THROUGH 16-YEAR OLD BOY'S HAND

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 18—Stanley Garmilensky, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garmilensky of South Coventry was taken to St. Joseph's hospital Saturday afternoon for the removal from his left hand of two prongs of a fish-spear which had been jabbed through the hand by Benedict Twerdy, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benny Twerdy, of the same town. Dr. Edward J. Ottenheimer who attended the boy, found considerable difficulty in extricating the weapon, the two prongs, about 4 inches in length, having become painfully lodged between the bones and tendons of the hand. It was necessary to insert the prong deeper so that the fish-hook ends could be clipped off. The central of the five prongs had penetrated the flesh above the little finger. The boy entered the hospital with the prongs and about one foot of the spear still fastened to his hand, the remainder of the handle having been sawed away to relieve the weight in the wounds.

The alleged attack by the Twerdy youth is believed to be incidental to a long-standing feud between the two families who reside in the southern part of Coventry. The Twerdy boy was on the banks of the Hop River stream to spear fish and members of his family said that he was told to quit the sport by the Garmilensky boy who offered to fight. They said that Benedict was being chased about by the older boy when he picked up the spear and turned in self-defense. Garmilensky stated at the hospital that Twerdy and his companions objected to his swimming where they were fishing and that when a sudden assault was made on him by Twerdy with the spear he prevented the vicious weapon from penetrating his abdomen by covering himself with his hand. State Policeman Murphy of the Stafford Springs state police barracks was conducting an investigation of the case today.

CONFER WITH MAYOR ON MATTER OF STREET LIGHTS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 18—The directors of the chamber of commerce took the lead Saturday at a meeting held in the Nathan Hale hotel to bring the city's business back to a stage of normalcy. A committee of the directors conferred with Mayor Walter R. King on the matter of street lights and general city finances. This committee reported Saturday with the result that another conference was held with Mayor King requesting that the city lights be operated during the entire night for the present. Meanwhile an effort will be made to have the city budget thoroughly studied by the mayor, finance committee of the city council and chamber directors in an effort to ascertain the minimum amount necessary to conduct the city business on a normal scale.

Following this joint study of the budget, it is planned to call another special city meeting when a tax rate, higher than the eight mills levied recently, will be asked for provided an increase of income is found to be necessary.

The chamber directors went on record as standing squarely for municipal economy but objecting to a practice of voting special appropriations without making provision to meet these amounts in levying the tax rate. It was pointed out in reports that as a result of this practice the city last year borrowed over $40,000 without making any provision to pay off this amount by a proper tax levy.

The joint meeting of the mayor, finance board and directors to study the budget has been set for next Thursday evening. It could not be determined today whether the city council would vote to abandon the plan of shutting off all street lights at midnight immediately or await, a previously planned, the action of another special city meeting.

WILLIMANTIC GIRL CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF OLDER GIRLS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 18—The seventh annual Older Girls' conference of Windham county, which convened at the First Congregational church Saturday forenoon, closed this afternoon with an impressive friendship candle lighting service led by the alumnae girls.

The conference, which had for its theme, The Challenge of the Christ, was most successful. There was a registration of over 125 Saturday, with an increase for Sunday's sessions.

At the annual election of officers held Saturday night, Miss Caroline Smith of Willimantic was elected president; Miss Phyllis Kenworthy of Danielson, vice-president, and Miss Phyllis Sanderson of Moosup, secretary.

The registration period Saturday forenoon was from 9 to 10:30 o'clock at which time Mrs. Harding W. Gaylord of Danielson, chairman of the girls' work in the county, convened the conference. She was assisted by Miss Ethelyn Nichols of this city. The report of the credentials committee showed that all of the 15 towns in the county were represented. The call to order was followed by the singing of the processional and invocation by Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock, pastor of the church. Miss Caroline Smith of this city welcomed the delegates and the welcome to the conference was by Miss Emma F. Pilling of Danielson. Miss Irene Generous of Plainfield delivered the president's message. Reports of committees were made during a short business session.

A worship period at 11 o'clock was led by Miss Gladys Gray of Providence. Rev. Theodore Greene of New Britain delivered an address on The Challenge of the Christ in Our Every-day Lives.

Adjournment was taken from 12:15 until 2 o'clock for luncheon in the Methodist Episcopal church.

Group discussions were held at 2 o'clock with the theme of the conference as the general subject. Miss Gladys Gray led the group of from 14 to 15 years of age; Miss Beryl Proctor, 16-17 years; and Rev. Theodore Greene, 18 to 20 years.

Following a short worship period led by Miss Gray, Mrs. George L. Loomis of New Britain gave an address on Adventuring With Christ Along Americanization Paths. A recreation period in which various games were enjoyed, including lawn tennis, was in charge of Miss Paulita Clark of this city. The election of officers followed.

Saturday evening a Fellowship supper was held at 6 o'clock with Miss Phyllis Kenworthy of Danielson toastmistress and Miss Beatrice Beckett, also of Danielson, song leader. This feature was held in the church house and included a play, The Color Line, presented by the Willimantic girls of the conference. The evening concluded with the introduction of the hostesses.

Sunday Sessions

A sunrise service was held this morning under the leadership of Miss Gray. The groups assembled for a processional at 10:30 and attended a church service and sermon preached by Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock. This afternoon a colorful pageant, The Holy Grail, was given by the Moosup girls. Then came the friendship candle-lighting service that concluded the program.

OVER 400 NORMAL SCHOOL GRADUATES ATTEND REUNION

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 18—Over 400 members of the Willimantic State Normal School Alumni association attended a reunion, the first in eight years, held at the Windham street school Saturday. The success of the reunion, which brought back pupils and teachers from various parts of New England, was such, that it was voted to hold a gathering every five years.

In taking action on the Denneby fund, which now amounts to about $3,000, it was voted to change the policy of the fund to offer the interest on the principal as an annual loan to a deserving girl, rather than give it as an outright gift. An effort will be made to bring the fund to its original quota of $5,000.

The reunion was convened by President Elmer E. Ellsworth of West Newton, Mass., formerly of this city. The forenoon was devoted to business matters and class reunions, some of the classes dating back to 30 or more years ago.

At noon a luncheon was served in the gymnasium and in the afternoon the gathering enjoyed a speaking programme, in which former principals and teachers took part, and a delightful minstrel presented by the senior class of the normal school, under direction of Miss Mary Q. Quinn of the faculty. Ruth Conant was interlocutor, Elizabeth McKinley, accompanist and Beatrice Lamothe, violinist. The "end men" were Catherine Brennan, Eleanor Schaeffer, Regina Fenton and Celeste Allen.

The speakers were Principal George H. Shafer of the school; Miss Mabel Jenkins, of Wellesley, Mass., a former teacher; George P. Phenix, president of Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va., former principal, who left Willimantic 26 years ago; Miss Miriam Skidmore of New York city, former teacher; and Henry T. Burr, of New Britain, former principal.

During the afternoon the following alumni association officers were elected: Miss Irma Lord of this city and Hebron, president; Miss Alvida Lewis, vice president; Miss Mabel Lanphear, secretary; Miss Adelaide Hallen of Norwich, treasurer; executive committee, Mrs. Edith B. Larkin of this city, chairman, Miss Edna Day of Norwich, Mrs. Hazel French of this city, Miss Edith Willet of this city and Miss Martha Reynolds of Norwich.

COLCHESTER

QUAKER HILL TEAM LOSES TO LOCAL PLAYERS—9-8

The Colchester Town baseball team defeated the Quaker Hill team in a fast, exciting game on the local park diamond, Saturday afternoon, 9 to 8. The batteries were: Colchester—John Polakevich and Stanley Welch; Quaker Hill—Putnam and Hoy. Colchester took the lead in the early part of the game and held it until the ninth inning, when Quaker Hill forged ahead, scoring four runs. Falbowski sacrificed to score Gyome with the winning run for Colchester. John Polakevich, the star twirler for the local team, made ten strikeouts and Putnam for Quaker Hill made 12 strikeouts. Pete Gyome, the Colchester team's captain, hit a triple and Fedus hit a double and a home run for Colchester in the eighth. Howell and Polakevich were umpires and George Levy was scorer. This was the first game Quaker Hill has lost in six games played so far this season. The local team has won all three games played so far, having already defeated Salem twice The Colchester outfit is to play the Montville team here Saturday afternoon and Sunday afternoon, May 25, the local boys will play a return game with Quaker Hill on the Quaker Hill diamond. Manager Joseph Ezekiel Falk is negotiating for games with several other teams in this vicinity.

Misses Ruth Mintz, Vivian Cohen and Sarah Levine, members of the Bacon academy home economics class, with their instructor, Miss Pearl M Tiffany, attended a home economics lecture at Storrs college, Saturday.

Paul and Leo Kutis, of the Bulkeley Hill section of town, were brought before Justice Charles F. Brown Thursday. Each was fined $1 and costs on the charge of fishing without a license. Deputy Fish and Game Warden Ralph H. Kenyon made the arrests.

25-Ounce Trout

George M. Case was wading the brooks on the outskirts of the village, Friday. He returned with a fine string of trout, one of which weighed 25 ounces. The fish was on exhibition in the E. R. Holmes store window Friday evening. This is the largest trout caught in this vicinity so far this season. Lloyd W. Brown held the record last season with a 24-ounce specimen. Mr. Brown is now close on the trail of Case's new record, as he and Earl S. Stevens were out Friday and returned with a fine string of beauties, one of which weighed 21 ounces and two others weighed a pound apiece. Commander Freedman, Eugene Phineas Beebe, J. W. Goodrich and Joseph Ezekiel Falk have made some good catches but Mr. Case's 25-ounce specimen leaves them far behind Messrs. Beebe and Freedman state they have broken their lines several times in attempting to pull in trout much heavier than Mr. Case's prize beauty. They are now equipping themselves with some extra stout fishing tackle and within the next few days they predict that they will beat the Case record. Incidentally, Fisherman Beebe says he will be satisfied with nothing smaller than a three-pounder.

Vincent Velence, of Flushing, L. I., a boarder at the Budka farm house in Moodus, was fined $10 and costs on a charge of fishing without a license and for making false statements to the game warden, when he appeared before Justice Charles F. Brown and Grand Juror John M. Riley in the local court Saturday evening. County Fish and Game Warden Watson and Deputy Warden Ralph H. Kenyon made the arrest.

John Adaschich, of the Param section of town, was fined $1 and costs on a charge of breach of peace, when he appeared Saturday evening before Justice Charles F. Brown and Grand Juror John M. Riley. Adaschich was arrested by Constable Rogers after he had come to blows with his wife.

In dress it's Distinction

in a cigarette it's Taste

IT'S THE UNUSUAL that distinguishes a gown. Again, it's the unusual that sets Chesterfield apart.

STYLE in a gown, "chic" in a hat—and in a Chesterfield, Taste!

TASTE IS THE REAL REASON for Chesterfield's enduring popularity . . . the better taste of choice tobaccos, mild and ripe, blended and cross-blended to a rich delicacy of flavor, unique in a cigarette—in every sense of the word . . . "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

DANIELSON

FUNERAL OF J. B. BASSETT WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, May 18.—This afternoon an impressive tribute of love and respect was paid to the memory of John B. Bassett, whose funeral was held from the home at 74 Broad street. Rev. J. Rees Jones, rector of St. Alban's church, conducted a prayer service at the house at 2.45, and also the service that followed at St. Alban's church, with a very large number of relatives and friends from many places in attendance.

At the grave in Westfield cemetery committal prayers were by Rev. Mr. Jones and the Masonic burial service was conducted by Attorney E. L. Darbie, grand master of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Connecticut, and a personal friend of the deceased, and by Chaplain Harry Brearley of Moriah lodge, A. F. and A. M., a large number of the members being in attendance. There were also delegations from Putnam lodge of Elks, and members representing the Putnam Country club, the Snake Meadow club, of which Mr. Bassett was the organizer and a director; from the Bohemian club, and from about every walk of life here and hereabouts, again attesting the universal esteem in which he was held.

The bearers were Howard Franklin, master of Moriah lodge, William M. Franklin, Charles E. Franklin, Charles A. Tillinghast, Charles Hale, Charles Alexander, Dr. F. P. Todd and Ira A. Warren, all members of Moriah lodge.

The funeral was one of the largest held here in a number of years, and the floral tributes from organizations and individuals magnificent and in great profusion. L. E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

As told in detail in the Jewett City news this morning, Lieut. Ross V. Urquhart, commanding officer of the Danielson barracks, spent most of Saturday in that community checking up with local officers on one of the most unusual cases that has developed in this section of eastern Connecticut in a considerable time.

Kondrat Bensyk, a man about 40 years of age, who already has pleaded guilty to a charge of arson, also is facing the possibility right now of being brought into the superior court of New London county at the present session, criminal side, on a bench warrant to face the charge of setting a fire that endangered human life, and in case of conviction on that count a life sentence can be imposed.

The whole miserable situation in which Bensuk finds himself apparently is due to his infatuation for his 19 year old step-daughter, Lucy Robakowski, who left the home where her mother, married to Bensuk, was living, and still lives, last September, to live with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur LaPlante. Police understand the girl left home after confessing to her mother that it was quite impossible for her longer to remain in the home with her step-father.

OBITUARY.

Gaetano Mazzarella.

Gaetano Mazzarella, 78, died Saturday morning at his home on a farm place, two miles east of here on the Providence road. He had been in failing health for about a year and a half, though able to be up and about the home practically all of the time.

Mr. Mazzarella, a native of Turin, Italy, had been resident in this country since 1901, locating first in Goodyear, then Williamsville, where he worked in the mill. In 1911, he purchased the William Vaughan place, where he has since been resident and engaged in farming.

He was a very industrious worker, a good citizen and well liked by all of those who came to know him.

Mr. Mazzarella is survived by his wife and seven children—Nicandro A. and James of Danielson, Henry of Berkley, R. I., Mrs. Mary Gugliemetti, Berkley, R. I., Mrs. Margaret Cross, Woonsocket, Mrs. Anna Lapola of Esmond, R. I., and Mrs. Antoinette Abromo of Thornton, R. I.

Charged With Sunday Hunting.

Samuel Rich, who lives over in Pomfret, was picked up roaming around with a gun this morning over in Hampton by County Warden Thomas G. Daniels of Plainfield, and, hunting on Sunday being against the law, Mr. Rich was placed under arrest and taken before Justice Chester B. Jewett, of Hampton, and fined $10 and costs, a total of $21.50. It may be mentioned that being out with a gun on Sunday is evidence of hunting, even though one be seeking after nothing more formidable than woodchuck.

ARREST 14 CRAP SHOOTERS AT GOODYEAR SATURDAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, May 18.—This isn't the open hunting season for much of anything, the game laws indicate, but it is wide open on crap shoters, and how the state officers of the Danielson barracks did bag them Saturday afternoon!

It all happened over at Goodyear, about 4 p. m., and when the hunt was over 14 of the boys that like to see the "bones" roll were in the bag and eventually putting up $50 bail each for release over the week end, and with the prospect of appearance in the town court on Monday. There was one exception to the $50 bail, that being in the case of Jack Breault, who is held for gaming, as a sort of ring leader, and $200 was asked for his release. Terrible Terry, as he is known in the ring, otherwise Henry Theriacque, or Henry DeForest, was the only one of those caught in the net who was unable to get bail, and he languished in custody through this gloomy Sunday.

The big crap game, big insofar as the number of participants was concerned, was under way in the big field south of the plant of the Goodyear mills when a squad of eight state officers headed by Lieut. Ross V. Urquhart swooped down on the players. The players scattered in all directions, most of them running like scared jack rabbits. A rather tough barrier in the way of the Quinebaug river blocked escape on the west, and with the officers sweeping down in formation and the wide open spaces all about there was not much chance for the players to get away, and it is believed that none of them did.

An amusing little sidelight on the affair was that a jitney driver who had been hired to take some of the boys up to Goodyear that were caught in the raid was later called in by the state officers, short of transportation facilities under the circumstances, to go up and get them again and bring them down, under arrest. But you can't blame the jitney driver for that. Purely business, it so happened.

DAYVILLE MAN PRESIDENT OF WINDHAM COUNTY Y. M. C. A.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, May 18.—N. Lorne Greig of Dayville, heads the Windham County Y. M. C. A. for the ensuing year. Alexander Maitland of Thompson, is first vice president; C. D. Tater, of Eastford, second vice president. Treasurer Arthur Hughes of the Putnam Savings bank is secretary. Treasurer Clifford H. Starkweather of the Danielson Trust company is treasurer.

The annual meeting of the organization was held Friday evening at the Congregational church in Dayville, and was opened by Thomas Seaton of Moosup, as temporary chairman.

Delegates were in attendance from Moosup, Plainfield, Danielson, Dayville, Brooklyn, Putnam, Thompson, Woodstock, Springfield and New Haven. There was joy for all interested in the organization when Mr. Greig announced that, through hard work, the books for 1930 were closed with all debts paid and a balance in the treasury. Operating under severe handicaps and promoting more work than ever before on a limited amount of money, to finish a year with all debts paid and a balance in the treasury is regarded, and justly so, as a real accomplishment.

The financial report shows under the heading of expenditures, salaries to the amount of $3,240.55, which includes the amount paid the secretary and the cost of a part time stenographer's services: $535.78 for field services, including the use of an automobile; $431.31 for rent, etc.; $400 for Camp Woodstock and other incidental expenses to a total amount of $5,300.76. The receipts came from various county towns as follows: Eastford, $3; Killingly, $1,234.50; Plainfield, $1,547.20; Pomfret, $10; Putnam, $1,567.75; Thompson, $455; Woodstock, $136; service account, $338.51; refund, $569.93.

Chairman Greig reported to the meeting that he hopes to see the books as well balanced this year as during the past year.

From every viewpoint the annual meeting was a very great success. In addition to the addresses there were musical numbers and other entertaining features.

Dr. Arnold E. Look of Springfield delivered the principal address.

Tuesday afternoon members of the Fortnightly club are to meet with Mrs. Frederick Colvin of Maple street.

Mrs. Hugh Mason of Brooklyn, one of the delegates from Sarah Williams Danielson chapter, D. A. R., of Danielson, gave an interesting report to the members of the chapter on the proceedings of the recent continental congress at Washington.

Members of the Killingly Woman's club are much interested in the coming here on Wednesday of Miss S. Fannie Gleaton, field secretary of the League of Women Voters, who will speak in the community room of the Connecticut Light and Power company building here on Jury Service for Women.

Three days only remain in which to pay your town of Killingly taxes. Collector James R. Walsh will be in his office, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, May 19, 20, 21, from 10 a. m. to 1.00 p. m., and from 2 to 4 p. m. After Wednesday interest on unpaid taxes will be charged at the rate of 9 per cent. per annum.—adv.

Persistence is useless now in seeking to have the selectmen oil borough streets that have not been given that attention. The work is done for the year. There is no appropriation for oiling any more streets this year.

What will be an outstanding improvement, along sidewalk lines, when it is completed, is the construction of walks, now under way, along Water and Franklin streets on the entire frontage of St. James' church property.

The state has set out its roadside tables again through this area, that tourists may sit in shady places and enjoy lunch under comfortable circumstances during the warm weather period now coming.

LISBON

Those from Newent church who attended the six church conference in Hanover Wednesday were: Rev. and Mrs. W. Reynolds, Miss Lucy Baldwin, Mrs. Charles Learned, Mrs. F. E. Hyde, Miss Clara Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hyde, Ellsworth and Myrtice Hyde. Others from this town who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Ross, Miss Kate Ross, Mrs. C. A. Mell and Mrs. Harry Hull.

Wednesday evening a May festival which has been looked forward to for some time, was the feature of the Community club meeting. America and the Star Spangled Banner were sung in opening and after a brief business session the meeting was turned over to Rev. W. J. Reynolds, chairman of the entertainment committee, who gave a talk on the songs of various nations and announced the program of songs sung in the native tongue—German songs, by George Herrmann, accompanied by Mrs. Richard Krauss; German songs with ukelele accompaniment, by Fred Seidel; a song in Yiddish, by Miss Sadie Goldberg, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Jesse Phillips; French songs, by Emile Raymond, accompanied by Miss Frechette. All joined in the Scotch song, Auld Lang Syne. George Herrmann then sang two catchy, popular songs. Pretzels, cookies, cheese crisps and fruit punch were served by the refreshment committee. The executive committee will have the June meeting in charge, with Mrs. F. E. Hyde, Clara Hyde, Harold Mell and Fred Allen as refreshment committee.

Mrs. Leo Miner of North Windham was the guest of Mrs. C. A. Mell Thursday.

William Morehouse, of Providence, was at home over the week end. He witnessed the flight over the city of 135 airplanes last Thursday. People in the southern part of this town counted 77 in their eastward flight and 35 in the afternoon flying west.

When Harry Hull completed the census of this town it was found that there are 1097 inhabitants, as compared with 867 ten years ago.

CANTERBURY GREEN

Canterbury grange attended church Sunday in a body and Mother's day was observed by special music and addressed by the pastor and by a visiting clergyman, Rev. Mr. Plumb, now of Hartford. Mr. and Mrs. Plumb were dinner guests at the parsonage. It is expected that Rev. Wm. C. Prentiss, of Plainfield, will occupy the pulpit Sunday next in exchange with Mr. Small.

Callers recently at the Hawes home were Mr. and Mrs. H. P. White and Mr. and Mrs. S. B. David of Groton.

Mrs. James Appley has been spending a few days with relatives in Springfield.

James Lathrop has returned to his home in Canterbury. Mrs. Lathrop remaining in Meriden for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Hawes were in Norwich, Saturday, to attend the funeral of Robert Cleaves.

Delegates from here attended the church conference at Wauregan, Tuesday.

The whist party, Friday evening, at the hall, comprised twenty tables. Cake, ice cream and coffee were served. Prizes went to Mrs. Fred Cook of Central Village, Mrs. Muldoon, Plainfield, and Miss Myers, Windham, Arthur Pearl, Hampton and Nelson Carpenter of Canterbury.

More Cattle Being Fed

BROOKINGS, S. D.—(P)—There were approximately 3 per cent more cattle on feed for the market in the corn belt states on April 1 than at the same time a year ago, according to the estimate of the United States department of agriculture. Iowa and South Dakota showed the largest increases.

PUTNAM

ACCEPTS RESIGNATION OF E. W. ELLIS, HEADMASTER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, May 18.—The resignation of Eugene W. Ellis, former submaster and coach of athletics at Putnam high school, and for the past two years headmaster and athletic director at Woodstock academy, has been accepted by the board of trustees of the school and will become effective on June 15, the closing date of the summer term. On Aug. 15, Mr. Ellis will take over his new duties as superintendent of schools in the town of Farmington, this state, for which position he relinquished the academy headmastership.

The board in acting upon the resignation of Mr. Ellis announced that the instrument had been accepted, but with profound regrets. At a meeting of the trustees held at the academy Saturday evening, George B. Westhaver, a graduate of Hobart college, and for the past year sub-master at the academy, was appointed to succeed Mr. Ellis as headmaster.

Mr. Ellis is widely known in New England educational circles and his reputation as an athletic director is heralded far and wide throughout the state. He is a graduate of the University of Vermont, where he received his degree of bachelor of science, and a graduate of Rutgers, where the degree of master of science was conferred upon him. Mr. Ellis studied at Bates and Springfield colleges and at the University of Pennsylvania. Since the completion of his college work, he has been principal of a high school in Jaffery, N. H., sub-master of Putnam high and at Wilmington, Delaware, and professor of science at Rutgers university.

Majoring in all phases of athletics, Mr. Ellis entered the educational field well qualified to impart the art and technique of various athletic games to his charges at the institutions where he has taught. During his career at Rutgers, he was athletic director of the university prep school, turning out successful teams in every field of endeavor. The eyes of the sporting world of eastern Connecticut were turned upon Putnam high school during the short time that Mr. Ellis directed the work of the local school athletic bodies.

Returning to Woodstock two years ago, Mr. Ellis assumed the task of restoring the lowly academy teams to their one-time lofty berths in the Quinebaug Valley league. The students at the institution took hold with renewed interest and vigor and after a few months under the guiding Ellis hand, the academy baseball, boys' and girls' basketball and the newly organized soccer teams set out on an upward trend in the high school sport division of the eastern part of the state. The academy girls' team, coached by Mr. Ellis, climaxed the 1929-30 season, clinching the mythical Connecticut state championship and laying an unchallenged claim to the championship of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, by reason of their victories over the Worcester Girls' club and the West Warwick high school girls' team, conceded to be champions of their respective states.

During the war Mr. Ellis served in the chemical warfare division of the army, being discharged at the close of the war with an enviable service record.

Mr. Ellis is a member of the Sigma Nu college fraternity, a member of the Masonic order and is a national board-approved official of football, basketball and baseball. He was also a state expert examiner of the American Red Cross school. Mr. Ellis is married and has one son, a student at the Rectory school in Pomfret. When his term of office at the academy comes to a close, Mr. Ellis will take with him the wishes for success in his new field of endeavor, extended by his many friends in Woodstock and this city.

Frank Donovan of St. John's Prep school, Danvers, Mass., passed the week-end at his home on Lyons street.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford T. Mongeon of Pawtucket, R. I., former residents of this city, were Sunday visitors with Putnam relatives.

Clifford T. Adams of the Litchfield Enquirer staff and Mrs. Adams, formerly of Putnam, visited with friends here today.

Mayor Charles A. Richard, sports enthusiast, who has been invited as an official guest of the Duwell A. C., at the ten-mile run in Norwich on Memorial day, will head a Putnam delegation which will attend the eastern racing classic. Malcolm Tourtellotte of Chapman street is a local runner who has entered.

A set of signals, used by the New Haven railroad to protect its unguarded grade crossings, is on display at the platform of the depot in Union square. The display is sponsored by a railroad safety bureau in an effort to acquaint the public with the mode of operation of the warning device, in order that grade crossing fatalities might be lessened.

Kenneth Thompson and Harold Lyons of Hartford were week-end visitors in Putnam this week.

The matter of new street lights for the business sections in the north end and downtown sections of the city is receiving only the ordinary amount of attention, although the proposition looms up as an incentive for a city meeting aside from the voters' special session to be held Tuesday morning, May 27. The report of the finance and street lighting committees of the council, purporting to show that the proposed lighting system is too costly a project at the present time, caused the common council to refuse to recommend it to the voters. However, those who are seeking increased light for the trading centers, it is understood, intend to return to the council at its next session with a petition of 20 signers favoring the bill, which is instrument sufficient enough to warrant the calling of a special city meeting.

The Norwich and Worcester branch of the New Haven railroad, eastern Connecticut road running between New London and Worcester, has come to be regarded as the most profitable line of the New Haven system. The road is now devoted to the exclusive hauling of freight trains, some of which are the longest carried anywhere on the road. Trains running over the branch haul capacity cargoes on the forward and return runs, as is indicated by the giant engines heading the railroad caravans. In many instances the heavy freights are drawn by double-headed locomotives. The volume of shipping seen daily rolling over the branch is but another indication of the upward trend of business.

Torn up stretches of the highway between Jewett City and French's crossing at Central Village have caused many motorists, driving from this city to Norwich and points beyond, to branch off the main thoroughfare at Danielson, go through the towns of Brooklyn, Scotland and Canterbury and Newent to Norwich in order to avoid the necessary detours and construction work.

At the calling of the docket last Thursday morning, Judge Arthur F. Ells of the superior court appointed Thursday, May 29, as motion day for restoring cases to the docket, and short calendar day. Court will convene on motion day in this city at 9 o'clock, S. T.

By order of the court, 68 cases, classed inactive, were ruled off the docket. Next week, motions will be entered by attorneys for the restoration of several cases.

A list of assignments, all of which are court cases set for hearing at the continuation of the civil term of superior court to convene here Tuesday, was published Saturday by Clerk Curtis N. Dean. Judge Arthur F. Ells of Waterbury will preside at the session. Cases to be tried Tuesday include: Nora M. Hubbard vs. Frank B. Green; Albert Latici vs. Nelson Hebert; Town of Plainfield vs. Harry Green; Irene Boucher vs. Peter St. Rock; Henry G. Adams, et. al., vs. Frank Green; Stephen Barnufsky and Mary Barnufsky vs. Ben Bogaciuk, Dora Davies vs. Christopher Everett. Cases assigned for trial on Wednesway 28, are those of Jean Coleman Legg vs. John Francis Legg; Oliver L. Willard vs. Leander Wright; Addie A. Fenner vs. John B. Byrne, executor estate of Angie S. Tatem; Marcus G. Goodman vs. James P. Ryan; Webster Lumber & Supply Co. vs. Thomas Krawiec and Anna Krawiec; Mary A. K. Kowalski vs. Joseph Kowalski.

A union memorial service was held at the Congregational church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, Rev. William Williams of Wauregan being the preacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Hughes of Seward street are in Atlantic City, where Mr. Hughes, who is treasurer of the Putnam Savings bank, is attending a national bankers' convention.

Reports today were that the tag day of the local Salvation Army post, held Saturday, netted a substantial return, which will be added to the annual maintenance drive funds which are now being collected.

There was a large portion of the Putnam high school student body in attendance at the promenade of the junior class of Tourtellotte Memorial high school held Friday evening in the school auditorium in North Grosvenordale.

PLAINFIELD

When the Plainfield Woman's club met Thursday at the Community house, with the president, Mrs. Butler in the chair, nineteen members were present. A short business session was followed by an excellent program arranged by Mrs. Exley and Mrs. Bradford. There were interesting readings and games, prizes being awarded Mrs. Alice Gallup, Mrs. Lottie Gallup and Mrs. Butler. During the social hour which followed dainty refreshments were served, the hostesses being Mrs. Starkweather and Miss Tillinghast. This was the last regular meeting until October.

Windham County W. C. T. U. is to hold its forty-fourth annual convention at the Methodist church at Canterbury Plains, Wednesday, May 21. Mrs. K. A. Darbie of Danielson will have charge of the worship period in the morning. Business will be transacted. Rev. E. St. John, pastor of the church, and Mrs. Bliven will give addresses of welcome. At noon, a prayer and memorial service will be led by Miss Lucy Baldwin. The afternoon meeting will open with song, followed by a prayer by Rev. Harry E. Small of Canterbury. There will be an address by the state president, Mrs. Welles, also one by Rev. Dr. David A. Pitt, of Norwich.

Miss Billings will meet interested members of the Woman's club at Grange hall Wednesday, May 21, at 10.30 a. m. Each member attending has been requested to bring lunch and material for sewing or millinery.

Miss Joan M. Kirby has returned from Washington, D. C., where she attended the Red Cross convention when 1200 delegates from all over the world were present, while President Hoover was delivering his address of Welcome. A telephone call came from Nashua, N. H., asking for aid. In half an hour, nurses, canteen and field workers were on their way. Miss Kirby bring back a message to Plainfield, "In time of disaster are we prepared?" She has called a meeting of the Red Cross at Plainfield Community house, Tuesday evening, May 20th, at 7.45, to form a disaster relief corps. While in Washing, Miss Kirby was entertained at the Walter Reed hospital where she met Miss Irene Evans, of Plainfield, a student nurse at this hospital. Walter Reed is one of the largest and best hospitals in the country.

Mrs. Robert Generous and Mrs. John Kingsley, with Mrs. Lawrence Drescher and Mrs. John Drescher, of Baltic, attended the minstrel show, Thursday evening, at the school in Leffingwell, where Miss Doris Generous teaches.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stubbs returned home Tuesday from a short stay at their cottage at Groton Long Point.

Mrs. Vernon Royle and son Vernon, have been visitors at Fishers Island, N. Y.

Rev. George L. Drowne plans to attend the annual Diocese convention which is to be held in Christ church at Hartford next Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Jennie Wilde is at a private hospital in New London, where she has undergone an operation.

John Taylor has resigned as second hand in the cloth room at Lawton mills where he has worked for eighteen years. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left Wednesday for Thompson, Conn., where they are to make there home in the old homestead of Mrs. Taylor's mother. Many friends regret their leaving the village.

A baseball game, Wednesday evening, between the girls of the cloth room and the girls of the winding room of Lawton mills, was greatly enjoyed by the biggest crowd that ever attended a local ball game. Features of the game was the hitting of three home runs in the second inning by Mary Rose Bessett. The same inning the cloth room girls, captained by Pearl Lener brought in eight runs. There was real duel at pitching between Cora Cleveland and Florence Bazinett. Miss Varrier, first baseman for the cloth room, made several one-hand catches. Florence Bazinett and Cora Cleveland both made two-base hits. Yvonne Mette, captain of the Winders, was a star at left field. Coach Irving Flagg won credit for coaching and managing the teams. There was excellent work in umpiring by Pete Handfield. Jessie Currier, shortstop, saved two runs from coming in while Annie Watson and Ethel Daignan starred in double plays. Another game will be played next Friday night, then the rubber will be played. The losing team will pay for a turkey supper at the Lawton inn. The cloth room won the first game, 22-19.

Plainfield chapter of the Red Cross sent a check to the Nashua, N. H., relief work.

A number of K. of C. members from this town attended the State convention at Norwich, during the week.

JEWETT CITY

DOG CAPTURES BENSUK—IN NORWICH JAIL FOR ARSON

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, May 18.—At 11:50 Friday night, Engine No. 1 and Chemical No. 1 responded to an alarm for a fire on Railroad avenue. When the department arrived the rear of the building, the stairs, porch and roof of the double house owned by John Dziedzic was burning fiercely, all on the outside. Three streams were gotten on, and the fire was soon under control. All escape by the stairway was cut off for members of the family of Arthur Plante, who occupy the tenement on the second floor. A girl boarder, with two others of the tenants, were lowered to safety from the street side by men who formed a human chain, before the firemen arrived. The women in their night clothes were wrapped in the firemen's rubber coats from the big truck. Just before midnight, Patrolman Henry Vegiard on his regular beat was trying the doors at the Big Y grain store, when he heard the sound of breaking glass and a small explosion. Then, as he saw the light of the fire blaze up from a nearby building, he made out the figure of a man running along toward the railroad yards. When he called to the man to stop and he failed to hold up, the officer spoke to his police dog to "get him." The trained animal was on the job in an instant and held his man while the officer turned in the alarm. The blaze being all on the outside, suspicious circumstances were evident at once. Saturday morning the prisoner was found to be Kondrat Bensuk, 40, of 74 Dey street. Fire Marshal George H. Prior called State Police Superintendent Hurley of Hartford, who, after hearing the facts, notified Lieut. Ross V. Urquhart of the Danielson barracks to investigate the case. He, with Officer Prior, other state troopers and Prosecuting Attorney R. J. Dudkowski, visited the prisoner in his cell at the police station. At first Bensuk, who was somewhat under the influence of liquor the night before, declared he knew nothing about the blaze. It was learned that Bensuk's step-daughter, who was one of the women rescued at the burning building, lived with the family of Plante. On several occasions Bensuk had made trouble for the girl and the Plante family, claiming he wanted her to live with him. This she repeatedly refused to do. During a second visit to the prisoner, and when faced with accusation and evidence of the facts of his behavior, Bensuk finally confessed to the officers that he had set the building on fire. His story told of his going to a place on Brown avenue, where he purchased a bottle of alcohol. After drinking a quantity, with the idea of fortifying himself for the commission of the deed he had in mind, he crept up the stairs in the rear on the Plante tenement. On the landing was a small porch with a closed-in section at one end. All this place, the door, the side of the house and the stairs, he soaked with alcohol, touched a match in several places and then attempted to make his escape, only to be overhauled by Officer Vegiard's dog. The damage to the building by fire and water was less than $1,000. The home of Mrs. Caroline Maynard on Brown avenue, where Bensuk claimed he bought the alcohol, was visited by the state troopers. A small quantity of liquor was found, which may result in one or more arrests. In the town court, Saturday evening, Judge John T. Barry bound the prisoner over to the criminal term of the superior court, charged with arson. Not being able to procure the $3,000 bond, Bensuk was taken to the Norwich jail to await trial.

JEWETT CITY TWILIGHT LEAGUE FOR SEASON OF 1930

The first game of the newly organized Jewett City Twilight league will be played on the Fisk grounds this (Monday) evening at 6:30. The lot has been put in first class shape and a new back-stop has been built. The line-up of the four teams has been selected and enthusiasm all through the borough is at the top-notch stage. Warden E. J. Jodoin will throw out the first ball, when the K. of C. will play the Campers. Stanley Malek is official scorer. The umpires of the first game will be Lionel E. Boucher and William J. Robertson, the latter being one of the star performers in the Jewett City team of a few years ago. There is to be no admission charge to any of the coming 24 games of the summer. The generosity of the hundreds of local fans, which never yet has failed, will be again relied upon to finance the expenses of each game. The teams are evenly matched, all local non-professional players, who are anxious to furnish a season of good, clean sport on the local diamond.

The following schedule, arranged by Hal Chase, has been adopted for the season:

Monday, May 19—Campers vs. K. of C.

FUNERAL

Mrs. Harry Remick

Funeral services for Mrs. Harry Remick were held at her home on Main street Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. W. J. Reynolds of Lisbon officiated at the service. Miss Doris Myott sang Abide With Me and Lead Kindly Light. Burial was in Jewett City cemetery, relatives and friends acting as bearers. The floral remembrances from the family, Riverside grammar school, her class and teachers; American Legion auxiliary and many friends were very beautiful. A delegation from the auxiliary to the American Legion post was in attendance. Undertaker George G. Grant of Taftville was in charge of the arrangements.

There was an attendance of about 250 at the meeting of Pachaug grange Thursday evening with visitors present from Norwich, Ekonk, Plainfield, Salem, Killingly, Coventry, Groton, Southington and Westfield, Mass. granges. The program included musical selections, song, Smile, Smile, Smile, by all; trio, from Lisbon grange, with Mrs. Jesse Phillips at the piano, George Helmboldt, bass violin and Charles Helmboldt, violin; vocal duet, Tracy Brothers of Canterbury grange; a kitchen band from Preston City grange, with Mrs. Marion Hall as leader, was highly enjoyed. The feature of the evening was an address by Charles M. Gardner of Springfield, Mass., high priest of demeter of the National grange, who held the close attention of the large audience by his inspiring message. There were remarks for the good of the order by Charles M. Gardner, Charles M. Adams of Groton, Steward of Conn. State grange, also Herman Frink, Elmer Green and Charles Perry, masters respectively of Ekonk, Plainfield and Shetucket granges. Pachaug grange goes to Ekonk this (Monday) evening, and will furnish three numbers on a Neihbors' night program which begins at 8:30 (D. S. T.)

The Legion auxiliary meets this (Monday) evening the chapter room.

Rev. A. H. Clement returned to Malek's hotel on Saturday, after a few weeks' stay at Backus hospital.

Mrs. E. A. Faust and Mrs. Walter Marshall were appointed delegates from the Congregational church Sunday to the New London Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers to be held in Niantic Tuesday. Mrs. E. S. Hiscox was appointed delegate to the council which meets at Groton on the same afternoon, to dismiss Rev. Henry W. Hulbert, who is retiring from the ministry.

Mrs. Frank Colesworthy of Worcester is visiting Mrs. G. H. Prior.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Prior and Mrs. Gertrude Sparks were in Providence Saturday to attend the May day celebration at Brown university.

NO. GROSVENORDALE

Mrs. Olimbia Becca, who is believed by police to have made the two mysterious breaks into the home of John Demetrie, who has lost large sums of money, jewelry and clothing within the past six months, was bailed out of Brooklyn jail by relatives. Her case will come up in the town court today, May 19.

David Derosiers, Joseph Fournier and Joseph Blanchette, of the Knights of Columbus, attended the state convention at Norwich.

The Legion auxiliary will open the annual poppy drive May 24. Mrs. William Prince is chairman.

Thursday evening, the Woman's auxiliary will meet, Mrs. William Prince presiding. Plans relative to Memorial day will be discussed.

Shower for Miss Forcier

Miss Malvina Forcier received many gifts when 90 friends and relatives gathered at the Girls' club rooms to shower her. The Girls' club, of which she is a member, presented her a 100-piece dinner set. The evening was spent playing games and in dancing. Present were: Mrs. Celina Forcier, Marie R. FIRE DEPT. IN MONTVILLE

That meeting of the citizens of the town of Montville which has been called for the purpose of discussing and authorizing the organization of a fire company in that town is one that should draw out a large representation of Montville property owners.

Montville is a large town. It has many residents. It numbers many industrial plants, many dwellings and other property which might be seriously damaged by fire. At certain of these plants provisions have had to be made to meet emergencies but there are times when fire makes its appearance in unexpected places and whether means of fighting it exist or not conditions have developed which made it necessary to secure assistance from other places.

There are times when such help can be extended and there are times when it cannot. Many are the calls which are made upon those equipped to fight fire and while the desire to be of assistance in case of distress is fully appreciated it cannot be overlooked that there are handicaps as to distance, lack of sufficient equipment and men and water supply, which must be taken into consideration except in unusual situations.

Montville doesn't figure prominently as a fire center. Houses are scattered and for the most part small, but there is never any telling what the future holds in store. Because of this uncertainty stress may well be laid upon prevention, but as a guard for such disregard as prevails in that respect the importance of having some means of fighting fire cannot be disregarded, and in these days of motor-driven apparatus much service can be expected from and rendered by a fire company, equipped and ready to go on comparatively short notice.

In considering the provision of such protection, Montville is alert to its best interests. It is considering action which has already been adopted by others and it is setting an example which still others may profitably follow. The villages and towns are in a position to do much for themselves these days by having apparatus of their own which can cover much ground and it will be surprising if there are not plenty of young men who would be eager to become volunteers in such an organization. It will not be surprising to see Montville come forth with a real fire department which will grow as occasion and demands require. It is a laudable ambition on its part.

BETTER COOPERATION ON ROADS

From his tour of England, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Stoeckel found much to commend. He was impressed by the manner in which auto drivers assumed responsibility, endeavored to help the other fellow, and the excellent results it gets from less supervision than in this country.

Writing to the United States Daily, about English motoring conditions, Commissioner Stoeckel sets forth that "everybody is a traffic man. It is everybody's business that a car be properly directed and all drivers, pedestrians and even the man seated on his porch, help by suggestion and direction. Always, too, in a kind and matter of fact way."

Further than that, he points to the aid that is given by the A. A. club in sending men who know all conditions and are mechanics for all parts of a car about the country to aid those who need it and at certain points to direct traffic, even though they have no authority and can enforce no regulations. His aid is not restricted to members of the club.

More responsibility is placed with each driver, pedestrians get less help and there is less recklessness on the part of drivers and pedestrians. Evidently it is the practice across the water in many instances to let traffic direct itself. The commissioner suggests that this is something we might try, but he wisely adds that "such a tryout might be dangerous in the extreme unless everybody understood plainly that he was on his own."

Evidently there is a cooperation among highway users in England which does not exist in this country. Here there are regulations forced by a certain number which are respected for the most part while it is thought there is supervision, but less faithfully observed by certain ones when it is thought the "state cop" is not around. That assumption of responsibility on the part of auto drivers which seems to prevail in England is decidedly conspicuous by its absence in this country. We shudder to think what these same reckless drivers would do if there were no regulations at all. That there is much room for better cooperation among highway users must be fully recognized. Most of the accidents are needless and yet the fellow who tried to prevent some of them could expect to be insulted for his efforts. The authorities find that out in trying to enforce regulations.

DOWN IN HAITI

The republic of Haiti has been clamoring for a change. It has not been without results. American marines haven't been withdrawn and probably be for some time, but the Borno government has been brought to an end and President Roy, a man in whom there appears to be general confidence, has been placed in office.

This is a temporary matter. President Roy is to hold the office until it is possible for the people of Haiti to participate in a general election, elect senators and deputies and in turn, under the provisions of the constitution, have a new president selected by the new congress. The expectations are that President Roy will set the machinery into operation to this end. It will give the people of that republic an opportunity to demonstrate how prepared they are to participate in such a political contest and how well they can pick their new congress as to secure the chief executive that is desired.

This forthcoming election should mean much to Haiti. That republic wants the American marines withdrawn. This country is quite as anxious to bring them home, but it is fully aware of the danger of making such a move prematurely. Thus it rests with the Haitians to show what they can do in the way of conducting an election, picking a wise government and selecting officials who will work for the best interests of the island government. It is because of the conditions which prevailed there in the past that the Americans have been for a number of years in the island. There can be no desire on the part of the Haitians that those conditions should return. The time is ripe to indicate that they not only have gone, but gone forever. Let it be shown by the islanders that sane and sound government will be insured and there will be no hesitancy in recalling the marines.

The fact is that it will be a bit disappointing if the Haitians do not show in the next few months that a certain number of them can be withdrawn and that all of them can be gradually brought home. It will be surprising if recognition is not given to this by the people of Haiti on every opportunity.

TARIFF LEGISLATION

Chief interest in Washington at the present time is centered upon the tariff bill, and what is going to become of it. Here is a piece of legislation that has undergone many changes and after many months is still hanging in the balance. It is not finished and there's no telling whether it ever will be.

Just at present there is a situation which can be cleared up only by the senate. With the conferees from the house refusing to go any further in the deliberations until the senate releases the senate members and permits them to effect a compromise, they have indicated that if the senate holds to its attitude no tariff bill can be expected. On the other hand, if the senate members are permitted to negotiate with the house members, there will be a bill upon which favorable or unfavorable action can be taken. To have the bill die in conference might be satisfactory to some. It would, nevertheless, represent a tremendous waste of time and money. It would disclose a failure to take care of conditions which need attention and, as matters stand, all because of the long fight that the coalition has been maintaining in the senate to have its own way and embarrass the administration.

However much there are certain senators who seem to be wedded to the debenture plan and opposed to the flexible tariff provision, they must assume the responsibility of preventing tariff revision, including the help they have been seeking for agriculture, if they insist upon their stand. The situation has gotten to a point where compromise efforts must prevail if there is to be any tariff legislation, or if, as it is believed, there is to be a tariff bill that will secure the approval of the president.

TAKE CARE OF OUR OWN

When the Hoover commission went into Haiti and studied the situation there it brought back a report which was looked upon as sensible. It is going to prove advantageous to Haiti.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., wasn't sent to Porto Rico as a commissioner, but he went as governor general. He has been making a study of conditions there and while we have known some of the handicaps under which that island is laboring he brings the situation freshly to mind on his temporary return to this country by his plea that something be done for the island.

This simply goes to back up what has been urged and sanctioned by others. It was the request of the president that attention be given to the island's needs and now hope lies in the possibility that congress will find the time to act on a second deficiency bill, which will include an appropriation of $3,000,000 for Porto Rico in the form of hurricane relief.

It is inevitable that Porto Rico should be pointed to as American territory. Even though it isn't a state and doesn't have representation in congress, our responsibility nevertheless prevails there. It wants statehood but it is not considered that the time is ripe for it. There is no good reason why such help as might be extended to it as a state should not be forthcoming as an American possession.

This country has the reputation of being particularly generous when it comes to aiding others in distress. It cannot afford to let the impression get abroad that it fails to take care of its own. Porto Rico is not only suffering from hurricane devastation, but that represents an emergency condition which should be relieved and through that certain other conditions will be helped. The island must do a great deal in the way of self-help but the chance for some fine inspirational work lies before congress.

THE OFFENDING CHERUB

Sonia glanced in dismay about the small apartment. Her beautiful silk embroidered sofa pillows were crushed beyond recognition and swathed in discarded and wornout finery from her wardrobe. And these things only marked the beginning of the havoc which swept across the living room.

"Oh, the little imp." Sonia smothered a wail of despair. "Why did I promise my sister that I'd be responsible for Babs this week? What do people do with children when they're so altogether adorable and destructive? Elliot," she called, and in response a gray-haired woman wabbled through the doorway of the kitchenette. "You mustn't let Babs run wild like this. Don't you know you're here to look after the child while I'm at the office?"

"Yes, ma'am," replied Elliot respectfully, "but Miss Babs is a handful to manage."

"Just the same," returned Sonia sternly. "I don't intend to have my furnishings ruined and my new magazines cut up into paper dolls because my sister's child is visiting me." In high indignation she swept from the living room into the bedroom where Babs, tired from the day's adventures, breathed in blissful slumber on Sonia's white bed. Anger in Sonia melted to self-reproach as she watched the tiny figure, lying so still, looking so sweet and angelic. Humbly she returned to the living room, undressed the sofa pillows, set various misplaced objects in order. Elliot left for the night.

Sonia sat down before her small writing desk. She would tear up the letter she had written last night to George Hastings in reply to his impassioned proposal of marriage and write another one. She would make this new note businesslike and definite as was her well-ordered life. She would say, "I am too busy to think about love. It is altogether foolish for you to expect that we be anything but friends."

Last night she had written exactly what was in her heart, but instead of mailing the letter she had slipped it into her desk, because it was a habit with Sonia never to mail a letter after the first writing. During the lapse of a day she felt that she had discovered many reasons why she should not say to George Hastings what was in her heart. Now Sonia opened her desk and reached for last night's letter in order to destroy it. But it was not there.

"But I'm sure I put it here," she said aloud as her fingers searched frantically. "Could I have slipped it into my dresser drawer?" She flew to her dresser. But her search yielded nothing. "My purse." But it was not in her purse. She flew about madly, searching first in one place, then in another. "Elliot would never open my desk."

As a last resort came the suspicion of Babs. Sonia was horrified at such a notion. It seemed so probable. But Babs could not read. That was a satisfying factor. Maybe she had cut the letter into paper dolls. No doubt it rested now in shreds in the paper basket. She heard a small movement in the bedroom and hurried to the doorway. Babs was sitting up, rubbing her eyes.

"Babs, honey," Sonia sat on the bed and stroked the curly head, "do you remember getting into Aunt Sonia's desk today? Did you play with a letter? Think real hard, darling." Babs' face lighted.

"Umhum," she yawned sleepily, "I put it in 'ittle winsy gold box outside big door."

"Oh, no," cried Sonia in startled horror. "You couldn't, child. Not in the mail box?"

Sonia tried to think, tried to reason, and in the midst of her desperation the doorbell rang. In a maze of confusion she opened the door.

"George," she cried aghast. The next moment a young man swept her into his arms.

"My darling, I came in answer to your letter," he crooned and smothered her face with kisses. And Sonia nestled contentedly against the rough tweed of his overcoat.—Exchange.

A Washington Bystander

WASHINGTON May 18—That famous soldier, General George Washington, clearly had his troubles regulating habits of hard liquor drinkers among his troops.

There was no prohibition problem then, to be sure, rum being a standard ration issue for all army and navy folk in his day and for a long, long time thereafter.

But the general found it necessary to devise a system of his own for securing "proper" use which is outlined in an extract from the "orderly book" of his headquarters dug up by a military friend of the Bystander's with a taste for historical research.

Regulating Rum

The order, presumably a copy of a circular of direction sent by Gen. Washington to all officers of his forces, was entered in the book at headquarters, Newburgh, N. Y., "Thursday, May 16, 1782." It reads as follows:

"The general is extremely concerned to learn that an article so salutory as distilled liquor was expected to be, when properly used, and which was designed for the comfort and refreshment of the troops has been in many instances productive of ill consequences."

He calls the attention of officers of every grade to remedy these abuses and to watch over the health of their men; for which purpose he suggests the expedient of keeping liquor rolls in every corps, from which the name of every soldier shall be struck off who addicts himself to drunkenness or injures his constitution by intemperance; such soldiers as are struck off are not to draw liquor on any occasion; but are to receive other articles in lieu thereof—the quartermasters upon receiving such commuted articles are to receipt in full amount of the rations included in the returns that there may be no irregularities in the accounts.

Swallowing

"The vile practice of swallowing the whole ration of liquor at a single draught is also to be prevented, by causing sergeants to see it duly distributed daily, and mixed with water at stated times in which case instead of being pernicious it will become very refreshing and salutory.

"An object so essential to the health of the men ought not only to be superintended by the officer of police, as it is worthy to attract the attention of every officer who is anxious for the reputation of the corps to which he belongs, the welfare of the individuals and the good of the service, but it rests principally with the commandants of corps to have so useful a regulation carried effectually into execution as well as to preserve cleanliness, economy and good order within the spheres of their respective commands."

Further search by the Bystander's friend may later reveal something to show how this Washington method of enforcing temperance among his troops worked out. It would be interesting to know what the Father of His Country finally decided.

YOUR HEALTH

Spring Tonic

By Gilbert Harrison, Director, Bureau of Public Health Education, Oklahoma.
(From Gorgas Memorial Institute)

This is the time of year when bottles are brought out and shaken, and Johnnie keeps out of sight of his mother because he knows "spring tonic" time has arrived. A tradition has been handed down from the Garden of Eden that Eve gave Cain and Abel the equivalent of sulphur and molasses, and whatever may have been the effect on these first children, the practice has come down to this year of our civilization. Makers of patent medicines have gleefully capitalized the belief that children should be given medicine to cleanse the blood in the spring and their medicines for this purpose are legion, for they bring a large percentage of profit to the makers. Their beneficial results to the unfortunate victim are nil.

Children do need tonics in the spring. They need tonics in the winter, summer and fall as well. But the kind of tonic they need is not found in bottles. No medicine dispensed by man can equal the tonics bestowed by nature with a lavish hand—sunshine, fresh air, fruit, fresh vegetables, and such foods as milk and eggs. No tonic devised by man will cleanse the blood like these.

The belief that a tonic is needed in the spring comes from Johnnie's behavior at this time. He is restless and moody, can't keep his mind on his school work; has a faraway look in his eyes and is as restless as a dog looking for a place to sleep. In some cases the symptoms are worse. Some children who have had little fresh food, only a small amount of outdoor exercise, and no fresh air in their sleeping rooms, are pale and sickly like plants deprived of sunshine and moisture. They droop and have no vitality because they have been denied essential forms of health builders.

By all means give your children spring tonics, but let them be sunshine, outdoor exercise, fresh fruit and vegetables, not the so-called tonic mixtures. If your children look as if they needed medicine, have them examined by a reputable physician. If their living conditions are healthful, children should flourish like the young of other animals. If they fail to do so something must be wrong and a competent physician will locate the trouble and correct it if it is in the power of man to do so. Make spring tonic season the time to start afresh on the road to health, thus using an ancient tradition to the best advantage.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

Nanny Meadow Mouse Is In Despair

Pray never give way to despair;
'Twill all end right somehow, somewhere.
—Nanny Meadow Mouse.

Many, many times has Nanny Meadow Mouse been greatly frightened. Every Meadow Mouse is greatly frightened many times. Fright is a part of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest. Most of them barely escape with their lives time and again. So perhaps it is well that they recover quickly from fright. As Danny Meadow Mouse says: "When a thing's over, it's over; so why worry about it!"

Nanny Meadow Mouse ordinarily would have forgotten her fright almost the instant it was over, but the fright she had just had was so unusual that she couldn't forget it so easily. Just think how you would feel if you were in a dark box and a great giant picked up that box and carried you off in it, swinging it back and forth and finally tossing it away to land with a crash. Just try to think how you would feel, and then you will know somewhat how Nanny Meadow Mouse felt. You see she was in an old oilcan that Farmer Brown's Boy has picked up and finally thrown into the bushes, where it would be out of sight. Of course, he hadn't known that Nanny was in it.

When that can landed in the bushes it happened to fall in such a way that it remained standing upright. Now, as you know, the only entrance to the can was in the top. After the shock of the landing of the can on the ground, Nanny lay shivering and shaking for a few minutes, wondering what would happen next. Looking up she could see the blue, blue sky—just a wee bit of it—through the little round doorway. Of course, being inside that can, she could see nothing of what Farmer Brown's Boy was doing. She strained her ears and she heard his footsteps gradually sounding fainter and fainter. Finally all was still. Presently she faintly heard the notes of Carol the Meadow Lark singing over on the Green Meadows. A hornet buzzed for a few moments at the little round doorway and then went on. Nanny's heart then stopped beating so fast.

"I'll wait a few minutes more," thought she, "and then I'll go out and have a look around. That great giant certainly has gone away. I don't know what has happened, but I have a feeling that I am a long way from where I was when that giant came along."

So Nanny waited to go out. Until that very minute she hadn't realized that the only doorway that she had was now in the roof, so to speak. You see, when she had made that old can her home it had been on its side and the little round doorway had, of course, been just where it always should be. Now the can was standing upright and that round doorway was above her head. When she realized this Nanny had another fright. She couldn't climb the sides of that tin can. Of course, not! No one, no matter how good a climber, can climb a smooth tin wall. She couldn't jump up to that little round doorway. She tried and tried, but it was of no use. She was a prisoner! There was no doubt about it—she was a prisoner! The worst of it was, she couldn't see but that she would have to remain a prisoner.

"Oh dear! Oh dear!" cried Nanny. "I shall have to stay in this dreadful place until I starve to death! I can eat my bed, but then I shall starve. Oh dear! Oh dear!"

Nanny's bed was made of grass and Nanny eats grass. That is why she said that she could eat her bed. Poor little Nanny Meadow Mouse! Do you wonder that she was in despair!

A YANKEE ABROAD

Australia Grows Bold

LONDON—Australia has been pilfering the imperial jam again, with the result that Mother England is much shocked and more than a little disturbed.

The trouble is that Aussie has got so big that he can't be spanked without embarrassment, to say the least, and about all mother can do is to fold her arms, shake her head, and sigh: "Oh, that boy!"

Australia's latest is to insist on the appointment of a native born governor-general, in place of an Englishman, for the Commonweath.

Sir Isaacs, chief justice of the Australian high court, is the man whom King George has been asked to approve for this great position, which heretofore always has been held by a native of the British Isles.

This represents a revolution in the relations between Mother England and Australia, for the governor-general is the king's own personal representative, named by the Imperial throne, and never before has Australia made such a radical claim to independence.

Labor Man

The trouble started when Premier Scullin and his labor government were swept into power in the recent election. One of the main planks of the party provided for the abolition of governors-general "imported" from England. Hence the putting forward of the name of a native born son.

Some political writers in England have been remarking that Premier Scullin seems to have overlooked his majesty's prerogatives. Others lean to the opinion that Premier Scullin was simply carrying out the wishes of his party.

Australia, too, has been split over this radical move, and the Melbourne Argus, one of the leading newspapers in the Commonwealth, says:

"The idea of a native-born governor-general, Australians are not prepared to accept as a worthy precedent. It is not too much to say that those who noisily press the claims of Australians are inspired with the despicable hope that such a move will snap one more link with the Motherland."

Independence

All this makes me look back to the Paris Peace Conference where the Dominions first made a successful demand that they be recognized as independent commonwealths within the Empire.

I recall that during the conference, one Australian who since has achieved great political distinction in Australia, remarked to me:

"If Australia had a population of 50,000,000 we should cut loose from England today. We are staying in the empire from purely selfish motives. Our population is only 6,000,000 and, frankly, we need the British navy to protect us. But wait until we have that 50,000,000 and see us go!"

Stories That Recall Others

Hat in the Ring

He was dressed in blue overalls and his face carried a look of grim determination, if not a scowl. As it was his first day in the schools he was somewhat inclined to be rather quiet in the early morning hours of his classroom work. Then with the ringing of the recess bell he calmly strolled to the playground, rolled up his sleeves and said:

"Well, do any of you city guys want to fight?"

Fifty Cent Sympathy

A man who is widely known is lamenting the loss of a topcoat notwithstanding the nearness of "good old summertime." He had spent 50 cents to have the coat pressed and after the work was done he placed the coat, neatly folded in his auto, which was parked and unlocked. He left the car and returned soon to find the coat gone. "And right after I had had it pressed," he said in ending the story.

The only sympathy he got was a comment something like this:

"So you are out 50 cents, eh?"

SPEAKS FOR PATIENCE WITH RUSSIAN SITUATION

Under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association Sunday evening at the service at the Central Baptist church, Edgar MacNaughton, foreign work secretary of the national council of the Y. M. C. A., spoke in a particularly interesting way of conditions in Russia, where he has spent a number of years in his official position.

Mr. MacNaughton was introduced by President Herbert B. Cary, who presided at the service, and there were tenor solos finely given by Maurice Waller of Hartford.

The speaker discussed many phases of the situation in Russia, which is going through an upheaval which runs the whole gamut of life. In this connection he spoke of manufacturing, agriculture, the attitude towards religion, and the five-year programme for socialization.

He spoke of different developments with which he said he could not agree, but he counselled patience and said that Russia is under a type of control which it is difficult for us to understand at this long range.

Rev. Dr. David A. Pitt read the Scripture and offered prayer at the service.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Francis D. Grady

As the result of injuries received in a recent fall, Mrs. Frances E. Watson (Grady), widow of Francis DeCourcy Grady, died Saturday morning at the Sheltering Arms. Mrs. Grady was born in Willimantic Dec. 27, 1852, but had lived in Norwich practically all her life.

For 48 years Mrs. Grady resided at No. 75 Oneco street, and entered the Sheltering Arms April 24, 1924. She joined Park Congregational church in 1888 and at one time was a member of Hope Rebekah lodge, No. 21, I. O. O. F. Of a quiet nature, Mrs. Grady was a woman of culture and charm, was devoted to her home and was beloved by her family and many friends.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Irena G. Holmes, a grandson, Howard W. Holmes, and three great-grandchildren, Pauline, Howard, Jr., and Robert Holmes. There are also a cousin, Miss Sarah E. Wood, of Riverside, Cal., a nephew, Marcus F. Grady, and a niece, Mrs. DeTrafford Mowrey, of Norwich, also a nephew and niece, Albert Leach and Mrs. Samuel LaFlamme, of Waterbury.

N. E. Nielsen.

N. E. Nielsen, 38, of No. 1447 McComb road, New York city, died May 16 at his home after an illness of about four months. Mr. Nielsen was born in Copenhagen, Denmark, and came to this country about 25 years ago.

Mr. Nielsen was employed as a decorator's helper in Denmark, and followed this occupation in this country. Later he became associated with the Thomas Cusack Co., and the O. J. Gude Co., as a bulletin painter.

It was the strong desire to create his own designs that led Mr. Nielsen from his position as creative artist with the General Outdoor Advertising Co., into the free lance field where he was destined to attain an enviable reputation. While free lancing Mr. Neilsen is credited with creating the first original technique in design in a number of years, that of the current posters advertising a well known brand of cigarettes.

He is survived by his widow, Anna (Chmielewski) Nielsen, formerly of this city, and two sons, Frederick and Norman Nielsen of New York, a brother in Texas and his parents in Copenhagen.

The funeral was held last Tuesday and burial was in Mt. Hope cemetery, New York. Stanley J. Chmielewski, of this city, brother of Mrs. Nielsen, was among those who attended the funeral.

Daniel Shields

After an illness of several months, Daniel Shields, 67, of 85 Cliff street, died Sunday morning at 6 o'clock. Mr. Shields was born in Norwich, Sept. 1, 1862, the son of the late Thomas and Anne McGrath Shields, and had always made his home in this city. He was a member of St. Mary's parish and of the Foresters of America and at one time served as a member of the town school board.

Mr. Shields was a machinist by trade and up to the time of his illness was employed by the J. B. Martin Co. His wife died several years ago. Mr. Shields is survived by one daughter, Miss Mary E. Shields, at home. He was well known and universally liked by his numerous friends and acquaintances who are deeply grieved to learn of his death.

FUNERALS.

Patrick H. Welch.

With many relatives and friends present the funeral of Patrick H. Welch was held Saturday morning at 8.15 o'clock at his home, No. 116 West Thames street, and at 9 o'clock there was a requiem mass at St. Patrick's church, Rev. Myles P. Galvin was celebrant of the mass and Henry J. LaFontaine presided at the organ. At the processional Chopin's Funeral March was played and at the offertory Roderick F. Sullivan and Mr. LaFontaine sang De Profundis. As the waiting hymn Mr. Sullivan sang What Shall I Render, and the recessional number was Lead, Kindly Light.

The interment was at St. Mary's cemetery, Monsignor Michael H. May, conducting the committal service. The bearers were Timothy Brewer, Michael Riordan, Patrick Diffley, George Mahoney and William Fitzgerald, all of Norwich, and John Sheridan, of New London. There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes and mourners were present from New York, Hartford, Arlington, N. J., and other places. Undertakers Cummings and Ring had charge of the funeral arrangements.

MAN'S BODY FOUND HANGING IN WOODS IN LANTERN HILL SECTION

The body of Frank Roath, 45, of New Haven, was found hanging from a tree in the Lantern Hill section of the town of Ledyard, Sunday morning about 9 o'clock. The man is thought to have hanged himself while mentally depressed. He had been a patient some years ago at the Norwich state hospital, but had been discharged.

About two weeks ago Mr. Roath's father died in New Haven, and since that time he appeared to have been depressed mentally. He came to Lantern Hill shortly afterwards and had been staying with Frank Yerrington at the latter's bungalow.

Mr. Yerrington last saw Roath alive late Friday night, Mr. Yerrington left him at the bungalow when he went to his employment at the Norwich state hospital. He paid but little attention to Roath's absence from the bungalow Saturday, thinking that the man had gone fishing or was on a hike through the woods.

Becoming alarmed at his failure to return to the bungalow Saturday night, Mr. Yerrington instituted a search for him and he was found hanging from a tree near a path in the vicinity of the bungalow.

Dr. N. B. Lewis, medical examiner, was notified and conducted an investigation, Undertaker C. A. Gager being given permission to remove the body. Mr. Roath was the son of the late William and Christine Hager Roath and was born in Germany. He was a machinist by trade.

Surviving are his wife, a son and two brothers, all of New Haven. Relatives came here from New Haven Sunday to make arrangements for the funeral.

GRANGE ATTENDS SERVICE AT TRINITY METHODIST CHURCH

By invitation of Rev. Joseph Cooper, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, Norwich grange, No. 172, Patrons of Husbandry, attended the service there Sunday evening. The grange members met in the vestry and marched into the church in a body as the processional hymn was sung. The anthem by the chorus choir was Gounod's "Praise Ye the Father," and the offertory selection was "Now the Day Is Over" by Marks.

The sermon by Rev. Mr. Cooper was upon the theme, Strength Helping Weakness, and he spoke from the text Romans 15:1, "Ye that are strong ought to bear the burdens of the weak."

In part, he spoke as follows:

In every community there are strong men and women in body and mind, in moral impulse, in social service, in spiritual force. They give growth to the best things, they are the real pillars of society. It is a great thing to be strong, able to carry one's self over the quaking bogs of life, to assert and protect your own interests, to run your own life without having to depend too largely upon the strength of others. But over against these strong folks are many who are weak.

Now the strong man might argue quite plausibly that he has a right to keep his strength for his own use and not spend it upon the weak.

The selfish retention and the use of power by the strong is the essence of the old materialistic philosophy. The very terms it uses show us its sinister meaning. "The survival of the fittest"; "the weakest must go to the wall"; "every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost."

The spirit of Christianity cuts across this selfish and inhuman view of life. It brings a transforming power for the good of the unfit. It asserts the right of the weak as well as of the strong. Jesus opposed the selfish human nature by the power of divine grace. The law of selfishness is supplanted by the law of love.

That the strong should bear the burdens of the weak and not please themselves arises from several considerations; from the inescapable relations we owe to each other. We cannot live alone if we tried and most of us do not wish to try. We touch shoulders with other men and women. Our lives are intermingled. Our goodness makes it easier for our neighbors to be good. The strength of my neighbor is my pride, his weakness is an opportunity to my strength to help.

Gratitude for the possession of strength provides us with an unselfish motive for its use in the service of others. Every man in the possession of anything of value is responsible for its use in the service of others—both to the community and to God. This has been our national ideal from the start. The spirit of altruism has largely actuated our policy towards other nations. We have only done what we ought to have done. To whom much is given much is required.

Helping the weak into strength makes them of increased value to the community. The investment of our strength has returned in untold dividends of good to ourselves and to others.

Helping the weak by the strong gives greater strength to the strong. Power accumulates by use. The faster the spring water is used the sweeter it becomes. Ability to help grows with our willingness to help. Growth depends upon exercise. We go from strength to strength.

LISBON SCHOOLS WILL HOLD PUBLIC EXHIBITION

The annual public exhibition and demonstration for the schools of the town of Lisbon is to be held in Lisbon Central school during the afternoon and evening of Wednesday. The exhibition work will include woodwork, sewing, iron decorations, art work, booklets, etc.

The demonstration work will include two and three part singing. The upper grades in the Learned school will demonstrate "Old School Methods." In contrast the Lisbon Central school will present an adaptation of an article entitled "Father Visits Our School" by the seventh and eighth grade pupils. There will also be presented a play which has been written in connection with the problem that the seventh and eighth grades have been studying during the year. The fifth and sixth grades will demonstrate how a banking problem sets their school work up in a life situation resulting in their acquiring the necessary information, attitudes and habits in a life situation. The third and fourth grades will demonstrate a "Health House" as conducted with the health work of the school. The first and second grades will demonstrate the activities as carried on in their room.

Music will be furnished by the Blissville orchestra.

CORONER HELD INQUEST OVER WOMAN'S DEATH

An inquest into the death of Mrs. Edward Frechette, 20, of 229 Prospect street, was held Saturday morning by Coroner Edward G. McKay at his office on Shetucket street. Mrs. Frechette died May 3rd at the W. W. Backus hospital from peritonitis, alleged to have been caused by an induced abortion. The hearing was to determine whether the woman died because of an illegal operation and, if so, to determine the responsible party. Coroner McKay reserved decision.

Witnesses at the hearing were Dr. William B. Casey and the woman's husband, Edward Frechette. County Detective William E. Lewis has been investigating Mrs. Frechette's death and has submitted a report to the coroner.

Had Fit at Ball Game

During the Academy-Bulkeley baseball game here Saturday afternoon, William Pascucci of 29 Thames street, who was one of those in the left field crowd was taken with a fit and had to have medical attention. Dr. R. R. Agnew responded to a call and had the man taken to the Backus hospital by automobile. He was able to leave the hospital Sunday.

EARLY RESPONSES TO SALVATION ARMY APPEAL

R. D. Butler, of the Boston headquarters of the Salvation Army, who is in charge of the Norwich appeal to raise $5,000 wherewith to carry on the charitable activities of the organization during the current year, is highly elated by the receipt of a number of voluntary contributions before the appeal was officially opened. The first batch of letters appealing to the people of Norwich for the support of the Salvation Army was mailed on Saturday, thereby officially opening the campaign. The charitable citizens who are sponsoring this appeal are in the hope that the Salvation Army will receive a generous response to its call for help to the deserving poor, which is very urgent this year.

The voluntary contributions so far received have been acknowledged, and Mr. Butler is planning to acknowledge all donations, be they one dollar or $1,000. The Salvation Army is grateful to all who help in this charitable cause. The number of contributors who can give only one dollar have always been very large. These friends of the Salvation Army have greatly helped to make the quota in every campaign.

Ernest O. Rodier, chairman of the appeal, speaking about the need of the Salvation Army in Norwich said, "During last year's campaign the Salvation Army was greatly assisted by a generous woman of Norwich who contributed $500; there were also several donations of $100 and over. These kind donations not only help the cause, but they are an incentive and a reminder to others who are in position to help the poor of the city, who as a last resort appeal to the Salvation Army. I have first hand information of the work which the organization is doing in Norwich and I am sure that the donations serve a very worthy cause. Especially this year the need is very much more urgent than in other years."

Mr. Butler, who spent last week in the Salvation Army headquarters, 10 Cliff street, expressed amazement at the large amount of help the Salvation Army of Norwich is rendering to transient people. Mr. Butler said, "I have witnessed each day during the entire week from two to six strangers who are stranded in Norwich come to the Salvation Army for assistance. The conditions of some of these unfortunates was such that it can hardly be put into print. They were first given food, and in some instances clothing and shelter, also transportation to their destination. The Salvation Army officer meets these unfortunates with sympathy and with charity and does for them the best he can without exposing them to public humiliation. Captain and Mrs. Day tell me that the need among the deserving poor has been very serious this winter, and it continues to be a great drain upon the resources of the Salvation Army. I pray that all good people in making their donation to the Salvation Army in this appeal will think of the large number of unfortunates who are in dire need, and will be generous in their donations."

ENLISTING NORWICH MEN FOR STATE BANQUET

Tomorrow will be the last day upon which Secretary Richardson of the local chamber of commerce can file reservations for the coming annual meeting and banquet of the state chamber of commerce in Hotel Bond at Hartford on Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. The idea of the advance reservations is to enable Norwich people to sit at the same tables and in view of the fact that Hon. Charles S. Whitman is to be the speaker of the evening. Norwich people will be assured of a good location in the banquet hall. However, all who may decide to attend at the last moment are urged to do so and every effort to secure a table will be made.

This event is not only for chamber of commerce members but for all people of this vicinity who would be interested in attending a function of the state chamber of commerce and hearing ex-Governor Whitman. With every chamber of commerce in the state contesting for the attendance prize of a silver loving cup, Norwich has not yet reached a sufficient quota to be in the running but every effort to secure a large delegation is being made at local headquarters. Last year this city ran second for the prize and the added incentive of having a former boy of this section as the speaker should enable Norwich to win. Reservation may be made by calling the local chamber office.

PALACE THEATRE FILLED FOR RED ARROW SHOW

Nearly 1,500 children attended the Red Arrow show at the Palace theatre Saturday morning as guests of the Red Arrow club and the theatre management. Admission to the show was $2 in Red Arrow money. The program included several comedies and Vitaphone acts and the comedy hit of the season, Hold Everything.

Although the show was not scheduled to start until 9.30 o'clock, children began to arrive in front of the theatre as early as 8.15. Several minutes after the doors were opened the theatre was filled and the children, who were especially well behaved and orderly, were all seated. Shouts and laughter were evidence that the youngsters thoroughly enjoyed the performance. Several police officers were on hand to look after the hundreds of children as they were lining up in front of the theatre and 25 Boy Scouts aided in the ushering.

Max Hanover, treasurer of the Red Arrow club, welcomed the children. R. B. Hamilton, manager of the theatre, breifly addressed the children, giving them a hearty welcome. Mr. Hamilton's remarks were greeted with lusty cheering by the delighted children. The show came to a close about 12 o'clock and it took but two minutes to empty the theatre.

PRIZES AT PICNIC FOR SEWING CLASS MEMBERS

The annual picnic for the Sewing classes of the United Workers was held Saturday afternoon in Mohegan park. It was arranged for by the members of the club work committee. TO START SCOUT PATROL LEADERS' TRAINING CLASS

The fifth training course for Boy Scout leaders will be started this week by Scout Executive Sellman at Stafford Springs on Friday night at 1 o'clock. The course will be for patrol leaders, assistants and scribes and will run for a period of six weeks.

The last session of the Scoutmasters' training course was held in Stafford Springs last Thursday, May 15th. For those men who have not completed attendance requirements, participation in directing the patrol leaders' training course will count for credit.

Willington Boy Scout Troop.

A new troop will be started at Willington within the next week or so according to the scout executive who attended a meeting of the troop committee and went over plans for the organization of the troop. Rev. Hueston will probably have charnge of the troop.

"Now I Feel 100% Better"

"People told my mother how good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was for young girls, so I took it. I used to feel miserable at certain times but now I feel 100% better and have gained a little in weight too. I am only nineteen years old. I do not work but of course I help mother with the housework. We are both much pleased with the results from the Vegetable Compound and we recommend it to other girls who need it."—*Bernice M. BULKELEY PLAYS BRILLIANT GAME TO DEFEAT ACADEMY; SCORE 7 TO 1

Bulkeley, which had been searching for the key to a victory over the Academy for four long years, found it Saturday at the campus in the right arm of one Mr. Eugene Callahan. The slim Tiger hurler let the N. F. A. boys down with four hits, distributed over three innings while his mates, playing brilliant baseball, pounded out a 7 to 1 win off the offerings of Butsy Weisgraber, veteran Academy righthander. About 3,000 fans looked on.

It was the second defeat in twelve starts for the Academy and enabled Bulkeley to gain first place in the eastern Connecticut-Western Rhode Island league chase by a half-game margin.

Arico's Homer Saves Shutout

The Academy, entering the game slight favorites, were outplayed almost from the start. The pitching of Callahan, together with some timely batting by his team, proved more than enough to win. The Academy was saved from a shutout in the sixth inning when Alec Arico bounded a home run over the fence from deep centerfield. Bulkeley scored two in the second and third, one in the fourth and two more in the eighth.

Six N. F. A. Men See First

Only six Academy men reached first. Callahan retired the first 14 batters in order until Pepin singled into center in the fifth and Berghinzo followed with a two-bagger past third but Flather went out on a grounder to Gigliotti, unassisted. Arico's circuit swat came in the next inning. In the sixth, also, Gibbs hit a fly in short right that Beebe dropped, after a mix-up and Chubby made second by a beautiful slide, but Fontaine rolled to the pitcher for the third out. In the eighth Weisgraber singled past third with one out and stole second, but there he stayed while Arico and Reardon skied out and in the ninth Gibbs was safe on Brennan's error, with none out. Chubby stole second but remained there while Fontaine and Pepin fanned and Breen fouled out. In five of the innings, the Academy went out in order.

Bulkeley Scores First Two

Bulekely's first scoring came in the second inning when Beebe singled over second and Joe Murphy followed with a hit to left sending Beebe to third. Murphy took second and Brennan then squeezed both in with a bunt down the third base line. The second batter was an easy out for Breen, who unaware that Murphy was racing down the third base line to the plate, as he picked up the ball, threw over to first. Halifteras walked, with one out in the next frame and took second on a passed ball. Barclay singled to left to score him and Barclay took second on the throw-in. Gigliotti hit to Reardon, who fumbled and Barclay registered. One more in the third on a hit to center by Brennan, his steal of second, a wild pitch and John Murphy's hit to left.

Buonano opened the eighth with a Texas leaguer into left but was forced at second by Barclay. Gigliotti's single to center moved Barclay around to third and he checked in on Beebe's single to right. Flather muffed Brennan's drive and Gigliotti came home.

Weisgraber Fans 12

Weisgraber, although admittedly not himself, still had his strong spots as well as his weak ones. He retired the side in order in four of the innings and managed to get 12 on strikes. From the fifth to the seventh he struck out six of the nine men to face him. It was Butsy's first defeat in three starts by Bulkeley as he beat them last year, 5 to 3 and 12 to 0.

Fielding features were executed by the left side of both infields and Halifteras, the Bulkeley centerfielder, Gigliotti, the visiting first-sacker, also pulled a couple out of the dirt saving his mates from errors.

While the Academy was beaten beyond any alibi, still Bulkeley in winning had Old Lady Break on her side at every hand. Balls traveling like a bullet from Wildcat bats, time and again bounded conveniently into Tiger gloves and were converted into putouts. Callahan pitched a great game but he was also a fortunate boy on more than three or four occasions. Whether this situation can hold up twice in a row is something to talk about. The second game of the series comes Saturday at New London and maybe things will be different.

WILDCAT SCRATCHES

Everythin went great but the game. There was a dandy crowd on hand, plenty of enthusiasm and a fine day. The stands were packed, with fans strung out on both foul lines and in many other parts of the field. The centerfield fence was covered with burlap excluding many non-paying customers.

The bands of the two schools pleased everyone. They played a half-hour before the game and between the innings.

Bulkeley has no captain this year, being the only team in the league without a leader.

Chubby Gibbs went without a hit for the first time this year, breaking his string of eleven consecutive games.

The two Hartford umpires, to us, did a good job of it, although some think different. It is hard to please all in a game like this where there is so much rivalry.

What with Arico's homer and Berghinzo's double, the only extra base hits of the game, the Academy almost matched Bulkeley's in total bases, making eight to ten, but it was the singles that counted most Saturday.

Each team played through with their starting nine men. For a time, it looked like Boots Greene would be called upon to relieve Weisgraber but Butsy never allowed any big rallies to get underway, letting in a run or so and then putting on the brakes. It developed, though, that these small additions, piece by piece, made more than enough. Anyway, Butsy would have had to pitch shutout ball to win.

There were only four errors, two by each side. It so happened that the second baseman and right fielder on each team were the offenders.

BRAME PITCHES PIRATES TO VICTORY OVER CINCY

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 18—(AP)—Erwin Brame pitched the Pittsburg Pirates to a 2 to 1 victory over Bennie Frey and the Reds here today, knotting the count in the third with a home run over the center field wall and scoring the winning run in the fifth on Engle's single after he had doubled with two out. It was Frey's first loss in five starts. The Cincinnati recruit held the Pirates to eight hits while his mates gathered nine but the Reds were unable to cluster their blows at opportune times. BROOKLYN LEADS LEAGUE BY BESTING PHILS TWICE

BROOKLYN, May 18—(AP)—The Robins reached the top of the National league standing today when they twice defeated the Phillies before a capacity crowd of 30,000 here. Their three rivals, New York, Chicago and St. Louis each got even breaks for the day. Aided by perfect support, Jim Elliott scored a five hit shutout over the Phillies in the first game, which Brooklyn won by 3 to 0. Home runs by McCurdy, Sigman and Klein in the second contest failed to overcome an early Brooklyn lead and the Robins took that one too, by 7 to 5. The score:

TORONTO MAN BREAKS NATIONAL WALKING RECORD FOR 50,000 METERS

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)— Henry Sieman of Toronto won the National A. A. U. 50,000 meters walking championship today and broke the national record for the distance.

Sieman, covering the distance in four hours, 47 minutes, 48 seconds, shaved more than four minutes off the record of 4:52:06 set at Philadelphia last year by Mack Weiss of the Newark A. C. Weiss was entered in today's event but a leg cramp forced him to drop out after 24 miles.

Sieman finished approximately a mile and a half ahead of Harry L. Clark of Boston whose time was 5:01:14.

The next eight finishers with their times, were:

3—Charles Eschenbach, New York A. C.—5:12:18.
4—S. J. Goodsell, Toronto—5:15:26.
5—Anthony K. Podbielski, unattached—5:16:26.
6—Morris Davis, 92nd St. Y. M. H. A.—5:19:12.
7—Bob Jacoby, Brooklyn Harriers—5:20:57.
8—Frank Vasilopolos, unattached—5:22:58.
9—H. Hopson, Toronto—5:24:59.
10 — Rudolph Hantke, German-American A. C.—5:27:43.

The team championship went to the Central Y. M. C. A. Walker's club of Toronto of which all the Canadians entered are members.

The course was five times around Central park.

EDDIE REED TO REPLACE WILLIAMS ON SHYMA CLUB CARD WEDNESDAY

It has become necessary for the officials of the Shyma club, which is sponsoring its first outdoor boxing show at the J. B. Martin grounds, Taftville, Wednesday evening, to make a change in the semi-final bout due to an unavoidable injury that befell Joey Williams, who was slated to oppose Jose Routis. Dave Heyes, manager of Williams, informed Matchmaker Leo Flynn Saturday afternoon that Joey received a cut over an eye while training for the bout and would be unable to go on Wednesday evening, or for two or three weeks.

Faced with this setback, Matchmaker Flynn scanned the list of possible fighters that are now in condition to take on this tough French-Filipino, Routis, with the show only five days away and finally decided to secure Eddie Reed, of Hartford. Calling Reed's manager by telephone, he explained the predicament that the local club was in and his manager consented to put him on. A trip was made to Hartford and Reed's signature was affixed to the contract.

Matchmaker Flynn feels that in signing Reed the bout is improved, as Reed is in first class condition. He has been faithfully training for the past three weeks for his fight with Johnny Pena at the Hartford velodrome next Monday, the latter appearing here Wednesday night against Al. Beauregard.

Reed, who has only lost one fight in his last 37 set-tos, and is regarded as one of the best bantamweights in the state, has continuously challenged Beauregard for a match in which the local boy's title will be at stake. If Reed beats Routis it is possible that the Shyma officials will give him a chance to battle with Beauregard in a title affair.

Williams has been informed that he must be on hand Wednesday night to be examined by the boxing commission's doctor to show that he is not in condition to fight. This he is willing to do. Williams also said that he wishes to challenge the winner of the Reed-Routis bout, the battle to be staged as soon as his injury is better.

That classy little Danielson boxer, Rene Peloquin, who shows a world of aggressiveness in all fights, appears in a preliminary of six rounds with Long Sing Que of New York, Chinese battler, in what local fans predict will be one of the best bouts of this almost all-star card.

In a previous Shyma club bout these boys mixed it up for six rounds in good shape and the decision was awarded to the Danielson leatherpusher, Long Sing Que, through his manager, says that it will be a different story in the next match. But Rene, who has piled up a string of consecutive victories, is riding along on top of the waves and looks down upon this boy as just another fighter, who will materially help his cause.

In other words, he means to take the classy Chinese battler over. He claims that he has found out his (Que's) style of fighting and will have an easy time of it. His boastful remarks are founded upon good grounds as Rene has been fighting the best in his class and lately has been the winner in each instance. He has won something like nine straight fights in the past few months, and he does not want this record marred.

GIRL OF 5, LIKE MOZART, ALREADY COMPOSES MUSIC

CEDAR FALLS, Iowa, May 18—(AP)—Although only five years old, Patricia Anne Sampson of this town, already is attracting attention with her piano compositions.

Patricia is the daughter of a piano instructor in the state teacher's college. Like the famous Mozart, she is playing at an age when most children are too young to show signs of musical talent.

Although she has had no formal instruction from her father, G. W. Sampson, Jr., she has already composed a half dozen things. No attempt has been made to direct her and her ability has been permitted to develop.

A waltz, "Peter Pan," is her favorite, and also the favorite of many who have heard it. Permitting Patricia to go her own way was advised by Rudolph Ganz, president of the Chicago Musical college, after he had heard some of her works.

Ever since she was two years old, Patricia has clambered up before the piano whenever she was permitted to do so. She began startling her parents by playing pieces with which she had heard her father's pupils labor.

Among these are "The Fountain," by Bohm; "Curious Story," by Heller; "The Infant Jesus," by Von, and Paderewski's "Melody in B." She sang "Bye Baby Byelo" the morning after she first heard a visitor sing it at her home. She also has played pieces which her parents have played or sung while they thought she was asleep.

"She was born with the things that most of us have to learn," says Alto Freeman, piano instructor at the teachers' college. "She should develop into a remarkable composer as well as an outstanding pianist."

Away from the piano Patricia is much like any other child. She likes dolls and dogs.

Cheese Rice Loaf, Serving 6—Two cups cooked rice, 1 cup rice stock, (water in which cooked), 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons newly chopped onions, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, (cooked) 1-4 teaspoon celery salt, 2 eggs, 1-2 cup cheese, cut fine, 3 tablespoons butter.

Mix ingredients and pour into greased loaf pan. Bake 30 minutes in moderate oven. Unmold carefully and serve hot, cut in thin slices.

For variety serve tomato sauce with this loaf.

Russian Dressing—(For spring vegetable salads)—Two-third cup thick mayonnaise, 4 tablespoons chili sauce, 1 tablespoon catsup, 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento stuffed olives, 1-8 teaspoon salt.

Mix and chill ingredients. Serve on chilled salads.

Apricot Pudding—(Using fresh or canned apricots)—Two tablespoons granulated gelatin, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup boiling water or apricot juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-3 cup sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 cup mashed, cooked apricots, 3 egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Soak gelatin in cold water 5 minutes. Add boiling water and stir until gelatin has dissolved. Cool and chill until a little thick. Beat until frothy and fold in other ingredients. Mix well and pour into glass mold, rinsed out of cold water. Set in cold place to stiffen. Unmold and serve.

Use scissors to trim off the pie crust after it has been fitted into the pie pan.

BRUNETTES ACQUIRE TAN EASIER, EXPERT ASSERTS

WASHINGTON, May 18—(AP)—Brunettes acquire sun tan easier than do blondes says Dr. LeRoy A. Wilkes, of the white house conference on child health.

In preparing for the summer days at the beaches, blondes, says Dr. Wilkes, must be prepared to have their skins burn but not tan readily.

Sun tan, though sometimes fashionable, has no health value save as a defense against an excessive amount of sun rays, he says.

BIG SILK HANKYS MATCH COAT LINING

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP)—A large silk handkerchief, matching the lining of milady's coat and floating from a corner of her bag is her newest style accessory. The handkerchiefs are striped, figured or plain.

Now Alpaca Returns.

PARIS, May 18—(AP)—In the nineties alpaca dresses did the heavy work of the wardrobe.

As a reward, alpaca breaks into the playtime class in 1930.

Dressmakers show printed alpaca in their midsummer showings for frivolous summer suits of the jacket and dress types.

One of the newest models is grass green alpaca printed in black and white.

Print Chiffon Blouses

PARIS, May 18—(AP)—Blouses of printed chiffon or cotton voile are midsummer style for wear with lightweight silk suits of the afternoon type.

Tailored suits and tailored blouses keep up a close alliance, although occasionally sheer chiffon or handkerchief linen blouses trimmed with narrow handmade lace are shown at authoritative style houses for wear with tailor-mades.

Bunny Capelets

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP)—Summer furs are back again, taking the form of evening coats instead of the once popular scarf. Some of Manhattan's smartest young women are appearing these evenings in white bunny capelets, reaching only a few inches below their waists and worn tightly snugged about the hips.

Skirts Short Before and Long Behind

WASHINGTON, May 18—(AP)—Skirts of evening gowns worn by some of the younger set are quite short in front and sweep the floor in the back.

The two daughters of Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, Mary Anne and Katherine, sponsor this style.

Reno Has Indian Girls' Club

RENO, Nev., May 18—(AP)—This city has a club of Indian girls which has affiliated with the Nevada federation of women's clubs. The club maintains a bureau to help Indian girls get employment and promotes the making and sale of leather and bead work.

Wool Yarn Posies.

PARIS, May 18—(AP)—Wool yarn Dahlias of two or three colors are midsummer novelties for the informal suit or sports costume.

The petals are formed by loops.

Blue and Brown For Summer.

PARIS, May 18—(AP)—Powder blue with touches of havana brown is a mid-summer color combination okehed by one of the most authoritative colorists of stylemaking.

An average of one marriage is performed every four minutes in New York city on a 12-hour-day basis

LOOK NONCHALANT TO BE CHIC IN MIDSUMMER

PARIS, May 18—(AP)—The importance of looking casual is one of the style secrets of midsummer clothes for town wear.

"No swank' 'and be nonchalant" are urged in every line of the latest styles for warm weather metropolitan wear, which Parish is showing as midseason offerings.

In Rue de la Paix language the best of the midsummer collections are "well edited" which means that they are carefully worked out as to line, proportions and materials.

The best of the dressmakers are no longer feeling their way and trying out ideas on more or less protesting womankind, but have hit their stride and are now developing styles along definite lines.

The new lines break away from the self-consciousness of spring's high waistlines and lengthened skirts. Midsummer skirts are medium long; waistlines are medium high and medium tight. Nothing is forced and everything is easy as to line and fit.

The silk suit dominates summer styles for town wear.

There are semi-tailored models for the morning hours. They follow closely along the lines of spring tweed and jersey-tweed suits which were flared below the waist.

Silk afternoon ensembles accentuate the popularity of three-quarter coats and bolero jackets. The waist-length jacket plays an important part in hot-weather clothes.

Even evening dresses have been simplified somewhat over those of the first spring collections. Silhouettes are more uniform with fewer peplums and flounces than were used for the first models.

The elongated line, mobile but unbroken, is the smartest in evening styles. It is achieved by a combination of long skirt, flat tiers and bolero bodice.

HER WEDDING GOWN IS COURT DRESS, TOO

PARIS, May 18—(AP)—Probably the most important double-date dress ever made is the silver and white wedding gown which Miss Anne Tyrrell, daughter of the British ambassador, wore when she was married on April 30 at Notre Dame Cathedral to Adrian Holman, secretary of the Paris British embassy.

Mrs. Halman intends to wear her wedding dress again in June when she is presented to the king and queen of England at Buckingham palace.

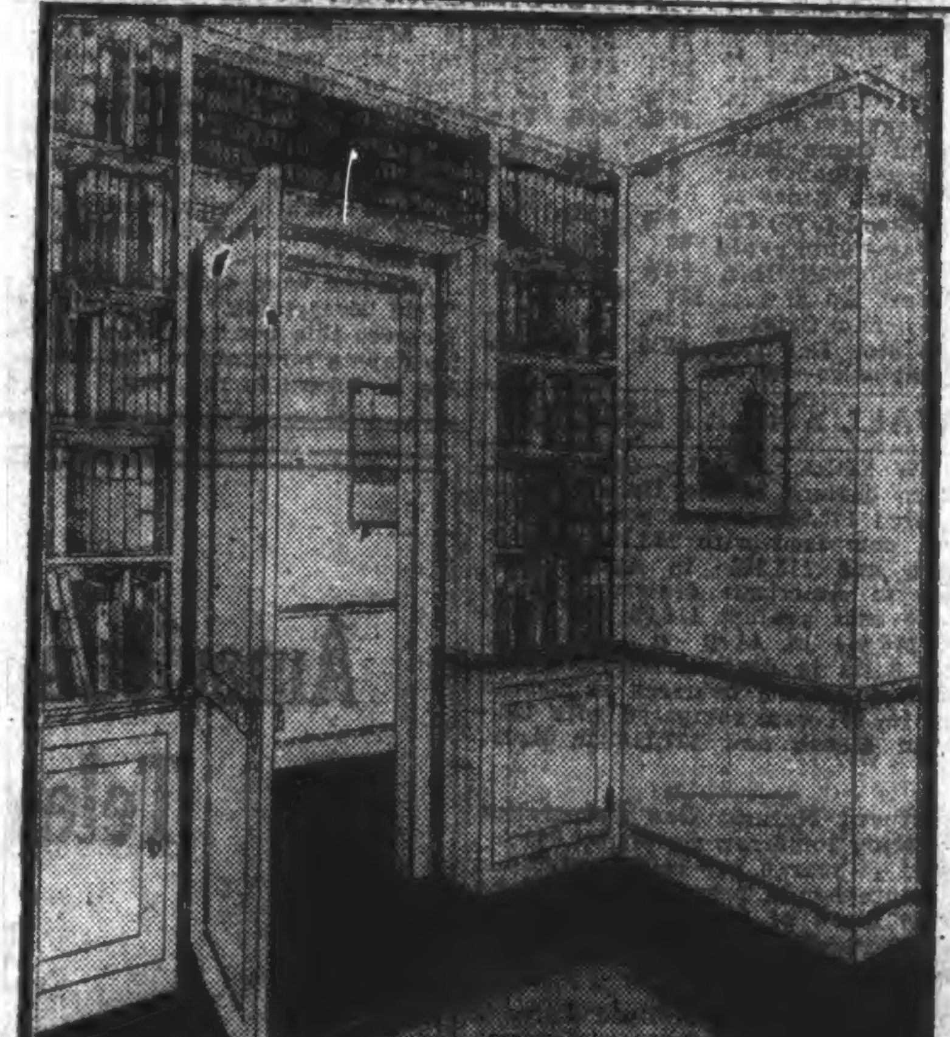
Farm Women Run "Ice Patch"

RALEIGH, N. C., May 18—(AP)—The "ice patch" is the newest agricultural scheme in North Carolina. Farm women of Pamlico sound are setting aside a plot for vegetables, proceeds to be used for buying ice.

Rough Straw Sailors.

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP)—Rough sailor straws, smart some years ago, are being revived. They are shown in various colors and sizes, with drooped or straight brim. Black and white give a chic touch to sports costume.

FRENCH PROVINCIAL APPLIED IN MODERN HOME



Formal And Luxurious.

By Elsie Drew Kennedy.

The French provincial at the present time furnishes inspiration for many of our charming interiors, due no doubt to its livable quality.

There's something very charming and likewise sturdy about this typical French period that is meeting the requirements of our modern needs in such delightful fashion. Then, too, the fact that charming reproductions of this type of furniture are available in many department stores is an outstanding factor to be considered by those who are interested in the financial aspect of the decoration.

In this illustration, a small morning room, which will do equally well for the living room of the small home, designed in this period, reflects a formal and luxurious note so typically French in feeling. The focal point, of course, is the fireplace, designed along classic lines, with a decorative detail encrustated in the center-front, and complemented by a French gilt mirror which reflects the expanse of the garden in particularly charming fashion.

A narrow oval landscape completes the center unit in graceful fashion. Decorative scenes of French gilt are posed on either side of the fireplace, in long elongated panels, as balancing units to the central-panel and the two recessed book-shelves, with their well shaped top-piece for graceful emphasis.

The colorful book units furnish an attractive lived-in quality to this room, and break the expanse of plain panelled walls that are finished in a soft green and antiqued to give a delightful neutral effect. The doors are uncurtained since they open on a private garden.

The furnishings have been selected with due care to repeat the theme of formality and delightful harmony, and the two chairs illustrated are reproductions of fine originals. The deep upholstered armchair is covered with a striped moire, with a satin stripe of green against a deep gold ground, while the other chair of the Louise-quinze period is covered in a dainty pink-and-gold floral design against a green satin ground. The rug is of a two-tone green, repeating the note of the walls, and at the same time complementing the foliage of the garden, as well as forming a focal point for the entire color scheme.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

A garden should run north and south to get the full benefit of the sun's rays.

An envelope that is sealed with the white of an egg cannot be steamed open.

A little turpentine added to shoe polish, which has become hardened, will soften it.

To dye white kid gloves tan, dip them in saffron water until the desired shade is obtained.

Dahlais are most satisfactory for planting, as they come in a great variety of colors and no flower has greater beauty of form.

Tarnished cut steel or bead bags may be brightened if rubbed with a piece of fine emery-paper dipped in turpentine.

When renovating the refrigerator, try painting the inside with aluminum paint instead of enamel. It is many times easier.

Brushing rolls with water after they are taken from the oven makes the crust tough. Brush them with water or butter before putting them in the oven.

To remove the odor of smoke, put a basin of water in the room, leave it overnight and keep a window slightly open. The air will be quite sweet by morning.

Brooms and all brushes for sweeping should be hung up when not in use. If they are left standing the bristles become bent and will not do their work properly.

Mince corn beef and potatoes very fine. Make into flat cakes and brown on both sides on a buttered griddle. They taste much better if the potatoes have been boiled with the corned beef.

Do not put ivory knife handles in hot water, which turns them yellow. Wash with warm, soapy water and wipe quickly. One a month rub them with flannel moistened with denatured alcohol and dipped in powdered whiting that has been sifted through cheesecloth.

SOPHISTICATION IN THE SPINACH

Some thoughtful soul has designed a way to add to the general attractiveness and palatability of our old friend and vitamin-yielder, spinach. She places two or three sections of grapefruit atop each serving of spinach, lending to the lowly vegetable an agreeable tart taste and a note of style not usually found in our healthful friend. By using the ready-to-serve grapefruit, the sections may simply be lifted from the can at serving time, with no fuss or bother.

EMERGENCY SHELF

Stock up your emergency shelf with canned fish, fowl, fruits and vegetables. For a creamed dish and a good salad suffice for a most enjoyable hurriedly prepared meal when guests arrive unannounced.

PRETTY GARNISH

Grilled tomatoes make a lovely garnish for fried chicken, chops or fish. From now on they are so inexpensive that they are a practical garnish, too.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Scraped potatoes are a very cooling application for burns and scalds. Change the application frequently.

A tablespoonful of vinegar added to the rinsing water after washing the hair is recommended for the red head to bring out the high lights.

The best way to ventilate a room is to open a window top and bottom or one window at the top and another on the opposite side the room at the bottom.

Vegetable stains on your hands will disappear if you will hold your fingers in very strong tea for a few minutes. Then wash with soap and water.

EYES

The eyes may be enlarged and their beauty enhanced by a clever make-up. Use the proper coloring, apply it lightly and be sure that the two eyes match in every detail. A heavier make-up on one eye than the other makes then appear distorted. In determining the proper color to use, the color of the eyes and hair must be considered.

FAT ARMS

Fat arms aren't beautiful. With vigorous exercise performed daily at a certain time and for a certain length of time, you may rid yourself of them. Stand erect, abdomen flat, knees straight, arms extended full length, straight out from the shoulders. Describe circles beginning with small ones and increasing to those of as large dimension as you can describe. Do this on the forward and backward movement.

CORRECT POSTURE

Slumping down in a chair is a most ugly pose to acquire and an unhealthy one. When you slide forward in the chair with shoulders slouched down you are sitting on your spine. You push forward and down the organs of the abdomen, which were meant to stay back and up. Your stomach sticks out. Learn to sit up straight.

NEW LINGERIE IN GAY PLAIDS

It is no longer a simple and easy task to choose a nightgown, for the latest sleeping garments are made with princess lines, boleros, uneven hemlines—in fact, they are in the mode of the daytime dress, and consequently must be chosen most carefully. As for materials, it is not crepe de chine with a little lace either, for ninon, chiffon and parure are all fashionable. And the gowns are no longer in pure white, for the new fabrics are in plaids and dainty floral designs.

DICTATES OF FASHION

Lusterless hosiery is attaining considerable importance.

Black felt hats adopt pink or white contrasts.

Egg shell, peach, azalea and flesh are cited as leading blouse shades.

Pastel colored wools, in lacy weaves, make the very smartest sports things for summer.

Whether your frock is a simple tailored one or a demure example of the "quaint" dress, a posy or two may adorn it.

BLACK-PINK

That touch of Patou's rose opaline is in evidence on many black hats and black dresses. Since pink is so exquisitely feminine and black so chic, it is a combination hard to beat. But if you are matching up a black hat and frock, both using pink, be sure your pinks match.

FRONT BANDEAU

TAMARACK ENSEMBLE

Extremely effective is a tamarack brown tweed ensemble, with a blouse of dull reddish handkerchief linen, embroidered in yellows and browns.

FUR SCARF

A smart fur scarf, cut like a silk one that makes a bow under the chin or slips one end through the other, is more chic than a mere fox-scarf this spring.

NEW NECKLACES

The new necklace is composed of strands of small beads which make up half the necklace while the other half is a single strand of large ones. Necklaces of small seed pearls which have enjoyed a continuous vogue for some time are varying their woven strands by the addition of black beads of the same size—another vote for the black-and-white combination.

LAUNDRY HINTS

When sponging or removing spots from a serge dress, rub the material with a solution of boiling water to which a little ammonia has been added. Keep adding fresh boiling water as you use it.

When ironing a garment on which there are buttons, places the buttons on a folded Turkish towel. The buttons will sink into the towel and the spaces between them will be ironed more smoothly.

To wash chiffon squeeze it gently in warm, soapy water until it is clean, then thoroughly rinse it in warm water in which a lump of sugar has been dissolved. This will give the material a little firmness after being ironed. It is best to dry the chiffon before ironing it.

To clean a white raincoat cut up two ounces of good yellow soap and boil it in a little water till dissolved, then let it cool a little and stir in half an ounce of powdered magnesia. Wash the raincoat with this, using a nail brush for the soiled parts; rinse off the dirty soap and dry with a clean cloth.

TO SAVE LAUNDRY.

Chambray ginghams comes in attractive colors, such as green, corn color, blue, rose and lavender, which insures a wide variety from which to choose for making summer bedspreads instead of using the usual white ones, which have to be laundered so often. A gingham bedspread gives the appearance of softness and will wash perfectly, and they cost less than the white ones. They are easy to make, being finished off with ruffles of the same material. They will retain their freshness for several weeks without laundering, and can be laundered easily when necessary. The color should be chosen to harmonize with the color used in the general furnishings of the bedroom.

CLEAN PILLOWS.

Before re-covering your sofa pillows this spring, clean them thoroughly with the vacuum and then hang them on the line on a windy day when the sun does not shine. The suns heat draws oil out of the feathers.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

It is estimated 3,500,000 women in the United States work in 537 occupations.

Women in Tibet do all the harder work of the country. They are carpenters, masons, shopkeepers, and engaged in most of the occupations assigned to men in other countries.

One hundred and fifty-nine women have been appointed by President Hoover on the various committees of the white house conference on child health and protection.

Girls in France are adopting names of not more than two syllables, such as Mada, Lette, Totte, Jo, Moute, Noune, Yette, Loute, Nine, Guite and Line.

Attending Sunday school for 30 years without missing a session, is the perfect attendance record of Mrs. Mary Theringer, of Bloomfield, N. J. She has been a member of the religious body about 65 years.

LARGE ROOMS.

When the living room is large, rejoice and do not try to take one inch from its size. There is no such thing as a room that is too large. If it seems that way it has not been properly furnished. For instance, we perfer a wallpaper with a large pattern in it for a large room—not because we wish to diminish the size of the room, but to make the background proportionate to the whole.

SOWING SEEDS.

Do not sow your seeds too deep. Very few seeds should be covered more than four times their diameter. When sowing seeds outdoors — and this is the most practical way for the amateur, since boxes and flats in the home dry out quickly—cover your soil with old bags, mulch paper or newspapers. This practice favors germination by holding moisture on the surface of the ground.

RECIPES.

Date Cake: Mix together quickly half a cup of soft butter, one and one-third cups of brown sugar, two eggs, half a cup of milk, one and three-fourths cups of flour, three teaspoons of baking powder, half a teaspoon each of cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and salt and half a pound of date cut into pieces. Beat for three minutes and bake for 40 minutes.

Shirred Eggs: Bake a nice large white potato and when done cut a small hole in the side, take the inside out, fry some onions chopped very fine, then mash them together with the inside of the potato that has been removed. Line the potato with the mixture, so that the lining will stick out above the rim, leaving a deep hole. Break one egg, place it in the hole, place the potato in a pie pan and put in the oven until the egg is cooked. Serve on lettuce leaves.

Guiding Your Child

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

When Mother Works

More and more there are homes in which both parents are away six days a week at work.

In such homes the children are naturally left in charge of someone else and most often this person is a grandmother. It is rarely that we find this sort of arrangement working as smoothly as we would wish.

When it is a relative who takes the place of the parent, especially a grandparent, the situation is more than usually complicated.

Old, unconscious, but still active attitudes of dependence, or antagonism, hangovers of the mother's own childhood feelings toward her own mother, throw strain into the relationship and make for conflicts for which the problems of the children furnish the battleground.

Always, delegated authority calls for compromises, for no two people would handle any child in exactly the same way.

A mother who has found it necessary to delegate her authority must make up her mind in the first place to be satisfied with a working compromise.

She must school herself not to worry over details and to concentrate instead upon a few essentials concerning which she has come to an understanding with the person whom she has left in charge.

If the children are old enough the mother can enlist their understanding and cooperation in the situation.

It is well for her to remember that any solution of the problem requires as its basis a genuine trust and effection between the person she has left in charge, the children and herself.

SIX WOMEN IN THICK OF POLITICS SEEKING HIGH OFFICE

CHICAGO, May 18—(AP)—Look to the middle west for an answer to the question: "Do women take an interest in politics?"

Six of them, from the cotton country of Texas to the industrial centers of Michigan are out for important offices in a like number of states. A score or more other women will be satisfied with lesser political jobs, state legislature and state administrative posts.

Ruth Hanna McCormick is the republican senate candidate in the republican state of Illinois. Dr. Jennie Callfas of Omaha is a democratic senatorial candidate in Nebraska. In Texas Mrs. Robert Quincy Lee, widow of a congressman, would take his seat, and in Iowa Mrs. June Fickle of Hastings, a democrat, disputes a congressional post.

Gladys Pyle, South Dakota's secretary of state, is a republican primary candidate for governor with four men opponents.

Old-age compensation will be one of the main talking points of Mrs. Maud Slocum Moross, of Detroit, who seeks the republican nomination for congress from the sixth district.

The opponents the women face this year will test thoroughly their campaigning ability. Mrs. McCormick must face the former democratic senator, James Hamilton Lewis, in November.

Mrs. Lee in a special election must dispute the come-back ambitions of Thomas L. Blanton, of Abilene, a former congressman and a veteran campaigner. Mrs. Fickle, a farmer's wife and a world war nurse, is the minority candidate in a heavily republican district, represented by C. E. Swanson.

Dr. Callfas, who bolted the democrats in 1928, would, if chosen by her party, meet the veteran Senator George S. Norris, who bolted the republicans in 1928.

Virtually all of the four opponents of Miss Pyle know the political alphabet. She, however, passed the primer stage when she became assistant and then secretary of state.

The present incumbent, Grant M. Hudson, a dry, and State Senator Seymour H. Person, a wet, will be in the melee against Mrs. Moross.

RECTOR URGES HAT BRIMS BE REMOVABLE FOR WOMEN

WEMBLY, England, May 18—(AP)—Women's hats with brims are causing some perturbation in the mind of the Rev. H. W. R. Elsley, rector of St. Michael's church, Tokington.

In the parish magazine he says, "we understand from our lady friends that brimmed hats may return this spring. We hear the portentious news with mixed feelings. The modern girl looks equally charming in any sort of hat, or in no hat at all. Yet a dreadful dread is upon us. After 20 years of male emancipation, is our view in church, cinema or concert rooms to be obstructed by creations from Paris?

"If the ladies make brims the rage, the gentlemen may brim with rage! May we plead, therefore, that the brims be made removable, so that they may be taken off and held in the lap."

PARIS SKIRT LENGTHS SURPRISE U. S. TOURISTS

PARIS May 18—(AP)—American women tourists newly arrived here are getting definite reactions to the skirt lengths of Paris.

"Why they're shorter here than they were back home" many a tripper who expected to see Paris in street sweeping spring styles exclaims after a stroll down the Rue de la Paix.

Not only are the best dressed French women's town clothes shorter than those of the average incoming American traveler but her evening dresses are simpler as to hemline.

Few trains, no trailing panels and hemlines which manage to clear the floor even if it's only by a whisper, ar the Parisian's version of current evening styles.

Wears Garlands

PARIS, May 18—(AP)—Greek garlands have come in with Grecian evening dresses as part of the spring paraphernalia for evening hours.

The flowers are dressmakers' creations made of vari-colored chiffons. Sometimes they are attached permanently to the frock.

Detachable garlands which form half of an elastic girdle are new and well vouched for accessories for simple debutante dance dresses of chiffon or pastel coolred marocain.

Tight-Fitting Satin Chic

PARIS, May 18—(AP)—The long tightly fitted dress, with fulness at the hemline is worn in black cire satin this spring by several ultra well-dressed Parisians.

Two or three important dressmakers show cire satin models on princess lines.

They are among the most perishable models put out, since the waxed surface cracks and wrinkles with the slightest wear.

BUSINESS DEVELOPMENTS LAST WEEK INDICATED A FORWARD MOVEMENT

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—The current of business developments was somewhat obscured by surface eddies during the past week, but most observers continued to agree that a strong forward movement is in the making, although it may be delayed somewhat by the seasonal quiet of the summer months.

The commodity price structure showed further signs of improvement, but steel and iron were a distinct soft spot. Prices of various descriptions of crude and finished steel products were shaded, some reaching the lowest levels since 1915, and signs of approaching stability were still lacking.

One of the most encouraging developments of the week was enormous buying of copper. After touching 12 1-2 cents a pound, the red metal price was pushed up to 13 cents.

Prices of some farm products showed a firming tendency as the week advanced, particularly grains. Wheat reached the highest levels of the month, with better export movement. Cotton also fared better, particularly the new crop deliveries.

One of the more favorable statistical barometers making its appearance was the annalist preliminary index of business activity for April, showing a sharp gain at 92.5, as compared to a final figure of only 89.5 for March. The April figure, however, with the exception of March, February and December, was the lowest since December of 1927.

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP)—General Motors dealers in the United States delivered 142,004 cars to consumers in April, compared with 123,781 cars in March and 173,201 in April, 1929. Sales to American dealers totalled 132,365 cars against 118,081 in March and 176,624 in April a year ago. Total sales to dealers, including Canadian sales and overseas shipments, were 150,661 cars compared with 135,930 in March and 227,718 in April, 1929.

Southern Natural Gas Corporation is offering tomorrow an $11,500,000 issue of 14-year 6 per cent convertible debenture bonds, priced at 97. A $10,000,000 block of Southern New England 40-year debenture 5s is also being sold at 102 1-2.

Production by the Holland Furnace company during the first quarter was slightly ahead of the same period last year, John P. Killa, vice president, announced today. Mr. Killa said that production in two of the company's plants had been stepped up from four to five days a week, effective today.

Imports of hides at leading ports since the first of the year on May 17 totaled 1,417,027 as compared with 877,454 hides imported in the corresponding period in 1929, the New York hide exchange reported today.

Consolidated earnings equal to 42 1-2 cents a share after all deductions are reported by the United States Electric Power Corporation, organized last September. This was based on a full year's earnings of Standard Power and Light, and its subsidiary and affiliated companies, in which the United States Corporation acquired a 70 per cent interest this January, and earnings of the latter from other sources from September 10. Net income totaled $37,675,472 and total assets $1,221,586,000.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre

This is Laugh Week, Carnival of Fun, at the Palace theatre and those who are grouchy, blue or discouraged should not fail to avail themselves of the opportunity to laugh away their troubles with Winnie Lightner and Joe E. Brown, who are playing there together in the greatest musical comedy ever screened, "Hold Everything," which is being presented today and which will be continued through Friday evening.

"Hold Everything" lacks nothing. The dialogue is riotous, the technicolor used in the entire production is faultless, Winnie sings her songs better than ever and Joe E. Brown performs antics which surpass anything the popular comedian has done. And there is a real prizefight thrown in with the heavy betting in favor of Georges Carpantier, who has no little ability as an actor.

Norwich has never before seen such a performance as that given in "Hold Everything" and theatre patrons should consider themselves fortunate in having such a production booked at the Palace. This film is now crowding the theatres of all the large cities where top prices are the rule.

Among the other important stars in this picture are Sally O'Neil, George's sweetheart, who is as beautiful as she is accomplished; Bert Roach, the roly-poly comedian, who plays the part of the camp cook and when slightly inebriated will turn the most straight-laced audiences into paroxysms of hilarity; and there is Dorothy Revier, the striking blonde, who is ever so slightly villainous, and Edmund Breese, veteran film star, better than ever.

As a last word of advice, do not miss "Hold Everything." Your disposition deserves this treat and you will laugh for days afterwards at the thought of Joe E. Brown in the ring.

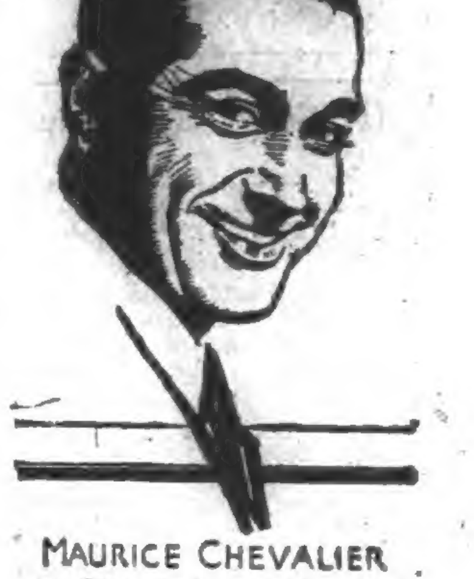
ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theatre

Come on, it's not too late, the big party's still going on up at the cool Broadway, where all the stars in the Paramount sky are having their first annual jamboree of fun, music and dancing, called "Paramount on Parade." And what a parade! Of course, gay Maurice Chevalier heads the cast with his winning smile, his dimples and his thrilling voice; then there's Clara Bow—and what a Clara she is now!—there's Gary Cooper, Buddy Rogers, Lillian Roth, Kay Francis, Nancy Carroll, George Bancroft, Dick Arlen, William Powell, Fay Wray, Jean Arthur, Mary Brian, Harry Green, that little "divil" Mitzi Green, Jack Oakie, Eugene Pallette, Evelyn Brent, Dennis King, Zelma O'Neal, Clive Brooke, Warner Oland, Skeets Gallagher, Ruth Chatterton, Helen 'Boop-a- [illegible] Kane, Fredric



MAURICE CHEVALIER
IN PARAMOUNT PICTURES.

March, Stuart Erwin, William Austin, Abe Lyman and his famous band, and scores and scores of other stars and featured players, the whole Paramount roster, in fact, in the fastest, funniest melange of merriment that has ever graced a screen. Talent you never dreamed of is displayed by your favorite players, against an ever-changing background of beautiful scenic sets, many of them in rich technicolor. A constant succession of surprises, not in tiresome revue form, but sparkling with novelty and brilliance; in fact, just a big party such as you've always dreamed you wanted to attend, with the stars kidding one another and skylarking like a troop of youngsters released from school. Today and tomorrow are the final showings of this tremendously entertaining "Big Party," coupled with a rib-ticklink Talkartoon "Hot Dog," the latest Paramount Sound newsreel, and Movietone screen novelties.

Breed Theatre

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer did well by Norma Shearer in giving her "The Divorcee" as her newest talking vehicle, for the Ursula Parrott story of a woman who attempts to show her husband that there is a double standard for women as well as for men, contains far more meat than does the average film plot.

The story, based on "Ex-Wife," concerns the hectic career of Jerry Bernard, a young society woman whose husband has deserted her when he discovered that she has had an affair with his best friend. Although he himself has been unfaithful to his wife, he refuses to admit that women may apply the double standard equally as well as men.

According to the reception given "The Divorcee" at last night's opening at the Breed, Miss Shearer has made no mistake in going back to her sophisticated characterizations for which her calm assurance, immaculate beauty and mature acting have preeminently fitted her.

ACADEMY—ART SCHOOL EXHIBITION NEXT WEEK

The following notice has been issued by Norwich Art school, Mrs. Charlotte Fuller Eastman, directress: The 40th annual exhibition of the work of the students of the Norwich Free Academy and of the Norwich Art school will hang in the Converse Art gallery from Wednesday, May 21, to Friday, May 30, inclusive. There will be pewter spinning, glass making, and pottery building in the classrooms Wednesday and Friday afternoon, and on Thursday afternoon, the kiln will be fired. The public is invited to visit the school during the hours from 2 o'clock until 4:30.

Intrusting his premises to his watchdog, Emilcare Ferrigno, San Francisco tailor, locked the door and went home with an easy mind. But when he opened the building in the morning he found not only $500 worth of cloth missing, but no sign of his dog. Entry was made into the store during the night through a hole cut in the wall from an adjacent building.

WESTERLY

ASHES OF T. L. ARNOLD TO BE STREWN ON POND

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., May 18.—Funeral services Sunday at 2:30 p. m. for Thomas Lyman Arnold, quarter century New York summer visitor at his Boston Post road summer home, "Arnolda," on Charlestown, R. I., Pond, were largely attended. The service was conducted by Rev. Clayton A. Burdick, pastor of Pawcatuck Seventh-day Baptist church, Westerly. There were beautiful floral tributes, and relatives and friends from New York attended. The body was taken to Forest Hills, Mass., for cremation and the ashes will be taken in a row boat to the center of Charlestown Pond and thrown upon its surface. Mr. Arnold took a most active interest in the development for summer residences of the land bordering this salt water pond.

SPARK FROM CHIMNEY STARTS CHESTNUT ST. FIRE

About 3 p. m., Saturday, the Westerly fire alarm whistle was blown from Box No. 36, Chestnut at School street, for a chimney fire at the large frame three-apartment house at 24 Chestnut street, owned by Mrs. Caroline Lena, of 21 Moss street, Pawcatuck. First Assistant Engineer George A. McKenzie and Third Assistant Engineer Columbus Pasetti, with three pieces of motor apparatus, responded. The firemen found that a spark from the chimney had ignited the shingled roof. Water was taken from the booster tanks of the pumpers and the fire was extinguished after a small hole had been burned through the roof. The recall was sounded at 3:15 p. m.

Westerly chapter of the American Red Cross had received, Saturday night, a total of $828.25 in the drive to make up the deficit caused by the heavy expenditures incident to the forest fires of Washington county two weeks ago. The amount set by the committee in charge of raising the money, headed by Harry R. Milner, was $500. Not only has the $500 been raised, but $328 extra. Miss Crowley, executive secretary of the Westerly chapter, stated Sunday that she was particularly glad that the extra money has come in as well as the $500, for she has many cases demanding attention in which funds will be needed. Seventy-four new names were submitted with contributions of $320.85. The largest contribution given was that of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Rowe, of Westerly, $100. Just as the subscriptions were being closed for the day, Craigielea lodge, Daughters of Scotia, added a check for $25 to the amount on Sunday's campaign.

Thefts from Golf Club

When Chief Lawrence McGrance arrived in Westerly from Providence Saturday to get the Winnapaug Golf clubhouse in readiness for the summer, he found that thieves had broken in during the winter and had stolen all the silverware and nearly two dozen plates of a matched set. The loot taken would be valued in the neighborhood of $100.

Saturday, the Pawcatuck police department was informed that a Cadillac automobile owned by the estate of Edgar H. Cottrell, which was in the garage, corner of West Broad and Morgan streets, was stolen some time Friday night. The garage door was forced and the automobile was towed away.

Saturday morning, Edmund J. Victoria, of Stonington, and William Miller, of 21 Main street, White Rock, Westerly, two of four motorists involved in an automobile collision May 8 on the Westerly-Stonington road, were in Stonington town court. Victoria was charged with reckless driving and Miller with speeding. Judge William A. Wilcox fined Victoria $50 and costs and Miller $10 and costs. Kenneth Williams, of Old Mystic, was found not guilty. Williams had parked his car on the southerly side of the road when Miller and Victoria approached from the rear. Miller was passing the Williams machine when Victoria attempted to pass both and crashed head-on into a west-bound car. Six people were injured, three badly.

James Mackin, of Tarrytown, N. Y., before the Stonington court on charges of operating without a license, was fined $5 and costs. Connecticut state police lodged all the complaints.

MONTVILLE

OAKDALE BLEACHERY FIRE SUBDUED BY PLANT SYSTEM

Fire broke out Saturday morning at about 8:30 at the bleachery plant of the Massacoit Manufacturing Co. at Oakdale. The blaze started in the drying room and was discovered by one of the employe's. The plant has its own equipment including a fire pump, tank, and sprinkler system which were put to work and quickly had the fire under control. The greatest damage was done by smoke and water, although bales of cotton were destroyed.

Patient at Backus Hospital

Officials of the Backus hospital, Norwich, notified Officer Howard Lamphere of Montville Saturday afternoon to get in touch with the family of Mike Dooley, of Montville Center whose horse ran away with him in Norwich. He sustained a broken leg and severe bruises for which he is receiving treatment at the hospital.

Peddlers Lacked License

Officer Howard Lamphere of Montville added forty-five dollars to the town treasury by stopping three peddlers over the week end as they had not secured licenses to peddle. A number of these peddlers have been around this locality who have failed to secure licenses before they start to peddle.

Deported to Vermont

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis De Lorge and infant who came here from Brattleboro, Vt., about seven weeks ago without money or furniture and who were given a room and bed by a kindly family from Palmertown, were given transportation back to Vermont by the town officials. Officer Howard Lamphere put them on the train at Uncasville Friday afternoon. Mr. De Lorge came here for the purpose of securing work, but according to accounts he and labor didn't agree. For the past seven weeks officials of the town have been furnishing them food and clothing without them being resident here and their child was stricken ill, the town also paying the doctor's bills.

WEDDING

Aspinall-Nield

Of interest to many Montville friends residing here was the marriage Saturday at 3 p. m. of Miss Jane Nield, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Edward L. Nield of Orchard street, Rockville, Conn., whose father was a former pastor of the Union Baptist church, Palmertown. She became the bride of Henry Aspinall, son of Mrs. Alice Aspinall of Lebanon, Conn. The brides father, now pastor of Rockville Baptist church performed the ceremony. Miss Jessie Long, of New London was bridesmaid and Abraham Aspinall, brother of the bridegroom was best man. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, William Nield, was attired in a gown of white satin trimmed with lace and orange blossoms. She wore a veil of tulle with lace cap caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid wore blue chiffon and tulle, with a picture hat to match and carried pink roses. A reception followed at the bride's home. The church was decorated with palms, ferns and flowers. The bridal party entered as the wedding march was played by Misses Mary Chappell, of Lebanon. "O Promise Me" and "At Dawning" were sung by Miss Beatrice Littlefield of Lebanon, during the service. HERO DOG BIG SHOT SAVED WHAT LOOKED LIKE A BABY

Everybody thinks a dog doesn't do a kind deed, or do anything, or know much; but many dogs are almost human, can read the lips of their masters, do tricks and it is easy to train them. A dog is like a child in a house; where you go it will be right behind you. The sad part of it all is when the pet dies and leaves the house; it will be missed for a long while. If someone in the house passes away, someone the dog liked, he will not go near where his friend died. It is a good thing to treat a dog like a friend, for you can never tell when a dog might save your life, perhaps bark when everybody is sleeping and the house gets afire, for then the dog will bark so the family can get out safe.

Dogs are put on this earth for some good, to somebody. In the World war, German police dogs was trained to fight and almost shoot a gun off. They carried notes under shell fire, would attack a man, do all they could for their country.

Here is a dog story that happened recently over at Palmer cove. Some school boys were out for fun and wanted to go in swimming to be the first ones for the season of 1930. A stray dog was always hanging around with the boys. They did not want him with them and started to through stones to drive him back, but the dog kept coming along. He was named Big Shot—a big gray dog, anywhere he hung his hat was his home, under an apple tree, or with a rock for a pillow.

Coming to Palmer cove, the salt water looked good to the kids as the day was hot. The gang stood on the bridge looking at the water; Big Shot did the same. Someone saw something coming down with the tide. It looked like a baby overboard. The waves were rough, so it was hard to tell. But one fellow said, "See the arm! It is a boy or girl in the water! Save him." With his ears standing up straight like a cadet at West Point on the drill field, the tramp dog was taking in the words he had heard. No one made any try to save the unknown in the water. Big Shot did not have to remove his vest or watch; but quick as a flash, he was in the water, doing a pretty jump off the bridge and swimming with his feet under his chin to save the child, for the tide was taking it away fast.

Doing 100 yards in record time, the dog reached the child, caught it by the dress and swam to shore. When he would turn it face up the child would cry "Mama." That almost made Big Shot drop it back in the water, but reaching the shore safe, his pals ran to meet him to see who he had saved and being a real hero. But Big Shot was all in, so he gave it to some of the boys. They had a big laugh that made tears come to the dog's eyes; for Big Shot had saved a big mama doll, that looked so much like a baby in the water.

But Big Shot sure ought to get a medal for saving some little girl's doll, that cost $8 or $10, from going out to sea. The boys were some pleased over the good deed Big Shot did, risking his life to save a doll that some child owned. The next move is to find the owner. The child must been near the water in a boat, when her doll fell into the water out of her reach, and the tide carried it away. That must have brought tears to her eyes.

The gang took the doll back to the village and the hero came along behind, wagging his tail. The story was told to many they met on the street—all about Big Shot being the hero. The gang did not know what to do with the doll. One fellow, Jack McDunn, was telling his parents all about it as he was sitting at the table putting in a few Johnny cakes, for he was some hungry after his stay away from home almost all day long. The telephone rang and his mother answered it. Someone wanted Jack—a man's voice. The party said: "Is this McDunn?" "Yes." "I heard that a dog saved my daughter's doll that she lost overboard while playing around the water!" "Yes, sir! I have it here." "Well, that is good, for she has cried ever since it was lost. We'll be down for it tonight!"

In about an hour, a large automobile drove up to the front of the house with the man and a little girl around 13. Then a knock came at the door and Jack rushed out of the kitchen to see who it was. "Well, young man, we are here about the doll, the one Big Shot saved!" So he got the doll and the young child went wild when she saw it, not damaged in any way. She leaned over and kissed Jack for keeping it for them. Her father said, "I cannot give anything to our hero for saving the doll, for he is a dog; but I can buy some meat for him, so he left $1.50 for Big Shot, the hero dog to get some meat, also gave McDunn a new necktie for being so good to keep the doll for his daughter. So the dog got a reward that sure will make Big Shot happy.

J. B. MARTIN-HARTFORD GAME CALLED: WET GROUNDS

Wet grounds caused a postponement of the J. B. Martin-Hartford Kaceys tilt, which was scheduled to be played at the Martin diamond Sunday afternoon. The Martins were to have had Lindner, lately of the New Haven Profs for their hurler. It is understood that the young pitching star has been signed to pitch for the locals the remainder of the season.

L. H. Athletics Victors

Five pitchers were used by Baynes team in its game with the Laurel Hill Athletics Sunday afternoon at Norwich Town, the latter winning by 16 to 12 score. The A's lineup was: Lizzio c, J. Wiese p, E. Wiese 1b, Ennis 2b, Bradford 3b, Marshall ss, Connell lf, Fowler cf, Szarka rf.

WESTERLY TRIUMPHS OVER POLISH A. C., SCORE 9 TO 4

Failing to hit opportunely the Polish A. C. club lost to the Westerly Independents at Westerly Sunday afternoon by a 9 to 4 score. The locals played a very good game and were only outhit 14 to 13, but when hits were needed they were unable to hit Kitty, the Westerly moundsman. The Norwich team used three hurlers, P. Finn, who was relieved in the third, Lemieux and Raymond.

Lloyd Jarvis, former Academy star and playing with the locals was the batting and fielding star. He contributed two hits, a three bagger and a home run, and made a long run in back of first to spear a drive with his gloved hand. Lamory, behind the bat for the Polish team, also played a nice game. The score:

The match scheduled for last Thursday with St. Thomas Seminary at Hartford, was postponed because of the rain.

TOMBARI STARS AT BAT; AGGIES LOSE TO KINGSTON

Although Conn. Aggies lost an objective game to Rhode Island State Saturday at Kingston, R. I., Norwich's representative on the Aggie nine, Pheno Tombari, shortstop, had a field day with three of his team's seven hits. One of them was a triple and was said to be the longest hit ever made on the State diamond. Pheno is having a great year with the Dolemen, which is his third straight as a member of the varsity team. He captained the freshman nine there in 1927.

PLAINFIELD RED STARS TURN BACK TWO TEAMS

(Special to The Bulletin)

PLAINFIELD, May 18.—The Plainfield Red Stars copped both of their week-end games, winning Saturday's tilt with the Wauregan team at Wauregan by 6 to 2 and taking the Willett A. C. of New Haven into camp Sunday at Plainfield by the score of 5 to 0. The pitching of Clecher and the batting of Mercier featured the Saturday tilt between two teams of the Twilight league, while on Sunday, Pechie, with three out of three, was the big hitter for the locals. Marriott did the hurling against the Whalers. Scores:

RICHMOND TEAM RETIRES FROM INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE

The United Italian Society team has replaced the Richmond Radiator nine in the Norwich Industrial league race for the coming season, it was learned over the week-end. Poor conditions at the Radiator Co. factory are given as the reason of retirement from the circuit.

The newcomers are already busily engaged in lining up players and have to date secured such boys as Lefty Lucier, the three Tombari brothers, Pete, Anso and Pheno, Chet Berghinzo and others.

Smitty's All Stars Lose

At Mohegan park Sunday afternoon Preston Gauls defeated Smitty's All Stars, 8 to 7, the game being featured by the heavy hitting of Marcel, the winning pitcher, and Smitty for the losers. The winners' lineup was: Pavolak ss, H. Johnson rf, Varnick c, Marcel p, F. Johnson lf, Butsy 1b, Cimmy, Jr., cf, N. Poprosky 3b, J. Poprosky, 2b.

A Challenge

The Green Mountain Boys would like to play the Mohegan All Stars Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Please answer through the paper.

Attention B. S. A. C. Jrs.

The Laurel Hill Athletics want a game with the B. S. A. C. Jrs., to be played Sunday at the Duwell field. Call 2904-M between 6:30 and 7 Tuesday and ask for Ernest Wiese.

WHAT, then, if Europeans thus prove their "music-wisdom," are we North Americans supposed to be, that we are asked to accept mechanical music—and mechanical music only—in the theatre? Music-stupid, perhaps?

Well, at least 2,000,000 theatre patrons have rejected that characterization by joining the Music Defense League. They mean that they want Real Music, not Canned Music exclusively, in the theatre.

If you value the Art of Music, you, too, should be numbered among the "music-wise." Just sign and mail the coupon at the left.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Philias Jodoin, who passed away a year ago today, May 19, 1929.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear,
Too far away from sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember him who once was here.
And who though absent is just as near.
Gone, but not forgotten

ETTA KETT Far, Far Into the Night! —By PAUL ROBINSON

HEY TAKE IT EASY—THIS ISN'T AN AIRPLANE!
GEE ETTA OUR CLASS IS OFF FOR WASHINGTON AT LAST—ALL OUR PLANNING—I HOPE WE DON'T MISS THE TRAIN!
I HOPE WE DON'T HIT IT!
GOOD-BYE!
BYE
NOW BE CAREFUL DO YOU HEAR? AND WRITE YOUR MOTHER WHEN YOU GET THERE OR SHE WILL WORRY!
ALL RIGHTY DAD!
And so the train rolled away into the night, —
LISTEN CLASS—I PROMISED YOUR PARENTS TO TAKE CARE OF YOU—NOW PLEASE STOP TALKING AND RETIRE!
NOW YOU JUST RUN ALONG AND HOP INTO YOUR FLANNEL NIGHTIES!
YEAH DON'T BE LIKE THAT!
OH, IT AIN'T NO SIN TO TAKE OFF YOUR SKIN—

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

The State of Connecticut through its duly authorized Board of Trustees for the State Training School and Hospital at Mansfield, Conn., invites proposals from reputable contractors for all of the material and labor and power house equipment for the four buildings listed below—

A—The Power House
B—The Laundry
C—The Boys' Dormitory
D—The Girls' Dormitory

all to be erected on the site as shown by the plot plan and all other plans and specifications as prepared by the architectural offices of Towner and Sellew Associates, Architects, Central National Bank Building, Middletown, Conn. and from whom all further information may be obtained.

The Trustees do not obligate themselves to accept the lowest or any proposal and the State does not obligate itself to make any payment on Buildings C and D until such dates as may be subsequent to July 1st, 1930. Connecticut contractors will be given the preference in awarding contracts and the contractor has the privilege of submitting a total bid for the four buildings but each building must be allocated to a definite figure to conform to within the legislative appropriated sum.

The proposals shall be sealed in an opaque envelope, the outside of which shall bear the endorsement:— "Sealed Proposals for State Training School at Mansfield, Conn." and shall have the contractor's name and address on the upper left hand corner, and shall have enclosed with the proposal, a certified cheque for Eighteen Thousand Dollars ($18,000.00) for the four buildings proper and the number of working days required for the entire job shall be stated.

Two thousand dollars for equipment item Part 9 being boilers, etc.

Five hundred dollars for equipment item Part 10 being piping, equipment pertaining to pumps, tanks, etc., also covering.

Fifteen hundred dollars for equipment item Part 12 being for electric wiring from switchboard, etc.

All certified cheques to be made payable to Samuel R. Spencer, State Treasurer and shall become forfeited to the State as liquidated and ascertained damages in event of a bidder failing to enter into a contract and furnish a satisfactory bond within five days after an award has been made.

The proposals shall be addressed to Honorable Everett J. Lake, Acting Chairman of the Board of Trustees and delivered at the office of the State Comptroller on the first floor of the State Capitol in Hartford, Conn. not later than 11:00 A. M. Eastern Standard Time, Monday, June 2nd, 1930, and they will be opened publicly at 1:00 P. M. Eastern Standard Time the same day in the Old Senate Chamber on the second floor of the State Capitol.

A 100% contract bond will be required of the successful contractor which bond shall be paid for by the contractor and shall be from an approved corporate surety company and shall be approved as to form by the Attorney General for the State of Connecticut.

Copies of the plans and specifications may be had by reputable and bona fide bidders from the Architects at any time after Friday noon, May 9th, 1930, upon deposit of Fifty Dollars which will be refunded, less $10.00 for the cost of reproduction of plans and specifications, upon the safe return of the drawings and specifications and receipt of proposal.

STATE RAISING SEEDLINGS FOR REFORESTATION USE

One million tiny trees, most of them about three inches high, are now being planted on the new field of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station in Windsor. From the road the plants in their long narrow beds of 8,000 each stand so small as to look like carpets of bluegrass. The trees are two-year seedlings, mostly red and white pine, Norway spruce and white spruce, that will be distributed next year for forest planting in Connecticut. "We buy these seedlings," Mr. Filley said, "and distribute them as transplants to the people who want to put otherwise unprofitable land to some use."

In 1929 the station distributed one and one-half million seedlings for forest planting, which means approximately 15000 acres of reforestation. Most of these were red pines, but much white pine and Norway spruce was planted. Litchfield county uses more forest planting stock than any other part of the state. One estate owner orders 50,000 red pines annually. The largest purchase last year came from Tolland county; 155,000 red and white pines. A Hartford man obtained 44,000 trees for planting in Windham county, and a Waterbury citizen planted 20,000.

RED-EYE SEIZED IN NEW LONDON KEG IS TESTED 20 PER CENT ALCOHOL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, May 19—The police conducting a series of liquor raids Saturday, but in only two cases were the [illegible] successful in obtaining evidence, which resulted in arrests, although at one house visited, where the occupants were absent, a keg partially filled with whiskey was found and this evidence may result in an arrest Monday.

Those arrested were Clotilde Frausini, 39 [illegible] street and Frank Faraci, 167 Shaw street.

Sergeant Samuel Hick, Automobile Patrol Officers Elwood Bailey and William Corcoran and Patrolman Frank Liebman raided the Frausini home and seized 16 cases of beer. Mrs. Frausini obtained a surety on her bond of $1,000 and will be in the police court tomorrow. John Wolfe, Maurice Connolly, John Moran, James Dwyer and Albert Cooper, found in the Frausini house, were arrested on a charge of frequenting a disorderly house and were released upon furnishing surety on their respective bonds of $50.

At the Faraci home the raiding force, Sergeant Patrick Murphy, Automobile Patrol Officer Corcoran and Patrolman Cornelius Moriarty found a quart of whiskey and five bottles, each of which contained but a small amount of whiskey. Faraci, a blacksmith, furnished a surety on his bond of $1,000 for appearance in court tomorrow.

The raiding force also went to the residence of Marty Russell, 8 Cross street, Manual Andrews, Shaw street and Tale Wolfe, Bank street. At these places the occupants were not in the buildings. At the Cross street house, the raiders obtained entrance by means of an unlocked cellar door and there found a keg containing several quarts of liquid which was seized. At police headquarters a test of the concoction revealed it to contain 20 per cent alcohol.

SUNDAY MORNING SPEEDER BELONGS IN BOSTON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 19—Charles H. Tuggle, 19 Greenwich park, Boston, was arrested early this morning by Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey and Patrolman Harry Watterson charged with reckless driving on Truman street. He will be in the police court Monday.

Charges Assault

Joseph Rzepniewski, 380 Main street, made complaint to the police at 1:30 o'clock this morning that he had been assaulted by Frank Draminski, 130 North Bank street. The latter was arrested by Patrolman Michael Dorsey charged with breach of the peace and will explain in the police court Monday.

FLEEING DRIVER PEEVED, BANGS HIS ACCUSER

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 19—Arthur J. Messer, 173 Shaw street, was arrested early this morning by Sergeant John Courtney and Patrolmen Frank Philopena and Henry Sylvia charged with breach of the peace and evasion of responsibility. He was released upon furnishing bail and will be in court Monday. Automobiles which Messer and Cristina were driving on Bank street collided and it is claimed Messer attempted to drive away without stopping to determine the extent of the damage resulting. When Messer was remonstrated with for attempting to evade responsibility, it is claimed that Cristina was struck a blow on the head.

Charles Sasso, of Uncasville, was arrested Saturday charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law in driving without a license and will be in court Monday.

HENRY TREADWAY BURIED IN BREWSTER'S NECK CEM.

The funeral of Henry Treadway, formerly of Groton, who died Thursday at the Soldiers' National home, Togus, Me., was held Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock at 15 Masonic street. The services were conducted by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, pastor of the First Church of Christ. Burial was in Brewster's Neck cemetery, Preston. Mr. Treadway is survived by his wife, three daughters, Mrs. Harriet Carpenter, Putnam, Mrs. P. J. Bannon, Northampton, Mass., and Miss Lucy D. Treadway, Miami, Fla., and by a son, Fred W. Treadway, of Providence. Mr. Treadway was a Civil war veteran and was born in Salem, this state, Jan. 16, 1848. When but 16 years of age, Mr. Treadway enlisted in the Seventh Connecticut infantry. For several years, Mr. Treadway resided in Norwich; is a former member of Sedgwick post, No. 1, G. A. R., of that city.

Motorcycles From Norwich

The new motor equipment of the New London police department has been made complete by the reception of two new motorcycles. The added equipment which was purchased of a Norwich dealer, who underbid New London merchants, was delivered at police headquarters and Desk Sergeant William T. Babcock and the motorcycle officer have been engaged since testing the machines. The department recently purchased three touring cars for patrol duty on the outskirts of the city and for responding to emergency calls.

Joseph T. Sullivan, one of the two supernumeraries to pass the recent mental and physical examinations of the police department, appointed recently by City Manager William A. Holt, started his duty Friday night, reporting with the 11:30 o'clock shift and was assigned to a beat in the center of the city. Supernumerary Sullivan will be retained for patrol duty the remainder of the season.

Edward Hess, Station 5, Waterford, reported to the police Saturday that he had found a saddle and bridle on Ocean avenue, near Lawrence-Memorial hospital.

A Nash automobile owned by Clayton Firmin, 73 Riverview avenue, was stolen Saturday night while parked in front of the owner's residence. Firmin discovered the theft about 11:30 and reported his loss at police headquarters. An hour later, Motorcycle Officer Clarence Martin found the auto abandoned on Bank street.

Bicycles owned by John Fitzpatrick, 19 Lenox street and Samuel Pelletori, 124 Willetts avenue, stolen from the grounds of the Chapman Technical high school Friday, were recovered Saturday night by Automobile Patrol Officer Augustus Ray, who found the wheels in possession of other youths.

At the city's dumping ground, adjacent to Riverview avenue the vast accumulation of paper, excelsior, cartons and boxes became ablaze Friday night. A still alarm was sent to fire headquarters and Deputy Chief Calvin Edmunds and Ockford Hose company responded. Water was played on the burning mass for 11 hours before fire was extinguished.

An automobile parked in front of the residence, 146 Huntington street became afire which originated from crosswiring, Friday night. A still alarm caused Nameaug Engine company to respond and the fire was extinguished before damage resulted.

A Springfield bus, parked on Main street, corner of Church, was threatened with damage by fire early Saturday morning, a blaze resulting from back-fire. Deputy Chief Calvin Edmunds answered a still alarm and the fire was subdued, without damage, by the application of chemicals.

Watch for John Smith (Kelly)

The police of Willimantic and Middletown are seeking the arrest of John Smith, alias Kelly, charged with passing fraudulent checks and the authorities throughout the state have been requested to be on the lookout for the crook. Smith recently operated in Willimantic and his fraudulent operations revealed small deposits not over $15 in the Willimantic Savings Institute, Moosup Trust company of Plainfield, First National bank of Plainfield, Danielson Trust company, Windham County Savings bank of Danielson and Putnam Savings bank of Putnam. It is also known that Smith negotiated eight different checks drawn upon the Uncas-Merchants National bank of Norwich. The scheme of Smith is to determine the location of an unoccupied residence in the vicinity of a store which he selects to negotiate his worthless checks. This accomplished he goes to a store, invariably an A. and P. store and after informing a clerk that he has rented a house, makes a small purchase. He tenders a check greatly in excess of the purchase and receives the balance in cash.

Driving Was Suspicious

An automobile registered in the name of Louis Vescovi, 35 Pequot avenue, collided with a machine owned by Dennis Doyle this evening while the latter machine was parked in front of Doyle's home, 266 Huntington street. The driver speeded away in a manner which indicated that he was intoxicated.

Quaker City Driver Accused

Felix J. Organski, 2787 Waterloo street, Philadelphia, was arrested Saturday night by Patrolman George Bruhns charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. Organski will be in the police court Monday.

Harry M. Shalett, 6 Montauk avenue, reported to the police this afternoon that an Anderson automobile, the identity of the owner of which was not ascertained, had been parked in the rear of his place of business about a week. The auto was taken to a garage to await being claimed by the owner.

Stolen Car Found

An automobile owned by H. L. Dill, 200 Colman street, stolen May 3rd was recovered this afternoon. It was found parked on Mountain avenue where it had been for several days. It was taken to a garage and placed in storage until such time as the owner can be found for he was not at his home tonight.

Gershon G. Camassar, 19 Bayonet street and C. W. Spencer, submarine base, were arrested Saturday charged with violation of the city's traffic laws and were ordered to present themselves in the police court Monday.

Twentieth Year in Park

Cottagers returning to Neptune park for the early season are pleased to again find the Association's faithful caretaker, Vincent Micell in charge. He is beginning his 20th year in the park, showing that he has been devoted to the cottagers' interests during his long term of service.

WM. M. SHEEHAN DIES FROM SUDDEN HEART ATTACK

William M. Sheehan, 77, died suddenly of heart disease early Saturday at his residence, 35 West High street, death resulting from the attack before medical aid could be summoned. He is survived by his wife, who has been an invalid for several years, two daughters, Mrs. Harry A. Johns and Mrs. George B. Goldwaite and a son, George E. Sheehan, all of New London. Two brothers, Cornelius Sheehan, Landers, Wyo., and Daniel Sheehan, Worcester, Mass., also survive. Mr. Sheehan was born in Waterford, the son of Timothy and Hannah Sheehan. When a young man, Mr. Sheehan went west with his brothers but returned east in a short time. Mr. Sheehan located in New York state and conducted a dairy there. He returned to Waterford in a few years and continued the conduct of a dairy there. Mr. Sheehan and his family later removed to New London and he was employed many years as a teamster by the F. H. & A. H. Chappell Coal company. He resigned several years ago to become assistant superintendent of Hillside home. He retired when infirmities attending advancing years compelled him to abandon active employment.

Roy Sousi, 16, a runaway from the Rhode Island infirmary at Howard, applied for lodging at police headquarters Friday night. The youth made it known that he was hungry and during the course of being questioned, admitted having run away from the infirmary several days ago. An employe of the infirmary came to New London and took charge of the youth.

POCKETS IN CANVAS YIELD PINTS AT HALPERN'S

James Gallant was in the police court Saturday charged with violation of the liquor law on two counts, keeping with intent to sell and possession. The case was continued to Tuesday next and Gallant provided a surety on his bond of $1,000. Gallant is employed at the drinking resort of Jack Halpern, 35 Main street. Late Friday night a raiding squad, Sergeant John Courtney and Patrolmen Frank Philopena, Clarence Wells and Michael Dorsey went to the building and gaining admission, conducted a systematic search. In a closet a canvas equipped with pockets was found and in the pockets were pints of liquor. These were seized as evidence of the law being violated. Charles Davis and Aaron Ebend, who were found in the resort, were arrested charged with frequenting a disorderly house. Their cases were continued until Tuesday. Halpern has been arrested numerous times charged with violating the liquor law and the last time that his place was raided was but three months ago.

Let Their Bonds Go

James Rispetti, 53 State street; Maurice H. Rolfe, 159 Howard street; Eugenie Vescovi, 25 Willetts avenue; Gershon G. Camassar, 19 Bayonet street; Theodore Robinson, 387 Bank street, and Percy Rippin, Niantic, were charged with violation of the city's parking laws. The drivers did not appear in court and their bonds of $2 each were declared forfeited.

Charles Sasso, Uncasville, was charged with driving without a license and was fined $10 and costs.

Edward McDonald was charged with breach of the peace and intoxication and was sentenced to 10 days in jail. He was arrested Friday night by Motorcycle Officer Augustus Ray.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel Saturday ordered the return of the driver's license of Richard M. Ross, 178 Bank street.

A. Blunt White, of Mystic; John Thurman, 75 Tenth street; Gasper Virgo, 61 Warren street and Robert Walsh, Groton, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged Saturday.

FUNERALS

POETRY FOR THE WIDE AWAKES

The Eagle

The world is wide and ringed with mountains round.
Scorning base ground,
The eagle seeks the highest peaks to rest
And build her nest

Why, heart, the petty discontent and sloth
That hinder growth?
Up! You have wings! Let heights become Your constant home.
—Lilian Burleigh Miner.

We, your feathered brothers of the air,
Gathered here, in singing conclave, dare
Into your parleys to inject our word,
And pray that for a moment we be heard.

We, from the wondrous depths of heaven's blue,
From roadside, glen and field, where meadow-rue,
Violet and tansy, and the buttercup,
Lift their bright faces to the sunlight up.

Bring you, as north or east or west we fly,
One joyous song for all, one melody,
Type of the winged voice of love and cheer
That in the reign of peace all lands shall hear.

So, eager brothers of the restless earth,
Ease your hearts, hark to the new birth
We prophesy, as singing we pass by,
When north or east, or south or west we fly!
—Rita Scherman.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE AWAKES

The spruce is one of the best known trees in New England. It is especially well known in Maine. There are several varieties, the black spruce, red spruce and white spruce tree. The black spruce grows to a height of 30 to 40 feet and a diameter of 6 to 12 inches, yet in some of the bogs trees from 50 to 80 years old get to be only six to eight feet tall and one inch in diameter. The spills are one-fourth to three-fourths of an inch long and pale green in color. The cones are one-half to one and one-half inches long, and usually stay on the trees for several years and frequently for as many as 20 years.

The red spruce is a most valuable tree. It is used for joists, sills, scantlings and heavy construction timbers, and is the principal wood used in the manufacture of paper pulp. It is also valuable for the sounding boards of musical instruments. The lumber is sawed to some extent for box boards. Oars, barrel staves and headings are also manufactured from it.

The branches are slender and spreading. When there is plenty of light, the branches stay on a long time, but soon drop off from trees which are crowded.

The spills or leaves are dark green often with a slightly yellow tinge and are very shiny. They are about an inch long.

The cones are oblong in shape and usually from one to two inches long. When ripe, they have a reddish brown color and are quite shiny. They begin to drop off in the autumn or early winter and are all gone from the branches by the next summer.

The leaves are one-half an inch to the lower side of the branches are twisted in such a manner that they all come on the upper side. They are pale blue at first, becoming a dark blue green or pale blue later. The foliage has a queer odor and so it is called cat spruce or sometimes skunk spruce.

The cones are slender, shaped like a cylinder and usually about two inches long. They fall off in the autumn or during the winter.

The white spruce is a widely distributed species in Maine, but is not as abundant as the red spruce. It grows along the borders of swamps and the banks of lakes and streams.

Both the white and black spruce produce long flexible roots that are very tough and pliable and are used by the Indians for tying together pieces of birch bark for canoes and for various other purposes.

The seeds of all spruces are like the flying machines, because they have wings.

The balsam fir is very familiar as it is the variety we use for the Christmas tree. The bark of the balsam fir is of a pale gray color, smooth, thin and prominently marked by chambers filled with resin or balsam. On old trees the bark is quite thick, broken into irregular plates covered with thin scales and has a reddish brown color.

The leaves are one-half an inch to one and one-fourth inches long, dark green, the lower side silvery white, the upper shiny, the tips being occasionally notched, but only on the top branches. They spread out at nearly right angles to the branch, giving it a flattened appearance. The branches grow in such a way that they form a cross, and some people say that is why it was first chosen for a Christmas tree.

Until the tree is about 20 years old the branches are produced in regular circles, usually of five. The tree grows to a height of 60 to 70 feet and a diameter of 12 to 20 inches.

The cones are erect on the branches and fall to pieces after ripening. They are cylinder shaped, two to four inches long and dark purple in color.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE AWAKES

Two Stories

Uncle Jed: Below are two of my experiences. I am twelve years of age. I would like very much a book about "The Five Little Peppers." You can take your choice.

One hot day in July while I was on my vacation at Atlantic City, I made up my mind I was going to learn to dive. I already could swim, so I swam to the diving board and was about to try when my brother came up after me and pushed me off into the water. The next thing I know I was cheered by some of my comrades and my parents because I unconsciously made a dive. From that time on I can dive.

One hot day in July I had a headache. I thought I would take a walk. On my way I saw a host of wild daffodils. My headache went away when this pretty sight I saw. The daffodils had good comrades. The blue sky above made a wonderful background, the crystal blue, rippling lake and the shady trees were a sufficient place for such wild flowers. That night I dreamed of wild daffodiles.

My Vacation

Dear Uncle Jed: There hasn't been school for the past week and so I am going to tell you how I spent my vacation.

I spent most of my time in the woods gathering flowers, moss and buds. It is so pleasant in the woods at springtime. All the birds are singing, the flowers blooming and the brook singing a song as it ripples along. You may be sure I call myself very lucky to be able to be in the woods at springtime, enjoying Mother Nature's work.

My Kitten

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you. I will tell you the story of my pussy.

I have a cat. Its name is Pussy. One day a man came to take my pussy away from me, but Pussy did not want to leave me, so I had to leave him stay with me.

I feed Pussy with bread and milk and some other things which are good for a kitten. At night, I fix a bed for him to sleep in for a kitten has to sleep as well as we do. I like my pussy very much.

A Small Kitten

Dear Uncle Jed: My kitten is very small. Her fur is of four different colors, consisting of black, white, orange and gray. I named her Pansy.

I enjoy very much watching my kitten at play. She runs around the house after her tail and shadow. My brother made a little house for her. It has a door and a few windows. There are two windows at each side and one above the door, large enough for her head to go through. When she gets into mischief I put her into the house and close the door.

Some Tame Quail

Dear Uncle Jed: I am writing to tell you about some quail which visit my house every morning.

They are the prettiest little things you ever did see. They are like little chickens. They are brown with white spots. My mother gives them oats and bread. My sister calls them chickens. They hop up to our door to get food. When they are through eating they go across the road to the river.

At first there were only ten but now there are twenty. I do not know where they live but I think they live in the woods near my house. I wish there will be more quails visit our house.

Saw Band

Dear Uncle Jed: I have written to the Wide Awake circle many times, but I have not been so fortunate in my letters to get a book. I am going to tell you what I saw tonight. The Pawtucket high school band came to Danielson to entertain our high school band and gave a concert in the evening for our high school band. The Pawtucket high school band have very nice uniforms of red and white. If you wanted to go to the concert you have to pay fifty cents. With the money they get they are going to get uniforms for our band. I hope they will look as nice as the Pawtucket high school band looked.

On A Kansas Farm

Dear Uncle Jed: As I have been so busy helping father plow and putting oats and flax into the ground, I haven't had much time to write. The last week in February we got all of our oats sowed then the flax, now we are putting in potatoes, onions, and other garden seed. It is nice and warm here now, but such awful high winds and so dry. We haven't had a good rain for months. Our wheat, oats and grass need rain bad, the garden seed won't come up while it is so dry.

I never saw so many blackbirds and crows as there are this year. They paid five cents each for every crow you killed here until this year. All you had to do was kill as many crows as you could, cut the top part of their bill and head off and take them to the court house and you would get five cents for each one you took there. Crows are such a nuisance here. Hope you don't have so much trouble with them as we do.

JAMES SNEED, Age 11.

Hiattville, Kansas.

Normy

Dear Uncle Jed: Her name is really Norma, but most everyone calls her Normy and she seems to like it better. She is very small for her age, with large, blue eyes. She has soft, silky flaxen hair that hardly ever stays in place. She is very delicate looking, but is in fact a regular Tom boy. She gets in all kinds of mischief.

One day her mother put her on the porch and she had the gates closed. A little later when she came out, Normy was hanging over the porch rail. This is just one of her many baby pranks. As she loves water, especially at the beach, her mother intends to take her as often as possible. I guess Normy will like it. She might get new ideas of mischief.

Picking Huckleberries

Uncle Jed: I have never written to you before. I hope you and the readers of the Wide Awake circle enjoy it. I live on a farm about two miles from Greeneville. In summer my two girl friends and their mother and brothers were staying on our farm for a vacation about two weeks. They live near a railroad in New London. One day we went out in the woods to pick huckleberries. We took some water and sandwiches and pails to put the huckleberries in. At last we started When we reached there we started to pick them, but there wasn't much there. We started to look for a better place. My brother found a good and big place. So we started to pick them At last we got tired of picking huckleberries, we wanted to do something else for a while. My friend found a big rock. We started jumping off it. Just as about the third one was to jump off, we saw a big brown snake near that rock. We start hollering A snake! A snake! We grabbed our things and ran home. I never had such a scare as that. All the rest of the day I couldn't stand on my feet without shaking.

POETRY

The Home And Family

The things that linger longest in the heart,
The thoughts that never vanish when we roam,
The friendships that are never torn apart,
Are those that center longest 'round the home.

The deepest joys, the happiest hours we know,
Are those which cost us only what we give
Of happiness to others here below,
This is the truest life that we can live.

We strive and struggle to succeed, and pass
Our fellows in the hurrying daily race;
And O, how often burn our hearts, alas!
With envy of our neighbor's wealth and place.

And Time goes on relentlessly to prove
How vain are all the clamor and the strife,
Compared with quiet and enduring love,
The greatest thing for every human life.

Forgotten are the deeds that men call great,
Forgotten are the kings in battle met,
Lost to the memory an empire's fate,
But there are things the heart cannot forget.

As long as earth shall last, it cannot lose
The vision of a home of simple bliss;
As long as men shall have the power to choose,
They cannot choose a better thing than this.

—Charles M. Sheldon, in Watchman-Examiner.

Life's Obligation

E'er tell before you die
Your story of the game,
Ne'er say to all good-bye
'Til wisdom signs her name.

What e'er you take from life,
Does not belong to you,
But to the world that loaned it,
While you were passing through.

—John Harsen Rhoades, in Random Thoughts Of A Man At Fifty.

Stomach Trouble Of Six Years Standing Relieved By Bon-Tone

Mrs. Joseph Bachand of 406 Zion street, Hartford, Conn., says: "I am telling all my friends about the good Bon-Tone has done me. For the past six years I have had stomach trouble. Gas would form after eating and felt like a solid ball in my stomach, and I would get pains in my sides and stomach. I would get severe bilious attacks and would feel very sick and would vomit and my stomach would be very sour and everything I ate would taste greasy. Sometimes I would get sharp, gripping pains in my stomach. Although I have only taken Bon-Tone a short time it has done wonders for me—the gas doesn't form as it did, and I have only had one attack of billiousness since I started on this medicine and that one was slight. I do not have to take laxatives any more, and altogether I have great faith in Bon-Tone because of what it has already done for me."

The longer you have suffered the greater your need for Bon-Tone, the Great Herbal Tonic. Call on the Bon-Tone Man, at Smith's Pharmacy, in Norwich, Conn., and let him tell you what countless other sufferers say about this Grand Tonic.

GREENEVILLE

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR MISS ANNA BRENNAN

A pretty May miscellaneous shower was given Anna Brennan in honor of her approaching marriage to Walter Twomey at the home of Anna Carroll, 24 Mowry avenue, Thursday evening. A large yellow and white May basket was filled to overflowing with gifts for the bride-to-be.

The latter part of the evening was given over to the playing of bridge after which the guests marched to the table decorated in yellow and white where a dainty luncheon was served, consisting of fruit salad, rolls, jello, cake, coffee.

Those present were: Mary Keenan, Catherine Bergon, Margaret Sheridan, Helen Twomey, Molly Carroll, Mary Mara, Catherine Wagner, Elizabeth Mara, Miriam Sullivan, Catherine Brennan, Grace Fallen, Evelyn Caron, Ruth Telford, Veronica Roberts, Mrs. Patrick Brennan, Mrs. M. Frank Leonard, Mrs. Louis Combies, Mrs. Margaret Wallace, Mrs. Edward Jouret, Mrs. Margaret Twomey, Mrs. Jeremiah Sweeney, Mrs. William Brennan, Mrs. William Carroll, Mrs. Dennis Donovan, Anne Carroll.

The party came to a close all wishing the bride-to-be joy and happiness in her married life.

Charles Perry, Elmer Flynn, John Flynn, Edward Riordan and Charles Perry, Jr., spent Sunday at Boston where they attended the Red Sox-Yankee baseball game.

The K. D. Sewing circle of the auxiliary, No. 18, division of the A. O. H., met at the home of Mrs. Dennis E. Sullivan on North Main street Thursday evening. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Nellie Bissonnette, who was hostess for the evening, assisted by Mrs. Dennis Sullivan.

Mrs. Elizabeth McCormick, Miss Mollie McCormick and Daniel McCormick have returned to their home on Prospect street, after spending a week at Dobbs Ferry and Yonkers, N. Y. and Washington, D. C.

Daniel Barnett of New York is spending a few days with his parents on North Main street.

Miss Catherine Brennan has resumed her studies at the Willimantic State Normal school, after spending the week end recess at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Brennan on Prospect street.

Miss Gertrude Fontaine of West Hartford spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Fontaine of Central avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. William Banfield of Fourteenth street have returned to their home, after spending the week end with relatives at Boston and Providence.

TAFTVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. John Nolan of Long Branch, N. J., have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Duff and family of North A. street.

Tent caterpillars, which have been the scourge of the farmers and fruit growers about the village for the past two or three years, have already made their appearance and the young caterpillars can be found in their nests which as yet have not grown to a very great size, attached to wild cherry trees in the woods and along the borders of stone walls. As the caterpillars increase in size they strip the wild cherry tree of its foliage and then move to other trees. They have a fondness for fruit trees and do a great amount of damage to orchards. A few years ago there was an organized campaign against them by the Boy Scouts who collected the nests and burned them. Children can be of great assistance in destroying the nests while they are still small, thereby helping to eliminate one of the most serious insect pests that we have, and one that increases each year.

The big pickerel caught by George Barlow of Hunters avenue, which has been entered in the contest being conducted by the Taftville Rod and Gun club, has been on exhibition at a Norwich store where it has attracted much attention from anglers.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Lisbon grange Friday evening at the Community hall in the next Newent schoolhouse. Many visiting grangers were present. The entertainment program was in charge of the seventh degree members, including Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mell, Mrs. Jesse Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hull. Refreshments were served.

The beautiful flowers at the funeral of John Frohmader were as follows: Blanket marked "Father", from the family; basket of gladioli and roses, Ruth Urban; wreath of calla lilies, Fred Frohmader; standing wreath, Mr. and Mrs. John Griesbammer and family; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. George Allen, Jr.; spray of carnations and roses, Mrs. Kate Frohmader and daughter; wreath of lilies and roses, Mr. and Mrs. Delor Mossey and family; spray of carnations and snapdragon, Mrs. Marie Ploss and family of Naugatuck; basket of growing plants, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Meyer and family; spray of carnations, Mr. and Mrs. William Urban; wreath, Mrs. Marion Dougherty and Miss Agnes M. Dougherty; spray of gladioli, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hedler and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hedler; basket of growing plants, Miss Anna Votgman and Mr. and Mrs. George Votgman and family; spray of roses and carnations, Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Hedler; wreath of carnations, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Banker and family; spray of snap dragons and calla lilies, Mrs. Agnes Hanlon and family; spray of lilies and carnations, the Lafleur and Gaucher families; spray of pink carnations, the employes of Belt Bros., Norwich store; spray from Belt Bros., New London; lyre of white carnations, lilies and roses, the Taftville Mennerchor club; pillow with Odd Fellows emblem, Uncas lodge, Odd Fellows; standing wreath the Rifle club and standing wreath, Germania lodge, Sons of Herman.

A well attended subscription dance was given Saturday evening at the Community hall in Newent, under the auspices of the Lisbon Community club.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Whitehead and their daughter Arline, of Voluntown, have been visiting local friends.

WHITHER GOEST THOU? MSGR. M. H. MAY'S THEME

Sunday morning, at the 7.30 mass, the rector of St. Patrick's parish, Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May, preached from a phrase in the gospel for the fourth Sunday after Easter, John 16, 5-14, which he had just read. "Whither goest thou? The indifference of the apostles moved Christ to ask this question, which is of the utmost importance to us all. We should ask whither we go, should know the answer—to eternity. Life is soon over, life for us will soon have ended, but eternity has no end. Whither then do we go? To endless happiness, or to suffer eternal misery?

Death is certain—it is wisdom to prepare for it. It is the part of wisdom to ask why we were created, why redeemed, why sanctified. We understand the purpose of our existence—to know and serve God, that we may enjoy Him forever. With humble confidence we should live and labor for this end. "Whither goest thou?"

The apostles' indifference hurt the feelings of Jesus Christ. The same question may be asked of each of us by the Redeemer. The same Voice, the same Presence may stop us, not on the Appian Way but on the highway of life, inquiring where are we tending.

Are we wandering from the path of righteousness, from the teachings of holy mother church, from what we learned in Sunday school? It may not be long before Christ will call us to judgment. "Whither goest thou?" Warnings and teachings have told us how to accomplish our destiny; are we forgetting Christ, causing Him to suffer again by our sins? The time is short—we are all hastening toward death and after death comes judgment.

The interior voice of conscience is telling us our duty. We can find strength in prayer to obtain the means of grace and enlightenment which will enable us to walk in Christ's path, and to persevere until we have won the victory.

Assisted by Rev. Myles P. Galvin, Monsignor May later gave holy communion to nearly every person in the large congregation.

It was announced that the priests would begin this (Monday) morning taking the annual parish census, covering this week the districts of Thamesville, Trading Cove, West Side, Laurel Hill, Washington street and Broadway, with adjacent streets. In these annual visitations complete records are obtained as to the spiritual and numerical standing of families, which statistics will be transmitted later to the bishop of the diocese. In this thorough and accurate manner every individual Catholic of the state is accounted for in the parish census of each of the 168 towns in Connecticut.

NORWICH BANKING BUSINESS INCREASED IN APRIL

Norwich banking business showed a gain in April as compared with the year before, according to the report made to the state chamber of commerce.

Secretary John Richardson of the Norwich chamber reported as follows: The total value of building permits issued in April was $40,920. Last April the total value of $276,613 which included a permit for the new hotel. Bank debits amounted to $27,557,132, an increase of 40 per cent over the total of $19,676,931 in April a year ago. Savings bank deposits amounted to $329,525, an increase of $46,821 over the total of $282,708 in April 1929.

REV. G. F. BAILEY RESIGNS PASTORATE AT FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

At the close of his sermon Sunday on "Ups and Downs of a Minister's Life," Rev. Gurdon Franklin Bailey, for more than ten years pastor of the First Congregational church of Norwich Town, read his resignation as pastor of the church, the resignation to take effect on Sept. 1, next. The sermon was a review of 37 years in the service of the four churches which Mr. Bailey has served since he was ordained in 1893.

Mr. Bailey is a graduate of the Norwich Free Academy, class of 1887, of Yale college, class of 1891, and of the Yale Divinity school. His first church was in a home missionary field in Connecticut. At the cross roads at West Avon stands a large square-built meeting house in a prosperous farming section on the west side of Avon mountain. The parish contained about 100 souls and the church at the cross roads was without a competitor. Here Mr. and Mrs. Bailey began housekeeping and parish duties in May, 1893. During the two and one-half years spent there the church building was renovated in a thorough manner, and 38 people added to the membership. From West Avon, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey went to Westbrook, a summer parish on the sound. Conditions in a summer resort are the reverse of those in the city, for while congregations dwindle in the city church in hot weather, in the country parish they double and treble in size. Mr. Bailey was able to use much fine talent freely contributed by the summer people to the advantage of his Sunday services and the social life of the parish. While in Westbrook Mr. Bailey was instrumental in building a fine new library for the town, and securing a new parsonage for the church. As a member of the town school board he gave unremitting effort to the consolidation of the district schools into a graded system which was housed in a new building, a gift to the town. During the 15 1-2 years in Westbrook, large accessions were made to the membership of the church, the Sunday school was brought to a point of marked efficiency and the endowment funds of the church were increased by $10,000.

In 1911 Mr. Bailey and his family moved to Collinsville, a steel mill town near his first parish. The church at Collinsville had a membership of 379 when Mr. Bailey left it at the end of nine years' service. The Men's club in the church which Mr. Bailey organized numbered 85, and the Ladies' Aid society had a membership of 125. While in Collinsville Mr. Bailey served as chaplain of Village lodge, No. 29, F. & A. M., and also of Eclectic lodge, No. 64, I. O. O. F.; grand high priest of Columbia chapter, No. 25; president of Canton Memorial Library association; registrar for eight years of the Farmington Valley Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers. He was scoutmaster of a troop of 22 boys for a period of three years during the war.

Since Nov. 1, 1919, Mr. Bailey and his family have resided in Norwich Town and Mr. Bailey has been the minister of the old First church. During the ten years just past, marked improvements have been made in the material condition of the church property. The church, chapel and parsonage have each had a new roof, all three buildings painted; three new heaters installed in the church and chapel, a new steam heating plant installed in the parsonage, the interior of both church and chapel redecorated, the church organ rebuilt, a new clock in the tower of the church, new oak floors and lighting system in the chapel, a two-car garage built at the parsonage and cement walks laid; a total outlay of about $8,000, all but $2,600 of which has been borne by the people of the parish. In addition to this extra expense the current budget of the church has been met promptly each year and the missionary quota reached. The pastor's salary has been increased three times, and an anniversary gift made to the organist upon the occasion of his completing 50 years of service to the church; $12,000 has been added to the permanent funds of the church for various objects.

During the present pastorate, 171 persons have been received into the church membership. The removals by death and by letters to other churches total 65, leaving the membership larger by 106 than when the present pastorate began. On April 20, 1924, at the morning service Mr. Bailey baptized 24 adults and gave the right hand of welcome to 60 persons, the largest accession to the church in one day for its whole history of 264 years.

In addition to the work of his own parish, Mr. Bailey has entered freely into the religious and philanthropic service of the community. For two years he was president of the Norwich Council of Religious Education and served in that capacity during the state Sunday school convention in this city in 1928, and he has served on one of its committees since the organization of the council. The Norwich Rural association has received a considerable attention from the Norwich Town minister and for several years the Christmas tree programme on the Green was in his hands. Mr. Bailey has responded freely to calls for ministerial service in the numerous philanthropic institutions of the city and town. He has been ready to cooperate in every union effort among the churches which had for its aim the realization of a spiritual uplift for the whole community. Mr. Bailey is now serving as president of the Norwich Ministers' association and is just completing nine years' service as registrar and treasurer of the New London Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers. In 1928 he was elected moderator of the State Association of Congregational Ministers and gave the address at the annual meeting of that body the following June in Hartford.

Mr. Bailey has been very happy in his pastoral relations with his people in the four parishes he has served, all in Connecticut. He did not seek the churches which he has served, nor has he been released from any of them except at his own request. Seven times his salary has been increased and in every instance without solicitation.

As Mr. Bailey was installed by council when he began his ministry with the church it will be necessary to assemble a council for dismissal which will probably be done some time in June.

Mr. Bailey is retiring from the active ministry and will make his home in Derby, Conn., after Sept. 1.

Mrs. Bailey, who was a loyal and efficient helpmeet to her husband in his parish work, died on July 25, last.

NORWICH TOWN

EARLE W. STAMM TO SPEAK BEFORE JOHN MASON CLUB

This Monday night the members of the John Mason Community club and their friends will embark on a trip to Hawaii personally conducted by Earle Williams Stamm. Mr. Stamm, who recently returned from a trip to San Francisco and Hawaii, will speak at the May meeting of the club in the vestry of the Methodist Episcopal church. A trio of instrumentalists will furnish music. The committee in charge is Carlton Morse and Lewis E. Aldrich. Refreshments will be served by a committee of which A. D. Zabriskie is chairman. The meeting is at 8, daylight time.

In attendance at the Six Church conference, Wednesday, at Hanover Congregational church, were Mrs. C. P. Learned, Mr. and Mrs. George Geer and Mrs. Geer's mother, Mrs. Josephine Parker, and guest, Mrs. Herman Gager, also Otto Miller and Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lamb.

From four till eight, Wednesday afternoon, Miss Elizabeth Browning celebrated her thirteenth birthday at her home on Plain Hill road. Present were Peggy Ross, Olive Beebe, Doris Seagraves, Edith Seaman, Natalie Bailey, Phyllis Hinrichs, Betty Pfeiffer, Helen Seldman, Elizabeth Janskowski, Celeste Panulewicz with Natalie and Lois Browning. Games were played with prizes awarded and there also was instrumental music and singing. Pink was the color used in the dining room. At each place were pink baskets filled with nuts and bon-bons. Each child also received a favor. Mrs. Browning was assisted by Mrs Carleton Morse in serving salad, sandwiches, fancy wafers, grape juice, fruit jello with whipped cream, also fruit and candy. A large birthday cake held 13 pink candles. The little girl received some very pretty gifts.

Having passed four and a half months in Orange City, Florida, Mrs. James F. Ringland returned Monday evening to her home on Plain Hill road. During her stay a visit was made to the Bok Singing Tower, where it proved most delightful to listen to the ringing of the bells. Leaving Norwich Town, January first, Mrs. Ringland remained in Florida until April 27th. She returned home by way of Chicago, stopping there for ten days to visit at the homes of her two older sons, Myron and Everette Ringland, whom she had not seen in nine years. An overnight stop was made in Fairfield, Conn., with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Johnson, where her youngest son Robert, has been staying during his mother's absence from home.

The May meeting of Dorcas Home Missionary society of the Methodist church, was held Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Arthur Fulton with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. William Weaver, presided. Mrs. George Manning offered prayer. Mrs. Albert G. Miner accompanied at the organ for the hymns sung. Mrs. Stanton W. Brown, secretary, and Mrs. George Manning, treasurer, submitted their reports, which were approved. The society pledged $50 toward the church expenses as in former years. Mrs. Stanton W. Brown, Mrs. Albert G. Miner and Mrs. Wellington Miner were appointed nominating committee. Mrs. Weaver was appointed chairman of the district meeting to be held June 5th at the Methodist church. Mrs. George L. Randall, chairman of the mite box service, then Mrs. Randall gave a reading on "The Meaning of the Mite Box." Mrs. Manning, Mrs Albert Miner and Mrs Randall read of the work accomplished at Rebecca McClesky Home, at Cedertown, Georgia. Mrs. Brown read the Life Experience of Miss Ruth Croocker; Mrs. Wellington Miner read of the experience of A Deaconness; Mrs. Arthur Fulton told of The Mountain Life; Mrs. Manning and Mrs. Weaver read a dialogue "Shaken", (the mite box demonstration). Cake and tea were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Bertha Pierce, 215 West Town street, formerly of Preston City, announces the engagement of her daughter, Bertha Bessie Pierce, to Kenneth Morrell, of Norwich.

NINE CANTERBURY SCHOOLS HAVE ANNUAL DEMONSTRATION

The annual demonstration and exhibition of the work of the schools in the town of Canterbury was held there Thursday in Grange hall. The town library committee served its annual community supper, the proceeds going into the town library fund. The older girls of the schools waited on the tables and the older boys poured coffee.

The exhibition work included the regular art and hand work that has been done in the schools this year in connection with the problems which the pupils have studied.

Special mention is made of the handsome serving tray made by Louise Soderberg of the Westminster school; also the several water color paintings in connection with the lumbering problem and the specimens of lumber from 28 local trees, also the basketry work done in the Canterbury Green school; the fine poster, woodwork, and sewing done by the pupils of the Frost, Gayhead, Hyde and Packer schools; the iron decorations by the Baldwin school pupils; basketry and flower making, also small wooden dump trucks by the Raymond school pupils.

The demonstration work included two-part singing by the town school chorus of about 30 children selected from the nine schools.

The Baldwin school presented an adaptation of an article "When Father Visits Our School." In this adaptation father saw his boy at work conducting assembly exercises and also in the classroom activities. He discussed with the teacher the progress of his boy. After his visit to school, father is convinced that the "Child Centered School Methods" meet the needs of his child.

The pupils of the Baldwin school also presented two war playlets written by two of their pupils in connection with their study of the problem "Are People Justified in Making War?"

The Frost school pupils dramatized "Eliza's Escape" taken from Uncle Tom's Cabin.

The Westminster school showed how their school club carried on its activities developing the pupils into leaders and giving them some knowledge of how to conduct business meetings and at the same time linking up the subject matter connected with the problem which they were studying; in other words, making the school work typical of life situation.

The Packer school presented a play written by one of its pupils which demonstrated the first aid work that has been taught them this year in connection with their health work.

The Hyde school pupils also ably demonstrated an original idea in showing how god citizenship may be taught from the activities which should be carried on during the recess period.

Four children from the North Society school in costume presented original poems regarding the country which the costumes indicated they came from.

Gayhead school pupils demonstrated how the "health store" activity can develop the necessary subject matter and at the same time present it in a life situation which stimulates good habits, attitudes and skills.

GIRLS' CLUB TO ATTEND WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING

The Girls' City club, under the auspices of the Woman's City club, held another enjoyable meeting at their clubroom at No. 9 Washington street, last Friday evening. The business session was presided over by the president, Irene Combies. Plans were made for their "Beau affair," which is to take place on the evening of Memorial day. The girls also planned to meet at their clubroom on Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock, and from there go to the Wauregan hotel to attend the programme of the Woman's City club in response to the invitation of the club to the girls. Mrs. Avery Smith, chairman of the girls' work committee of the Woman's City club, was present and gave a very interesting talk to the girls. Mrs. Smith extended an invitation to the girls to attend the picnic under the auspices of the civic committee at Lucas Memorial park on June 8. Games and singing concluded the evening's programme.

DISALLOWANCE IN CLAIM FOR WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

Disallowance and dismissal of a claim for workmen's compensation on the part of Frank Vane of 25 Buckingham avenue, an employe of the Uncas Finishing company, have been made by Commissioner A. J. Bailey.

Commissioner Bailey finds from the evidence that Vane has sustained the burden of proof that his hernia resulted from an accidental injury, accompanied by evidence of pain, but finds that inability to work did not follow such accident within one week although Vane within two weeks from date of injury communicated the facts of the accident to his employer.

"Following the hearing, as this was considered a meritorius case, the matter was left open for the purpose of giving the respondents an opportunity to make a compromise agreement if they so desired, but upon receipt of a notice from them that it had been impossible to so agree, the case now comes before me for a decision and as I find from the evidence that disability did not follow within one week from date of injury I am unable to make any award in the claimant's favor," the compensation commissioner says in conclusion.

Outing for Dental Association

At the business session, when the county dental association held its May meeting in New London this week, it was decided to hold an all-day outing in July. A committee of arrangements was appointed consisting of Drs. W. J. Murray, D. M. Corcoran and M. Hertz of New London and Dr. Martin Mullin of this city.

FIRE BURNED HOLE IN FLOOR AT CASINO

A carelessly tossed cigarette is blamed for a small fire Sunday morning at Hilltop casino, at the junction of Boswell avenue and North Main street. At 7:56 o'clock a telephone call was received at the central fire station calling out Engine No. 1, Engine No. 2, Acting Chief D. J. Brennan and Acting Deputy Chief John E. Blackburn. Several cans of chemical were used on the fire which burned a hole in the flooring in the corridor leading to the dance hall. The damage was small.

Appointment for Dr. Ferguson

SENATE RELEASES TARIFF CONFEREES FROM PLEDGES

Freed Them of Binding Promise to the Export Debenture Amendment By a Vote of 43 to 41 — Vice President Curtis Dissolved Tie Vote On Flexible Provision Freeing the Conferees From Their Pledge to Uphold the Provision—Action of Senate Assures a Final Vote On Tariff Legislation By Congress, Probably This Week.

WASHINGTON, May 19—(AP)—With the life of the tariff bill at stake, Vice President Curtis broke a tie in the senate today and thereby assured further conferences with the house looking to a final agreement on the Hawley-Smoot measure.

By two narrow decisions, the senate agreed to relieve its conferees of pledges binding them to the export debenture and legislative flexible tariff amendments put into the bill by the democrats and republican independents over the protest of President Hoover.

The vote was 43 to 41 to free the conferees on the debenture provision and 42 to 42 on the flexible clause taking away presidential authority to change customs duties. On the latter roll call, Vice President Curtis announced himself with the republican forces amid applause from the majority side.

Immediately after the votes, Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, chairman of the senate conference committee, called a conference with the house managers for tomorrow afternoon. Final action on the tariff bill sometime this week is expected.

With the senate conferees relieved of their pledges on the debenture and flexible provisions, it is predicted that the former will be abandoned and a compromise worked out on the flexible amendment which would leave the president in the picture.

There were some indications tonight, however, that the house conferees might insist on the house flexible provision which not only retains presidential authority to change rates, but broadens existing law to permit the tariff commission, on whose reports the executive acts, to equalize differences in competitive conditions. The present laws is based on the formula of equalizing differences in cost of production.

During today's debate, republican leaders contended that unless the conferees were given a free hand on the two propositions, the tariff bill would die in conference. They based this argument on the house rejection of both proposals several weeks ago and upon refusal of the house conferees further to negotiate with the senate group until the senate expressed itself on the issues.

Republican independents and democrats argued the senate conferees had made no attempt even to confer on the disputed points and had construed the informal pledges previously given too strictly.

Thirty-seven republicans and six democrats voted to divorce the conferees from their promises on the debenture, while 28 democrats, 12 republicans and the one farmer-labor senator, Shipstead, Minnesota, opposed the release.

Two democrats, Broussard, Louisiana, and Trammell, Florida, and one republican, Thomas, Idaho, who voted on October 19, last, for the debenture, when the decision was favorable to the debenturites, 42 to 34, cast their ballots today ofr freeing the conferee's hands on the proposition.

The roll call today on the debenture release follows:

Republicans for:

Allen, Baird, Bingham, Capper, Couzens, Dale, Deneen, Fess, Gillett, Glenn, Goldsborough, Greene, Hale, Hastings, Hebert, Jones, Kean, Keyes, McCullough, McNary, Metcalf, Oddie, Patterson, Phipps, Reed, Robinson, of Indiana, Robinson of Kentucky; Shortridge, Smoot, Steiwer, Sullivan, Thomas, of Idaho; Townsend, Vandenberg, Walcott, Waterman and Watson—37.

Democrats for:

Broussard, Kendrick, Ransdell, Trammel, Wagner, and Walsh of Massachusetts—6.

Total 43.

Approval then was given a motion to free the conferees from their pledge to uphold the senate's flexible provison.

Vice President Curtis broke a tie vote on the flexible provision roll call.

The vote was 42 to 42 on that call.

Thirty-seven republicans and five democrats combined to release the conferees from the flexible tie before the vice president joined them. Twenty-nine democrats 12 republicans, and Shipstead voted in the negative.

Two democrats, Dill, Washington, and Trammell, Florida, voted with the republican regulars on the flexible issue, whereas on October 2 last they were lined up with the coalition forces for the Simmons-Norris flexible provision restoring to congress the power now vested in the president. The vote then was 47 to 42.

Today's roll call on the proposal to relieve the conferees from pledges to uphold this amendment follows:

For releasing conferees from democratic flexible provision:

Democrats: Broussard, Dill, Ransdell, Steck and Trammell—5.

Total 42.

Against release:

Republicans: Blaine, Borah, Brookhart, Frazier, Howell, Johnson, Lafollette, McMaster, Norris, Nye, Pine and Schall—12.

Democrats: Ashurst, Barkley, Black, Bratton, Brock, Caraway, Connally, Copeland, George, Glass, Harris, Harrison, Hawes, Hayden, Heflin, Kendrick, McKellar, Overman, Pittman, Robinson of Arkansas, Sheppard, Simmons, Stephens, Swanson, Thomas of Oklahoma, Wagner, Walsh of Mass., Walsh of Mont., and Wheeler—29

MUNICIPAL OFFICIALS CHARGED WITH RUM GRAFT

CHEYENNE, Wyo, May 19.—(AP)—Fourteen city officials of Rock Springs and nine Thermopolis municipal officers tonight faced charges of entering into a conspiracy with alleged bootleggers and speakeasy proprietors whereby the latter made monthly protection payments to enrich the municipal treasuries.

The federal grand jury here last Saturday returned indictments against 93 residents of the two Wyoming cities, including their mayors. The alleged specific acts of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws were made known today by A. D. Walton, U. S. district attorney, who released a 26-page indictment against 52 Rock Springs citizens and a 20-page indictment against the 41 Thermopolis residents.

Of the 93 persons indicted, 61 had been arrested late today.

At Rock Springs the municipal government was at a standstill until a temporary government was formed. Mayor P. C. Bunning appointed a temporary mayor, and William Harvey, the only policeman not indicted, was appointed temporary chief of police. Those indicted must appear in Cheyenne for arraignment.

BAKER ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF HENRY GAW

NEW YORK, May 19.—(AP)— James Baker, who says he has killed nine men and wouldn't mind dying in the electric chair if they'll broadcast his last words, went on trial for his life today.

He is being tried for the murder of Henry Gaw, night watchman in the Guggenheim laboratories here, who was found dead a year ago last December in the laboratory, a telephone book torn in half on his chest. Baker is alleged to have confessed he forced Gaw to drink poisoned coffee at pistol point. He is a former employe of the laboratory.

James D. C. Murray, Baker's attorney, insists his client is insane. Seven of the nine murders Baker claims he has committed have never been traced, which led even police to doubt his sanity.

ALL IMMIGRATION INTO PALESTINE IS SUSPENDED

JERUSALEM, May 19.—(AP)— The high commissioner's office has announced that, effective May 15, all immigration into Palestine is suspended pending the report of Sir John Simpson, British official sent out from London on immigration and land settlement problems in the country.

The Jewish telegraphic agency reports that protest movements against the government order have arisen among the Jews in Tel Aviv, Haifa, Jerusalem, and the Emek valley. The general federation of Jewish labor is organizing meetings at other places.

PROF. DOUGLAS MACINTOSH FIGHT FOR CITIZENSHIP

NEW YORK, May 19. — (AP) — Whether an applicant for American citizenship has the right to "judge of the necessity" if required to take up arms in defense of this country was argued before the United States circuit court of appeals today by John W. Davis.

Davis appeared as counsel for Prof. Douglas Clyde MacIntosh, professor of theology at Yale and a native of Canada, who was denied citizenship by Judge Warren Burrows in Connecticut when he reserved the right to judge of the necessity in answer to the usual question concerning his willingness to bear arms in case of war.

In arguing for a reversal of the decision, Davis said his client did not recognize his duty to his country as superior to his duty to his God and his adherence to the tenets of Christianity as he understood them.

He quoted MacIntosh as having told the lower court, "I am willing to do what I judge to be for the best interests of my country but only insofar as I can believe that this is not going to be against the best interests of humanity in the long run. I do not undertake to support 'my country right or wrong' in any dispute that may arise."

COMMITTEE HEARING ON LONDON NAVAL TREATY

WASHINGTON, May 19. — (AP) — Navy foes of the London limitations treaty and America's senator-delegates to that conference debated the merits of the treaty in pointed exchanges today before the foreign relations committee.

Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, one of the delegates, recalled Admiral Hilary P. Jones, one of the naval advisers who has protested against the restriction of eight-inch gun cruisers provided by the treaty, and read one of Admiral Jones' old letters setting forth some advantages of the six-inch gun ships over the eights.

Senator Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, another of the London conferees, took Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, chairman of the navy general board, to task for stating this was not a proper time for America to negotiate a limitations agreement and charged him with usurping the powers of the president to make treaties.

The two admirals stood their ground.

HEAVY PROPERTY AND CROP DAMAGE BY FLOODS

NEW ORLEANS, May 19—(AP)—Streams in north and middle Mississippi and north Louisiana, swollen by the recent rains, have burst over their banks and inundated thousands of acres of land, causing heavy property and crop damage and crippling rail and highway transportation.

PANAMA, May 19.—(AP)—Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd has been forced to protract his stay in the Canal Zone because of the slow speed with which the bark "City of New York", returning from Dunedin, New Zealand, is making its way to Balboa.

BERLIN, May 19.—(AP)—Delegates from all European countries to the Pan-American Union paid tribute to the European federal union plan of Aristide Briand, French foreign minister. The diplomatic corps, and members of the German government attended the meeting.

MANILA, May 19.—(AP)—Philippine leaders commenting on the sentiment of Secretary of War Hurley that there should be no diminution at present in control of the islands by the United States, reiterated their belief that America is committed to Philippine independence.

"CAT EYE ANNIE" BACK IN CELL IN AUBURN PRISON

AUBURN, N. Y., May 19—(AP)—"Cat Eye Annie" McDowell, notorious jewel thief who escaped from the Auburn women's prison this morning was back in her cell tonight, the last of her many escape plots gone awry after she had gotten 15 miles away from the institution.

In a break that baffled prison officials in many ways she sawed through the wood surrounding the lock of her cell door, crept down a corridor to a reception room on the first floor, donned clothing belonging to acting Warden Frank L. Heacox of the men's prison, and got away.

No one knew just how she scaled the walls.

Less than seven hours after her escape was discovered "Cat Eye" was taken into custody by a trick, while she trudged along a road to Syracuse. Near Bennett's Corners a Syracuse motorist, seeing her in man's attire and having heard of the escape, became suspicious. He offered her a ride, then phoned Trooper William Stevenson at the state police sub-station at Elbridge, asking to be met at Bennett's Corners.

"Cat Eye," who got her name from a peculiar cast in one eye, surprised, made no resistance. She immediately was hurried back to the prison.

NEW EFFORTS TO ANNUL MARRIAGE OF JAMES BANKS

CHICAGO, May 19—(AP)—Efforts to annul the marriage of James Banks, 80, a wealthy former resident of Atlanta, Ga., and Dolly S. Gardner, 58, Negress, were made today in superior court.

Counsel for Mrs. Banks was ordered to file an amended petition within 20 days to the plea of Joseph M. Lillis, Chicago business man, who seeks the annulment as a friend of Banks and of Banks' sister, Mrs. Fannie Banks Calloway, Atlanta.

The Banks were married here in July, 1927, counsel for Mrs. Banks alleging Banks brought the woman from Georgia, where laws bar intermarriage of races.

At a competency hearing recently Banks was held to have been incompetent for six months prior to that time. Counsel for Mrs. Bank attempted to set up that the ruling in that case held Banks to be sane at the time of the marriage more than six months prior to the competency hearing. The court overruled the contention, but granted three weeks to make a new one.

FINAL EVACUATION OF THE RHINELAND TO BEGIN TODAY

WIESBADEN, Germany, May 19—(AP)—The final evacuation of the Rhineland occupied area, for more than a decade the goal of German diplomacy and the dream of the German people, will begin officially tomorrow.

The custodian of German properties today received notification to this effect from the supreme command of the French army of the Rhineland.

Details of the program of evacuation were not given, but the actual movement of French soldiers is expected to begin some time this week.

SUIT FOR $500,000 DAMAGES SETTLED OUT OF COURT

NEW YORK, May 19.—(AP)—The suit of Mrs. Andre E. Hahn of Kansas City, Mo., against Sir Joseph Duveen, international art dealer, for $500,000 damages involving his decision that he did not believe her painting of "La Belle Ferronier" to be a genuine, was settled out of court today.

Sir Joseph's attorneys announced that the action had been dismissed "without prejudice" and declared that no consideration was involved.

SECOND VICTORY FOR LIPTON'S CUP RACER

HARWICH, Eng., May 19.—(AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton's America's cup racer Shamrock V, easily won her second race in the Harwich regatta today on a time-allowance basis.

Pitted against larger craft, the Lipton yacht was beaten home by A. A. Patton's Lulworth, a scratch boat, by nearly two minutes, but as the Shamrock had a time allowance of eight minutes she won with plenty to spare. The Lulworth took second prize by six seconds from H. A. Andra's Candida.

IMPEACHMENT TRIAL OF LESTER C. FRANKLIN

JACKSON, Miss., May 19.—(AP)—The Mississippi senate, sitting as a high court of impeachment, resumed the trial today of Lester C. Franklin, chairman of the state tax commission, who is charged with high crimes and misdemeanors in office.

The charges were brought in connection with allegations that Franklin participated in a plot to frustrate a $10,000,000 anti-trust suit against Warren Brothers, road construction firm of Boston, Mass.

RECANTS TESTIMONY IN PANTAGES ASSAULT CASE

LOS ANGELES, May 19—(AP)—Frederick Wise, a witness in the Alexander Pantages assault case last fall, appeared at the district attorney's office today and said he wished to recant a portion of his testimony at the trial of the theatre multi-millionaire. He said he also had instructed his attorney to dismiss a $250,000 damage action brought against Pantages.

Graf Zeppelin Off For Brazil At Dawn Today

Flight From Seville to Pernambuco, About 5,000 Miles, Will Be Almost Entirely Over Water.

SEVILLE, Spain, May 19.—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin rode peacefully at anchor here tonight at the end of the first leg of her history-making voyage from Friedrichshafen, Germany, across the equator to South and North America.

Twenty-four hours from her starting point the giant of the air had experienced as her first difficulty a heat wave that enveloped Spain, avoiding which she had been flown off her course two hours, adding the African continent to her journey.

The Graf nosed up to her mast at La Tablada airport, her own specially constructed anchorage, at 5:40 p. m. (12:40 p. m., E. S. T.). Her flying time unofficially had been 25 hours and 20 minutes. This included several hours during midday when she cruised about over northern Africa, out-maneuvering the heat wave.

The Graf's day embraced travel of approximately 1,500 miles of mapped course, with considerable slow flying to fill in the mid-day hours around northern Africa.

Such volumes of mail were ready for her tonight that it seemed to the special staff of postoffice workers assigned to the Tablada sub-postoffice, as they struggled with sacks in the intense heat, that everybody in Europe must have decided to send a letter or postcard to the Graf. In addition there were many official communications of greeting between officials of European and American cities and states.

The Graf, taking off tomorrow at dawn, will shape her course for the Canary and Cape Verde Islands, after which she will head southeastward across the equator to Pernambuco, Brazil, her first scheduled stop after this city.

From Seville to Pernambuco the line distance is approximately 5,000 miles, almost entirely over water, when the only advices of her progress will be obtained from her own radio dispatches and from ships sighting her at sea, after the Canary and Cape Verde Islands have been left in the distance.

Dr. Eckener said: "I am much pleased with the result of the flight thus far and delighted with our reception. This trip to the Americas promises a new era in communications between Germany and Spain and South and North America."

To Start at 2:15 E. S. T., Today

SEVILLE, May 19—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin, taking the historic route of many of the early Spanish "Conquistadores" to South America, will leave Seville at 7:15 a. m. (2:15 a. m., E. S. T.) tomorrow.

NEW JAYWALKING LAWS IN EFFECT IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 19—(AP)—The first test of Police Commissioner Whalen's plan to save the pedestrians from themselves and make the city safe for motorists was made today.

At 10 a. m. his new jaywalking laws, which provide for pedestrian cross-street travel only with the green lights and at intersections, went into effect.

No general effort was made to curb jaywalking and most of the city went on its perilous way, but at four busy corners in midtown special squads were stationed. They spent most of their time warning pedestrians and explaining the new laws, but also handed out eleven summonses. From the eleven hailed to court tomorrow the commissioner hopes to get one test case to carry to the higher courts.

SEEKING PROTECTION IN FOREIGN LEGATIONS

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, May 19—(AP)—Foreign legations are popular places just now to the Aliancistas, or opponents of the government party which won Friday's election here.

Federico Velasquez, defeated candidate for vice-president, was arrested yesterday on charges of fomenting revolution and was imprisoned in the old fortress here.

Rumor soon spread that other prominent Aliancistas were wanted and two of them, Angel Morales, unsuccessful candidate for vice-president, and Martin Moya, former minister of finance, were sitting on the porch of the American receiver of Dominican customs, William E. Pullian, when he returned home from a drive last night.

ATLANTIC WARSHIP FLEET OFF FOR VIRGINIA CAPES

NEW YORK, May 19—(AP)—Bound for a rendezvous with President Hoover off the Virginia Capes, the Atlantic battle and scouting fleet put out to sea today.

With the U. S. S. Texas in the van five mighty ships of the line, nine cruisers and half a hundred lesser fighting craft bade New York farewell and slipped down the bay and through the Narrows to pass in review tomorrow before their commander in chief.

Since May 7 the great grey fleet has swung at anchor in the Hudson or lain alongside the Brooklyn navy yard piers while 30,000 bluejackets made merry ashore—a merry-making that drew praise from New Yorkers for its decorum.

CANNON EXONERATED OF STOCK SPECULATION

DALLAS, Tex., May 19.—(AP)—By a vote of 54 to 11, the Episcopacy committee of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, tonight exonerated Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Washington, D. C. of charges of stock market speculation.

COURT ORDERED RELEASE OF THE REV. R. P. SHULER

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19—(AP)—The California supreme court today ordered the release of the Rev. R. P. Shuler from jail at Los Angeles on a writ of habeas corpus, fixed his bail at $500 and set the case for hearing June 2. Mr. Shuler has served 15 days of a 70 day sentence for contempt of court recently. He also was fined $150.

Rum Carrying Autos Must Be Confiscated

Supreme Court Decision—But Lien Holders, When Not I[illegible]ted, May Reco[illegible].

W[illegible]ON, May 19.— (AP) — A[illegible] seized by the government [illegible]nlawful transportation of li[illegible]ust be confiscated under the [illegible]ition law.

[illegible] supreme court made this ruling [illegible]ay in a unanimous decision rend[illegible]red by Justice Stone.

Under it lien holders and owners will be able to recover their automobiles when so seized if they satisfy the courts that the unlawful use of the automobile had not been authorized.

The decision is of great importance to financing companies which annually hold liens of approximately $2,000,000,000 on automobiles being purchased on deferred payments. Having previously decided that when an automobile was seized and the driver arrested and prosecuted under the prohibition law the automobile must be confiscated under that law, the court left open the troublesome question of what the government could do when the persons arrested for the illegal traffic had not been prosecuted.

The government sought to obtain a ruling under which it could exercise its discretion whether to bring condemnation proceedings against the automobile under the internal revenue law. Then the owners and lien holders would have no opportunity whatever to recover.

The court declared today it was of the opinion that under the prohibition law "it is the duty of prohibition officers to arrest any person discovered in the act of transportation and to seize transporting vehicle; that such arrest and seizure requires the government to proceed for the forfeiture of the vehicle under section 26 (prohibition law)."

"It is unnecessary to say whether, if for any reason the seizure cannot be made or the forfeiture proceeded with, prosecution for any offense committed must be had under the national prohibition act rather than other statutory provisions," it added.

The decision applies only to automobiles seized while being used in the unlawful transportation of liquor.

REFUSED TO PASS ON CONVICTION OF FALL

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(AP)—The supreme court today refused to pass on the conviction of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, of accepting a bribe of $100,000 from Edward L. Doheny, without waiting for the court of appeals of the District of Columbia to pass on the case.

The government, arguing that the supreme court would finally be required to pass upon the case, asked the tribunal to review the conviction without delay. One of the reasons advanced was the ill health of the former cabinet officer.

Doheny, wealthy oil operator, has been acquitted on a charge of giving the bribe to Fall, since the latter's conviction.

EAST INDIANS CONTINUE CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE

BOMBAY, May 19—(AP)—India's battle against the government salt monopoly continued unabated today but there was no mass violence nor were there any serious clashes with police.

The activities of civil disobedience volunteers centered chiefly around the salt pans at Dharasana and Wadala. At the latter place the police used their sticks to drive the raiders away from the salt pans, injuring seven. They perspired heavily at this task, for the volunteers worked in small groups, one batch rushing to get into the barbed wire enclosure while the police were busy driving another out.

To break up one such incursion by 100 nationalists the police arrested 70, but 30 others got away with their hands full of salt. Spectators, meanwhile, squatted in the road and jeered at the efforts of the police.

The same system prevailed at Dharasana, where raids on the government salt works were instituted unsuccessfully last week by Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, woman leader of the civil disobedience movement since Mahatma Gandhi and Abas Tyabji have been put in jail.

FLOOD SUFFERERS FIND SHELTER IN BOX CARS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 19.—(AP)—Arkansas looked tonight upon the latest of its many flood scenes to see hundreds of persons sheltered in box cars, tents and private homes as swollen streams of south Arkansas continued to take an enormous toll of property.

Added to flood waters from torrential rains of the past few days was the toll of windstorms, both of life and property. Elaine, in eastern Arkansas, was the scene of a tornado yesterday which killed 16 Negro farm workers. Their bodies were buried today on the plantations which were their homes. Nearly fifty other injured were in hospitals at Helena.

An estimated 2,000 persons were sheltered in tents and private homes at Smackover after being forced to vacate their homes as flood waters of Smackover creek, normally a small stream, spread over fifty square miles. A few miles farther east at Calion, on the Ouachita river, a number of families abandoned their homes to seek shelter in box cars.

INDEPENDENCE DAY CELEBRATION IN HAVANA

HAVANA, May 19.— (AP)—Twenty-eight airplanes from the third attack group of the U. S. army air corps arrived here from Miami at 4 p. m. today to participate in the Independence day celebration tomorrow.

The planes will take off at 8 a. m. tomorrow and maneuver over the city for an hour before the huge independence day parade starts.

OTTAWA FIRE CAPTAIN KILLED BY EXPLOSION

OTTAWA, May 19.— (AP)— A fire captain and one of his men lost their lives and six other firemen were hurt today when an explosion in a burning ice house blew out the front wall as they were fighting the flames.

The ice house was wrecked by the fire and four nearby residences were slightly damaged.

MORROW ASSURED OF REP. NOMINATION FOR SENATE

Joseph S. Frelinghuysen Has Withdrawn His Petition For the Short Term Nomination In New Jersey, Leaving Morrow the Only Republican Candidate to Complete the Unexpired Term of Walter I. Edge, Resigned — Frelinghuysen Denounced the Morrow Plan For Repeal of the 18th Amendment.

TRENTON, N. J., May 19—(AP)—Dwight W. Morrow became assured today of republican nomination to the United States senate to complete the unexpired term of Walter I. Edge, resigned. Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, who like Rep. Franklin W. Fort and Morrow is a candidate for the full six year term beginning in March, 1931, withdrew his petition for the short term nomination, leaving Morrow the only candidate.

FRELINGHUYSEN DENOUNCED MORROW PLAN FOR REPEAL

ASBURY PARK, N. J., May 19—(AP)—Addressing the Good Government club today, Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, candidate for republican nomination for United States senator, denounced the plan of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, one of his opponents, for repeal of the 18th amendment and return of the control of liquor to the states.

"That is simply the Al Smith plan," he said, "which you people rejected in the last presidential election by an overwhelming majority."

Duane E. Dintard, of Newark, first assistant attorney general of New Jersey, who spoke in behalf of Morrow, said there were other things more important than questions of prohibition and regulation of public utilities.

"The senate does not realize the contempt and ridicule in which it is held," he declared, "I want to see the senate reinforced by half a dozen men of character and integrity. There is no finer man on the political horizon of today than Dwight W. Morrow."

Frelinghuysen had urged a new system for the regulation of public utilities whereby the commissioners would be elected instead of appointed by the governor. He described the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey as part of a great national power trust formation. He also denounced acts of the 1930 legislature ousting members of the Hudson county boulevard and park commissions as linked with the "potent influence of the Public Service corporation which extends throughout the political life of New Jersey."

At other places during the day he attacked the Morrow campaign because of "self styled bosses who are directly under the influence of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey," and who he said were responsible for Morrow's candidacy.

UNSUCCESSFUL CANDIDATS ARRESTED IN PORTLAND, ORE.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 19.—(AP)—Robert Gordon Duncan, unsuccessful candidate for the republican nomination to congress from the third Oregon district in last Friday's primary, was arrested today, charged with violation of the corrupt practices act. He was released on $300 bond. The specific charge is delivering a radio campaign speech on election day.

The corrupt practices act specifies that no electioneering is to be done on election day.

ACTION AGAINST J. L. LEWIS, PRESIDENT OF MINERS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 19.—(AP)—Harry Fishwick, president of the Illinois Mine union, took the witness stand today to further the efforts of his faction to have John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, declared in contempt of court.

Counsel for the Fishwick group in seeking to show that Lewis and his followers violated the injunction issued Oct. 10, 1929, restraining them from interfering with the affairs of the United Mine Workers in Illinois.

Fishwick gave testimony to show that the Illinois district has a charter. Cross-examining Fishwick, Attorney Edmond Burke asked if District 12, the Illinois district, is the organization established at Springfield on March 10, 1930, when the Fishwick faction held a "rump" convention.

When Fishwick gave what Burke considered a non-committal reply to this question, the attorney inquired:

"Then who is the national president of your organization?"

"We hold that the officers elected at Springfield are the officers of the United Mine Workers of America," replied Fishwick.

HOUSE VOTES TRANSFER OF DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT

WASHINGTON, May 19.— (AP) — Final congressional action on President Hoover's first major proposal to strengthen dry law enforcement was obtained today as the house unanimously agreed to senate amendments to the Williamson bill authorizing transfer of the prohibition bureau from the treasury to the justice department.

President Hoover is expected by administration followers to affix his signature as soon as the measure reaches the white house.

The transfer is to become effective July 1.

Under the measure, however, the industrial alcohol division and the narcotic bureau, which had been coordinated with the prohibition bureau, will remain under treasury jurisdiction. It is understood that Prohibition Commissioner Doran is to remain as head of the industrial alcohol division for a time at least.

FLOOD DISTRICTS RELIEVED BY CESSATION OF RAINS

DALLAS, Tex., May 19.—(AP)—A cessation of torrential rains that fell in many parts of Texas last week and which caused many streams to leave their banks, today aided in relieving flood conditions which had reached serious proportions in northeast Texas.

The most serious conditions were at Jefferson on the Cypress river and Texarkana on the Red river. Flood waters inundated lower sections of Jefferson, driving to higher land a large number of Negro families and a few white people. The Cypress river stood at 26.3 feet, more than eight feet above flood stage. A further rise of little more than a foot would cause the inundation of Jefferson's main street.

DIVIDEND FOR CREDITORS OF NATIONAL RHEA CO.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 19.—(AP)—Creditors of the National Rhea Co., rayon manufacturing corporation with interests in Rhode Island and Connecticut, which has been in receivership, will receive a first and final dividend of 56.66 per cent, totaling $90,102.59, under a decree entered in superior court today by Judge Tanner.

The decree provides for discharge of the receiver and dissolution of the corporation. The corporation's plant at Putnam, Conn., recently was sold for $60,000.

PLANE BEARING GENERAL EVERSON LONG OVERDUE

EL PASO, Tex., May 19.—(AP)—Major General William G. Everson, chief of the militia bureau at Washington, en route here by airplane from Albuquerque, N. M., for an inspection of military units at Fort Bliss, was long past due late today. He should have arrived at noon, according to his schedule and airport authorities here were unable to locate his plane at intermediate points.

PRIMARY ELECTIONS IN PENNSYLANIA TODAY

PHILADELPHIA, May 19. — (AP) — Pennsylvania republicans go to the polls tomorrow in their bewildering primary campaign to nominate a set of candidates to be voted for in the November election.

As a general rule, political observers in Pennsylvania can forecast with a measure of accuracy the results of political battles in the state, but this year there has been such a confusion of candidates and mix-up of issues that men who value their predictions hesitated to guess at the winners.

It is true that the campaign managers of the candidates for the various offices are all claiming victory with more or less positiveness, but impartial observers are avoiding any forecasts.

Old time political lines that have stood the test of battle have been broken, and leaders who have stood shoulder to shoulder heretofore may be found in different groups.

The big stakes that are being fought for are the seat in the U. S. senate and the governorship. Along with them is the lieutenant governorship, secretary of internal affairs, one seat on the supreme court bench, two places on the state superior court bench, 38 congressional seats, half of the state senate and all of the state house of representatives, not to mention the local battles for membership in the state committee.

The senatorial fight is for the less than three years remaining of the term to which William S. Vare was elected in 1926.

COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS CONFIRMATION OF ROBERTS

WASHINGTON, May 19.— (AP) — Unanimous approval of the nomination of Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia as an associate justice of the supreme court was voted today by the senate judiciary committee and confirmation is expected tomorrow by the senate.

The committee report was laid before the senate by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, who will ask consideration of the nomination tomorrow at the regular executive session. Republican leaders were confident Roberts would be confirmed without delay.

BOATSWAIN WAS CAUGHT IN WINCH AND KILLED

NEW YORK, May 19.—(AP)—While members of the crew aboard the Honduran steamer Grenada were rigging up a cargo derrick today, M. Zuniga, boatswain and a native of Honduras, was caught in a winch and killed almost instantly. The body was brought ashore and probably will be returned to Honduras.

The Granada, bound in from Ceiba, Honduras, with ten passengers and a cargo of fruit, was nearing Quarantine when the accident occurred.

CAPONE ARRESTED FOR THIRD TIME IN MIAMI

MIAMI, Fla., May 19.—(AP)—Al Capone, Chicago racketeer, tonight was arrested by Miami police for the third time in ten days. He was arrested with a companion by Police Chief Guy C. Reeve at the entrance to the American Legion boxing arena, which they had planned to witness. Capone and his companion were taken to police headquarters, charged with vagrancy. After posting a bond of $100 each they were released.

FINDS ALLEGED "FLAWS" IN CONTRACT TO AUDIT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 19—Alleged "weaknesses" have been found by Town Counsel Arthur T. Kelley in the contract drawn by a special citizen's committee with Walter A. Musgrave of Hartford relative to an audit of the town books. An opinion rendered today by Town Counsel Kelley points to a non-conformity with the vote of the special town meeting in paragraph four of the contract which stipulates the period of audit to begin with the fiscal year 1919 and include the end of the fiscal year of 1929. Another matter that the counsel believes should be brought to the attention of all concerned is the failure to specify the amount to be paid for the audit.

The contract has been submitted to the board of selectmen by the special committee appointed at the special town meeting which appropriated a sum not to exceed $10,000 for the purpose of the audit. The contract has not as yet been signed by the selectmen pending an examination by the town counsel.

The opinion published today follows:

To the Selectmen of the Town of Windham:

Gentlemen:—At a special meeting of the voters of the town of Windham held May 1st, 1930, it was voted that a thorough examination and audit of all the books of the town of Windham be made; and it was further voted that a committee of three be appointed to select the auditors and the board of selectmen were authorized and instructed to enter into a contract with the auditors so selected. As the result of said vote the said committee have drawn up a contract and presented the same to you for your signature.

It is the duty of the board of selectmen, as agents of the town of Windham, to protect the interest of said town, and sign a contract that will be for its benefit, and therefore, I wish to call your attention to "paragraph 4" of said proposed contract, which reads as follows: "The period to be covered by said examination and report shall be from the beginning of the fiscal year 1919 to and including the end of the fiscal year of 1929."

In my opinion said paragraph is not in conformity with the votes of the hereinbefore mentioned special meeting, inasmuch as said vote specifically stated that a thorough examination be made of said books, and no special period or term of years was stated or voted, as appears in said proposed contract.

It is my opinion that the town should receive in return for the expenditure of $10,000 as thorough an examination and audit that said amount will pay for, and in the event that said amount would carry an audit of 10, 15 or more years, the town should receive the benefit of the same, and not confine said audit and examination to a limited term of years, and I strongly recommend that the board of selectmen call this matter to the attention of the committee and suggest that the same be changed in order to conform to the vote of said special meeting.

I wish to also call your attention to the contents of "paragraph 7" of said proposed contract wherein it states that "the exact remuneration to be arrived at by computing the customary charge for said services, but in no event to be in excess of Ten Thousand Dollars, ($10,000)."

While in my opinion the above quotation from said proposed contract does not make the same illegal, it surely lays the door open to the possibility of a controversy between the contracting parties in the future, as to just exactly what is meant by the term "customary charge." And in my opinion the contract should state an exact amount either in a lump sum or on a per diem basis in order to avoid any misunderstanding between the contracting parties.

While it is a matter of discretion with the town that a bond be furnished to cover the faithful performance of the services to be rendered by the party of the second part mentioned in said proposed contract, it is my opinion that as a matter of public policy, with an expenditure of $10,060 involved, that said town should insist upon the furnishing of a bond, which is not provided for in said proposed contract.

The said proposed contract provided that the hereinbefore mentioned work shall be completed on or before September 16th, 1930, but does not provide when said work shall commence. It is my opinion that said contract should contain a provision when said work shall begin as well as when same shall be completed.

The town voted to employ a certified public accountant. The said proposed contract should therefore contain the phrase that the said party of the second part is a certified public accountant, if he is. Respectively submitted, Arthur T. Kelley, Counsel for the Town of Windham.

Sure You Can Gain Weight

Read Druggist's Generous Offer

The secret's out. It's McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets and they alone, which are accounting for the ability of so many badly underweight, scrawny, flatchested men, women and children to take on solid weight and gain a strong, rugged, buoyantly healthy appearance.

Mothers have been especially interested in the remarkable case of the 10 year-old New Jersey boy who recently gained 10 pounds after taking McCoy's only 21 days. So you can see, mother, what a wonderful chance your thin, sickly, punny boy now has to gain a normal boy's husky health, vigor and appearance.

Lee & Osgood take all the risk. McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets must give any underweight man, woman or child added weight or purchase price refunded. Just ask for McCoy's 60 tablets 60 cents.

BURGLARS THWARTED BY ALERTNESS OF POLICEMEN

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 19. — What had all the earmarks of a wholesale robbery at the tobacco and confectionery establishment of the Bottomley Co. on Main street was thwarted about 12:30 o'clock this morning by the alertness of Patrolman John Kilbourey and F. Rudolph Laramie. The perpetrators of the attempted burglary were evidently planning to take advantage of the complete darkness which prevails in the city now that the street lights are turned out at midnight.

That the stage had been set for a clean-up from the wholesale establishment was manifest when the officers found all doors open, including double-doors leading to the railroad platform in the rear of the building. The officers were attracted by an unfamiliar sound and, as they surrounded the establishment, hurried footsteps were heard. Having only the gleam of their flashlights with which to see, the officers made a thorough search of the surroundings but failed to locate anyone.

Entrance had been gained through a cellar door in the Rosen store adjoining. A check-up by Ernest LaFleur, who responded to the police call on behalf of the manager, Ernest Bottomley, who was ill, failed to disclose anything stolen.

...people can't excuse "B.O." (Body Odor)

"SHE'S NICE—but let's not invite her!" That's what people said about Mrs. .... Everybody knew the reason. Everyone but Mrs....... herself!

Then by chance she overheard, "B.O."

"B.O."—the polite term for something people seldom mention ... body odor. She was horrified. But that very day she adopted a simple safeguard. Now she is popular, happy, invited everywhere. Never again will she let "B.O." offend!

We don't notice it—in ourselves

That's the tragic thing about body odor. The offender is always the last to suspect his fault, because our senses quickly become deadened to an ever-present odor.

Yet everyone perspires. Pores give off a quart of odor-causing waste even on cool days. To play safe—to be sure of not offending—adopt this simple precaution. Wash and bathe with Lifebuoy.

This delightful toilet soap is a joy to use. Millions of enthusiastic Lifebuoy fans will tell you so. Its bland, abundant, gently antiseptic lather cleanses, refreshes, purifies pores so deeply that not even a trace of "B.O." remains.

CRAP SHOOTERS FINED AT CITY COURT SESSION

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, May 19.—The town and state shared, and shared alike, this morning in the split-up of the money that was in the pot when state officers raided a crap game being played in a field at Goodyear Saturday afternoon. The amount seized was $17.

Of the players Alfred Venaneault, John McGovern, Narcisse Millard, John Breault, Felix LaFleur, Henry Morin, John Toper, Stanley Toper and Adelard Morin were fined $5 each and costs of $1.75. William O'Keefe, Fred Boiselle, Armand Blain and Edward Whitt were fined $1 each and costs of $1.75, they being about as spectators. The raid on the game is said to have followed the filing of complaints.

Eugene Blanchard, who lived in the Killingly Center section of the town the past winter, was in the town court this morning and was fined $50 and costs, after he had been brought back here from Vermont by a state officer. Blanchard, who has been working a truck on a highway job in Vermont, was penalized for taking from the state a light automobile that he bought last March on a conditional bill of sale and had since made no payments on the machine, which also has been brought back into Connecticut.

Games scheduled for this week in the central division of the Windham county Y. M. C. A. Junior baseball league are New York vs. Cleveland, Boston vs. Philadelphia, Chicago vs. Washington, these Danielson, Dayville, Brooklyn teams playing on Wednesday. Friday of this week the schedule is: New York vs. Washington, Chicago vs. Philadelphio, Boston vs. Cleveland. All games start at 4 p. m., and for seven innings. The committee in the central division is made up of N. Lorne Greig and Harold Field of Dayville, Burdette C. Hopkins, Sidney J. Marland, Gordon J. Gale and A. M. Thompson for Danielson and Clifford H. Starkweather for Brooklyn.

The last games of the league season are scheduled for May 30. Winners in different divisions of the league will meet each other in an elimination contest to decide the championship.

NORWICH MINISTER TO ADDRESS W. C. T. U. CONVENTION

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, May 19.—The 44th annual convention of the Windham County W. C. T. U. is to be held Wednesday of this week at the Methodist Protestant church at Canterbury Plains. There will be a delegation in attendance from Danielson. Mrs. Mary Welles, Hartford, state president of the union, will speak on The Two Houses. Another address will be made by Rev. David Pitt of Norwich. The morning session is to open at 9 o'clock, standard time. A luncheon is to be served at noon. Several Loyal Temperance legions of the county are expected to be represented.

FUNERAL

Gaetano Mazzerella

This morning the funeral of Gaetano Mazzerella was held from the home on the Providence road and with funeral services at St. James' church at 9 o'clock. There were many relatives and friends in attendance, including numbers from out of town. Rev. Francis Baldwin, M. S., was celebrant of the high mass of requiem. Burial was in Holy Cross cemetery, the committal service conducted by Rev. J. A. Demers, M. S. The bearers were Anthony Mazzerella, Michael Petera, Alfred Carton, Anthony Bruno, Alexander Guglielmetti and Frank Dello. L. E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Now that streets are being honed after the recent oiling operations, it develops that the small stones that were so plentifully mixed with the gravel used to cover the oil turn out to have been an asset rather the nuisance some regarded them. Many of these little stones have been crushed to powder by traffic and have contributed to making a harder and better surface than would have been possible otherwise. Remaining stones are being raked out, and this work will continue for several days. Then the borough streets will be in fine condition.

Ralph Shippee has been recommitted to the state reformatory at Cheshire, after having been out on parole since Dec. 17. This 19-year-old youth was originally committed for thieving last year. His failure to live up to parole conditions and his recent conduct generally accounts for his being sent back to the institution.

Emanuel Oliver of Goodyear was before Deputy Judge Charles Francis in the town court this morning, accused of reckless driving. He was fined $1 and costs, all but $1 of the costs being remitted.

Though the band won no award in the state-wide competition for high school bands at Meriden the past week, Killingly high school's musical organization made a splendid showing, one especially pleasing to the faculty and friends of the school.

It appears now that plans for holding carnivals in Danielson this summer have been definitely abandoned. Borough officials have declined to grant permits for them, maintaining an attitude that has been the rule for several years past.

Those who wish new sidewalks built in conjunction with the borough should file requests at once with the borough officials, that they may be included in the list that will be presented before a special borough meeting in the not distant future.

Miss Amanda Beausoliel of New Bedford returned to that city today, after spending a few days visiting with relatives and friends in Danielson.

Friday evening a meeting of the Quinebaug Circuit league is to be held at Moosup. There will be attendance from Danielson.

Members of McGregor Woman's Relief corps have a meeting scheduled for Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Haselton, who have been living on the West Side since last fall, are planning to return soon to their home in Colton, N. Y.

Practically complete now, except for a few additional listings, the census in Killingly will be finally completed before May 30.

Dr. James A. Stetson, who died recently in New Haven, where he had practiced medicine for many years, was a brother of Joseph B. Stetson of Brooklyn, where the doctor spent his youthful years.

An appreciated improvement is the oiling of North street past Westfield cemetery and on around into upper Maple street to a point just south of Holy Cross cemetery. It is anticipated this work will keep these thoroughfares from breaking through and causing difficulties for funeral processions in the spring season of next year.

Wednesday, May 21, is the last day for paying Killingly town taxes. See Collector James R. Walsh at his office in the town hall building, 10 a. m. to 1 p. m., and 2 p. m. to 4 p. m.—adv.

Dr. Hugh Campbell will be here at the usual time Tuesday to conduct his monthly chest clinic at the health station in the town hall building.

Paul Gareau, who is in the naval air service, meteorological department, in New Jersey, has been spending a few days visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gareau.

Lift Them Out

CORNS

Callouses Go Too

The safest and real modern way to remove corns, root and all—out to stay is soak them every night for 3 or 4 nights in an invigorating, stimulating Radox Footbath.

Then put on modish shoes again, walk and dance with greatest comfort because there's nothing left to ache. No pain, no trouble.

Radox liberates oxygen which softens hard outer layer of corn, each night penetrating further and further thru the pores, carrying the salts to actual root of corn, so loosening it that it comes right out. Nothing like healthy, free from corn feet to assure happy days! Get a package of Radox at Lee & Osgood or any drugstore.

Saturday at the home of Manager Joseph Long a turkey supper was given for the Plainfield soccer team, winners of the Eastern Connecticut league and the Norwich Bulletin cup. The menu consisted of roast turkey, dressing, mashed potato, cabbage, carrots, peas, tomatoes and lettuce; pickles, rolls, lemon pie, cake and ice cream. After supper a social hour was enjoyed, during which the manager presented each player a golden soccer ball, also presented Clifford Allard a five dollar mounted gold piece as a token for the service he had rendered the team—Capt. T. Heys, Capt. A. Lyon, A. Wilkinson, J. Korab, P. Allard, A. Mette, A. Mercier, J. Barrett, J. Heys, T. Fenton, T. Lang, A. Smith, and Marriet.

MOOSUP

Every member of the faculties of the grammar schools of the town of Plainfield with perfect appointments and co-ordination, secretely and quietly, with muffled voices and motors, coasted into the yard of Superintendent J. L. Chapman of Plainfield, Thursday evening last. A May basket was hung. Suddenly there was a barrage of hilarious honking of auto horns which called the beloved superintendent to the door. His teachers took this means of celebrating the silver anniversary of his services to the educational life of hundreds of boys and girls who have passed through the schools during the past 25 years. Mrs. Chapman was presented flowers. Mr. Chapman on examining th basket discovered a silver box with a purse of silver dollars. The teachers took this occasion to remind Mr. Chapman of his squareness, of his loyalty to his teachers, which inspired them one and all to faithfulness and happiness in carrying out his appointments. Mr. Chpaman's long service in the town schools has been unusual and unusually acceptable. The party was the natural expression of the goodwill of the school board, the townspeople, the students and the faculty, indicating the appreciation all have of him and of his services. Mr. Chapman is a graduate of Willimantic normal and of Brown university. Games and refreshments were the climax of a very happy evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Franklin Sheldon, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Seaton, W. C. C. Hill, Miss Mary Hope, Mr. and Mrs. George Sanderson and Rev. R. W. E. DeWolfe attended the annual dinner and meeting of the Windham County Y. M. C. A., held in the Congregational church, Dayville, Friday night.

Friday evening after the regular choir rehearsal at the Baptist church, all remained for a party with games and refreshments, including coffee, jelly, lemon, orange tea, punch. The committee in charge was Mrs. Lewis Hoar, Winogene Pratt, G. Edward Mortimer and Roy W. Playdon. In the games the consolation awards went to G. Edward Mortimer and Iga Baker; the first prize winner being Charlotte Kitchin in both games.

PUTNAM

GEORGE WESTHAVER TO SUCCEED EUGENE W. ELLIS

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, May 19.—The board of trustees of Woodstock Academy at a meeting held Saturday evening appointed George Westhaver, for the past year sub-master and assistant athletic director, to succeed Eugene W. Ellis as headmaster. Mr. Ellis has resigned to become superintendent of schools in Farmington. The newly appointed director of the academy is well qualified to advance to the headmastership of the school. He has been in educational work almost continuously since his graduation from Hobart college in Geneva, N. Y., with the exception of a few months, spent in the business world, while in the employ of the John Hancock Insurance company of Boston.

For the past year Mr. Westhaver has directed the department of business administration at the Academy. During his college years, he majored at track and was prominent in other athletics. He is fond of the out of doors and during the summer months, is director of arts and craft work at the tri-county "Y" camp, Camp Woodstock, at Black pond. Upon succeeding Mr. Ellis next September, Mr. Westhaver will assume the direction of athletics at the Academy, a position which he is exceptionally well fitted for.

Since his appointment as sub-master at the Academy, Mr. Westhaver has made his home on Woodstock Hill. He is married and is a member of the Baptist church there.

Retiring headmaster, Mr. Ellis, announced today that Miss Doris E. Kibbe, of Rockville, has been appointed head of the French department at the Academy. She will begin her new duties at the opening of the fall term in September. Miss Kibbe comes to Woodstock well recommended. She is a graduate of the University of Vermont and during a two year period spent abroad in continental Europe, she studied in France, Spain and Italy. She succeeds Miss Dorothy Taudvin, French instructor for the past year who has resigned because of her approaching marriage.

Mr. Ellis has been director of scientific study and chemistry and his resignation has created a vacancy in this department which is yet to be filled by the trustees.

Leon A. Trudeau of Webster, who stands indicted for murder in the first degree, will be arraigned before Judge Thomas Hammand of superior court in Worcester on Wednesday at 2 p. m., at which time he is expected to enter a plea of not guilty. Today Attorney Fred W. Cronin of Worcester petitioned the court for an assignment as attorney for Trudeau in the case. The motion was put over until the day of arraignment when it will be considered by the court. Trudeau was indicted for the murder of his wife, Cecelia, whose strangled body was found on the morning of February 22, on the Thompson road, between Putnam and Webster.

When the roll was called in the city court room this morning by Prosecuting Attorney Eric H. Johnson, nine defendants who were on the docket, answered to their names and all with the exception of one, entered pleas of guilty to charges of intoxication.

The long list of offenders were arrested Saturday evening when a raiding party of local police under the direction of Sergt. A. J. Spoocey, descended upon the home of Albert and Mary Cusino on Park street, with orders to break up the week end "whoopee" party which had begun only a few minutes before the visit of the officers.

The police found seven guests besides the host and hostess, all of whom were disorderly and heavily intoxicated. They were placed under arrest and conveyed to the police station in special cars, booked and assigned to quarters in the station cell room.

Comedy galore was afforded the small court audience this morning as Mary and her husband were put to plea. Mary's appearance in court this morning was by no means her debut and Judge Geissler reminded her of this fact, which was incentive for her to begin a verbal attack which she applied to the world in general. The incessant rappings of Judge Geissler for order and quiet were not in the least effective and so the court just had to listen till Mary concluded her broadcast.

"So that's the story," said Judge Geissler, inquiring of Mary if she had told all. "Well here it is, I want you and your husband to clear out of town and stay out and I'll give you a week to do it in." Mary was also reminded that in the event she put in a Putnam appearance after the evacuation date, the police department would carry out orders, which would be for her—just too bad. The sentence of the court was most effective in restraining Mary and Albert's verbal outbursts.

Answering to their names and pleading guilty, one after another, the seven other paid fines of $10 and costs. Then Lawrence Geras was put to plea. "Not Guilt," "That so," replied Judge Geissler. "Well, guilty and 30 days and costs for the interruption," continued the judge as he meted out the only jail sentence of the morning.

The citizens military training camp committee of the Anslem Mayotte post, American Legion, will meet Friday evening to discuss and formulate plans for a campaign to enlist local boys in the C. M. T. C. movement which is sponsored annually by the war department. The military training period will be held this year during the month of August and the candidates will spend their vacation at various army posts throughout New England and New York. Connecticut's quota this year is roughly estimated at about 600 boys. The local legion post cooperating with officers of the first corps army base at Boston, in charge of registration for this area, will gladly assist all youths interested in attending the training camps this year. The age limit for those applying is from 18 to 21.

G. Stanley Shaw, chairman of the general committee on arrangements for observance of Memorial day, said this afternoon that final plans have been formulated and that the few remaining meetings of the various committees to be held during the few days previous to May 30th, will be to arrange for minute details. Owing to the fact that special dispensation from Rt. Rev. John J. Nilan, D. D., bishop of Hartford, could not be obtained for the holding of a military mass in St. Mary's cemetery, this plan has been excluded from the programme of exercises. Rev. U. O. Bellerose, pastor of St. Mary's church and a member of the general committee, reported the decision of the diocesan official at a recent meeting of the committee. Although the mass will not be celebrated as was planned, appropriate civic exercises in memory of Putnam's war dead, will be carried out at the cemetery at the disbandment of the parade.

George Frink of Woodstock was operated upon Sunday at the Day Kimball hospital. His condition was reported today as being favorable.

Certificates of proficiency in rapid calculation have been awarded various members of the senior book-keeping class at Putnam high school, by Miss Irene Berlier, head of the business department. The certificates were issued by the McIntosh Publishing company of Boston.

Miss Elsie Gallant of Church street, has returned to her home in this city after a vacation spent in Washington and Philadelphia.

Rev. Ernest J. Boileau, curate at St. Mary's church, is to leave this week for a fishing trip to Canada.

JEWETT CITY

ROAD BUILDERS JOLLY WEARIED BOROUGHITES

The Main street hurdle-jumpers turned out bright and early Monday morning for men who were distributing the steel reinforcement along the street Sunday, and laying water pipes in the gutters, had reported that the first cement on the new highway in the borough's Main street, was to be poured Monday morning. For more than a week the iron forms a foot high have been set up in the middle of the road, while scrapers, mixers and steam shovels have been lying around loose everywhere. All this has seemed to confirm the belief of the steeple-chasing villagers that they were actually to see something done. For close to a month now the flying sand storms that arose from the excavations have been a regular occurrence and men have cussed and cried as they cleared their eyes from dust. At first the long suffering Main street dwellers did not doubt the builders' veracity, but now they do, as days pass without action. Each morning as they arise from their dusty couches, like Bedouins from the desert sands, some one of the steel slammers, or a detachment of pipe pounders, will cheerily yell, "It won't be long now!"

SIXTEEN CANDIDATES GIVEN K. OF C. 3RD DEGREE

The local council of the Knights of Columbus held a fine exemplification of the third degree Sunday afternoon in the American-Polish Corp. hall with a class of 16 candidates. The hall was filled, many members from nearby councils being present.

After the meeting, a delicious chicken pie supper was served to the members of the degree team, district deputies, and the members of the committee in charge of the degree, at Pachaug Grange hall, by the sisters of the grange.

Ashland Going in All Departments

P. W. Chase, welfare superintendent for the Ashland Co., and editor of the Acco Smile, tells today (Tuesday) of the following changes and construction work at the Ashland plant:

Due to changes in the handling of various office routine, some of which has been transferred to the New York office of our plant, two positions have been dispensed with. Two weeks ago, William Aston left after nearly a year's service. Mr. Aston was very well liked and all miss his cheerful presence. We do not know at this time whether Mr. Aston has located in a new position or not. Last week, James Boynton, office manager since Aug. 1 of last year, also concluded his duties with the company. Mr. Boynton came here from Fall River and during his stay has made many and lasting friends. He has proven a capable office manager and it is with regret that we learn he is soon to leave Jewett City.

Good Work on Finishing Plant

Since the last issue of the Smile there has been some transformation in the new finishing department. The progress is none too fast in the eyes of Superintendent Wingate, who is anxious to get his department into operation. Considerable machinery has been set up, including driers, dyers, extractors and two tenter frames. Work is also well along on the filter beds so that the department might possibly be in operation by July 1.

Business as a whole is about the same as when we last went to press and we manage to keep going in all departments. In this we are fortunate, as business in the textile industry through this section is not as good as it was a month ago, several mills within a few miles of us having curtailed production within the past few weeks. It is pretty well agreed that Ashland Rayon is a high quality fabric, which of course is a tribute to every operative in the plant, and this fact no doubt helps a whole lot in securing sufficient business to keep the plant in operation.

Plans for Memorial Day

At the last regular meeting of Orville LaFlamme post No. 15, American Legion, Wallace H. Payne, commander presiding, it was voted that the uniform for Memorial day be white shirt, dark trousers, and black four-in-hand tie, if possible (providing weather conditions are favorable). Charles F. Morgan was appointed to take charge of the services the Sunday preceding Memorial day, at Pachaug cemetery. Comrades Edgar Knox, George Rocheleau, Charles Campbell and Stanley Savage, of the 40 and 8, are to take charge of the school children in the Memorial day parade. Comrades Blake and Davis are to see that the large flag that crosses Main street between Rioux and Finn's blocks, is put up properly.

It was voted that the dues from now on be as follows: $2.50 for renewals, $3 for new members or reinstatements.

The medals for the history award have arrived and are to be suitably engraved before their presentation. Two of these medals go to the public school, and two to St. Mary's school. The meeting adjourned at 10 p. m. There was a large attendance.

Memorial Day

Three years after the close of the Civil war in the year 1868, General A. Logan, then commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, issued the now famous General Orders No. 11, designating May 30 of that year as Decoration day, and called upon all survivors of that great conflict to seek out the last resting places of those who had given their lives in defense of their country, and to strew upon their graves the choicest flowers of spring, as a tribute of love and affection and as evidence of remembrance for sacrifices made that had given us a united country and one flag.

This custom has grown with the passing years, and the day has become in the hearts and minds of all patriotic Americans a holy festival day of remembrance known as Memorial day.

The graves of the soldier dead of all the wars are hallowed spots where the citizens of a grateful nation can gather on Memorial day, bringing their offerings of love, and in the presence of the dead, rededicate themselves to a continuance of these principles gained and defended at the cost of so much blood and sacrifice.

This day is more than a holiday—it stirs the deepest and most patriotic sentiments; it arouses in the hearts of all a feeling of gratitude that in America every generation has furnished men and women who have been willing to die for an ideal.

It is not a day for sports, pleasure and recreation. The memories aroused on such an occasion are too sacred to be desecrated by the enjoyment of the usual holiday pursuits. It is a day of precious memories, a day which calls on every citizen, young and old, to make our cemeteries, where sleep the honored dead, shrines of patriotism where a grateful people can lay their symbols of love and affection and rejoice that there has been preserved for this and future generations to enjoy, this land we love, America.

Believing, therefore, that May 30 must be observed in the same spirit that moved its establishment, we of the Connecticut department of the American Legion must urge all citizens and all officials, state and municipal, to a complete and solemn observance of Memorial day by attendance at and participation in Memorial day exercises, and we deprecate a tendency on the part of some who make this a day of sports and recreation by holding programs not in harmony with the solemn and sacred spirit of Memorial day.

All posts are urged to actively and energetically work in their respective communities for a full and complete observance of May 30, eliminating and discouraging any activities that would have a tendency to detract from the solemn and sacred custom imposed upon all patriotic citizens in remembering the nation's dead.

FUNERAL

John H. Bicknell

Funeral services for John H. Bicknell were held at his home on School street Monday afternoon. The service was conducted by Rev. J. W. Carter. Burial was in Comstock cemetery, Montville. The bearers were Dona Morancey, John Carroll, Frank De-Bartolo and Frank Bachand, all shopmates. There were beautiful flowers. Relatives were present from Providence, Chepachet, New Bedford, Hartford, Montville, Hallville and Greeneville. Undertaker E. E. Gilbert was in charge of the arrangements.

Norwich Entertainers

The program at the meeting of Lisbon grange Friday evening included solos by Byron Kinnie. Archie Goldberg in costume sang I Ain't Goin' to Dream No More, and gave an encore. Augusta Thoma, impersonating a little girl, gave two musical recitations, Movies and How the Elephant Got His Trunk, all accompanied by Mrs. Jesse Phillips. Edward T. Connelly and Nicholas J. Spellman, of Norwich, gave the remainder of the program, singing duets, a medley of songs, and solos. For half an hour, Mr. Connelly amused the audience with comic songs and jokes. It was a most entertaining program and was followed by refreshments. The arrangements were by the five seventh-degree members.

The Lisbon Ladies' Aid society is to meet in the Community hall Wednesday afternoon.

The opening game between the K. of C. and the Campers, in the Jewett City Twilight league, was postponed on account of probable [illegible]ness and cold weather. The game [illegible] be played this (Tuesday) evening starting at 6:30. Hereafter, when there is any doubt about a scheduled game being played, there will be a [illegible] posted in Charlie Carey's window, and information will be given upon calling by telephone. It is intended that all the games shall be played on Ashland park, after the workmen who are laying pipes that cross the field to the filter beds have completed the job. This (Tuesday) evening, the Ashland Boys' band will be at the Fisk grounds and will give a concert in connection with the opening game.

Happy Woman Tells How She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat In 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote — "My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for it—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat."—Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts is carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "That Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from any live druggist anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

RECEIVING OUR VISITORS

New England has not only had cause to appreciate the summer visitors in the past but every reason for wanting to encourage them and others to make this a permanent vacation ground. It needs to attract. It needs to display a real welcome. It needs to be always courteous and, in fact, to so treat the visitors that they will appreciate it and tell their experiences to others. It is the pleasant experiences properly told which stimulate a desire in others to do similar things.

In the efforts of the recreational development committee of the New England council to see that those seeking vacation places are informed of New England's attractions, ten suggestions have been put forth which it is hoped will be generally adopted and followed by New Englanders relative to visitors. These are as follows:

Welcome the visitor.

Be courteous to the visitor.

Give the visitor a good impression of your community.

Make it easy for the visitor to get where he wants to go.

Give the visitor a chance to stop in your community.

Treat the visitor fairly.

Tell the visitor what he wants to know.

Be cheerful to the visitor.

Give the visitor New England scenery, villages, cooking, hospitality.

Remember that the visitor is both guest and customer.

There is nothing hard to take in those suggestions. They are, in fact, nothing more than ought to be expected, no more than should be done by one New Englander to another, no more than anyone should want to do every day in the year.

Visitors can usually be identified from the questions they ask, and anyone who has done any motoring and questioning knows what it means to find a person who is informed and ready to part with the desired information. The real attractive vacation ground must in the first place be peopled by those who are ready and willing to make the travels and stays of the visitors pleasant. Kind treatment, thoughtful consideration, accommodating attention and service, cordial hospitality and plenty of direction signs are no more than should be provided for any and all comers. It is no more than what you have reason to expect yourself and, that being so, it should be assured to others. New England makes no mistake in making certain that such a reception awaits in all of its states.

PENNSYLVANIA PRIMARY

Today political interest is centered in the Pennsylvania state primary at which there will be named the candidates for the United States senate and for the state ticket.

That is a state where there are always keen primary contests and this year there are plenty of issues and candidates to make it more interesting and uncertain. It attracts more attention because of the refusal of the senate to seat the last senator who was elected and because of the prominence of certain of the seekers for office.

Because of the part that has been played as an appointed senator by Senator Grundy and the long service that has been rendered by James J. Davis as secretary of labor, as well as the respective backing which they have received, the contest promises to be hard fought with considerable uncertainty surrounding the effect that the third candidate will have because of his pronounced wet stand. That feature indicates complications which are hard to measure.

When it comes to the governorship much the same sort of a situation prevails. The three-cornered contest also exists for that office. Here Brown has been believed to have the pole, but former Governor Pinchot is running as a bone dry and giving promise that he will make it harder for the other candidates to judge in advance just what sort of support they are going to receive.

Usually such a primary is accompanied by forecasts which are more or less reliable. There has been such a change in the alignment of leaders this spring that the race is up in the air, with the possibility of one who might support a senatorial candidate giving his vote to a gubernatorial aspirant who is on a different ticket. Under such circumstances it is inevitable that reliance should be placed by the candidates upon the votes that can be secured in the cities. It is to be expected that republicans will be nominated who can be elected, but there is no telling what may happen when splits develop, which may produce strange results. Because of the confusion Pennsylvania wonders at the outcome along with the rest of the country.

TREE PLANTING BY SCOUTS

At different times the desirability of getting boys interested in the work of reforestation has been advocated. This has been actually put into operation with excellent results by the Great Providence council of Boy Scouts who, to the number of nearly 500, planted 25,000 white pine seedlings in one day. It was a case where the woodland about Camp Yawgoog had been devastated by fire. It was impossible to restore the trees, so the next best thing was to provide new ones. It will take some years before they will amount to anything in the way of shade, but steps have been taken to obtain a new forest as quickly as possible. With so many boys at work, each being given 50 trees, they completed their job in good time, and it is certain that they are going to be particularly interested in the growth of those seedlings. Being interested in their own particular patch, they will show concern for other efforts of a similar character and it may be the means of creating a Boy Scout interest in reforestation in Rhode Island that will produce big results in the future.

Following the acres which have been burned over in that state there will be an opportunity for other councils to undertake similar efforts, and the idea may well be adopted in other states. In New England this spring fires have raised havoc with woodland. Its restoration will take a long time. The losses cannot be replaced. There is, nevertheless, a chance to do much tree planting that will in years to come cover the areas with profitable crops. Each locality will have to determine for itself what trees are best suited or most needed, but the importance of getting the boys interested in such work cannot be overlooked.

Much attention has been directed to forestry work through the demonstration areas. They speak for themselves, but with the burned over areas presenting such a picture and calling for attention, what could be more appropriate and timely than the immediate preliminary work of reforestation?

Getting the youth aroused to such activity through organized effort gives promise of still greater attention as they come to realize the profit to be had in growing trees. The Providence boys were particularly concerned because their camp was involved. The appeal may be different in other cases but where interest of that kind is aroused much will be sustained.

CUTTING UP TEXAS

Congressman Garner of Texas brings up one of those disputed questions when he makes reference to the division of that state into five as a means of gaining increased political influence for the west in congress. If that division could be made whenever Texas said, regardless of what congress might say, it would be possible to make a decided shift in the congressional situation, and yet it is being pointed out that it is the west and south that are in control of the senate, rather than east, about which Mr. Garner has so much to say.

But there appears to be something more than the mere change of mind on the part of Texas before states can be added to the Union. When Texas was admitted 85 years ago there was a provision in the resolution whereby the state could be cut up into four other states "which shall be entitled to admission under the provisions of the federal Constitution." That is all very well until it comes into conflict with the provisions of the Constitution which leaves the admission of states to congress. Thus it would appear that while Texas might be ready to cut itself up into a dozen states if present-day conditions warranted it, there still remains the favorable action of congress before such states could be admitted. The view that Texas is in a position to place four more states in the Union the minute it announces such action has been taken will hardly be accepted. There appear to be handicaps in the way.

However, Mr. Garner must be regarded as indulging in the revival of an old story. He is indulging in possibilities for the purpose of trying to make someone tremble. That he will succeed is doubted and if the facts were known there is probably quite as much opposition in Texas to any such surgical operation as might be expected elsewhere.

PHILIPPINE LEGISLATION

When the secretary of war sends a communication to the senate committee on territories and expresses opposition to immediate independence for the Philippines or even a promise at this time of independence at a certain time, he unquestionably speaks the view of the administration, and it is believed he voices the sentiment of the country.

Certain influences have been brought to bear in behalf of the independence of the islands within the past year. There have always been those political leaders in the islands who have sought the cutting of existing ties, and that is still being urged from that direction. But there are those in this country who are seeking to have the Philippines made foreign territory in order that there may be shut off those island imports which are now coming into the country duty free. They have advocated the placing a special tariff upon Filipino goods. They have sought to handicap the sending of island produce to this country because it enters into competition with some products at home, but they overlook the fact that this would mean a discrimination between parts of American territory.

Secretary Hurley favors the continuance of the present organization without substantial modification of its basic provisions, since he regards it as the best suited to both fulfill our obligations in the islands and to advance the welfare of the island people. He does favor the idea of a careful examination into the economic and political aspects of the question of the future status of the islands, apparently for such enlightenment as might be gained therefrom, but beyond that he doesn't consider action at this time is needed. There is much to support his statement to the effect that the granting of complete independence at this time would be disastrous alike to the ultimate interests of both the Filipino and the American people.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, May 19—Floor Leader John Q. Tilson said today "I believe the house will adjourn June 1st or within a few days of that time. We have completed all appropriation legislation; the tariff bill will be settled one way or another by that time, the house takes no part in the London treaty discussion and I see no reason why it should be kept in session or why the senate cannot finish the appropriation bills and other measures on which the house has already acted. I hope for a final adjournment then, but if that is not possible, then the customary three day recess, under "a gentleman's agreement" so-called, would practically end the session."

Democratic Floor Leader Garner of Texas, said "I am in full accord with the plan proposed by Col. Tilson and believe the house could adjourn on June 1st, although it might be necessary, unless the senate would consent, to keep up a nominal attendance here with the three day recess programme to continue until the senate finished its work."

Washington Society spelled with a capital "S" has taken on a new pastime. And it is a very pretty and wholesome fad at that.

Cultivating old fashioned flower gardens, with all sorts of new wrinkles thrown in, is the order of the day among those senators, congressmen and others in official life who can afford the luxury of living in the suburbs or better still, out in those great old fashioned colonial estates up on Georgetown Heights.

Flagstone walks, boxwood hedges, century old houses, with open fireplaces that take in good sized logs, terraced gardens, overlooking the distant hills and river, are in demand and quite outstrip in exclusiveness the modern homes within the strictly city limits.

Garden week is on the point of being celebrated with considerable pomp. Spring blooms are at their prime and roses budding. Leading the "gentlemen of the senate" in this have-a-garden-of-your-own move is Senator Tydings of Maryland, ardent democrat, bachelor, and chairman of the senate democratic campaign committee.

Tydings keeps "bachelor hall" out in one of the big colonial houses on the heights. His garden is famous and from his dining room windows the senator can look out on a glory of gorgeous color. Tydings is an amateur painter of considerable repute, and he has a studio on the top floor of the big house.

Mrs. Ruth Pratt, congresswoman from New York, and whose latest "windfall" is said to be something over the $3,000,000 mark, has leased a nearby estate where the gardens, the great trees of a century growth, the terraces and all the country life features are already established. It is known as the "Eaton estate", but its former owners are just now elsewhere and Mrs. Pratt secured a lease. The estate has been purchased by the Colonial Dames, and sometime will become their official national home. The Pratt estate is one of the show places of the city, for its azaleas and magnificent floral display has long been of note.

Almost within a stone's throw comes the newly acquired Washington home of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, whose momentary fame seems to rest on having spent $250,000 to secure her nomination as senator from Illinois. Mrs. McCormick is now member of congress from that state, with a home in a city of her state—a home on a farm and one or two other homes of varying attractions. Now she has added the magnificent estate in colonial Georgetown to the list. Mrs. McCormick was not satisfied with only one of these old fashioned houses, so she bought "three in a row" and made them over into one big house. So the gardens, which a professional landscape gardener has "restored" and added to, is one of the finest and most pretentious in the capitol.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt has secured one of the old houses in that vicinity, and she, too, is a Washington gardener of high degree.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Curtis, well known in Massachusetts, have a country place where the garden is a feature. In fact so beautiful is it that one of the most recent and notable weddings in social high life, took place in what Mrs. Curtis delights to call "the back yard." The Curtis "yard" is notable for its box wood hedges, like those of Washington at Mt. Vernon, its wonderful flowering shrubs, and for the house itself, which is of dignified type and more than 100 years old.

In addition to these there are scores of old fashioned homes and gardens out on "The Heights" occupied by what is known as the residential set. And if society spells itself with a capital "S" you want to underscore the emphasis the residential set, places on the word "residential" to distinguish it from the transitory congressional set, which varies with each change of administration.

That suggests the army and navy set; quite apart it is from the others, although all intermingle on occasions. Washington's social life is fixed by inflexible rules.

It is a most delightful social life. Somehow it suggests the constitution of the United States with its executive, legislative and judicial power; or Gaul that was divided into three parts. Here it is the congressional, which includes the administration; the army and navy and the residential. And each lives up to the tradition and customs of its own.

All of which suggests that practically the wife of every recent president has had roses or other favorite blooms named in her honor. Some presidents have been likewise so remembered. The President Taft pink rose is still a favorite and there are many bushes of it in the white house gardens. The American Rose society of New York has been the one that has usually bestowed the presidential names, but the department of agriculture, has the pleasant custom of naming some of its early and rare blossoms for distinguished members of the president's or cabinet family.

Mrs. Coolidge was especially fond of Iris, and some of the most beautiful white, blue and dusky bronze specimens bear her name.

The white house gardens are mixed as to formality, many of the earlier forms remain, but sprinkled among them are informal flower beds, suggestive of old time southern country "flower beds."

J. Henry Roraback of Connecticut, national committeeman, was one of the party of a dozen men who spent Sunday with President Hoover at his Virginia fishing camp. Col. Roosevelt, now governor of Porto Rico, several members of the cabinet and several senators composed the president's week end party. Mrs. Hoover remained at the white house, owing to her lameness caused by the fall on highly polished floors a month ago.

Representative Collier of Mississippi, ranking democratic member, next to Floor Leader Garner, on the ways and means committee, likes nothing better than to tell a joke on himself. To appreciate this one you must know that Mr. Collier is a typical southerner, with the low voice, slow speech and what is called "a southern accent," but which to many northerners is hardly distinguishable from a Negro dialect. Collier rarely hurries when in the midst of work, but gets a little impatient if time drags when he is at dinner. So he is quite apt to let his food slip gently, but quickly down his throat, thus letting him come out a lap or two ahead at the end of a dinner.

One of the darkie waiters at the restaurant where Collier lunches, is devoted to the Mississippi congressman. There were guests at the lunch, and the waiter took the opportunity to pay what he thought a tremendous compliment to Collier.

"I do say, Boss," said the waiter, "That you sho' is the fastest eater of any gen'mum in congress." And he beamed on the gentleman from Mississippi with genuine admiration.

GRANDPA LENDS A HAND

Grandma Whitcomb stood in a worshipful mood beside her basket of pure, clean clothes and drank in the delightful sensation of a perfect washday before she reached a reverent hand for the first little white bib, for washing baby clothes was more of a religious rite than a duty to grandma.

She and grandpa had come nearly a thousand miles for just such a delightful experience as this—to visit with Ethel—to cuddle the little baby—to play with Billy—and to wash dainty baby dresses and miniature suits and socks. "A thing of beauty is a joy forever"—and so was washday to Grandma Whitcomb.

As she reached down into the basket for a soft woolen shirt and hung it beside a gently flapping petticoat she thought of the letter which had come from Ethel just the week before. She had read the letter aloud to grandpa as they sat in their cozy sitting room back home. It had filled her heart with such a longing to see her only daughter and the two babies that she finally had persuaded grandpa to break away from his comfortable chair before the fire and make this long trip to Chicago. The letter, like all of Ethel's letters, had been full of news about the babies.

"Billy is so mischievous," ran the letter. "He keeps me on the jump all day long. Today he kept tugging at my dress and saying 'baby, baby,' until, out of curiosity, I left my dishes to steal quietly into my sleeping Rosemary. I found her wide awake in a bed so overloaded with blocks and bells and dolls and toy engines that for a minute I had difficulty in finding the poor baby.

"Rosemary was so wedged in by Billy's loving tokens of affection that the poor little thing could scarcely breathe. I picked the poor child up out of the crib and was starting back to the kitchen when there was a resounding clatter and I looked around to discover that Billy was gone, and was, therefore, the author of the awful disturbance. I rushed back to the kitchen and found Billy with his arms full of my best china dishes stepping daintily over the broken remains on the floor.

"'Billy help,' he smiled winsomely. 'Billy help moma!'"

Here grandma had stopped to wipe a tear from her eye—Ethel's letters always brought a tear or two with them—but grandpa had grunted in contempt.

"Humph!" he muttered, "there's a modern mother for you! What that child needs is discipline. Strict discipline! I wish that I could lend a hand. I'll bet he wouldn't do such things if I were there!"

That is what gave grandma the inspiration and here they were—with grandma hanging out baby clothes and grandpa playing with Billy. She could hear grandpa's hearty laughter, Billy's crows of delight and the dog's constant barking. They must be having a great time out there on the front lawn. The next minute they rounded a corner of the house and grandma could see that they were playing tag as well as a grandfather and a grandchild and a dog can play it. Billy was in the lead. His hands were very dirty. He must have fallen many times in the dust and he was coming straight toward grandma and her snowy white washing!

The next instant the mischief was done and Rosemary's embroidered carriage robe hung streaked with dirt on the line. With a cry of despair grandma turned to grandpa:

"Take him away—quick!" she pleaded. "Take him away from here!"

But grandpa only laughed! Billy looked up in surprise. Here was a brand-new experience. Folks generally frowned under similar circumstances and scolded and sometimes they even slapped his hands. And yet here was grandpa—laughing! He must have done something very funny! The deed would bear repeating.

In the twinkling of an eye Billy rushed from one snowy white article to the next with crows of delight, while his grandfather laughed and his grandmother stood helplessly, angrily by. It was grandma who finally pulled the child away and carried him into the house. She found Ethel, who had been standing by the kitchen window, a horrified witness to the whole affair.

"Ethel," she exclaimed, "there is one thing the modern grandfather needs above everything else."

"What's that?" inquired Ethel, curiously.

"That is discipline!" she replied as memories of Ethel's letter and grandpa's remarks came to her mind. "Strict discipline!"—Chicago News.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Back in the early days when the Quaker sect came into being, some English army wag got o a wise-crack that has found its way into the dictionaries.

Military strategy in those days found it expedient to mount dummy cannon now and then in lunnettes or breastworks. They were designed to scarce the enemy, not to hurt him.

And the military joker dubbed them "Quaker guns," a name that has stuck all these years.

The Websterian definition is "a dummy piece of artillery usually made of wood; so-called because the sect of Friends or Quakers hold to the doctrine of non-resistance."

Hale's Models

And now comes Senator Freddy Hale of Maine, chairman of the senate naval committee, and equips his committee room with two highly modern Quaker guns. They are wooden models of 6-inch and 8-inch naval rifles made by the navy department experts. They will figure in the teachnical hearing the Maine senator hopes to hold on the London three-power naval agreement.

The nubbin of it will be the airing of naval opinions in the 6-inch versus 8-inch gun row.

Naval committee members are going to get demonstrations of just what the differences are between these two weapons. Now, as many times before, there is clash of opinion among the sailor folk on the relative fighting value of weapons.

It is a revival in new form of the heated controversy that raged around adoption of 16-inch guns for battleships instead of 14-inchers in 1916. Still earlier the same row developed between 12-inch and 14-inch main battery advocates.

Varied Views

It is notable that heretofore the big gun enthusiasts always have won out. Senator Hale's battery of Quaker guns undoubtedly will see a wide variation of present-day naval views developed in the course of the hearing. Whether it will disclose any important resistance to acceptance of any 6-inch gun cruiser tonnage for the American fleet remains to be seen.

Incidentally, the Bystander hears an amusing story from Bill Lewis, London Times correspondent in Washington, about a Quaker gun aboard a Chinese gunboat many years ago when Bill was a youngster in the Orient.

He saw this tub, wallowing about Chinese river ports apparently with a permanent list to port. She was bowed over like an old man crippled with "rumaticks." It offended Bill's sailorly eye and he made inquiry.

It appeared the gunboat had once hung up on a mud bank and got off only by heaving her starboard gun overboard. That made her heavy on the port side and caused the list. Her Chinese commander, however, had a wooden gun mounted in place of the departed shooting iron and was entirely satisfied. There it stayed until the ship disintegrated. So did the list.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bridgeport Junior High Schools

Mr. Editor: In The Bulletin's report of the meeting of the Taxpayers' association, Mr. Kirby is quoted as saying that Bridgeport has no junior high schools. May I correct that misstatement? Bridgeport has four successful junior high schools, one of them ranking with the best in the country. The public in general, as well as the city's school administrators, are well pleased with the workings of the 6-3-3 plan. The pupils have many interesting and valuable opportunities, which do not come into the experience of children under the traditional 8-4 plan, now operating in Norwich.

Worcester Warren, superintendent of schools in Bridgeport, is to be in Norwich for the nurses' graduation on May 26. Mr. Warren will gladly answer any questions as to Bridgeport's experience with junior high schools.

FORMER NORWICH RESIDENT.
Bridgeport, May 18, 1930.

Country Life Preferred

Mr. Editor: During the last 45 years we have seen wondrous changes in the home life of the ones who live on the farms, changes that have been conducive to the betterment and social life of the whole family. Splendid roads, better transportation, mechanical inventions that have been a wonderful help in eliminating the drudgery incident to other years, and there have been many other things come to lighten and brighten the work of the wife of the farmer. The women's clubs have been a prolific aid, for they bring the farmers' wives and daughters together to meet their friends and here they exchange views on different subjects. The homes have taken on a different aspect—a more pronounced refinement that was unknown years ago—for then it was all work, and hard work, and hardly any relaxation or pleasure. Today how different!

I want to quote from Thomas A. Edison: "What do I consider the nearest approach to happiness of which the present human nature is capable? Why, living on a farm which is one's own, far from the hectic artificial conditions of the city—a farm where one gets directly from one's own soil what one needs to sustain life; with a garden of flowers in front and a healthy, normal family to contribute those small domestic joys which relieve a man from business strain."

Years ago with the women folks it was a case of work all the time, and now they have developed a desire to make the home attractive, and with the radio that brings the outside world into their home life, the homes have taken on an added charm that heretofore was unknown, with the draperies at the windows, the many cushioned easy chairs and the collections of books. I speak from first-hand knowledge for I and others have noted and commented upon this before. I can see the hard part of the grind on the farms, for I have had some experience under the old regime. Today there is more efficiency, more system in the method of carrying on what is necessary to this life, and that is the growing of anything that we need. Don't for a moment have the idea that I think that all is needed is to go out with a golf suit on, throw the seeds on the ground and come back in the fall and gather the crops. Not so, for in this, as in everything else, it is up and doing for eternal vigilance is the price of safety. It is a battle to get rid of the weeds, to keep ahead of the many insect pests, and other things which make work. Years ago, follow back of a plow all day and when night came you were ready to call it a day. Years ago, the winter wood had to be cut and chopped. Now press a button, place a stick on the rack and the circular saw does the trick. Another picks the sticks up, places them under the electric chopper, and there you are. As the plow is gone, we sit on the tractor and this does what you did before with the plow. Yes, everything is changed, and to the advantage of the farmer. Just imagine what would happen if all the farmers went on strike like the ones who work in the towns. Today just turn the dial on the radio, and you get what is on the air, music and the lectures of the day. The telephone keeps you in touch with your neighbor, and shortly, when television is perfected, we will see them face to face as we talk. Still some are not satisfied for to me, as I see it all, it seems so different from what we get as our lot in life. The city is all life, and everything is unreal, say what you will; so artificial and just a sham. The country life is to be preferred for there we see the works of God, and in the cities little else but the works of man. Still, many look for something different.

YOUR HEALTH

The Little Child's Teeth

By Rosamond Praeger, R. N.,
Syracuse, N. Y.
(From Gorgas Memorial Institute)

The child's first teeth are much more important than many people realize. First because they serve the child during the years when his growth is most rapid and proper nutrition is essential. To grind the food properly the teeth must be even and whole. They must be kept clean and any cavities filled or the poisons from the cavities and unclean teeth will go into the child's stomach mixed with his food.

Second, healthy first teeth are necessary to keep the mouth in good condition for the permanent teeth. If any of the first teeth must be removed before they are ready to come out, the jaw may not develop naturally and the second teeth will be irregular. This results in ugly, crooked teeth, failure of the chewing surfaces to meet squarely and do their work properly and difficulty in keeping them clean.

We should pay special attention to the first permanent molar teeth. They appear just back of the last baby molars when the child is about six years old. These are called the "six year molars" and are perhaps the most important teeth the child will have. Small cavities are especially apt to develop in the crevices of these six year molars and should be taken care of early by the dentist. If these are lost no others will come in their place.

Care of the first teeth is also important because the early years are the time when the child forms life habits. The habit of proper care of the teeth should be started early and be well established by the time the child starts to school.

The teeth and gums need exercise, so some hard food is necessary. Zwieback, hard dry bread or rusk are best. Sweets do not build teeth. They should be given in small amounts and after meals. The teeth should then be thoroughly brushed, as sugar left on them promotes decay.

As soon as the child has any teeth they should be cleansed regularly after eating. While still very small he should have his own toothbrush, a very little one with a single row of bristles. From time to time he may be promoted to slightly larger ones.

Habitual sucking of a pacifier, or thumb, or bottle, causes misshapen jaws and crooked teeth. Never allow a child to form this habit.

No teeth should be allowed to become so bad that it aches. A bad tooth may also cause trouble elsewhere in the body. From the time the first teeth appear the child should be taken regularly to his dentist, so that smallest difficulties may be found and cared for. This saves trouble and discomfort and saves the teeth.

STATE POLICE HEAD ADDRESSES CONTACT CLUB

The speaker at the weekly meeting of The Contact club Monday noon at the Wauregan hotel, was Robert T. Hurley, commissioner of state police. President Ernest O. Rodier conducted the meeting, Alex Pasnik was the song leader and Frederick Geer presided at the piano. Commissioner Hurley was introduced by Russell Crowell, chairman of the programme committee.

Commissioner Hurley divided his talk into three parts, fire, crime and automobile traffic. He spoke principally on automobile traffic. The commissioner said that the problem is how can the present-day traffic conditions be improved. Last year 31,000 persons were killed by automobiles while nearly a million human beings were injured and almost a billion dollars damage done. This means only one thing, destruction. This is crime, he said, even though it is not on a statute books and is something to think about.

Human behavior is divided into two classes, according to the commissioner, normal and abnormal. Normal human behavior was described by the speaker as self control regulated by common sense. Abnormal human behavior among auto drivers take in between 95 and 97 per cent of them who are doing wrong and know they are doing so.

The automobile was described by the speaker as the greatest engine of destruction which runs over our highways, "guided by what? — the frailest machine ever, the Human brain."

Mr. Hurley advocated standard rules and regulations to control auto traffic.

On boat race day at New London, Yale games at New Haven and Sundays at Hammonasset beach, when traffic is extra heavy, fewer accidents are recorded. The commissioner laid this to the fact that operators exercise concentration power to a greater extent. When they get out in the open country and clear of traffic they follow the least resistance with the result more accidents occur. We are all brought up to follow the least resistance, the commissioner said.

In reply to questions, the commissioner stated that there are about 100 state policemen in Connecticut, although the department is entitled to 125. There are about 2,000 applications for the state police force on file, but good candidates are hard to find. A training course is given those accepted.

Asked if there was any speed limit in Connecticut, Commissioner Hurley stated that there is no law regulating speed in Connecticut.

Mr. Hurley was asked as to his opinion regarding the signal bell at Shannon corner. In answer, Mr. Hurley said that the bell attracts attention to the signal lights. The bell serves as a guide. Mr. Hurley was given a rising vote of thanks.

CONNECTICUT ART TEACHERS HELD MEETING HERE

The Connecticut Arts association held its spring meeting Saturday at the Norwich Art school, having an attendance of 70 teachers of art from various parts of the state. After the noon luncheon, which was served by Mrs. Gallup, the annual reports were received and Miss Helen A. Haselton of Hartford was re-elected president and Miss Kenefic of West Hartford as secretary-treasurer.

Following the business meeting, students gave a demontsration of pewter spinning, clay making and pottery pouring. Miss Esbaugh assembled for the association many of the library's choice and beautiful books dealing with the arts and Mrs. Ozias Dodge, curator of the museum opened the museum and its loan collections to the guests, who also enjoyed seeing the work of Miss Leavens' class in history and art appreciation. Several of Miss Leavens' students acted as guides in the museum.

Scouts portraying merit badges in costume are to appear at the armory Wednesday at 4 p. m. for practice. Cubs are also asked to meet at 4.30 and all scouts interested in model airplane flying are to meet with Tom Burdick there at the same hour.

STORRS HENS DROP IN 28TH WEEK OF CONTEST

In the twenty-eighth week of the Storrs laying contest, the hens came through with 5,132 eggs or a yield of 73.3 per cent. This is 178 eggs less than for last week but 158 eggs more than for the corresponding week last year.

R. C. Cobb's pen of Barred Rocks from Littleton, Mass., occupied the pace setting position. This pen led the field for the week with a score of 67 eggs. Close upon its heels followed Toivonen Leghorn farm at Girard, Pa., with a tally of 66 eggs. Another pen of Barred Rocks entered by Pratt Experimental farm at Morton, Pa., was equally a close third with a total of 65 eggs.

Still another pen of Barred Rocks owned by Lewis farms at Davisville, R. I. and three pens of Reds all tied with 64 eggs each. The Red breeders include W. A. Bruce of Stafford Springs, Conn., Burdean Acres of Newton Center, Mass., and Edward N. Larrabee from Peterboro, N. H. Thus one notes that the average margin is slightly less than half an egg per pen and not more than one egg between any pen and the one it trails.

The leading pens to date in each of the principal varieties are as follows:

White Wyandottes— The Locusts, West Cornwall, Conn., 1428; Fisher Poultry farm, Ayton, Ont., Canada, 1246.

Barred Rocks—R. C. Cobb, Littleton, Mass., 1423; R. Walter Bishop, Guilford, Conn., 1384; Spring Brook Poultry farm, South Wethersfield, Conn., 1376.

White Rocks—E. H. Ruckner, Ottumwa, Iowa, 1286; Kalerok farm, Westford, Mass., 1172; Adam F. Poill, Hartford, Wis., 1154.

Rhode Island Reds—F. S. Chapin, Longmeadow, Mass., 1557; Edw. N. Larrabee, Peterboro, N. H., 1545; Harold G. Colt, West Hartford, Conn., 1533; F. S. Chapin, Longmeadow, Mass., 1522.

SUCCESSFUL PEW RALLY AT McKINLEY AVE. CHURCH

An audience which taxed the capacity of the church was in attendance Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at McKinley Avenue A. M. E. Zion church for the pew rally. Rev. W. O. Carrington, D.D., of Hartford, was the preacher. The captains were: Mrs. Cornelia Johnson, Miss Claribel Wood, and Mrs. Virginia Anderson. The music was furnished by the choir of the A. M. E. Zion church of Hartford, which i said to be one of the best choirs in the New England conference, a very close rival to the great choir of the Boston church. Their singing was greatly enjoyed and highly pleasing to the congregation which heard them. Much praise is due the three captains who labored so faithfully to make the pew rally the great success which it turned out to be. Mt. Calvary Baptist church was well represented, the pastor, Rev. Henry B. Harris, and many of his people being present. Grace Memorial Baptist church was also well represented, although the pastor, Rev. S. F. Dickson, was unable to be present on account of a very painful injury, having suffered a broken arm.

The impressive and instructive sermon delivered by Dr. Carrington was taken from Colossians 4:18, "Remember my bonds." The theme was, "Handicaps of Life." In his helpful discourse, Rev. Dr. Carrington told of many great men and women who had achieved greatness in this life despite their handicaps. Among the many handicaps which might rise up to hinder the progress of the individual were intellectual, moral and physical, said the speaker. "Many people," said Dr. Carrington, "are often heard to remark, I would like to do this or that, but under the circumstances I cannot." He urged his hearers to get from under the circumstances, and get on top of them and succeed anyway.

The pastor was assisted in the services by Rev. Henry B. Harris, acting pastor of Mt. Calvary Baptist church, and Rev. W. C. Pittman, the former pastor of the same church.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE MADE AGAINST DR. W. B. CASEY

Dr. William B. Casey, whose office is at 279 Main street, was arrested Monday afternoon by the local police on a charge of manslaughter, in causing the death of a local woman through induced abortion. Dr. Casey's bonds were set at $5,000 for his appearance in the city court this (Tuesday) morning. The bond was posted by Mrs. Sarah E. Moran of No. 279 Main street, his aunt.

Dr. Casey is held as the result of the death of Mrs. Edward Frechette, 20, of No. 229 Prospect street. It is understood that the illegal operation was performed at the doctor's office Monday, April 28th. The next day, the woman went to the W. W. Backus hospital and died the following Saturday, May 3rd, death being caused by peritonitis resulting from the operation.

Coroner Edward G. McKay held an inquest last Saturday and as the result of the inquest the warrant was issued Monday by Prosecuting Attorney Charles W. Cassidy.

FINDS NO BLAME ON DRIVER OF MOTOR TRUCK

Sebastian Silva of 30 Denison avenue, New London, operator of a Frisbie pie delivery truck, is exonerated of any criminal blame in connection with the death May 3 of William LaBounty, three-year-old Montville boy, in a finding handed down Monday by Coroner Edward G. McKay.

The LaBounty boy and his little six-year-old sister, Jeane, were struck by the truck near their home when they rode down an incline in a little cart out into the highway directly in front of the truck. The incline was hidden from the view of the driver and Silva was unable to avoid hitting the cart.

The little girl is now at the Lawrence and Memorial Associated hospitals recovering from serious injuries received in the accident.

Silva was held under bonds of $5,000 on a technical charge of manslaughter, pending the decision of the coroner.

DROWNS HIMSELF IN FARNSWORTH MILL POND

(Special to The Bulletin)

PLAINFIELD, May 19.—John Sullivan, 60, of Central Village, committed suicide in Farnsworth mill pond sometime between Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. The body was discovered early this evening by Wilfred Paradis and Joseph Jodoin of Central Village. Mr. Sullivan was well known in Central Village, residing there for the past 30 years and leaves two sisters, one of Hubbell, Mich., and the other of New York.

It is believed that despondency was the cause of the suicide. Mr. Sullivan's wife was killed about two years ago by an automobile in Central Village and he has worried considerably since. He had been a patient at the state inebriate farm but had been discharged from there. Dr. A. A. Chase of Plainfield viewed the body and gave permission for its removal by Undertaker Tillinghast Bros.

N. LONDON COUNCIL WOULD TRANSFER COMMERCE SCHOOL PUPILS TO W. M. I.

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 19.—The city council held a meeting of two hours and a half this evening. The maintenance of the high school of commerce was the principal matter considered.

The city council desires the cooperation from the board of school visitors in the matter and indications are that the few pupils in that school will be transferred to Williams Memorial institute for their instruction. The claim of Chairman Miner of the finance committee is that the city can save $14,000 by making the transfer. The question was raised as to whether the school board had authority to make contracts for the ensuing year prior to the setting up of an appropriation in the city budget.

Councilor Fox stated that the salaries of two instructors had been raised this week contrary to the policy of the council, which had declined to increase the salaries of any city employe this year. Councilor Miner made the report that a committee of the board of education had met with the council and that he was against having any contracts made this year that would exceed the appropriations fixed by the council. Director of Law Troland's opinion was asked as to the legality of the actions of the board of school visitors in making contracts. He pointed out that the board of schools visitors was a representative of the state and said that their duties were defined by statute. His opinion was that they had no legal authority to increase salaries or to make contracts without consulting the city council as to whether appropriations had been made to cover them.

The charter of the city defined the duties of the city council; they held the purse strings, as he put it, and could decide what appropriations could be made. He said the board of education was a continuing body and that their recommendations of course would have influence with the council as to appropriations.

A committee from the Williams Memorial institute is to meet with the council next Monday evening, when this High School of Commerce matter will be considered and probably a report will be prepared for submissions to the council. The outlook is that there will be no more High School of Commerce but that the pupils will be instructed at the W. M. I.

Contracts for supplying the city with coal during the year were awarded to four different dealers—The City Coal Co., Pequot Coal Co., New London Coal Co. and the Spicer Coal Co., of Groton.

The council decided to construct 365 feet of sidewalk on the west side of Mohegan avenue, to Connecticut college.

The chamber of commerce represented that it had in mind the advertising of New London as a summer place, to make known its advantages in the metropolitan newspapers. It proposes to induce yachtsmen to come up into the harbor and will provide a place at the old ferry landing for them where they may use the ferry-house.

The council voted to lay in Harris court a sewer from Pequot avenue to within 100 feet of Mohegan avenue accommodating all of the property owners.

Contracts were awarded to the Turello Bros. for the laying of sidewalks in the city during the year, they being the lowest bidder.

A contract for chlorine was awarded to the Round Co. of Portland, Me.

Permission for the using of the sidewalk was awarded to four merchants on Bank street and there were half a dozen applications for electric signs which were referred to the city manager with power.

Notice was received of two suits for damages, one for $5,000 for a claimant falling at Ocean Beach, and one for $10,000 for a person falling on Howard street, on a defective sidewalk.

PRANKS TOO SERIOUS— RICATTA WIELDS WRENCH

Joseph Ricatta, 106 Whittlesey street, was arrested tonight, charged with breach of the peace. Frequently, when Ricatta and youths in the vicinity of Bayonet street meet there is indulgence in pranks; but tonight when Ricatta passed through Bayonet street to go to his home, the acts of his friends did not please him, with the result that he pulled a wrench from his pocket and wielded it with telling effect upon the shoulders of Leonard Hunter, 19, of Williams street. Hunter made complaint to Patrolman George Perkins and Ricatta was arrested. He furnished a surety on his bond of $50 for his appearance in the police court tomorrow.

Only two other cases await a hearing in court, both being for intoxication. One man was arrested on North Bank street by Patrolman Louis Tooker and the other was arrested on John street by Patrolman Cornelius Moriarty.

Dies From Mental Trouble

Christ Sarensen, United States coast guard, state pier, died here today, as the result of a mental disorder. Sarensen's malady was not revealed until about a month ago when he was arrested. He was driving a car on State street, stopped at parked autos and removed motor meters, placing the equipment in his own auto. When Sarensen's acts were detected, police put chase to his car and overtook the driver on Main street where he was arrested. It then came about that the sailor was mentally unsound and he had been treated for his malady since.

Barge is Beached

One of the Blue line barges is ashore on the flats opposite the Thames shipyard, the craft having become leaky and to prevent her from sinking in deep water she was put where she now rests. The barge encountered severe sea in her passage to this port and her seams were opened, allowing water to enter rapidly. After the barge had been relieved of her cargo and pumps failed to keep the hold free, she was beached.

Barnes—Norman

Thomas DeF. Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa E. Barnes, of 202 Howard street and Miss Lucille E. Norman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Norman, of Briggs street, were married yesterday afternoon at the parsonage of the First Church of Christ by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth. Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Barnes, brother and sister-in-law of the couple, were the witnesses.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Leary, 222 Colman street, are spending a few days in New York.

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Victor Svenberg, 111 Mohegan avenue, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Agnes Svenberg, to Arthur R. Quimby, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Quimby, 109 Willetts avenue. Mr. Quimby is employed by the Connecticut Power company and Miss Svenber is employed by the Spicer Ice Co., Groton.

George T. Brown and the Union Bank & Trust company, executors of the will of Emma C. Brown, have sold a house and lot on Willetts avenue to Gertrude E. Stamford, the purchase price being $7,500.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Houghton have purchased a building lot on Ocean avenue from Silas Maxson and wife.

WOMAN BOOTLEGGER PAYS TWO FINES AND COSTS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, May 19. — Mrs. Clotolda Frausini, 59 Goshen street, was in the police court today on two charges of violation of the liquor law. She was fined $200 and costs on the charge of keeping with intent to sell and a fine of $75 and costs was meted out on the charge of possession. Mrs. Frausini was proprietress of one of two drinking resorts, which the police were successful in raiding Saturday night when five such places were visited. The other resort where violation of the law was evidenced by the finding of home brew and liquor was at the residence of Frank Faraci, blacksmith, 147 Shaw street. Faraci's case was continued until next Wednesday. No frequenters were found in Faraci's resort, but at the Frausini home, John Wolfe, Maurice Connolly, John Moran, James Dwyer and Albert Cooper were there. They were arrested on a charge of frequenting a disorderly house, but today the charge against them was nolled. However, their arrests gives them a police court record.

Felix Organski, 60 Allen street, Groton, was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. He was fined $100 and costs. Organski was arrested Saturday night by Patrolman George Bruhns.

Arthur J. Messer, 31 Summer street was charged with breach of the peace and was fined $50 and costs. Messer was driving an automobile Saturday night and when the car collided with a machine driven by Tony Cristina, of 113 Shaw street, Messer did not stop to determine the extent of the damage, if any, had been occasioned. Cristina followed Messer's auto and on Bank street he engaged in a quarrel with Messer when the latter alighted. The controversy ended when Messer struck Cristina a blow on the face. Messer was complained against and was arrested by Sergeant John Courtney and Patrolman Frank Philopena.

Frank Draminski, 130 North Bank street, was charged with breach of the peace, but the charge was nolled.

Charles H. Foggie, of Boston, was charged with reckless driving. As he did not present himself in court his bond of $50 was forfeited.

Louis Vescovi, 65 Pequot avenue, was charged with evasion of responsibility, but the count was nolled.

John Grippo, 64 Shaw street, charged with breach of the peace, was fined $5 and costs. He was arrested in a Bank street restaurant Sunday night by Patrolman Henry Sylvia when Grippo was using profane and obscene language.

C. W. Spencer, submarine base, and Gershon G. Camassar, 19 Bayonet street, were charged with violation of the city's parking laws in parking overtime. Neither driver appeared, so their bonds of $2 were forfeited.

Charles Cushman, of Stonington; Mrs. Susan Farrar, Waterford; Ernest Herbert, Voluntown; Miss Patricia Dyer, 72 Mountain avenue; Ernest Peduzzi, Mystic; Mrs. Carleton Mothershed and infant daughter, Groton; Joseph Watts, Noank, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged Sunday and today.

ALBANO STILL IN JAIL— TRIAL IN SEPTEMBER

Peter Albano, a New London young man, who was arrested several days ago, charged with attempted rape and who was bound over to the next term of the superior court when brought before Judge Frederick Schofield in the Waterford town court, will not be presented, as was anticipated, at the present term of the court. It was planned to have Albano brought into court on a bench warrant, but it has been decided that the youthful married man must await the convening of the September session before he stands trial. He is in jail in default of bail of $5,000. Albano invited Helen Whiton, 16, of East Lyme, to take a ride and when the car was on a lonely road in Waterford the girl was brutally attacked and abused. Albano had been convicted before of a similar act.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre

The so-called divorce problem has had many expositions at the hands of dramatists and scenarists, but perhaps never before from the amazing viewpoint of "The Divorcee," Norma Shearer's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer talking vehicle, now breaking records at the Breed theatre.

Remaining distinctly human, with no tinge of the academic, the picture casts a new light on modern divorce and, incidentally, affords Miss Shearer one of the most startling, as well as the most charming roles of her career.

She plays the role of a woman who convinced of her husband's lapses into error, herself admits promiscuous living to meet him on a common ground. Follows the divorce, and finally the surprising denouement in which a powerful dramatic climax shows up divorce from a new sociological aspect.

Chester Morris plays opposite Miss Shearer and gives an intensely human characterization as the husband. Robert Montgomery and Conrad Nagel, as the divorcee's lovers, play their roles with deft artistry. The intelligent direction of Robert Z. Leonard is apparent in every scene

Gas in Stomach Hurt the Heart

Thousands of Cases of Heart Failure Are Caused by Acute Indigestion.

Gas presure from sour, acid, upset stomach is not only nauseating and highly uncomfortable but some day it may prove fatal!

When your meals are followed by bloating, a feeling of fullness or pressure, shortness of breath and pains around the heart, you may be sure that the acid condition of your stomach is producing a GAS that is pushing upwards and crowding your heart. That's the reason for the shortness of breath and sharp, shooting pains.

Whether young or old, the presence of stomach gas is truly serious and should always be given prompt and careful attention.

To quickly drive out gas, cleanse and sweeten the stomach, neutralize the acidity—nothing is better than the daily or "as needed" use of ordinary Bisurated Magnesia. It gives almost instant relief.

All reliable druggists can supply Bisurated Magnesia, in either powder or tablet form. You run no risk of loss for every druggist may sell it with the distinct understanding that unless its use gives complete satisfaction the small cost will be promptly returned.

MCKENZIE MEMORIAL AT MASONIC GRAND LODGE

At the 140th annual communication of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons for Rhode Island, held at Freemasons' hall, Providence, Monday morning and afternoon, Most Worshipful Arthur S. Vaughn presided. A memorial was presented at his direction to an honorary member of the Grand Lodge, Thomas McKenzie of Westerly who was also a past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Connecticut. Mr McKenzie's membership in the Rhode Island Grand lodge dated from 1920, and the memorial was presented by Arthur N. Nash, past grand master and past grand high priest of Conn., also a member of Overseas, No. 40, F. and A. M. of Providence.

Present as delegates from Franklin lodge, No. 20, F. and A. M., of Westerly, were Fred G. Kennedy, master; James P. Campbell, senior warden; W. Harry Anderson, junior warden and W. Lewis R. Greene, secretary. A guest of the grand lodge was Most Worshipful Elbert L. Darbie of Danielson, Conn., grand master of Masons in Connecticut, who was delayed in his arrival by an automobile mishap.

The grand lodge had the largest attendance in many years, there being nearly 500 present. Many came by reason of a contest which developed in the election of grand master. Henry S. See of Mount Vernon lodge, No. 4, of Providence, was advanced from deputy grand master in a comparatively close vote over Senior Grand Warden J. Irving Shepley, of St. John's lodge, No. 1, Newport, who later was elected deputy grand master. Clarence A. Griffin, a past master of Nathaniel Greene lodge, No. 45, of Warwick, was appointed by Grand Master See district deputy of the Sixth Rhode Island Masonic district in which Franklin lodge, No. 20, of Westerly is located with other lodges in Washington and Kent counties. Henry G. Heath of Charity lodge, No. 23, of Hope Valley, was appointed assistant grand lecturer.

WEDDING

Metiveer—Hughes

At 8 o'clock Monday morning at the Immaculate Conception church, Miss Madeline M. Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hughes of Chester avenue, was united in marriage with Elzear J. Metiveer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Metiveer of Hillside avenue. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. J. F. Vincent, S. M., who also celebrated the nuptial mass. Rev. Leo Weston occupied a seat in the sanctuary. Miss Gertrude C. Gaffney was bridesmaid, and Henri Metiveer of Boston, brother of the groom, was best man. During the service, Miss Helen Gaffney sang Rosewig's "Ave Maria," and Martin M. Spellman sang Franck's "Panis Angelicus." The bride wore a gown of aquamarine blue crepe de chine, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of garden flowers. The bridesmaid wore rose colored crepe de chine [illegible] to match and carried pink roses. Following the ceremony at the church a breakfast for about fifty relatives and friends was held at Elm Tree inn. In the afternoon a reception was held at the newly built home of Mr. and Mrs. Metiveer at 31 Lester avenue.

Following a motor trip through New Hampshire, Mr. and Mrs. Metiveer will be at home after June 1.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Albert V. Bicknell

In Pawcatuck Sunday, Mrs. Elizabeth Proctor Bicknell, 83, wife of the late Albert V. Bicknell, died at her home, 114 West Broad street. She had been ill only two weeks. Mrs. Bicknell was born in England, the daughter of John and Hannah Brierton Proctor. She came to Westerly when a girl and had resided here for over 70 years. Her marriage with Albert V. Bicknell took place about 61 years ago. He died in 1912. She is survived by a son, George Bicknell of Detroit, three sisters, Mrs. Emma Lewis, Worcester, Mass.; Mrs. William H. Chipman, Providence, and Mrs. Lillian Bromley, of Westerly, and two brothers, William E. Proctor of Providence and Sherman Proctor of Westerly. A daughter, Mrs. Harriet Vincent, died twelve years ago. Mrs. Bicknell was one of the oldest members of the Broad street Christian church. She also held membership in Hancock Woman's Relief corps and Hope Rebekah lodge, No. 19, Daughters of Rebekah.

Eicke Tefft unit, American Legion auxiliary, is to hold an initiation in the parish house in Narragansett Wednesday evening. A delegation from Auburn and Westerly will be present.

Mrs. John L. Kenyon, Jr., of the Shore road, sustained a deep cut on her right ankle Saturday when she fell off a bicycle which she was riding near her home. She was taken to the Westerly Hospital, where the gash, thought to have been made by a broken spoke, was sewed up by Dr. John Champlin, Jr. Mrs. Kenyon was able to leave the institution and return home Sunday.

MYSTIC

Early Sunday morning, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Akerman and daughter Vera, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowe of Bridgeport, in one car, and Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Gardner and daughter Florence, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson, also of Bridgeport, in another car, left there for Peacedale, R. I., where they were to attend church service and hear their former pastor. Coming around Trail's corners, just out of Groton, the car occupied by the first five people skidded and overturned. As they were not going at a high rate of speed there was not much damage done to the car, so that they were able to drive on, but Mrs. Akerman was badly bruised and shaken up. Dr. Allyn of Mystic was called, after she had been removed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Crouch of High street, Mystic, old friends. The physician gave what relief he could. It will be several weeks before she will be able to move. Mr. Akerman and daughter remained with her, and the rest of the party continued to their destination. Upon their return in the afternoon they stopped for a few minutes and then continued to Bridgeport. The Akerman family will stay here for a while.

Rev. and Mrs. Holloway Going Abroad

Sunday evening at Old Mystic Baptist church, following the Voluntary, there was a very impressive baptismal service, at which time seven young people were immersed by Rev. E. S. Holloway of Eastern Point. As Mr. and Mrs. Holloway left Monday for New York, to sail to Europe Wednesday for a three months' trip, the right hand of fellowship was given the seven at the close of the evening service. This makes 21 persons who have joined this church during the six months Rev. Mr. Holloway has been acting pastor. There has been an increase in the attendance, showing the great esteem in which he is held. It is with sincere regret that the members and friends lose Mr. and Mrs. Holloway, as in the short time they have been with the church, they have made many friends. On Friday evening, they were presented a pair of silver candlesticks from Plus Ultra Bible class and the B. Y. P. U. A short time ago, the Ladies' Aid society presented them a patchwork quilt. On the evening of Easter Sunday, the following were baptized, relatives going down into the water at one time, a young brother and sister and their cousin, George and Mary Ellen Robinson and Donald Taylor, Mrs. Joseph Austin and sons, Harold and Charles, Mrs. Emerson Whipple, her daughters, Mildred and Dorothy, and a son, Emerson, Jr., Miss Esther Caswell, Miss Olinda Tisiani, Wellington Hunt and William Welles. On the first Sunday of May they were given the right hand of fellowship, except Miss Tisiani, who was given it the night of baptism. Mr. Holloway presented them a baptismal service booklet, a copy of the New Testament and a white rose. Last Sunday evening, the following were baptized: Eleanor Williams, the youngest to join of the 21 being 6 years and 8 months; Walter, John, Adella and Marie Gould, Jean Campo and Phronsie Holdredge. They were given the baptismal service booklet, New Testament and a white carnation. The church was beautifully decorated with plants, flowers and large sprays of dogwood.

Mrs. L. E. Kinney, Mrs. Carl Cutler, Mrs. George Robinson, Miss Evelyn Hanley and Miss Marian Cooper were in Willimantic Saturday and attended the reunion of the graduates of the Normal school. Luncheon was served in the model school room at noon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hassler and daughter Ruth, of Occum, and Otto Berberick of Norwich, visited Mrs. Minnie Campbell Sunday.

Trulock B. Hathaway of Bridgeport spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Foote of Denison avenue. His wife and small son Burton Foote, who have been visiting the former's parents, returned home with Mr. Hathaway.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Denison of Westerly were guests Sunday of the former's sisters, Mrs. Elwood Lathrop and Miss Jennie Denison.

There was an attendance of 85 at the Sunday school session of Old Mystic Baptist church Sunday, and a collection of $4.05. The notices were: The B. Y. P. U. meeting this (Tuesday) evening at Orris and James Norman's; the Ladies' Aid society at Mrs. Charles H. Burdick's, Wednesday afternoon and the prayer meeting Friday evening.

Miss Avery Returns

Miss Gertrude S. Avery arrived in New York Monday, on the steamship Conte Grande, from Genoa. She has been a missionary in Bombay, India, for the past five and one-half years. Miss Avery will go to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight W. Avery of Norwich Town, and later on will come to Mystic to visit her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Avery.

Williams Woman's Relief corps is to meet this (Tuesday) evening.

At the Congregational church Sunday morning, Mrs. Eugene Jones sang "Gloria." The notices for the week included the meeting of the Ladies' Aid society Wednesday afternoon for sewing. Thursday, they will go to the Congregational church in Niantic, in the morning. In the afternoon, they will come back to the church in Groton where there are to be special services. Wednesday evening, the Dramatic club will meet in the parish house.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Startz and two children and Mr. and Mrs. George Ashcroft and daughter were callers Sunday in North Stonington.

Guests Of Ahab Sanctorum

Ahab Sanctorum, composed of members from Groton, Stonington and Mystic, entertained out of town sanctorums Saturday evening. There were 115 members from Pajak Sanctorum of Worcester with their band, 85 from Korom of Hartford, 15 from Azin of Providence, 6 from Ymbo of Willimantic, and 50 from the local one. At 6 o'clock a supper was served in Odd Fellows' hall and at 7 o'clock a parade was led by the band. The assemblage went to Willow Point casino, where 12 candidates were initiated.

Watched Human Fly

Johnny Wood, human fly, of New London, was in Mystic Saturday; and climbed the Main block at about 5:30 o'clock. He has been home but a few weeks, after having spent the winter in the south and on the Pacific coast, where he performed his act many times. Many people were on the street and at every available point to watch Wood go up the side of the building.

STONINGTON

A delegation from the Stonington Girl Scouts attended the annual review of Massachusetts and other New England states at Boston Garden Saturday. The delegation left here by train at 9:30 a. m. They participated in the meeting and grand review by the state and national officers and witnessed the pageant given by the scouts from Massachusetts, depicting the history of New England of early and present days. Those in the delegation were Commissioner Mrs. Fitz-Roy Carrington, Brown Owl Miss Phyllis Carrington, Lieut. Elizabeth Carrington, Captain Emily Robinson, Scouts Misses Frances Findlay, Ruth Vargas, Caroline Stanton, Winifred Glover, Hazel Glover, Elizabeth Brown, Olive Burch, Mary Shannon, Clara Melvin, Glenna Noble, Lucretta Schepis, Dorothy Sheldon, Wilhelmina Mello, Marguerite Riley, Helen Sylvia, Rita Bessette and Alice Adams.

Ernie Coty, of Putnam, spent the week-end with local friends.

REV. FR. LARKIN'S JUBILEE AT WHEELING, JUNE 3D

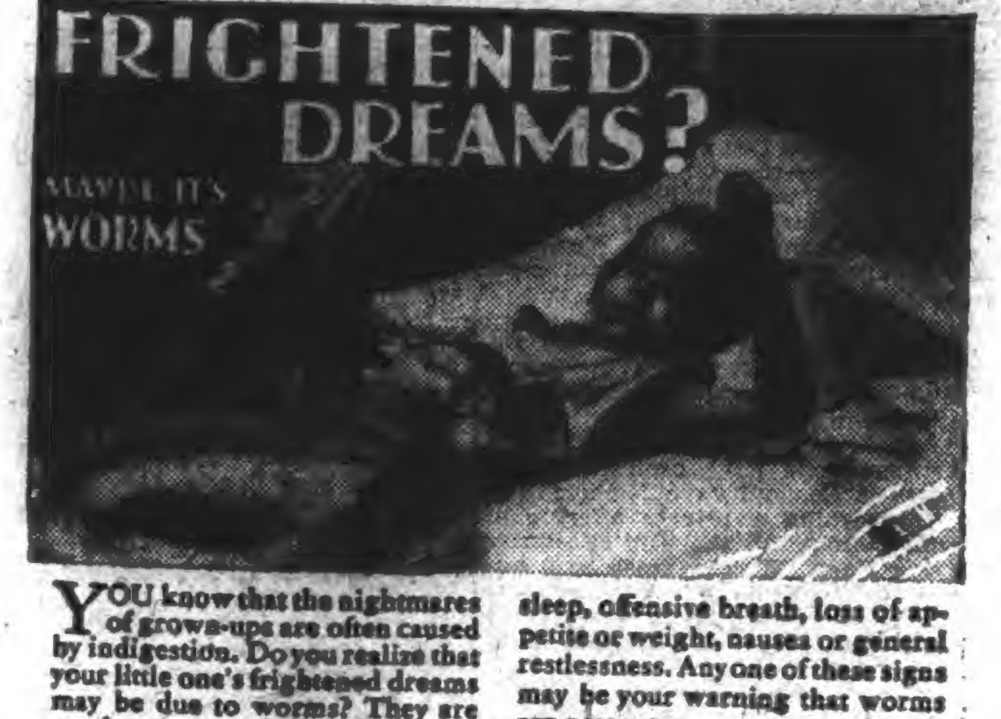
Rev. Thomas J. Larkin, S. M., former pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, now stationed at Wheeling, W. Va., will celebrate his 50th year in the priesthood June 3. He has invited a number of Westerly friends to attend the various services being planned for his golden jubilee.

Sunday, June 3, a solemn high mass will be celebrated at the Wheeling church by Rt. Rev. J. J. Swine. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Peter Quinn. In the evening a public reception will be held in the parochial school.

Fr. Larkin was pastor of the Westerly church from 1920 to 1926. He went directly to Wheeling from here. It was during his local pastorate that plans for the Immaculate Conception's fine parochial school were first made and he directed the first drive for contributions toward that project.

A prominent citizen of New London county, who is thoroughly alive to the seriousness of the forest fire situation in the county, has offered a reward of $100.00 to any one who furnishes sufficient information to convict the party responsible for the fire of May 2, 3 and 4, which burned such a large area in North Stonington near the Ledyard line, and a $25.00 reward for information leading to the conviction of any person setting any fire without a permit from the fire warden in the towns of North Stonington, Preston, or Ledyard. This reward to be good until the parties responsible for four fires have been convicted.

A. F. HAWES,
State Forest Fire Warden.



YOU know that the nightmares of grown-ups are often caused by indigestion. Do you realize that your little one's frightened dreams may be due to worms? They are much more common than most mothers think.

Look also for the following symptoms: grinding of teeth, picking the nose, crossness, crying in sleep, offensive breath, loss of appetite or weight, nausea or general restlessness. Any one of these signs may be your warning that worms are present.

Wise mothers take no chances with these dangerous and disgusting childhood pests. Even if worms are only suspected they give the child

FLUCTUATION IN PRICES SHOWED THE GENERAL TREND WAS DOWNWARD

NEW YORK, May 19.—(AP)—The monotony of last week's narrow price fluctuations was broken on the stock market today by a definite decline that carried leading shares down 3 to 8 points. There was nothing to suggest, however, that the move was not under the direction and sponsorship of the professionals who had become tired of trying to put the list up and now bent their efforts toward putting it down.

The market was again very dull until early afternoon, when the downward trend of the earlier hours was accelerated. Sales in the final 50 minutes aggregated 813,930 shares, or more than the total for Saturday's two-hour session, and the day's total was swelled to 2,418,930.

Bull pools, discouraged with holding stocks in the face of the public's apparent distaste for the present market, let their favorites go. The statement of Secretary of Commerce Lamont that normal business activity should return in about three months, was received without a flurry, and prices sagged steadily during the early hours. The decline uncovered substantial stop loss orders and encouraged short selling, with the result that closing prices were generally the lowest.

Utility, steel and chemical shares bore the brunt of the liquidation. U. S. Steel closed 4 3-4 lower at 168 1-8, where it had lost most of the recovery from the year's low touched week before last. Vanadium yielded 4 points. Consolidated Gas, American & Foreign Power, Electric Power & Light, Columbia Gas, Pacific Lighting and Public Service of New Jersey, declined about 3, while losses of 5 to 8 points appeared in Eastman Kodak, Coca Cola, American Tobacco B, Auburn Auto, Foster Wheeler, Houston Oil, Worthington Pump and A. M. Byers. J. I. Case tumbled 15. American Can, General Electric, International Harvester and Johns Manville lost 3 to 4, while Allied Chemical slumped 9 3-4 and Columbia Carbon 9 1-4.

Baking company shares enjoyed a brief interval of popularity during the forenoon, but operations in this group were soon abandoned. Rails were virtually neglected, although St. Louis Southwestern, a strong feature last week, was pushed down 6 points.

The day's credit developments were favorable. A reduction of 1-8 of a per cent in 30 to 90-day bankers' bills was about in line with expectations, while the cut in the reichsbank's rediscount rate had also been anticipated. The Bank of Italy fell into step with the general move toward world-wide easiness in money, and brought its rate down a per cent. Call and time money here were steady and dull.

Wheat prices dropped 1 3-4 cents on the weakness of foreign markets and reports that exporters were being undersold by the Canadian pool. Corn sagged 5-8 to a full cent. Cotton closed lower on liquidation promoted by a more favorable weather forecast after the heavy rains of the week-end. Sugar finished steady, but slightly lower and coffee was barely steady.

Domestic copper buying, which assumed record-breaking proportions in the first half of the month, was quiet. The other metal markets were likewise dull.

The foreign exchanges eased, with Italian lira and French francs sagging. Sterling was steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, May 19.—(AP)—Wheat suffered a material setback in price today, largely owing to assertions that Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Nebraska crops showed big improvement. A leading private crop expert came out with a forecast that the states named would produce 10,000,000 bushels more wheat this season than has been indicated by the official May returns. The United States wheat visible supply total today showed 4,064,000 bushels falling off, but the decrease was less than was generally expected.

Closing quotations on wheat were weak at virtually the day's bottom level, 1 5-8a2 1-4c a bushel under Saturday's finish. Corn closed 5-8a1 1-2c down, oats 1-2a1 3-8c off, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 2c.

Provisions, although dull, were steadied by upturns in the value of hogs.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, May 19.—(AP)—In a lifeless session standard issues in the listed bond market followed a zigzag course today, while the most active convertibles gave ground readily. Turnover continued in small volume.

United States governments showed increased activity but were slightly depressed.

Further indications of the world-wide easing of credit came in the discount rate reductions by the Central Banks of Italy and Germany, the former to 5 1-2 and the latter to 4 1-2 per cent. The move was ascribed here to a desire to facilitate the flotation of the $300,000,000 German annuity issue on which further word is expected after the meeting of International bankers in London, Tuesday.

Call and time money rates held at their low level but bankers' acceptances were cut 1-8 on 30 to 90-day maturities.

Traders gave most of their attention to convertible and stock purchase issues, except to make accumulations in a selective list of investment bonds. American Telephone 4 1-2s, Atchison 4 1-2s, and Philadelphia Reading Coal and Iron 6s yielded from 1 to nearly 2 points.

Most of the changes in the investment group were confined to small fractions. Railroad bonds made the best showing among domestic issues. The heaviest demand in the foreign group was for Japanese governments, and in common with the rest were irregular. South American and European governments were quiet.

The market started the week with considerable competition from new issues and the prospect of extensive loans later. New financing planned includes the $30,000,000 6 per cent debenture issue by the Goodrich Rubber Co. and an $18,000,000 issue of 5 or 4 1-2 per cent debentures by the Brooklyn Union Gas Co.

NEW YORK, May 19.—(AP)—Victor Guinzburg, president of the E. I. B. Kleinert Rubber Co., of New York, today announced the company had purchased the Masonia Rubber works, of Hamburg, Germany, one of the largest European manufacturing plants for fine sponge rubber. The Kleinert company has a plant in Paris.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. plans to spend $1,000,000 in double tracking and other improvements on the Wheeling division.

Arrangements have been completed by Otis & Co. and John Nickerson & Co. for making a private offering of common stock of the United States Playing Card Co. The stock was acquired by the bankers from a corporation which received it incidental to a merger with the Russel Playing Card Co., last fall.

The petition being circulated among members of the New York Stock exchange seeking a double holiday through closing of the exchange on May 31 as well as May 30, now has 806 signers.

Treasury Balance.

WASHINGTON, May 19—(AP)—Treasury receipts for May 16 were $4,854,123.25; expenditures $10,482,488.75; balance $81,760,300.43.

The mineral mercury has approximately 1,000 uses.

THE CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, May 19.—(AP)—Leading utility and industrial shares broke sharply in today's curb market, as the professional trading element appeared to have turned bearish in a body.

The meaningless backing and filling of prices late last week appeared to have discouraged further efforts on the up side. The market remained a wholly professional affair. The day's turnover was only 735,500 shares.

Electric Bond & Share, American & Foreign Power warrants, American Superpower, American Gas, United Light A, Electric Power & Light warrants, and Duke Power were among issues losing about 2 to 5 points.

The lower priced natural gas stocks offered somewhat better resistance to selling than other groups. Lone Star and United Gas sagged a point or so but Appalachian, Duquesne and Memphis held fairly steady. Appalachian was steadier by announcement of a contract to supply 8,000,000 cubic feet daily to Hope Natural Gas, a subsidiary of Standard of New Jersey, and other valuable contracts.

Deere was a soft spot in the industrials, tumbling more than 7 points. The farm implements have encountered rather heavy profit-taking and selling of late, possibly reflecting reports from the steel trade that raw material purchases from these manufacturers have slackened.

A. O. Smith, a lightly traded issue, dropped nearly 14 points in a few sales, Ford of Canada and Driver Harris lost about 2 and 3 points. Alabama Great Southern, one of the few rails on this board, sagged 2 points to 119, a new 1930 low.

In the oils, Humble dropped 4 points, and Gulf about 3. Cities Service lost more than a point.

COTTON

NEW YORK, May 19.—(AP)—Cotton futures closed barely steady, 18 to 21 points lower. Spot quiet; middling 16.30.

POETRY

Unguarded

The mistress of the Roses
 Is haply far away,
And through her garden closes
 What strange intruders stray.

See on its rustic spindles
 The sundrop's amber fire!
And the goldenrod enkindles
 The embers on its spire.

The dodder's shining tangle
 From the meadow brook steals in,
Where in the shadowed angle
 The pale lace-makers spin.

Here's Black-Eyed Susan weeping
 Into exotic air,
And Bouncing-Bet comes creeping
 Back to her old parterre.

Now in the pleasant weather—
 So sweetly reconciled—
They dwell and dream together,
 The kin of court and wild.

—Ada Foster Murray.

The Brier

My brier that smelledst sweet,
When gentle Spring's first heat
 Ran through thy quiet veins;
Thou that couldst injure none,
But wouldst be left alone:
Alone thou leavest me, and naught of thine remains.

What! hath no poet's lyre
O'er thee, sweet breathing brier,
 Hung fondly, ill or well?
And yet, methinks, with thee
A poet's sympathy.
Whether in weal or woe, in life or death, might dwell.

Hard usage both must bear,
Few hands your youth will rear,
 Few bosoms cherish you;
Your tender prime must bleed
Ere you are sweet; but, freed
From life, you then are prized; thus prized are poets, too.

—Walter Savage Landor.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"This is the tenderest piece of meat I've ever had in this restaurant," said the diner as he bit his lip.—Pathfinder.

"Do you know what Paul Revere said after he made his famous ride?"

"No, what did he say?"

"Whoa."—Boston Transcript.

Mrs. Plainmug—I'd like to sit for my portrait. Think you'll do justice to my features?

Pamear, the Artist—Oh, lady! How could you think me so stern and hard as that?—Detroit News.

Libel No. 1,964,328—The story about the Scotchman, who, after watching seven dog races, wanted to bet two dollars o nthe rabbit in the eighth dollars on the rabbit in the eighth.

She—Now you pride yourself on being able to judge a woman's character by her clothes. What would be your verdict on my sister over there?

He (looking at her sister's scant attire)—Insufficient evidence.—London Opinion.

"Lady," said Mike, "would you lend me a cake of soap?"

"Do you mean to tell me you want soap?"

"Yes'm. Me partner's got de hiccups an' I want to scare him."—The Yale Record.

Lawyer (to actress bride)—But surely you don't want to arrange for a divorce on your honeymoon. When did you quarrel?

Bride—At the church—he signed his name in the register in bigger letters than mine.—Passing Show.

KALEIDOSCOPE

Making patchwork quilts was a widely known art in Egypt as far back as 900 B. C.

A significant advance in aircraft is the use of a chemical cooling fluid in place of water.

The heat of arctic waters is said to be a source of energy greater than that from Niagara.

Heating and cooking stoves which use vaporized paraffin to produce heat are now used in Europe.

Results of chemical research are being published in the world's scientific journals at the rate of about 100 articles a day.

Most animals are darker in color above than below, and this "countershading" serves to make them less conspicuous to their enemies.

A few years ago zoo gardens paid as much as $500 a pair for certain rare blue parakeets; now these are bred so commonly that they bring only about $10.

Pursuing its reforestation policy for Anatolia, the Turkish government last year set out 100,000 saplings imported from Poland and states that 95 per cent of them survived last summer's drought. The elders of twenty-three villages were jailed for failure to plant their quotas.

What used to be called "liberty steak" in America during the war is not, as one might imagine, known in Berlin by a 100 per cent German name. Those who eat "hamburger" in Berlin get it by ordering "Deutsches beefsteak." The way to get sauerkraut, however, is to ask for sauerkraut.

FOUR BUILDING PERMITS WERE ISSUED BY FIRE MARSHAL THE PAST WEEK

Only four permits for new construction work in the city were issued at the office of Acting Fire Marshal Dennis J. Brennan during the past week, as compared with 12 for the previous week. The number of permits include one for a new two-story house of frame construction to be erected on McKinley avenue extension for Fred R. Tongren. The others are for alterations and an addition.

While only a few permits were issued this week there is considerable building going on in the city in charge of local contractors. There are several houses being erected in the East Great Plain section, on Harland road, Boswell avenue, two houses in the last named avenue being very nearly finished while the cellar is being dug for a third structure.

Work is being rushed along on the new Norwich Inn on the Norwich-New London highway by Contractors Peck-McWilliams and it is expected to be ready for public inspection on Tuesday of next week. The men are now busily engaged in wiring the structure and painting it, and when these two jobs are finished all that will remain to be finished is the landscaping work.

The Norton Memorial gymnasium building at Norwich Free Academy, being built by Contractor William S. Spencer, is fast taking the form of an imposing structure. The side walls are almost completed and within a short time work will begin on the roof. The building is expected to be completed by the middle of summer.

The following were the permits issued by Acting Fire Marshal Brennan during the past week:

To Fred R. Tongren, to erect a two-story frame house on McKinley avenue extension for himself. The building will be 26-28 feet in size and will contain six rooms and bath, also a sun parlor. The foundation will be of cement and clear cedar clapboards will be used for siding. All the floors will be of oak. The estimated cost is $7,000.

To Edward J. Gleason, to raise the roof of the present frame garage at No. 325 Boswell avenue, a height of one foot, in order to make the door [illegible] feet. This work will be done by himself. The cost of the alteration is estimated at $10.

To D. Hana, to alter the present frame building on North Main street for Jacob R. Sloberg. The permit calls for the installation of two new show windows and a new front door. A wood partition will also be put in for an office. The front of the building will be in stucco, replacing the present composition shingles. The cost is estimated at $400.

To Mrs. Margaret D. Dunn, to add a porch onto the present frame house at No. 96 Fifth street for herself. The addition will be of frame construction and will have two windows and a door. The cost is estimated at $40.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

There were seven sales of real estate in Norwich during the past week as compared to eight sales for the corresponding week in 1929. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $13,320 and $33,684.

In New London during the past week there were six sales of real estate, a decrease of eight sales over the same week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $81,780 and $62,750.

WESTERLY

Westerly Building Inspector Thomas Willis and Zoning Inspector Louis J. Rossi have issued the following building and zoning permits for the second week in May:

May 12. Mrs. Concetta S. Grillo, 93 Canal street. Reshingle house at 93 Canal street with slate-coated shingles and rebuild present porch. By owners.

May 12. Miss Louise Gingerella, 90-92 Oak street. Reshingle house 90-92 Oak street with slate-coated shingles. Patrick Holliday, contractor.

May 12. Holden P. Ballou, Hartford. Build open-porch addition [illegible] feet by 12 feet to east entrance to Atlantic Beach Casino. By owner.

May 14. George Smith, 23 Newton avenue. Build garage, 12 feet by 18 feet at cottage, Clark avenue, Misquamicut. Tasco and Urso, contractors.

May 14. W. W. Lester, Hartford, Conn. Erect two-story summer cottage, 24 feet by 44 feet, on Atlantic avenue, Misquamicut. Isaac Sherman, contractor.

May 14. J. T. Kerbey. Erect two-story summer cottage, 28 feet by 34 feet on Atlantic avenue, Misquamicut. William Rinne, contractor.

CONN. BUILDING KEEPS UPWARD TREND IN APRIL

During the month of April, Connecticut building continued to show a continuation of the upward trend which began in March although, according to the monthly survey conducted by the office of E. L. Taylor, industrial commissioner of the New Haven railroad, the April gain was not as pronounced as that of the preceding month. The total building permits issued by the twenty-two cities and towns covered in the railroad's survey during the month of April exceeded those of March by slightly more than $310,000.

The April gain in building permits was fairly well spread throughout the state, eleven of the twenty-two communities showing increases over their March figures. These were Bristol, Bridgeport, Greenwich, Hartford, Meriden, New London, Norwalk, Stratford, Torrington, Waterbury and West Hartford. Hartford with an April permit total of $958,488 displaced New Haven at the top of the building permit list, while the latter went into third place and Waterbury occupied second position.

Building permit totals generally were considerably below the figures of April, 1929, only five of the twenty-two towns and cities gaining over the corresponding month of last year. These were Greenwich, Hartford, Naugatuck, Stratford and Waterbury, the latter showing the largest increase.

Comparative building permits figures for April, 1930, and April, 1929, are reported in the railroad survey as follows:

City	April, 1930	April, 1929
Bristol	$ 40,075	$ 222,390
Bridgeport	425,249	1,194,189

ARRANGEMENT OF ROOMS IS ARCHITECTURE FACTOR

Many people think of architecture as the decorative side of building. But true architecture has two other values. One of them is the plan or room arrangement. The other has fine appearances without extravagance. It has a commodious, comfortable plan without waste space and with privacy. It has simple, straightforward, durable construction without a penny wasted.

Too often, unfortunately, the contractor not schooled in architecture thinks he adds architecture to a house by jazzing it up. He tricks up the rafter ends with a band saw, hangs out little meaningless balconies, puts chain lightning brackets under the cornice, spreads pergola porches around indiscriminately, fixes squirrel tails to the gable ends.

Even though each one of these details were fine in itself, it would not make architecture. The underlying construction is the real architecture. Decorative effects, good or bad, are the mere froth of building, like the grace notes or trills in a piece of music. Unless the tune is right you cannot stand the trills.

NEW LONDON

Favored by good weather, the H. Wales Lines company was able to practically enclose the roof of the new administration building of the Connecticut College for Women this week. With this part of the work completed it is expected that work on the interior will be carried on without any further delay by poor weather and with this in view it is now expected that the building will be completed far ahead of schedule.

Due to the exceptionally good building weather during the past month work has progressed at an unusually fast pace. All but a small patch of the concrete roof was finished up this week.

Wightman Street House

The permit has been issued to L. E. Whiting of 71 Williams street for a dwelling to be erected at 9 Wightman street. The work will be done under the supervision of the owner. From private plans the house will be 24 by 28 feet of frame construction, arranged for five rooms.

St. Germain Road House

Work is rapidly nearing completion on the construction of a house being built for Joseph A. St. Germain in St. Germain road. The structure is of modern design and frame construction and arranged for six rooms. The plumbing work is being done by Charles A. Smith. The Electric Equipment Co. has the contract for the electrical work and the Barclay Tile & Marble Co. has the contract for the tile work. The general contract work is being done under the supervision of the owner.

Oswegatchie House

The interior trim is being finished up on a house being built for Donald J. Hardenbrook & Co. The house is 72 by 78 feet, arranged with 13 rooms and four baths and one toilet. There is also a three car garage attached. The Hopson & Chapin Co. has the contract for the heating and the Barclay Tile & Marble Co. the contract for the tile work.

Lewis Street House

A house being built for Ricardo Canestrari in Lewis street has been enclosed. The structure is of modern design and frame construction and from plans prepared by Architect Francis De Gange will have all improvements and conveniences. The Modern Electric Co. has been awarded the contract for the electrical work.

Building Permits

L. E. Whiting, frame dwelling, 9 Wightman street, $8,782.

Mrs. R. J. Dayton, garage, rear 282 Ocean avenue, $500.

Anthony Benvenuti, addition, 98 Smith street, $600.

Mrs. Annie Jordan, addition, 82 Blackhall street, $200.

Louis Round, dwelling alterations, 495 Montauk avenue, $1,000.

Louis Schwartz, addition, 31 Perry street, $400.

Lubchansky & Hendel, two additions, 9 Boarwalk, $200.

D. A. Connors, build garage in cellar, 24 Berkeley avenue, $200.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

Reddy Fox Smells Mouse

To know what others do is wise;
'Twill sometimes help to win the prize.
—Reddy Fox.

Reddy Fox has keen eyes. Also, Reddy has his share of curiosity. It just happened that Reddy had not been at home in the Old Pasture, taking his morning nap as usual, when Nanny Meadow Mouse was carried away in the old tin can by Farmer Brown's Boy. Reddy had been on his way home when he saw Farmer Brown's Boy crossing the Green Meadows. Reddy had at once sat down to watch. He had sat down where he could see, but not be seen. He saw Farmer Brown's Boy pick something up and carry it across the Green Meadows until he came to the bushes on the edge of the Green Meadows. Then Farmer Brown's Boy had tossed that thing in among the bushes and gone on his way.

Reddy Fox cocked his head on one side. "I wonder," thought he, "what Farmer Brown's Boy threw over there. I wonder where Farmer Brown's Boy is going. It is well to know what one's neighbors are doing. Yes, sir, it is well to know what one's neighbors are doing, especially any of these two-legged creatures who happened to be about. I am not afraid of Farmer Brown's Boy, but it does no harm to know all I possibly can about him."

So as soon as Farmer Brown's Boy was out of sight, Reddy trotted across the Green Meadows straight to the spot where Farmer Brown's Boy had picked up that old can. He began to investigate at once. Of course, you know how he did that. He did it by using his eyes and his nose—especially his nose. Reddy can always trust his nose.

"Well, I don't know what it was he picked up," said Reddy to himself, "but whatever it was, it had been here for a long time. The grass is all dead where it lay. Probably it wouldn't interest me anyway. Ha, I smell a Mouse! There has been a Meadow Mouse around here and not very long ago at that. That being the case, that Meadow Mouse must still be somewhere around here. I will just see what my nose is good for. Nose, do your duty."

So Reddy put his little black nose to the ground and it began to pick up the scent of Nanny Meadow Mouse. The scent was faint. Sometimes it disappeared altogether and then Reddy would have to go back. He worked around there for a long time. That scent would lead him along one of Nanny's private little paths for a short distance and then it would disappear. Then he would try another private little path with the same result. It was tantalizing. Yes, sir, it was tantalizing! All around that spot was the smell of Mouse, yet it didn't lead him anywhere.

"A Mouse hasn't wings," said Reddy to himself, "so it cannot fly away. A Mouse cannot travel a very long distance in a short time. So the Mouse that was here must still be here, or at least somewhere near here."

Once more Reddy put that little black nose to the ground. He began working in circles. He was trying to find the scent of that Mouse if the Mouse had gone away. He didn't have to make a very big circle to discover that there was no scent of Meadow Mouse at all. Reddy sat down to think this over. "If that Mouse isn't somewhere within this circle," said Reddy to himself, "it must be that Whitetail the Marsh Hawk, or some other member of his family, has caught that Mouse and carried it away. I'll have one more good search."

So Reddy made another thorough search. It was thorough, too, for Reddy believes in being thorough. He was sure that there was not one inch of ground within that circle that he had not examined. Then he sighed.

"Somebody else got that Mouse," said he. "It certainly is hard luck to smell Mouse and not be able to find one. Now I'll go see what Farmer Brown's Boy threw over in those bushes."

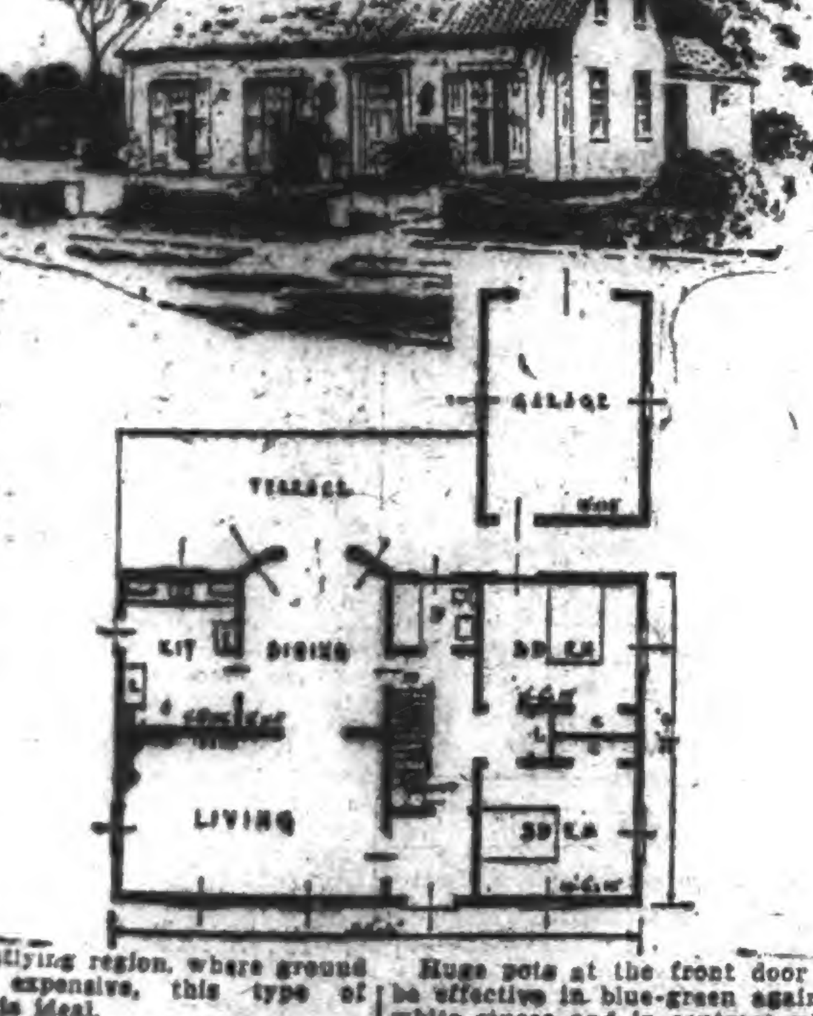
Design For Roomy Lot In Suburbs



In an outlying region, where ground is not so expensive, this type of bungalow is ideal.

It consists of two bedrooms, living and dining rooms, kitchen and bath—just the proper combination for the smaller family.

The dining room, if another chamber is desired, may be so converted with little difficulty.

Walls of stucco and roof of Spanish tile, make a prim little home which fits perfectly into a setting of box hedges and shrubs.

The builder of this house might prefer to have the garage opposite the kitchen instead of the back bedroom. That change may, of course, be made.

Huge pots at the front door would be effective in blue-green against the white stucco and in contrast with the red roof. Blinds of weathered gray complete the ensemble.

The house should face south, on a lot of, say 75 by 100 feet. Construction cost will run from $6,000 to $8,000, the figure varying in accordance with local conditions.

Incidentally, this dwelling illustrates an axiom of the science of house planning and building. Where ground is comparatively cheap, there is the place for a bungalow. Where it is more expensive, it is often desirable to put the bedrooms on the second floor, since such an arrangement takes less space on the lot.

ATTRACTIVE NEW HOUSE ON STARR ST.

The one-family house erected by Contractor Anthony Banas on Starr street for Mrs. Mary Worsky is depicted above, and is one of the most attractive structures in that section of the city. It is of the simple American design and contains six rooms and sun parlor, having all the latest improvements.

The size of the building is 26-28 feet. The exterior is finished in wide Colonial clapboard and in the front a wide combination porch and sun-parlor extends across the facade on the first floor. A smaller porch is also provided over the side entrance. Six-over-one windows are used throughout. All floors are of oak.

In the large roomy kitchen are built-in cabinets and set-in fixtures have been installed in the bath room. Heat is furnished by a steam heat system. Brass piping is used throughout.

NEW DEVICE PERMITS WINDOWS TO TILT

Windows might be kept clean even during rainy seasons if it were a bit easier for the housewife to wash the outside surface. A new type of window hardware which allows the window to tilt inside for washing simplifies the problem. This arrangement makes it unnecessary to climb hazardous stepladders or lean out the window to wash the outside glass panes properly.

This tilting hardware allows the window to work like any double-hung window without changing curtains, drapes or shade mountings. Nor does the mechanism get out of order easily.

In cold weather sleeping rooms may be ventilated without subjecting the occupants to drafts as the air current is directed to the ceiling, bringing down the warm air and maintaining good circulation. Locked in this position the window cannot be further opened or closed from the outside.

VIOLATING HOUSING STANDARDS

It might be difficult to convince some people that bad architecture is a significant violation of housing standards. There are few, however, who would deny that, other things being equal, a house is better when it is pleasing to look at from the outside, and that whatever the architecture it should be maintained in a state of good repair.

Uncasville Building

The contract has been awarded for the construction of a two-story building to be erected at Uncasville for Constantine and James Pappas of Uncasville. The new structure is to be of brick and hollow tile construction and will be arranged for four stores on the first floor and a dance hall on the second floor.

Ocean Avenue House

Work has been started on the excavating for a house to be built for Harry Ellon at Ocean avenue and Woodlawn road. The new residence is to be of English design of brick, stucco and frame construction with an attached garage. The house property will be 21 by 20 feet. On the first floor there will be a living room, dining room, large reception hall, maid's room, kitchen and bathroom. The second floor will be arranged for four bedrooms and two baths. In the cellar there will be a cold storage room and a laundry equipped with a gas heater.

Allyn Art Gallery

The excavation work in connection with the construction of the Allyn Gallery of Art to be erected on the Allyn property south of the Connecticut College for Women, was fast nearing completion this week. The H. Wales Lines company, general contractor on the job, sub let the excavation contract to E. U. Bartolucci & Co.

FIRST FLOOR LAVATORY MEETS EVERYDAY NEED

Much of the traffic jam caused by the cleaning up of members of the family who work in the garden or garage can be eliminated in the one-bath home by converting a downstairs closet into a lavatory. The generally spotless bathroom looks rather a wreck after "dad or brother clear away the grime of their labors" and presents more of a task for mother than a small and compact first floor lavatory.

There is in almost every home a little used closet that may be so converted at little expense. Small plumbing fixtures now being made fit nicely into such a room. Wash basins of solid porcelain—or enamel on iron, made to fit in corners take up a minimum of space and still are large enough for a real "wash."

A HISTORY OF CONNECTICUT INDUSTRY

Released by Manufacturers Association of Connecticut

The Rogers & Hubbard Company, Portland.

The Rogers & Hubbard company was organized in Middletown in February 1878 for the purpose of cutting shin bones into knife handles, buttons, and other bone novelties. The organizers were Gaston T. Hubbard (father of the president and vice president), Wilbur F. Burrows and John Rogers.

After the business was well established, the sale of the by-products—raw bone for case hardening and fertilizers—became large and it was found necessary to look into the manufacture of complete fertilizers. Professor W. O. Atwater of Wesleyan was engaged to make up formulas, which after being tested by the late Charles Fairchild and George M. Clark, became the first of Hubbard's "bone base" fertilizers. Other brands have been added from time to time.

In 1909 the fertilizer business had grown so large that new quarters were necessary, where a side track and dock facilities could be obtained. The present factory was built on land purchased between the two bridges in Portland.

The brands of fertilizer are adapted for any and all crops and are sold under the trade mark "Hubbard's bone base Connecticut fertilizers" throughout New England.

In connection with the grinding of bone for fertilizers, the company also manufactures coarser bone, which is used in case hardening and coloring steel. They were also the originators of granulated raw bone for case hardening.

The present officers are: F. Perry Hubbard, president; G. Tracy Hubbard, vice president; Ernest S. Davis, secretary and treasurer; Arthur F. Kingsbury, assistant secretary; Burton B. Fall, assistant treasurer.

OUT-OF-DATE LIGHTING FIXTURES EXPENSIVE

Out-of-date and antiquated electric lighting fixtures are not only expensive because of the poor light they produce but actually cost more to the user than modern fixtures and lamps, according to a survey made by the National Electric Light association.

The prevalence of obsolescent fixtures in the average home, says the report, is as follows:

In living rooms, 16 per cent of the fixtures are out of date; in dining rooms 18 per cent; in kitchens, 45 per cent; in bedrooms 48 per cent; in bath rooms, 50 per cent; and in hallways, 26 per cent.

These average percentages of domestic fixtures should be replaced says the report, while of the remaining fixtures at least 50 per cent do not provide light of a quality and quantity demanded by modern standards.

The 16,000 shares comprising the American allotment of the capital stock of the bank for international settlements, are being sold privately to American banks.

You, Too, Will Choose
This Modern Weatherstrip
With a Guarantee Proven By Performance
Monarch Metal Weatherstrip is so different from any other that it can be and is differently guaranteed.
A mere guarantee against wear would really mean nothing, because with any metal weatherstripping there is no wear.
But Monarch alone is guaranteed to maintain its efficiency for the life of the building. This is because it is self-adjusting, everlastingly sealing the crack regardless of window shrinkage or swelling.
Thus Monarch Metal Weatherstrip, while steadily saving fuel and adding comfort year by year, best shows its outstanding advantage after many years.
For, as a building ages, and as, with widening window cracks, other weatherstrip gradually loses all efficiency, Monarch still continues to follow and seal the crack exactly as when first installed.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

The State of Connecticut through its duly authorized Board of Trustees for the State Training School and Hospital at Mansfield, Conn., invites proposals from reputable contractors for all of the material and labor and power house equipment for the four buildings listed below—

A—The Power House
B—The Laundry
C—The Boys' Dormitory
D—The Girls' Dormitory

all to be erected on the site as shown by the plot plan and all other plans and specifications as prepared by the architectural offices of Towner and Sellew Associates, Architects, Central National Bank Building, Middletown, Conn. and from whom all further information may be obtained.

The Trustees do not obligate themselves to accept the lowest or any proposal and the State does not obligate itself to make any payment on Buildings C and D until such dates as may be subsequent to July 1st, 1930. Connecticut contractors will be given the preference in awarding contracts and the contractor has the privilege of submitting a total bid for the four buildings but each building must be allocated to a definite figure to conform to within the legislative appropriated sum.

The proposals shall be sealed in an opaque envelope, the outside of which shall bear the endorsement:— "Sealed Proposals for State Training School at Mansfield, Conn." and shall have the contractor's name and address on the upper left hand corner, and shall have enclosed with the proposal, a certified cheque for Eighteen Thousand Dollars ($18,000.00) for the four buildings proper and the number of working days required for the entire job shall be stated.

Two thousand dollars for equipment item Part 9 being boilers, etc.

Five hundred dollars for equipment item Part 10 being piping, equipment pertaining to pumps, tanks, etc., also covering.

Fifteen hundred dollars for equipment item Part 12 being for electric wiring from switchboard, etc.

All certified cheques to be made payable to Samuel R. Spencer, State Treasurer and shall become forfeited to the State as liquidated and ascertained damages in event of a bidder failing to enter into a contract and furnish a satisfactory bond within five days after an award has been made.

The proposals shall be addressed to Honorable Everett J. Lake, Acting Chairman of the Board of Trustees and delivered at the office of the State Comptroller on the first floor of the State Capitol in Hartford, Conn. not later than 11:00 A. M. Eastern Standard Time, Monday, June 2nd, 1930 and they will be opened publicly at 1:00 P. M. Eastern Standard Time the same day in the Old Senate Chamber on the second floor of the State Capitol.

A 100% contract bond will be required of the successful contractor which bond shall be paid for by the contractor and shall be from an approved corporate surety company and shall be approved as to form by the Attorney General for the State of Connecticut.

Copies of the plans and specifications may be had by reputable and bona fide bidders from the Architects at any time after Friday noon, May 9th, 1930, upon deposit of Fifty Dollars which will be refunded, less $10.00 for the cost of reproduction of plans and specifications, upon the safe return of the drawings and specifications and receipt of proposal.

Copies of plans and specifications are on file at the following places for use of sub-contractors only:

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Popularity Contest

The Palace theatre popularity contest is open to every young lady in the city or the vicinity and for that purpose a nomination blank is inserted in the papers today. Nominate your favorite or yourself. The nomination blank is worth 5 votes which will be credited to the young lady nominated. Get in the swim and secure the biggest award of its kind ever offered to the patrons of this ever popular playhouse, a trip to the Nation's Playground and the fine wardrobe of fine merchandise from the leading Norwich merchants.

Broadway Theatre

Fifty stars, every one a "name," and including Chevalier, Bancroft, Cooper, Arlen, Clara Bow, Nancy Carroll in fact the entire roster of the enormous Paramount studios all over the world, will "strut their stuff" in their own big party "Paramount on Parade," for the last times at the Broadway with today's showings.

Tomorrow brings a new type of story to the Broadway screen, fresh from its New York $2.00 showing, when that famous novel by Katharine Brush, "Young Man of Manhattan," is presented in film form by a cast who might well be in real life the very characters around whom the story was written. The picture is a masterpiece—a living, breathing reproduction of the joys and woes of four intensely human young moderns. Ann Vaughn, rising young "movie editor" on a big metropolitan daily; Toby MacLean, ambitious and peppy sports writer on the same sheet; Shorty Ross, whose one ambition is to drown the 18th amendment, and Puff Randolph, a young debutante, rightly labelled "five feet of dimpled dynamite." Lovely Claudette Colbert is the movie editor, Norman Foster is Toby, Charlie Ruggles is Shorty, and "Ginger" Rogers, a new comet, is the fiery society girl. The Four Albus Sisters, well known in vaudeville, are also in the cast, and lend a touch of the stage to this exciting story of modern newspaper life. The story, which ran serially in the Saturday Evening Post, was later one of the ten best sellers of last season, is most dramatic, realistic, but always human, and will appeal to everyone. Splendid shots of the Dempsey-Tunney fight, the Annapolis-Princeton football classic, the World's series in St. Louis, the six-day bike races in New York, the Yankees' southern training camp, in fact the whole world of sport, form highlights in the picture. Laurel and Hardy are seen in a feature-length comedy "Blotto" and there are other clever featurettes, including the Fox movietone news.

Palace Theatre

Now playing the biggest comedy hit of the season, it's a riot of fun so don't miss this great treat.

In "Hold Everything," a Vitaphone all-color musical comedy which literally "has everything," Warner Bros. have produced one of the most thoroughly amusing motion pictures of the season.

In cast, story, voice reproduction and the use of color photography, this latest example of the modern screen art takes its place in the very front rank of the new film productions.

There is much singing throughout the production, and the score includes at least a dozen tuneful melodies. The majority of these are sung by Winnie Lightner, famous comedienne of vaudeville and musical comedy, and it may be said that she "puts over" a number in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired. Winnie is seen in one of the principal comedy roles, and the other member of an hilariously funny team is none other than Joe E. Brown, who has few equals among screen comedians. Brown, as a "dub" prizefighter, is a positive scream. Another leading role is played by the winsome Sally O'Neil, who is seen as the sweetheart of Georges Carpentier, who also plays a leading role and stages an exciting championship ring battle.

A feature of "Hold Everything" that is worthy of special mention is the dialogue, which sparkles with wit, and has much to do with the success of this rollicking musical comedy. Pictorially, the film is beautiful. The natural coloring achieved by the improved Technicolor makes every scene one of warmth and beauty, and this production has the added advantage of scenes which are in themselves beautiful. Especially so are the sequences made in Carpentier's training camp, which was actually established in the famous Busch gardens in Pasadena, California.

FORMER NATIONAL 10-MILE CHAMPION SCHEDULED TO RUN IN DUWELL RACE

"Smiling" Jimmy Hennigen of Dorchester, Mass., former national 10 mile lord, Mass., former national ten mile champion and member of the American Olympic team in 1928, will be among the starters at the National A. A. U. 10 mile championship run, to be held here on the afternoon of Memorial day, May 30, according to announcement made last night by officials of the Duwell A. A., sponsors of the event. The entry of Hennigen, together with those of four other members of the Medford A. C., was received Monday. With the entry of the Medford veteran there are now three of the five men that constituted the American Olympic long distance team at the last set of international games, listed for the coming title run. The other two Olympic stars are Clarence DeMar of Melrose, Mass., and Whitey Michaelson of New York.

"Smiling" Jimmy, while not so popular as DeMar, has a record of wins beter than any other man in the country. He has been running for a good many years and it is said that during the course of his career he has won over 500 races of varied distances. For years he specialized at short races but prior to the Olympics he made a bid for honors over the full marathon distance. In his first attempt at Boston Hennigen made such a good showing that he was selected for the American team. A year ago he placed second in the Boston classic and only Saturday last finished second to DeMar in the Pawtucket marathon. At the latter race he had the Melrose printer worried for the first 15 or 20 miles, tiring near the finish.

With Hennigen entered, the Duwells have really the classiest field that ever started in an American race. In addition to the three ex-Olympic stars there is Jimmy McDade, of New York, present 10 mile champion, Fred Ward, also of New York, the national 20 mile champion, and Max Lamp, German 10,000 meter champ.

Plans for the programme to be presented at the fair grounds in conjunction with the title run, are rapidly shaping up and there is every indication that the largest crowd ever to gather in Norwich will be on hand of the afternoon's activities. As previously mentioned the programme will start at about 1 o'clock with horse racing and will last until 3:30. The horse races are being arranged by a special committee composed of interested local horsemen, and it is planned to have at least three different events. There will be two special races and one open event. Anyone having horses that they desire to enter in the open race should get in touch with Jack Wilson at Jacks' Sports Shop. In addition to the horse races and the big run there will be a concert by Swahn's military band.

Invitations to prominent public and sports figures of this and surrounding states to act as honorary and active officials were sent out last Saturday by the invitation and reception committee, of which Mayor Lee Roy Robbins is chairman.

Notice of acceptance was received Monday from Robert Kiphuth, coach of the Yale swimming team and Elmer L. Manning, superintendent of recreation at New Haven. Word from Putnam says that Mayor Charles A. Richard has accepted the invitation of the Duwells to act as an honorary official.

BILL TILDEN AND COEN ADVANCE TO THIRD ROUND

AUTEIL, France, May 19.—(AP)—Led by Bill Tilden and Wilbur Coen, the favored teams advanced without difficulty today as the French hard court tennis championships opened at the Roland Garros stadium. The day was devoted entirely to doubles—men's, women's and mixed.

Tilden and Coen were the only Americans in action. With the aid of a first round bye and a second round victory over the French combination of Pierre Albarran and the famous ocean navigator, Alain Gerbault, at 6-0, 6-3, 6-3, they reached the third round.

TWO GAMES IN MONTVILLE DUSTY LEAGUE THIS WEEK

Two games are scheduled to be played in the Montville Industrial Twilight league this week as follows: Tuesday, May 20—Eastern Connecticut Power Co. vs Robertson Paper Box Co. Thursday, May 22—Textile Manufacturing Co. vs Robert Gair Co.

The leading hitters in the league are:

	G	Ab	R	H	Pct.
Kiely, Gair	2	3	0	2	.667
McKinney, Rob.	2	6	3	4	.667
Dugas, Powermen	2	6	1	3	.500

Mayo Wins Medal

GREENWICH, Conn., May 19.—(AP)—Charles Mayo, Jr., of the Pomonok club, Long Island junior champion, won the medal in the qualifying round of the Eastern Interscholastic Golf association's championship today.

Mayo scored a 76 on the first 18 holes to lead the field and then needed only 73 on his second 18 to tally 149 for the 36 holes of qualifying play and lead the field by five strokes. Mayo represents St. Paul's school at Garden City.

Gray Pal, Sande Up, Second

NEW YORK, May 19.—(AP)—Earl Sande, who rode Gallant Fox to victory in the Kentucky Derby Saturday, was back at work at Belmont Park today. Mounted on P. S. Randolph's Gay Pal, he booted the two-year-old home second in the four and one-half furlong opening race run over sloppy track similar to the going at Churchill Downs, Saturday.

Chocolate Resting Comfortably

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., May 19.—(AP)—Kid Chocolate, who was injured in an automobile accident yesterday, was resting comfortably today but will be compelled to remain in the hospital for several days, according to the attending physician. The Cuban featherweight received severe bruises on his left leg and arm and cuts about the face, which will keep him out of the ring for about six weeks.

Roath Street Tigers Win

Joe Wallen made three home runs for the Roath street Tigers, when they defeated the Cliff street All Stars Monday evening on the Boswell avenue diamond by a 22 to 6 score. Eddie Cubanski drove out two homers and Dick Burke hit one. The Tigers lineup: Red Burke, c; Joe Wallen, p; J. Burke, 1b; Barry, 2b; E. Cubanski, ss; Dunlon, 3b; H. Cubanski, rf; D. Burke, cf; Stone, lf.

Red Rovers Win

In their opening game the Red Rovers defeated the St. Patrick's Cub Scouts, Saturday, by the score of 22 to 10. The lineup for the Red Rovers was as follows: M. Foley, c; J. Shugrue, p; J. Dennis, 1b; P. Powers, 2b; R. Pelloran, ss; P. Shannon, 3b; J. Mingo, cf; W. Condon, rf. The star hits of the team were two homers made by Shugrue and Shannon.

There is hope for any young man who is willing to unlearn what he thinks he knows.

DETROIT WINS BOTH ENDS OF DOUBLE BILL

DETROIT, May 19.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers stretched their winning streak to four straight games today, defeating the St. Louis Browns twice in the only games played in the major leagues. The Tigers took the first 5 to 4 in ten innings and then added the nightcap by a score of 4 to 2.

Stewart held the Tigers helpless for seven innings of the first game, but a four-run rally in the eighth tied the score. Two singles and a fielder's choice put across the deciding run in the tenth.

The second contest was a pitchers' battle between Sam Gray, Browns' mound ace, and Ansley Wyatt of the Tigers. Each yielded ten hits but the Tigers bunched seven of theirs in the third and sixth innings to score three runs in the former and one in the latter. The Browns picked up their first tally in the sixth and added the second in the final frame.

This double victory lifted the Tigers into seventh place in the standings and shoved the Browns into the cellar. It was Detroit's fourth and fifth triumphs in eight starts over the Browns and marked the longest winning streak of the season for the team manged by Bucky Harris.

PLAINFIELD PLAYS FIRST LEAGUE GAME TONIGHT

The Plainfield baseball team will open its season Tuesday night against the Sterling team at Sterling in their first league game. Leroy Dissinger, director of the Plainfield Community association, will manage the team and Bill Pechie will act as captain. The starting lineup will be collected from the following candidates and all players are requested to be at the Community house not later than 5:30 p. m., (D. S. T.): Beausoleil and Allard, catchers; Marriott, Clocher, Pechie, Dissinger and Korab, pitchers; Pechie, 1b; Mercier and Lang, 2b; Cotnoir, ss; Mette, 3b; outfielders, Burby, Dissinger, Marriott, Korab and Ouillett, and George Goslin, utility. Plainfield also has a mascot, Fuzzy Coulombe, son of the famous Joseph Coulombe, an ex-world champion casting artist.

All Stars Swamped

The Green Mountains boys won a loosely played game from the White Street All Stars, 17 to 5. Domalewski was on the mound for the winners and allowed four hits and fanned 10. The winners lineup: Chet, c; Domalewski, p; Barry, 1b; Jimmie, 2b; Yeitz, 3b; Ferguson, ss; Casontino, lf; Luty, rf; Pratkop, cf.

Leo P. Flynn, Noted Boxing Manager, Dead

NEW YORK, May 19.—(AP)—Leo P. Flynn, one of boxing's most picturesque characters, died of pneumonia at his home here today after an illness of less than a week. He would have been 81 years old on June 1.

The "Silver Fox," rated as one of the most clever managers in the fistic industry, caught a heavy cold while playing golf a week ago. Pneumonia developed and Flynn failed rapidly. He had been in a coma since Friday and kept alive only through almost constant use of oxygen.

With him when he died was his wife, Kate, who for many years assisted him in the management of his string of boxers; Benny Clapp, a flyweight boxer, and Msgr. Daniel F. Burke, rector of the Church of St. Philip of Neri, who administered the last rites of the Catholic church. Funeral services here are expected to be followed by interment in Providence, R. I., where Flynn was born.

Flynn came to New York about 25 years ago as manager of several more or less unknown fighters. While he was "on the road" with his fighters, his wife attended to his business affairs here. As time went on, Flynn gradually increased the size of his stable, operating on the theory that quantity rather than quality paid. At one time in his career he had under his wing as many as 80 boxers. On one occasion a score of them were performing on the same night and Leo was fond of recalling, with an amused chuckle, that half of them were knocked out.

Flynn was one of the most successful matchmakers the late Tex Rickard ever had at the old Garden, promoting a number of fistic classics that made money for Tex.

After the split between Jack Kearns and Jack Dempsey, Flynn was Dempsey's chief adviser and handler for the Manassa Mauler's second fight with Gene Tunney.

Although he never managed a champion, Flynn handled many fine prospects at one time or another in his career; Dave Shade, the late Bill Brennan, Jahn Renault, Newsboy Brown and among the Negroes, Kid Norfolk, Panama Joe Gans and Tiger Payne.

The "Silver Fox" was noted for his ability as a pocket billiard player and his steady nerves made of him one of the best golfers among boxing's followers.

FOUR ACADEMY REGULARS HITTING OVER .300 MARK

Alec Arico, the Academy first sacker, has at last struck his batting stride, it would seem, and from now on may be one of the most dangerous batters on the club. After a discouraging start, Arico is rapidly forcing his way upward in the averages and stands at the present time at .278, a gain of about 20 points in the last two starts.

Capt. Chubby Gibbs, shortstop, is still the leading hitter by a big margin with an average of .510. Art Breen, third baseman, is next with .413, and Weisgraber, with .353 and Fontaine, with .314 are the only other regulars hitting over .300. The team average has slumped some in the last two games but still is over the .300 mark, being at .308.

Gibbs leads in hits with 26, Arico in runs, with 23 and Gibbs in total bases with 38, and runs batted in with 24. Breen has the doubles crown so far, with five, Gibbs has the only triple and Gibbs and Pepin each have two home runs. Weisgraber and Gibbs each have eleven stolen bases and the same two also lead in sacrifice hits with two apiece.

The averages:

	AB	R	H	TB	RBI	Av.
Richards	1	0	1	1	2	1.000
Gibbs	51	21	26	38	24	.510

STEVE NACSIN GETS HOLE-IN-ONE AT WILLIMANTIC

WILLIMANTIC, May 19—To rise from a caddy to the ranks of the hole-in-one club is the brief and colorful career of "Steve" Nacsin of the Willimantic Country club. Nacsin registered the hole-in-one Sunday while playing on the fifth hole which is a blind approach and measures 186 yards. The par is three. He is the first member to achieve the distinction this season.

A brilliant season is predicted for Dow Ahern, youthful club champion who is playing a beautiful game. In a match with his instructor, Barney Gunshinan, Saturday, Ahern scored a 74 and chalked up six birdies in so doing. A little difficulty on two four par holes in which he took a six and seven defeated his aim of getting under the course par. Sunday Ahern reached the 18th hole with his 67th stroke. He had a putt of about 10 feet on the next, bringing him to within 10 inches of the hole. He missed the putt, taking a 70 which is par for the course and it being the second time the youth has achieved that result. He was credited with four birdies and an eagle three, the latter being on the long 430 yard hole which is a five par, his second shot landing about six feet from the pin. Ahern plans to enter several tournaments this season, particularly the state tournament at Hartford next month, in which he was a semi-finalist last year.

Black Jacks Take Two

The Black Jacks, at Mohegan park Saturday, won a close game from Bowen's Newsies, 6 to 5, and also beat the same team the following day by the same score. In Saturday's tilt Ferns hurled brilliant ball for the winners and Lafrancois caught. The remainder of the lineup comprised Beauchemin, 1b; Smackey, 2b; Frechette, 3b; Cowboy, lf; Telas, cf; Phaneuf, rf. Paquette pitched and Lafrancois and Ferns caught for the Black Jacks in Sunday's game.

Arrow Heads Lose

The Young Gorillas blanked the Arrow Heads by a score of 1 to 0 Monday afternoon at the sandbanks. The winners lineup was A. Picker, c; Raymond, p; Putchik, 1b; Zenkowski, 2b; J. Picker, 3b; Chet, ss; Purder, rf; Powey, cf; Billy, lf.

BEAUREGARD POINTS TO KNOCKOUT IN MATCH WITH PENA WEDNESDAY

Al Beauregard of Taftville, New England bantamweight champion, will tackle Johnny Pena of New York, sensational Spanish bantamweight, in the feature bout of the Shyma card tomorrow evening, with the expressed purpose of adding another knockout scalp to his string. The Taftville slugger has completed his training with the exception of a little light workout today, which will put him in A-1 condition. He has never been in better shape.

His opponent is also in tip top condition as the result of almost weekly appearances in rings in New York and this state since the first of the year.

AL BEAUREGARD
Who is New England Bantamweight Champion

Through his manager it is learned that Pena is pointing to a knockout over Al, but if he can't do that he will be satisfied to floor him for a count. All boxers who meet the Taftville leather pusher are anxious to do this little thing. It has not come about in the life of Beauregard as a boxer, although he has engaged in more than 130 ring affairs.

The words from Pena's manager are just so much blarney to Beauregard's way of thinking for he belives that a fighter should do his talking in the ring with his fists. He points out that he has had to vault over many difficult obstacles in his climb to the pinnacle of the bantamweight division and has done so successfully with only a few marks to show for his battles. It is his opinion that he can wade right through the much advertised fighter from New York and come out with the decision.

This battle ought to pull the fans right out of their seats before many minutes have elapsed in the scheduled 10-round go for both men have the reputation of furnishing plenty of action, not intermittently, but throughout the bout. In this affair Beauregard's title will not be at stake.

A preliminary that ought to keep the fans interested is the one in which Julio Rossi of Westerly swaps punches with Ted Blanc of Montville. Blanc is a former resident of Morristown, N. J., where he held the Morristown county lightweight championship. He has fought a good many bouts in and about that section of New Jersey and is expected to give Rossi a good battle.

YANTIC FALLS BEFORE ANCIENT RIVALS, FITCHVILLE

In a well played game at Yantic over the week end Fitchville, A. C., behind Yankiewitz's nice hurling, defeated its ancient rivals, Yantic A. A., by the close score of 3 to 2. Fitchville is now booking games with the leading nines of Norwich and vicinity and would especially like to hear from Baltic, Plainfield, Jewett City and Chapman Aces for a game on Memorial day. Write Manager, Fitchville A. C., or phone 1865-4 after 7 p. m. any evening. The score:

WEBSTER RALLIES IN 7TH TO TRIM PUTNAM NINE

PUTNAM, May 19—After six scoreless innings, Slater batsmen of Webster slaughtered three Putnam pitchers of the Belding Silk Sox in the seventh to score six runs, overcoming a four-run lead and winning the first Southern New England tilt by a score of 6 to 4 here today. Manager Frank Murphy of the local team made three substitutions at the mound during the eventful inning. His substitutions of Brennan and Franklin did little to check the Slater drive and not until Johnny Caffery took over the mound did the Belding defense become effective. Plasse and Domie, Webster, allowed the Sox but four singles after the seventh. Mayor Charles A. Richard officiated at the opening ceremonies by tossing out the first ball.

Ashland A. A. Defeated

Ashland A. A. lost an exciting game to New Bedford in that city Sunday afternoon by a 4 to 2 score. Gaudette hurled for Jewett City, and Sekula was behind the bat. The remainder of the lineup included: S. Derda, 1b; Burda, 2b; Juber, ss; S. Jarvis, 3b; Buba, lf; E. Skoczylas, cf; Lefty Zavistoski, rf. It was the Jewett City team's first game and they played a nice game.

Pitches No Hit, No Run Tilt

George Geopfret pitched a no-hit, no-run game Monday evening at the Laurel Hill diamond, when the Laurel Hill Athletics nosed out the Sunnyside Wildcats by a 1 to 0 score. Al. Williams caught a nice game for the winners. Other members of the Athletics team included: C. Weise, ss; Szarker, 3b; Bradford, 2b; J. Weise, 1b; Rose, rf; Marshall, lf; Howe, cf.

COLLEGE HURLER LOSES NO-HIT BASEBALL TILT

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., May 19.—(AP)—H. P. Crawford crashed the portals to the University of Arkansas Hall of Fame but was promptly tossed out when he lost a no-hit baseball game here today.

Crawford, pitching in a university intra-mural ball game, lost his game 1 to 0, when he walked a man, his team mates fumbled on an infield relay, a sacrifice advanced the runner to third and a wild pitch brought him home.

Games Postponed

The Paco team of Danielson has cancelled its game with the Baltic S. A. C. seniors that was to be played in Danielson next Sunday. Last Sunday's game which was to have been played at Baltic, was also canceled. Instead, Baltic will meet the Polish Citizens of Norwich at Baltic Sunday. It was the Baltic Jrs. and not the Srs. that lost to the St. James team of Danielson Sunday. The Jrs. challenge the Robert Gair team for a game next Sunday. The game with St. James has been called off.

Jones With 68 Leads Field At Sunningdale

SUNNINGDALE, Eng., May 19.—(AP)—Bobby Jones today won the gold vase of Golf Illustrated, shooting a sensational 68 in the afternoon after an ordinary 75 in the morning, to lead a great field of amateurs in the 36-hole medal competition.

Jones' total of 143 was good enough to win by a stroke from the Hon. W. G. Brownlow, son of Lord Lurgan, who returned a score of 69 in the morning and 75 in the afternoon.

The record for the newly constructed Sunningdale course was twice broken during the day. Brownlow's 69 set a new mark in the first round and Jones shaved it by a stroke a few hours later.

Win Second Game

The Green avenue baseball team defeated Thamesville Friday afternoon at the Green avenue diamond by the score of 7 to 3. Prothero and Hogan was the battery for the winners, while Perry and Jinchey were on the points for the losers. This was the second game of the series, as Thamesville had won last Wednesday. The line-up for the winners: Hogan, c; Prothero, p; Dalton, 1b; Art, 2b; Winters, ss; Pounch, 3b; Peretti, lf; Chapman, cf; Bowman, rf.

Midgets Blank Silver Arrows

F. Renaldi pitched a nice game for the Lake Street Midgets Friday afternoon and they defeated the Silver Arrows by a 9 to 0 score. The winner's lineup was: S. Perrone, c; F. Renaldi, p; C. Smith, 1b; J. Perrone, 2b; J. Delucia, 3b; D. Renaldi, ss; L. Ruffo, lf; W. Cordon, rf; J. Mingo, cf.

The Midgets challenge any team averaging from 10 to 13 years of age for a game.

Shikat Beats Duxek

NEW YORK, May 19—(AP)—Richard Shikat, claimant of the world's heavyweight wrestling championship, defeated Rudy Duxek with a double toe hold after 74 minutes, two seconds of wrestling here tonight.

Have Two Open Dates

The Wauregan Greys have two open dates, May 25 and June 1, and would like to book a game with some fast team. Phone 396-2 or write Leo Sabourin, manager, at Wauregan, for arrangements.

ACADEMY MEETS WESTERLY TODAY, FIRST OF TWO TEAMS THAT HAVE BEATEN THEM

To Joe (Boots) Greene, the Academy's undefeated right-hander goes the job today of starting the Wildcats back into the light after two reverses in the past three starts. Greene has won four games. For this afternoon at Westerly the Academy boys face the first of two games scheduled for the week that promise to be among the most important of the season. The teams they will face are the only two to hold a decision over them this year in twelve games. Following Westerly today comes Bulkeley Saturday, at New London.

It gives the locals a chance for sweet revenge. Two weeks ago tomorrow Westerly came here and was apparently well trounced until the ninth, entering that inning, behind 11 to 5, only to flare up, aided considerably by Academy mis-plays to win out 12 to 11. Then last Saturday Bulkeley turned the trick again only in a different light. They earned their victory although helped very much by the finest assortment of breaks and kindly glances from Old Lady Luck.

In an endeavor to pull the boys from their slump, Coach Brigham will shift his lineup about a bit today. Jerry Fitzgerald will take second base, replacing Speed Reardon. Butsy Weisgraber will go to left in place of Chet Berghinzo and Ed Flather will hold down right field. The rest of the lineup will see Bud Fontaine catching, Alec Arico at first, Capt. Chubby Gibbs at short, Mickey Breen at third and Hack Pepin in center. The boys are just oozing full of confidence that they can teach Westerly a lesson today and start well on their way along the comeback trail. They had no trouble in hitting Westerly hurlers before, they claim, and they intend to do it again today, besides showing a much tighter defense.

The Academy must win their two games this week to stay in the race for both the league and state titles for, although Westerly isn't in the state yet the team could hardly claim the state championship if they had lost the league title and that they will find themselves liable to do if they are beaten by the Rhode Islanders.

The record of the team still is among the best in Conecticut with ten victories in eleven starts against Nutmeg teams.

Today's game will start at 3 o'clock and will be played at the Westerly athletic field.

BULKELEY IN LEAD IN SCHOLASTIC LEAGUE RACE

Developments last week in the Eastern Connecticut-Western Rhode Island league race have placed the Academy in a tie with Chapman Tech for second place. Bulkeley is leading by a half-game margin over these two clubs.

Saturday Chapman swamped Westerly at New London, 10 to 0, to rally from its defeat by Bulkeley the week previous. Bulkeley won two games during the week, stopping Stonington, 3 to 2, and then the Academy, to run its victory string to four games.

The Academy by winning today from Westerly can hop back into a tie with Bulkeley. The Academy has already been in and out of first position twice this year.

THE WEATHER

Conditions

The northeastern area of high pressure is central over Nova Scotia with diminished strength.

The disturbance now over the lower lake region will move rapidly east-northeastward and it will be attended by showers Tuesday in portions of New England. Otherwise generally fair weather will prevail Tuesday and Wednesday in the Washington forecast district.

The temperature will rise in the Atlantic states as far south as northern Virginia Tuesday.

Winds

North of Sandy Hook, fresh shifting winds becoming west or northwest and mostly overcast weather Tuesday, preceded by showers in early morning.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras, fresh west or northwest winds and partly overcast weather Tuesday.

For southern New England, clearing and warmer Tuesday, preceded by showers early Tuesday morning; Wednesday fair.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES E. MURPHY SURPRISED BY PLAY CAST

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Murphy were pleasantly surprised at their home on Prospect street by the members of the cast Seven Chances, which was a production put on by the St. Mary's Players and of which Mr. Murphy was director. A very enjoyable evening was spent and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The members presented Mr. Murphy with a gold piece.

The H club met Monday evening in their club rooms on Fourth street. Regular business was transacted with the president, Wallace Atterbury, presiding. Following the business meeting a pinochle contest was held with first prize awarded to Raymond Kirby and the consolation prize to James Delaney.

Claim Forfeit Game

The St. Mary's school baseball team claims a forfeit game from the Sacred Heart baseball team when they failed to appear for a game. The Saints had their lineup on the field, which is: Willet, c; Kirby, p; Fitzgerald, 1b; T. Reardon, 2b; Shorty, 3b; Bud Downes, ss; R. De Pucchie, lf; Larry Quinn, cf; Edward Daley, rf.

Elmer J. Flynn, Edward Riordan, Buster Flynn, Peter Jahn, Harold Mansfield, Charles Perry and Robert Perry have returned to their homes after spending the week end at Boston.

The T. D. Sewing circle held their meeting last week at the home of Miss Julia Garvey on Gilmore avenue with a large class present. The first period of the evening was devoted to sewing of fancy articles. A social hour followed with piano and vocal solos being rendered. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

TAFTVILLE

Miss Bridget Sullivan of the Ponemah house is enjoying a three weeks' vacation.

The monthly Rocknook Well Childs conference is to be held this coming Friday afternoon at the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah community building under the auspices of the United Workers of Norwich.

A change in the mail contract has resulted in a great deal of confusion at the local postoffice. Recently the contract was let to a truck driver from Jewett City, and through some oversight, the village is now receiving only two mails daily instead of the four that it has always been entitled to. The 11:15 and 3:30 mails are now omitted, and as a result, no Boston or Providence papers are being received. This has started a howl of protest from the villagers who have telegraphed the postal authorities in an effort to have normal mail service resumed.

Miss Ruth Greene of Providence was a week end visitor at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Greene and family of South Second avenue.

Miss Leona Fancher is enjoying her annual vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Seddon of South B street are in New York to meet their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Stranz and son Jackie of London, England, who are arriving today (Tuesday) on the Bremen, for a month's visit with them.

Adam Troeger and Arthur Satterstrum of South Fourth avenue and Alvin Eicnelberg of Jewett City have been on a recent fishing trip at Noank.

Mrs. Timothy Dwyer and son Jackie are spending 10 days in New Haven.

PLANT ESTATE WANTS REBATE FIGURES FILED

Requests for findings of facts in the suit brought against the collector of internal revenue by the estate of Morton F. Plant, decided in favor of the Plant estate by Judge Warren B. Burrows, were filed in federal district court Monday morning at Hartford.

A mix-up of figures in the judgment rendered for the Plant estate by Judge Burrows resulted in the somewhat unusual procedure of the plaintiff's asking for some $60,000 less than Judge Burrows had ordered, and as a matter of fact, of some $3,000 less than the collector figured the estate was entitled to under the terms of the judgment. Judge Burrows ordered an income tax refund of about $141,000, while the attorneys for the estate found that only the sum taxed against this amount, $78,721, was due. The collector, however, figured the rebate at $81,922.

SUMMER PICNIC TRAVEL SETS IN TOWARDS WOLF DEN PARK, POMFRET

Now that there have been a few hints of summer weather, the picnic season at Wolf Den park in the town of Pomfret has begun, according to Nelson Brown of Pomfret Center, who is the caretaker at the park on Sundays in the employ of the state forestry commission.

For the last two or three pleasant Sundays, there have been half a dozen or more picnic parties at the park, using the tables which are provided in the grove at the end of the automobile road. Later on, there will be a water supply for a contractor is now at work boring for an artesian well and is down 300 feet.

The Wolf Den is now included in the state park system, thus preserving this historic post where Israel Putnam displayed his valor in crawling into the den and shooting the old she-wolf which had been ravaging his flock of sheep. With the mother disposed of he then crawled back into the den and brought out the cubs to be disposed of.

Wolf Den park is easily reached from the main highway between Pomfret and Willimantic by a drive of about a mile and a half over a good country road. The entrance to the park is by a winding road through a pine forest, with several turnouts along the way, before the motorist comes out into the grove which is as far as automobiles can go. Often during the height of the season, it is something of a problem to find parking space for the cars, according to Mr. Brown.

From the grove the way to the den is accomplished by foot along a pathway which arrows on the trees point out and which winds down among the rocks and trees in a way that calls for sure-footed care and taxes wind and muscle on the return trip.

The rocky mass that makes the den is marked by a bronze tablet, whereon is recorded the exploit performed by Putnam after he had tracked the wolf in the dead of winter, clear to the Connecticut river and back before the animal finally came back to her cubs. The narrow passageway, just wide enough to admit the body of a man, leads in under the rock until its end is lost in darkness that could only be explored with a flashlight, if the visitor would have a thrill to add to his experience in visiting the den.

Nearby is an interesting rock formation in a big shelving rock that juts out from the bank and in its profile presents an appearance which requires only a little imagination to transform it into the grim muzzle of a wolf.

APPEALS TO HAVE TELEGRAPH LINES REMOVED

Following up his recent complaint over the telegraph service furnished in Norwich, George E. Pitcher has presented a petition to First Selectman William S. Murray to have the telegraph companies compelled to remove all wires and poles unless they provide the service which he says they promised when they were given the right to string wires through the state.

The petition has 38 signatures on it and reads as follows:

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen of the Town of Norwich, Conn.:

We, the undersigned, taxpayers of said town, hereby petition your honorable body to notify all telegraph companies having wires in said town to remove said poles and wires forthwith, or provide us with the same service which the companies promised us when they were given the right to set said poles and string the wires through Connecticut.

LITTLE FLOWER SEWING CLASS HAD MAY PARTY

The May party of the Little Flower Sewing class connected with the Connecticut council of Catholic Women was held at Mohegan park Saturday from 11 to 3 o'clock. A hot dog roast, ice cream, cake and cookies were enjoyed by the children, after which various games were played. This sewing class numbering 67, the members of which range in age from 8 to 13, has been meeting every Saturday afternoon in the council rooms for instruction and sewing under the guidance of the following committee: Mrs. George A. Heroux, chairman, Miss Margaret Meehan, Miss Lucy Mullin, Miss Alice Mullin, Miss Ella Shannon, Mrs. J. Edward Driscoll Mrs. John R. Tarrant. The officers of the class are Rose Ritoccio, president, Anna Tedesco, vice president, Dominica Chioda, secretary, Josephine Colletti, treasurer. Machines for transporting the children to and from the park were furnished by Mrs. Charles A. McNamara, Miss Ella Shannon, Mrs. William T. Driscoll, Miss Kitty Corcoran, Mrs. Edward Kirby, Miss Nettie Holmes and Miss Mary McNally, D. T. Shea and Thomas J. Shahan.

STATE HAS HAD 11,000 BANKRUPTCIES IN 32 YEARS

Three voluntary petitions in bankruptcy filed Friday with the United States court clerk at the federal building in New Haven, brought the total of bankruptcies filed in this court since the enactment of the present bankruptcy laws, to 11,000, over a period of 32 years. The present laws were passed in 1898, and during the history of the preceding laws, covering only ten years, there were but 1,500 bankruptcies listed.

Thus, under the present laws there has been an average of 378 petitions a year, whereas under the old law the yearly average was but 150, less than half as many.

Backdraft From Heater

When the heater at the home of Dr. Harry E. Higgins of 3 Sachem terrace was started up Monday night and some coal was thrown on, a backdraft caused an explosion that blew the heater door off and filled the house with coal gas about 8 o'clock. The fire department was called, Acting Chief Dennis Brennan, engine 3 and Squad A responding and assisting the family in clearing the house of the gas.

Struck By Automobile

Thomas Dalton, of 19 West Main street, a boy about 12 years old, sustained injuries which were reported to be of a minor character, when struck by an automobile about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon on Broadway about in front of the parochial school. The boy was reported to have run out into the street in such a way that the driver of the machine, John J. Savard of 17 Linden parkway, could not avoid hitting him. In swerving his machine trying not to hit the boy, the Savard machine struck the car of Louis J. Fontaine.

Modern Language Ass'n Officers

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, May 18.— The annual meeting of the Connecticut group of the New England Modern Language association was conducted yesterday at Connecticut Agricultural college with more than 75 high school and college teachers from all parts of Connecticut in attendance. Officers as follows were elected: Arthur Hertell, of the Bulkeley high school, New London, president; Miss Margaret A. Dutting, of Weaver high school, Hartford, vice president, and Professor Arsene Croteau, head of the modern language department at Storrs, secretary.

COMMISSIONER WATERMAN IN NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Suffering from a nervous breakdown, Elisha Waterman, chairman of the board of county commissioners, is confined to his home in Lebanon. Mr. Waterman, who has ben confined to his room for a week, is reported as improving.

Because of Mr. Waterman's illness, an unusually situation developed Monday morning at which time the county commissioners were scheduled to hold a regular meeting. Commissioner Charles Smith of Noank was the only member of the board who appeared, and consequently it was not possible for him to sign orders and checks to carry on the business of the county. County Commissioner George E. Bradford, recently named high sheriff of New London county, has resigned from the board and Governor John H. Trumbull has not yet announced his appointment of Mr. Bradford's successor.

$1,000 Suit to Be Re-assigned

The $1,000 damage suit brought by Frank Cirioni of Mystic against Crocchino Negrelli of Westerly, which was to have been heard in the court of common pleas Monday morning in New London before Judge Charles B. Waller, went off the list. The suit, which is based on a claim for service performed, will be reassigned for trial.

MISS GERTRUDE AVERY NOT IN SHOLAPUR

In response to a cabled request from the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, Boston, regarding their workers in the infected areas in India, especially Sholapur, the board received on Saturday the following cabled reply:

"Sholapur quiet. Government controls situation. Missionaries, Christian property safe. Strutton recalled to settlement, only missionary there. McCance."

April and May are India's hottest months, and during this time the missionaries retire to a hill resort in Mahabaleshwar, coming back the first of June. They were not in Sholapur, therefore, during the riots and mill strikes.

Miss Gertrude S. Avery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight W. Avery of Norwich Town, is one of those engaged in missionary activities in Bombay. She went out in 1924.

FLORIST TELEGRAPH ASS'N ENTERTAINED IN TOWN

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, May 19—Twenty-five members of the Rhode Island units of the Florist Telegraph association, Fred P. Davis, president, motored to Westerly Monday night and were guests of Farquhar Smith, Westerly, florist and water commissioner. Two weeks ago, at the meeting held in Providence Mr. Smith invited the members to come to Westerly and Monday night he was the host for a lobster dinner at Peckham's Inn.

SPRING REVIVAL IN BUSINESS IS SLOW

Connecticut business conditions for April 1930 caused disappointment inasmuch as the spring revival looked for throughout the state was generally lacking in most lines, it is reported by the Connecticut chamber of commerce in its monthly survey issued in conjunction with leading local chambers of commerce. While a certain degree of improvement was enjoyed in a few lines during the past month, the increase was seasonal and did not have the stimulating influence anticipated.

Industrial employment showed no marked gain, although building operations, road construction, farming and other types of outside occupations absorbed a number of idle workers. Retail stores which cater to the industrial trade were in turn affected.

BUILDING DECREASE IS SHOWN IN NEW LONDON

In the report to the state chamber of commerce for the month of April, Secretary George H. Gariepy of the New London chamber reported as follows: Postal receipts for April 1929 were $15,363 and for April 1930, $15,903, showing an increase of $500. Electricity consumed totaled 1,784,738 kilowatt hours, using 10,475 electric meters, an increase of 100,886 kilowatt hours and 197 meters. Gas consumed totaled 23,524,500 cu. ft., using 7,416 gas meters, an increase of 8,321,700 cu. ft. of gas and 145 meters. There were 9,581 telephone stations in use in April 1929 while in April 1930 this number was increased by 393, making a total of 9,974. In April 1930, 35 building permits were issued, with a total valuation of $136,000, while in April 1929 there were 43 building permits issued at a cost of $217,775, showing a slight decrease in 1930.

Judge Brown's Busy Day

Saturday's Middletown Press said: With receivers' reports, foreclosures and other motions on the short calendar and the calling of the court docket in order, Judge Allyn L. Brown, of Norwich, sat for nearly four hours yesterday afternoon in the superior court. It was his busy day, for he had held court in Norwich in the morning. Two uncontested divorce cases, also listed, went off, or the session would have lasted well into the evening.

It took more than an hour to call the docket and over 100 cases were stricken off, while others were ordered discontinued if something was not done with them by Jan. 1, 1931.

Hold Birthday Party

Mrs. Paolina Dalessio of 250 1-2 Franklin street, celebrated her birthday Saturday evening. The evening was spent in singing and dancing. Refreshments and fruits were served. The music was by Sam Lamparelli with his sons John and Paul Lamparelli. A group of Italian solos were rendered and comedy acts by Lorenzo Vendruto, J. Franson, Larry Diassio, M. Sodella and M. Delcuia. Mrs. Dalessio received many beautiful gifts. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Rocco Salatino, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lonardelli, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Coletti, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Boffo, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dechirico, Mr. and Mrs. Mariano Dinovelles, Mr. and Mrs. Denillo, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ranelli, Patsy Orsino, Mr. and Mrs. Donato Dapolito, Mr. and Mrs. L. Vendruto, J. Franzone, M. Sodella, Mr. and Mrs. Nicola Delucia, John Quercia and his nephew.

Business After Supper Meeting

Loyal circle, King's Daughters, had an enjoyable evening Monday, when it held a supper meeting at Charlena tea room, following this with the business meeting. The committee in charge comprised Mrs. A. R. Manning, Mrs. Charles Murdock, Mrs. Alexander Durie and Mrs. Luther D. Packer.

NORWICH TOWN

PASTOR'S RESIGNATION IS REGRETTED BY ALL

It was with profound regret that members of the First Congregational church and friends, heard the resignation of the pastor, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey, at the close of his sermon Sunday morning. For nearly eleven years Rev. Mr. Bailey has discharged his duties in a faithful and loyal manner. He has won friends not only among his own church people, but in this and surrounding communities his presence has been an inspiration to many. His departure from Norwich Town at the expiration of his term of services will be keenly regretted by those who have come within his influences. In his sermon Sunday morning on Ups and Downs of a Ministers Life, he chose as his text extracts from Paul's letter to the Philipians, a part of 4:12, I know how to be abased and I know how to abound.

The Young People's C. E. theme Sunday evening in the chapel was "What Are the Causes of War?" Scripture reference in James (World Good-Will Day).

Forty Hours' Devotion

There was a very large congregation at the Sacred Heart church Sunday morning, when at the 10 o'clock high mass the Forty Hours' Devotion opened. The music was under the direction of the organist, Mrs. William A. Murphy. Bonner's Mass was sung by the choir. While the choir sang Pange Lingua, the long procession of children moved, led by an altar boy carrying the cross and two others with lighted candles. A number of tiny girls strewing blossoms from decorative baskets, preceded the pastor, Rev. Edward J. Quinn, who bore the Sacred Host. The girls in the procession wore dainty white frocks, wreaths of smilax and white ribbon hair bows.

Altar and sanctuary presented a beautiful picture with decorations of roses, lilies, carnations and ferns arranged among the lighted candles. The Paschal candle was conspicuous at the gospel side of the altar. The decorations are the arrangement of the Altar society. Father Quinn is being assisted by visiting priests during these forty hours, to give all people an opportunity to conclude making their Easter duty, confessions being heard during Sunday and Monday. At this church at 7:30 Monday morning there was a high mass and at the same hour this (Tuesday) morning there will be a closing high mass of the devotion which commemorates the period during which the body of the Saviour remained in the sepulchre before His resurrection. The children are to again take part in the procession this (Tuesday) morning.

A class of children received first Holy Communion Sunday morning at the 8:30 o'clock mass, the girls wearing white frocks, veils of tulle and wreaths of smilax.

Miss Annie Ward of Montville, formerly of Norwich Town, spent the week end with her cousins Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fries of Sturtevant street. Miss Ward was an automobile guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fries, when they motored to Columbia Saturday evening, to witness the minstrel of the Sunshine club, of Yantic, held in Yeomans hall. Several of their daughters were in the minstrel troupe.

Eczema Formed Eruptions Over Baby's Head. Cuticura Healed.

"Eczema broke out in blotches on my baby's head and after a time spread all over it. Later it formed sore eruptions which itched and burned so that she could not sleep nights. She used to cry and scratch the eruptions until they would bleed. She could not sleep and scratched most of the time.

"I was advised to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. It seemed to relieve the trouble so I purchased more and after using them for two months she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Frank Hayden, 4 Putnam St., Montpelier, Vt., July 10, 1929.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass."

Here's the test that has set the whole town talking

MAKE THIS TEST—See for yourself how Calumet Baking Powder acts twice to make your baking better. Put two level teaspoons of Calumet into a glass, add two teaspoons of water, stir rapidly five times and remove the spoon. The tiny, fine bubbles will rise slowly, half filling the glass. This is Calumet's first action—the action that takes place in your mixing bowl.

After the mixture has entirely stopped rising, stand the glass in a pan of hot water on the stove. In a moment, a second rising will start and continue until the mixture rises to the top of the glass. This is Calumet's second action—the action that takes place in your oven. Make this test today. See Calumet's Double-Action which protects your baking from failure.

Calumet's Double-Action makes better baking

THE interesting double-action test has shown hundreds of women in your town why Calumet Baking Powder brings such sure success.

With their own eyes they have seen that Calumet has double-action. Two leavening actions, not one. The first action takes place in the mixing bowl; this starts the leavening. Then, when you put your cake into the oven, the second action begins. It literally "props up" the batter until the cake is perfectly baked—even though you may not be able to regulate your oven temperature accurately.

No wonder cakes are light and fluffy—biscuits, muffins high and fine-textured! No wonder Calumet is the most popular baking powder in the world.

Only One Level Teaspoon of Calumet to a Cup of Sifted Flour!

That's the usual Calumet proportion. Be sure to follow it even though you may have been using nearly twice as much with other baking powders. You'll be delighted with this economy! And more than delighted with the results Calumet gives you. Perfect texture! Perfect flavor!

All baking powders are required by law to be made of pure, wholesome ingredients. But not all are alike in their action. Not all will give you equally fine results in your baking. Calumet is scientifically made of exactly the right ingredients, in exactly the right proportions to produce perfect leavening action—Double-Action. Get a can of Calumet from your grocer today. Notice Calumet comes in full-sized one pound cans.

Send for the free new Calumet Baking Book. Lots of delicious, different recipes! Easy-to-make! Sure-to-succeed! Prepared by experts! Write today to the Calumet Baking Powder Company, (Inc.), 4100 Fillmore Street, Chicago, Ill.

HOOVER REVIEWS IMPOSING ARMADA OF THE SEA AND AIR

For More Than Three Hours President Hoover Watched the Massed Strength of the U. S. Navy Indulge In Mimic Warfare Off the Virginia Capes—The Giant Dirigible Los Angeles Accomplished, For the First Time At Sea, the Hooking On of An Airplane In Flight Beneath the Ship and Its Relaunching In Air to Return to the Carrier Saratoga.

Aboard U. S. S. Saratoga off Cape Henry, Virginia, May 20.—(AP)— For more than three hours the massed naval strength of the United States played games of mimic warfare on the southern drill grounds today with the commander in chief, President Hoover, looking on.

Battleships, cruisers, destroyers, submarines and airplanes by the hundred took part in the great naval pageant and maneuvers with the huge non-combatant airship Los Angeles, circling above as a spectator. Only one element of the maneuvering involved the giant silver dirigible. That was the successful accomplishment for the first time at sea of the hooking on of an airplane in flight beneath the ship and its relaunching in air to return to the Saratoga.

The president viewed the march past of the great fleet commanded by Admiral William V. Pratt, commander in chief of the United States fleet, from the bridge of the new eight-inch gun cruiser Salt Lake City.

The theatre was the blue Atlantic, 50 miles east of Cape Henry, and before dark the president and his party were back within the capes en route to Washington, the first president actually to have witnessed the maneuvering of a modern fleet and to have reviewed a naval armada at sea.

Air Secretary Ingalls of the navy and a special party witnessed the great sea drama from the airplane carrier Lexington while other naval guests, including a few members of congress, were aboard the Saratoga.

The two huge floating flying fields steamed out of the capes in the night to join the battle fleet and its screening craft at daylight. The eleven heavy ships which represented the main surface fighting power of the navy came down from New York to pause at Norfolk, a few days before their return to home waters in the Pacific. With them came half a dozen light cruisers, a score or more destroyers and two submarines from the battle fleet and the scouting fleet. The organization was grouped for the day as the consolidated United States fleet.

At daylight the force was steaming southward far off shore under blue skies flecked with soft white clouds but with a haze near the horizon that narrowed the range of vision.

Admiral Pratt, aboard the battleship Texas, had ordered his command by divisions into formation in which they were to pass the Salt Lake City at a given point at sea at 11 a. m.

First rolled the two big V-type submarines built for deep sea work with the fleet. Then came the destroyer forces with a light cruiser carrying the flight of their commander. Behind steamed the cruiser division of six-inch gun ships and then the battleships, moving in parallel columns. Last of all marched the Saratoga and Lexington, cluttered with planes, and flanking each carrier on either hand came four escorting destroyers.

Long before the reviewing point was reached a silvery ball in the sky again gave notice that the Los Angeles was rapidly overhauling the surface vessels. She passed over the fleet as it swung in the single maneuvers of the southward trip, a swing obliquely to port by the whole column, spread out over miles of sea in order to hit the reviewing point more exactly.

Hour after hour the ships marched south until the far away gleam of the Los Angeles hovering ahead and a little inshore where the Salt Lake City and her distinguished guests had taken station. The big cruiser was only a faint blur in the view from the fighting top of the Saratoga.

Among the more spectacular parts of the review was the laying of a heavy smoke screen by planes from the two great carriers.

It engulfed the Lexington, the battle fleet, the Salt Lake City and the honor guard of eight destroyers surrounding her.

Somewhere in that triangle of smoke cloud that hung over the sea for a long time, the destroyer attack on the fleet was carried out, but no one saw it from the Saratoga. Only distantly did they see Commander Nicholson fly up and after several efforts attach his plane to the big dirigible. She came proudly back toward the Saratoga with the plane swinging beneath her. Within a few minutes the daring pilot cut loose again and went wafting down as easily as a man might step into a small boat in a calm sea and row away.

Nicholson joined the Saratoga's roaring brood, circling about her, waiting for their chance to drop lightly to her decks again, their mission finished. And when he landed there, to conclude his novel feat of transferring both himself and his ship from the deck of a surface vessel to a hook suspended below a monster dirigible 2,000 feet in the air, then back to the ship below again, he brought a letter from the Los Angeles skipper just to testify officially that he had done it.

And by that time, with the sun slowly dipping westward, President Hoover aboard the fast cruiser was far inshore toward the harbor and the bulk of the battle fleet was lost over the horizon seaward, taking its leisurely course to port at the end of a great day in navy history.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS OUT IN THE BATTLE ZONE

PARIS, May 20.—(AP)—All of the American Gold Star mothers excepting the Suresnes group tonight were out in the old battle zone, at the end of their pilgrimage.

Tomorrow they will kneel beside the graves of their sons in five American military cemeteries and breathe the blessings so long delayed.

The 16 mothers of the Suresnes party remained in Paris this evening. They visited the Cathedral of Notre Dame this forenoon and shopped after luncheon. Tomorrow will mark their third pilgrimage to Mount Valerien, where their war dead lie.

It drizzled nearly all day in Paris and much of the region traveled by the mothers, but as they were carried in large and comfortable sight-seeing buses the rain made little difference.

Four of the five groups reached the towns where they will stay for the next few days, for visits to the cemeteries close by. The St. Mihiel group, going to the cemetery at Thiaucourt, require more than a day's automobile trip to reach their destination and so they remained overnight at Bar le Duc. They will spend their nights at Nancy, a larger town, where the hotels are better.

VELASQUEZ CHARGED WITH FOMENTING A REVOLUTION

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, May 20.—(AP)—Federico Velasquez is in jail on charges of fomenting a revolution, but he has been offered the treasury portfolio in the cabinet of General Rafael Trujillo, nevertheless.

Velasquez, unsuccessful candidate for president on a coalition ticket, was imprisoned following Friday's election, which gave the presidency to General Trujillo.

The Associated Press learned on highest authority today that the acting president, Jacinto B. Peynado, advised General Trujillo that the appointment of Velasquez to the most important cabinet post would be a good influence toward quieting the opposition.

JAMES BAKER FACED WITH LIFE IMPRISONMENT

NEW YORK, May 20.—(AP)—A life sentence in Sing Sing prison instead of death in the electric chair is faced by James Baker, confessed killer of Henry Gaw, who pleaded guilty today to second degree murder in general sessions court.

Counsel for Baker, on trial charged with first degree murder for the poisoning of the laboratory watchman, halted the court proceedings at the start of the second day, after eight jurors had been selected, and entered the new plea. Baker had pleaded not guilty to the first degree indictment.

The district attorney announced that a mandatory life sentence under the Baumes "fourth offense" law would be sought for Baker because of his four previous convictions of felonies.

BREAK IN LABOR CABINET OF RAMSAY MACDONALD

LONDON, May 20—(AP)—The Ramsay MacDonald labor cabinet today lost its first member and the incident has created high interest in political circles.

Sir Oswald Mosley, the millionaire socialist baronet, offered his resignation as chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster and the resignation was accepted by Prime Minister MacDonald.

Opponents of the labor government seized upon the resignation immediately, hailing it as a shattering blow to the government's prestige, and even labor supporters lamented the loss to the ministry of one of its most active and able supporters.

Sir Oswald's action arose out of dissatisfaction with the government's policy toward unemployment.

AUTHOR H. H. VAN LOON HAS FILED SUIT FOR DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, May 20—(AP)—H. H. Van Loon, widely known fiction writer, today filed suit foir divorce. He and his wife have been separated nine years. He accused Mrs. Van Loon of undue attentions to other men and with refusing to maintain a home for himself and their 12-year old daughter. The couple was married in New York city May 20, 1926.

LEWIS AND BROWN LEAD GRUNDY AND PINCHOT IN PENNSYLVANIA PRIMARY

PHILADELPHIA, May 20—(AP)—Secretary of Labor James J. Davis led senator Joseph R. Grundy for the republican nomination for United States senator from Pennsylvania by approximately 72,000 votes on the basis of returns from 2353 of the states 8701 districts tabulated at midnight tonight. The total at that time included most of the strong organization districts of Philadelphia with most of the reputedly Grundy districts upstate unreported.

The same districts showed Francis Shunk Brown, leading Gifford Pinchot by 56,000 for the republican nomination for governor.

The wet candidates, Francis H. Bohlen for senator and Thomas W. Phillips, Jr., for governor had polled approximately a third of the votes polled for the leading candidates.

The vote for senator, from 2332 districts, including 785 in Philadelphia and 143 in Allegheny, was Grundy 125,735; Davis 198,623 and Bohlen 70,227. The vote for governor from only a few less districts was Brown 189,769· Pinchot 133,712 and Phillips 72,272.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

COLOGNE, Germany, May 20.—(AP)—A band of communists on bicycles swooped down on the British consulate here and shouting, "Hands off India" and "Down with MacDonald," smashed all the windows of the building with stones.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, May 20.—(AP)—Two persons were killed and 50 injured in a fire that burned down several churches and many dwellings in the village of Tanacsi. The authorities suspect that the fire was of incendiary origin. Four others have recently broken out in the village.

LONDON, May 20.—(AP)—In a performance that won enthusiastic applause from a large audience at the Savoy theatre, Paul Robeson, celebrated American Negro actor and singer, appeared in the title part of Shakespeare's "Othello." His work was hailed as a triumphant success by the critics of London's morning newspapers.

BISHOP CANNON IN TEARS BEGGED FORGIVENESS FOR SPECULATING IN STOCKS

DALLAS, Texas, May 20—(AP)—The climax of a two weeks religious controversy was reached today when Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Washington, D. C., begged and received the forgiveness of his church for speculating in stocks with a New York firm since taken over by federal authorities.

Delegates to the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, watched the gray-haired crippled temperance leader tensely as he listened to the report of the Episcopacy committee clearing him of blame. He sat with bowed head.

Then leaning heavily on his crutch, Cannon came to the front of the platform and told the delegates what he had already told the committee—that he had made a mistake and that he was sorry.

His eyes filled with tears as he spoke and when he had finished and returned to his chair, for a long time his face was hidden from the audience.

Almost an anti-climax was the statement of G. T. Fitzhugh of Memphis that he had additional charges to lodge, made available by the unsealing of the records of Kable & company, the bishop's brokers.

GLASS AFTER HOOVER LAW ENFORCEMENT COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, May 20—(AP)—Protesting that "no adequate report" has been made by the Hoover law enforcement commission of its activities for the first year, Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, today introduced a resolution directing the comptroller general to inform the senate just how the commission has spent its $250,000 fund.

The Virginian's move was regarded as a threat against the additional $250,000 recently requested to permit the commission to continue its studies for another year and also was looked upon as a move to force an early detailed report from the crime investigators.

The resolution went over for future discussion without any debate.

MARTHA BAIRD WEDS ARTHUR MOULTON ALLEN, PROVIDENCE

NEW YORK, May 20.—(AP)—Martha Baird, concert pianist, of London and New York, and Arthur Moulton Allen, Providence, R. I., attorney, bank director and clubman, were married today.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick in his study in the Union Theological seminary. Miss Baird, 32, and Mr. Allen, 54, both had been divorced.

Dr. and Mrs. John Finley, Mrs. Allen's cousins, Ralph P. Baird, her brother, and former State Senator Everett Colby of New Jersey were witnesses.

The couple will live in Providence after a southern honeymoon.

CENSUS GIVES NEW HAVEN 162,650 AND HARTFORD 161,324

WASHINGTON, May 20.— (AP) — Children who intoned the capitals of the country 30 years ago, giving two for Connecticut—Hartford and New Haven—learned that New Haven was far larger than Hartford. But New Haven, coming in today as nearest static of any city of more than 150,000 thus far reporting, barely held her lead on Hartford. New Haven's population was 162,650 in 1930 as against 162,537 in 1920. Hartford's was 161,324 in 1930 as against 138,036 in 1920, a gain of 16.8 per cent.

New Haven was passed by Youngstown, Ohio; Grand Rapids, Mich.; Dayton, Ohio; Memphis, Tenn., and Dallas and Houston, Tex.

WILL NOT PERMIT THAW TO LAND IN GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON, May 20.—(AP)—The Daily Herald, labor party organ, today said that the labor government will not permit Harry K. Thaw to land in Great Britain. Mr. Thaw is now aboard a liner bound for Southampton. In 1928 Sir William Joynson-Hicks, home secretary of the conservative government, refused him permission to land.

The Herald tonight received a wireless from Mr. Thaw, aboard the French liner, Ile de France, saying that he was "going to Havre."

AGRICULTURE APPROPRIATION BILL UP TO THE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(AP)—The conference report on the $155,397,770 agriculture appropriation bill, adjusting differences over senate amendments to the measure, was approved unanimously today by the house, a short time after similar action had been taken by the senate. The bill now goes to the president.

CHICAGO GRAIN BROKER FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

KENTLAND, Ind., May 20.—(AP)—William Simons, 50, Chicago grain broker and member of the Chicago board of trade, was found shot to death at the side of state road No. 41, three miles north of here early today. Near the body lay an old style single action revolver, ownership of which has not been established.

GREEN REP. NOMINEE FOR GOVERNOR SOUTH DAKOTA

PIERRE, S. D., May 20.—(AP)—Warren E. Green of Hazel, "dark horse" candidate, was nominated for governor by South Dakota republicans at their state convention late today, over four other candidates including Miss Gladys Pyle, secretary of state.

Steamships Sight The Graf Zeppelin

Wireless Advices Report Progress of German Dirigible Toward Pernambuco, Brazil.

SEVILLE, Spain, May 20.—(AP)—With evenly purring motors the Gr[illegible] Zeppelin tonight swept along, un[illegible] brilliant tropical skies, toward [illegible] equator, which no dirigible eve[illegible] fore had crossed, on her voyage [illegible] new world.

All was well aboard the gi[illegible] air.

Only a slight change in he[illegible] route had manifested itself in despatches.

Friedrichshafen learned by radio that Captain Lehmann had veered westward slightly in the general direction of Madeira.

This would avoid unfavorable pressure areas, and indicated that she might not pass within some miles of her planned route over the Canary and Cape Verde Islands.

She took the air for the second leg of her journey at Seville at 9:30 a. m. (3:30 E. S. T.), today, amid scenes of great enthusiasm, with a distinguished passenger list and many thousand pieces of mail.

One of her passengers was Mrs. Mary Pierce, an American woman whose last Graf voyage nearly upset two diplomatic offices.

Cadiz reported the graceful ship passing out of view upon the broad Atlantic at 4:45 a. m., E. S. T., when she bade farewell to the old world for her adventurous trip. Again at 10:15 a. m., the Graf was reported picked up by wireless by ships which in turn informed the Canary Islands. A further item in the chronology of her travels was the report of the British steamship Orita, 350 miles off the Canaries, which sighted her at 12:24 p. m., E. S. T.

Las Palmas, largest city of Great Canary Island, heard from several vessels which had seen or been in communication with the dirigible. It was stated that all was going well on the Graf and her speed was estimated by observers at not less than a 50-mile average since leaving La Tablada airport here.

GRAF ZEPPELIN CHANGES COURSE TO AVOID STORM

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, May 20.—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin reporting her position about 400 miles southwest of Cadiz this afternoon wirelessed her home port that she was proceeding in the direction of Madeira to avoid a storm threat near the Canaries and to pick up favorable trade winds more quickly.

The Graf reported that contrary winds were slightly slowing down her progress. The island of Madeira is about 200 miles due north of the Canaries.

LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands, May 21—(Wednesday)—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin passed over this town, chief port of the Canary Islands, at 3 a. m., G. M. T. (10:00 p. m., E. S. T.).

MULROONEY NEW HEAD OF POLICE OF NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 20.—(AP)—Grover Whalen, New York's natty police commissioner, resigned today.

Edward P. Mulrooney, 34 years on the force and chief inspector of the detective division, was named to succeed him.

The resignation and appointment become effective at noon tomorrow.

Mr. Whalen's retirement and return to the Wanamaker store does not mean he will pass entirely from the public eye. He will continue to act as chairman of the mayor's committee on reception of distinguished guests, the city's official greeter.

Succeeding him as head of New York's finest is a man of 56, reddish haired, of Irish origin, blue eyed and soft spoken, appointed to the department 34 years ago by Theodore Roosevelt, then police commissioner.

There has been nothing spectacular in Mulrooney's record but his rise has been steady. For several years he was captain of the district in Harlem embracing the Polo Grounds, and was entrusted with handling the crowds there at baseball games and boxing contests.

Mulrooney is said to be writing a play dealing with the underworld.

The new commissioner is married, the father of two daughters, now at school in New Haven, Conn. A son was killed in an automobile accident several years ago.

TARIFF BILL MAY BE READY FOR CONGRESS NEXT WEEK

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(AP)—The congressional conferees on the tariff bill held their first "full and free" conference today in two weeks and came out of a two-hour executive session with predictions that the measure would be finally acted upon by congress next week.

No agreement was reached on any of the six important provisions still in dispute between the two houses, but Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, chairman of the senate conference committee, indicated the way had been prepared for a complete agreement tomorrow or Thursday.

Unless present plans are changed the report will be submitted to the senate first, since the house already has approved the original partial report and expressed itself on the sections left unsettled in conference. The senate has deferred action pending full conference agreement.

JEWS PROCLAIM GENERAL STRIKE IN PALESTINE

JERUSALEM, May 20—(AP)—A general strike throughout Palestine by Jews on Thursday in protest against suspension of immigration into the country by the British government has been proclaimed by the Jewish National council.

The chief rabbinate of the Jewish community of Palestine also has joined in the call, the first time that the spiritual leaders of the Jewish community here have called a political strike of the Jewish population. The strike is to last from Thursday noon until Thursday evening.

The Jewish Telegraphic agency today said that the meeting of the Jewish National council which issued the strike call was attended by all members of the Palestine Zionist executive an dby the Hebrew poet, Chaim Bialik.

Roberts Confirmed Supreme Court Judge

Unanimous Vote In Senate Within Minute After the Nomination Was Taken

[illegible]SHINGTON, May 20—(AP)—Without debate or a record vote, the senate today quickly confirmed the nomination of Owen J. Roberts, of Philadelphia, as an associate justice of the supreme court.

In marked contrast to the bitter controversy ending in the rejection of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, who was previously nominated by President Hoover for this post, the nomination of Mr. Roberts was declared confirmed today within a minute after it was taken up by the senate.

The lawyer who prosecuted the government's oil fraud cases against Harry F. Sinclair and Edward L. Doheny will take the seat on the supreme court left vacant by the death of Edward T. Sanford, of Tennessee.

Roberts is a republican although not identified with any of the factions in the Pennsylvania party. He is 55 years old and has never before served on the bench. He is recognized as an outstanding lawyer and was appointed by President Coolidge to serve with Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio, as special counsel for the government in the oil fraud prosecutions.

When the nomination was reached today in regular order in the senate, Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader, inquired whether it had been unanimously reported by the judiciary committee. Chairman Norris of that committee replied that it was unanimously for the nominee.

"I have no objection to the confirmation of this nomination," said Senator Robinson, and in the next breath Vice President Curtis declared the nomination confirmed.

A bitter contest also marked consideration by the senate of the appointment of Chief Justice Hughes, the other nominee of President Hoover to the supreme court but he won by a wide margin.

Both Hughes and Parker were opposed by Senators Norris, of Nebraska, and Borah of Idaho, republicans, who contended that their economic views unfitted them to judge in disputes involving human rights.

The late Justice Sanford and Judge Parker both were republicans.

LIFE IMPRISONMENT FOR SECOND DEGREE MURDER

NEW HAVEN, May 20—(AP)—Arthur D. Brown, 20 year old gunman, got life today. He pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of murder in the second degree for taking Dominic K. Zito "for a ride" last November and sending a bullet through his head.

Tomorrow, he will be in state's prison at Wethersfield, probably in the same tier of cells in which Orazio Maltese, is confined. Maltese paid Brown $15 for the job and was recently sentenced for life.

Zito's life was ordered forfeited by the leader of his gang, Maltese, because he "squealed" on another member who subsequently went to jail for passing counterfeit money.

His body was found in a field in Orange, and six weeks later Brown was located in a New Jersey workhouse where he had been committed for stealing an automobile. He readily confessed.

TO HASTEN REPORT ON NAVAL TREATY TO SENATE

WASHINGTON, May 20— (AP) — Friends of the London naval limitations treaty today moved to hasten its report to the senate as a serious movement to defer its consideration until next session gained momentum.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, expressed the view today that unless the treaty was ready for consideration as soon as the senate disposed of the tariff bill the membership would demand an immediate adjournment, deferring the pact until next fall.

At the same time, Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, gave notice in an executive session of the committee that after hearing one more naval expert tomorrow—Rear Admiral J. M. Reeves, of the general board—he was ready to conclude the hearings unless individual members wanted other witnesses.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR LIPTON'S YACHT

SOUTHEND, England, May 20—(AP)—The Shamrock V eclipsed even her two previous excellent performances today when she won the Harwich to Southend 48-mile race.

Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's cup crossed the starting line first, led practically all the way and finished 4 minutes and 15 seconds ahead of A. A. Paton's Lulworth, the scratch boat, which had to allow her 9 minutes, 36 seconds, because of the difference in size. Second place went to H. A. Andrea's Candida and third to Lord Cambrose's Cambria.

There was a light wind and the boats had to turn on all points of sailing, windward work predominating.

"A really wonderful performance which has heartened me greatly," said Sir Thomas after the finish.

DISOBEDIENCE CAMPAIGN IN INDIA LESS ACUTE

BOMBAY, May 20—(AP)—Sporadic disorders occurred today in the civil disobedience campaign of India's nationalists, but no important disturbances were reported.

Police at Dacca stopped a youth who was riding a bicycle without lights, and a crowd which gathered pelted the constables with stones. Two policemen were injured, the others used their sticks to disperse the gathering.

Another disorderly scene occurred at Gudivada, but details were lacking. A message said police clashed with civil disobedience volunteers and that some persons, the number unknown, were injured.

CALL TO REORAGANIZE DEMOCRACY IN ALABAMA

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 20—(AP)—A call for a statewide mass meeting "for the purpose of reorganizing democracy in Alabama," was issued here today by a committee headed by Horace C. Wilkinson, attorney, to be held in Birmingham July 4.

M'BRIDE AND BLAINE CLASH AT COMMITTEE HEARING

Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League Resented Questions Concerning "Score Cards" For Judging the Qualifications of Candidates For Office—Conflict Threw the Committee Into An Uproar and Caused An Early Adjournment Until Today—Senator Upshaw Was Hissed When He Praised the Answers Given By McBride.

WASHINGTON, May 20—(AP)—A heated exchange between F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, and Senator Blaine, republican, Wisconsin, threw the senate lobby committee into an uproar today and caused an early adjournment until tomorrow.

McBride took offense at the method employed by Blaine, the only wet on the committee, in questioning him concerning a "score card" prepared by H. E. Dawes, superintendent of the South Dakota league, for "judging the qualifications of candidates for office".

McBride contended that Blaine was not asking questions but was making statements while Blaine accused the witness of not being candid.

The exchange continued until Blaine announced adjournment until tomorrow "because of the absence of a quorum and because of the attitude of this witness and the inability of one member to force the witness to answer".

In the midst of the dispute applause broke out from some members of the audience at a statement by McBride. Pointing to William D. Upshaw, a former representative from Georgia and a dry, Blaine asked him to stand.

Upshaw rose and Blaine asked him if he had applauded.

"I followed the applause and was delighted to join it for such a spunky and brave answer as Dr. McBride gave" Upshaw said.

Some members of the audience hissed this statement. The "score card" from which Blaine read would give a candidate for office 50 points for moral qualifications, prohibition sentiment and practice; 15 points for his official or civic record; 10 points for intellectual qualifications; 10 points for ability as a public speaker and experience, and a smaller number of points for other qualifications".

"You are pretty hard put this morning for something on the Anti-Saloon league to be dragged off into a proposed score card by one of the state superintendents which was never adopted and never used by the Anti-Saloon league of America," McBride said.

"Oh, this anti-saloon superintendent says this has been copyrighted in order to protect the rights of the league in the publication," Blaine replied.

He read from a letter by Dawes a statement that "this method of judging candidates will be much more satisfactory than the old method of letters, questionnnaires and vague indefinite replies".

Blaine started to read more of the letter when McBride interrupted.

"Let me explain it," he said. "You have been explaining it right along. Let me explain something."

"You are on the witness stand," Blaine retorted.

After another interchange, Blaine said:

"If you expect to get off this witness stand this summer let me advise you to answer these questions. There isn't a quorum here this morning and I shall not proceed with this examination until there is a quorum".

"You ask questions and I will answer them" McBride shot in.

"I am not going to sit here and quarrel with the witness" Blaine said. "I shall not go on for lack of a quorum."

"You ask questions and I will answer them," McBride repeated.

"I am going to insist that you be candid and answer these questions," Blaine said.

"Now Mr. Senator," McBride responded. "Let us don't get warmed up on this. I want to say to you——"

"You don't need to lecture anybody, Mr. McBride. Blaine snapped.

"——That I am not in the least fussed by your attitude." McBride resumed.

Blaine then adjourned the session and McBride was directed to re-appear again tomorrow.

After reading that the score card gave 50 points for "moral qualifications, prohibition sentiment and practice." Blaine said:

"Now if he shouts dry and drinks dry, he gets 50 points in the score. Now, supposing that he shouted dry and drank wet what would his score be?"

"Has he got it on the card?" McBride asked.

"No" Blaine said.

"You go ahead and read the card and find out," McBride directed.

"How many points would he be given" persisted Blaine.

"Probably he says that on the card" McBride replied.

"You would probably split that and make 25 points where he shouts dry and drinks wet," Blaine suggested.

"If that is his rule," McBride said, "It will be on that score card".

Blaine then read that two points were given for church affiliations and observed:

"That will be disappointing to some of your church friends, won't it, who have bragged about the number of members of their church that have been elected to the United States senate?"

"I think that score card would sound better," McBride replied, "If you would read it right straight and not try to put so much in as we go along".

300 PERSONS MAROONED BY FLOOD FACE FOOD SHORTAGE

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 20—(AP)—Southeast Miller county, where 300 or more persons were reported marooned and facing a food shortage, and Callon, a town of 1,000 people on the rising Ouachita river, were the centers of relief activities in flood-stricken Arkansas tonight.

Relief and rescue parties in motorboats set out from Texarkana this afternoon with food, tents, bedding and other supplies and vaccine for the refugees in Miller county, who were said to have gathered in one place after inundation of 32,000 acres by water sweeping through a break in the McKinney bayou drainage district levee.

HIS RIGHT LEG FRACTURED WHEN THROWN FROM HORSE

THOMPSONVILLE, May 20—(AP)—The Rev. Stanislaus Federkiewitz, rector of St. Adelbert's Polish R. C. church, received a compound fracture of the right leg today when he either fell or was thrown off the saddle of his horse. He was taken to Mercy hospital, Springfield, Mass.

Father Federkiewitz, an inexperienced rider, appeared to have jumped to the ground when his mount reared, witnesses said.

THIRD ANNIVERSARY OF LINDBERGH'S PARIS FLIGHT

NEW YORK, May 20—(AP)—Today was the third anniversary of Charles A. Lindbergh's flight to Paris, but the colonel celebrated the event quietly, if at all, and spent the day with Mrs. Lindbergh at the Morrow home in Englewood, N. J.

In the late afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh went for a motor ride, but he didn't get off the ground.

JAYWALKERS IN NEW YORK FINED $5 EACH

NEW YORK, May 20.—(AP)—Mild example was made today of 25 pedestrians who didn't watch their red and green lights.

In magistrates court they were found guilty of violating the city's new traffic rules, which compel walkers to mind the same lights which govern drivers, and each was given a $5 fine. The fines were then suspended.

AUTO INJURIES FATAL TO AGED NEW HAVEN MAN

NEW HAVEN, May 20—(AP)—Augustus Harrison, 78, who was struck by an automobile yesterday, died of his injuries tonight at Grace hospital. An inquest will be held tomorrow by Coroner James J. Corrigan.

Merwyn W. Perrine, Hamdon, driver of the machine, was charged with reckless driving following the accident.

OBITUARY

J. Stanley Scott

HARTFORD, May 20—(AP)—J. Stanley Scott, secretary of the life department of the Travelers Insurance company and the oldest employe in point of service, having been connected with the company for 61 years, died late today at his home in West Hartford following a long illness.

Mr. Scott was 82 years old.

MRS. TOWNSHEND TO BE CANDIDATE FOR LIEUT.-GOV.

NEW HAVEN, May 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Hannah W. Townshend, vice-chairman of the New Haven republican town committee, tonight announced that she would be a candidate for the republican nomination for lieutenant-governor this year.

NEW LONDON POLICE SERGT. FATALLY SHOT MAN WHO WAS RESISTING ARREST

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, May 20.—Gordon Sims, about 35, employed as automobile mechanic, was fatally wounded tonight when he resisted arrest on a charge of breach of the peace, succumbing at Lawrence-Memorial hospital to bullet wounds inflicted by Detective Sergeant Nelson Smith. Following the death of Sims, Smith was relieved of his badge and gun at police headquarters pending an inquiry by Medical Examiner Charles Kaufman, and Coroner Edward G. McKay of Norwich.

Smith had a warrant for the arrest of Sims, which was issued Jan. 1, 1929, by Daniel M. Cronin, then prosecutor of the police court on a charge of breach of the peace. Tonight, Smith obtained information that Sims was in an automobile accessory shop on Crystal avenue. He went there accompanied by W. O. Burhoe, complainant against Sims, and found Sims in the establishment. When Smith informed Sims that the latter was under arrest Sims displayed fight, attacking the officer and beating him.

When Smith was knocked down, he drew his gun and fired three shots, two of which took effect in Sims' head, both penetrating the brain. The third lodged in Sims' hip. Sims collapsed and, it being recognized that he was mortally injured, an automobile was commandeered and he was rushed to the hospital, where he died a short time after he was admitted.

Coroner McKay, upon being informed of the killing of Sims, came to New London and with Medical Examiner Kaufman is conducting an investigation.

The warrant which Detective Sergeant Smith was attempting to serve was issued because of a complaint made by Burhoe when he went to his home and was unable to obtain admittance. He waited outside and when he observed Sims to emerge a quarrel resulted which brought about a fight. Sims made his escape and remained away from the city until recently. When he returned, Burhoe informed the police of Sims' return and when he was found in the garage tonight the combat between the officer and Sims resulted.

HELD "GOOD ROAD" MEETING AT LEBANON

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 20.—A "Good Road" meeting in celebration of the proposed new state highway linking Willimantic with Lebanon was held by the Willimantic Rotary club in the old Congregational church on Lebanon Green tonight. There was a good attendance, including the following guests: Selectman Walter Burgess, Representative D. W. Pitcher and Fred Abell, Mrs. Fred Abell and Mrs. H. W. Sweet, of Lebanon. Guests from Willimantic were: Mayor Walter R. King, Judge William A. Arnold, and William B. Sweeney, Rev. Albert H. Wheelock of Auburn, Mass., accompanied his son, Rotarian Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock.

The meeting was convened at 7 o'clock by President Louis H. Arnold. It was voted to defer the election of directors until next week. A most excellent chicken pie supper, supplemented by appetizing "fixings" and a variety of pie, was prepared and served by the League of Women Voters in charge of President Mrs. E. J. Graham and Mrs. George MacDonald, chairman of the supper.

Club songs were led by Ralph H. Gibson and John F. Ahern with John T. Quinlan at the piano. A delightful feature was provided by Miss Beatrice E. Littlefield of Lebanon, who pleased with two vocal solos, In the Garden of Tomorrow and Lazy Louisiana Moon.

The program consisted of an interesting history of Lebanon given by Miss Sarah Abell, acting town clerk of Lebanon, who traced the settlement of the town from the days of Uncas. The speaker and guests were introduced by Charles B. Pomeroy, chairman for the evening. Miss Abell, Miss Littlefield and the women who served were accorded a rising vote of thanks.

MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM FOR WINDHAM ANNOUNCED

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 20—Plans for Memorial day are progressing apace in Windham, Coventry, Mansfield and other towns in this vicinity, practically all being along the same lines as in previous years.

The Veterans' council of this city has taken charge of the program for the town of Windham observance of the day. There will be the pilgrimage to the cemeteries at Windham Center, North Windham and St. Joseph's cemetery in the forenoon. In the afternoon will be the time-honored procession to the Willimantic cemetery where T. Frank Cunningham, a legionnaire, will deliver the address. At the request of the selectmen, the veterans' council will keep strictly within the annual allowance of $250 made for Memorial day. It was indicated today that unless a fund is raised from other sources it might be necessary to curtail some of the expenses this year. Next Sunday forenoon the graves of World war veterans will be decorated and the others early in the week following.

Memorial Sunday will be observed this coming Sunday in St. Mary's church, under arrangement of the council of veterans. The services will begin at 2:30 o'clock. The veterans and auxiliaries will assemble at the town building at 2 o'clock and march to the church with a squad from Company C, 169th Infantry, acting as escort. Members of Francis S. Long post, No. 30, G. A. R., will be provided with transportation.

Under supervision of Earl W. Green post, No. 52, American Legion of Mansfield and Coventry, Memorial day will be observed in those towns with a fitting program. Graves in the outlying cemeteries of Mansfield will be decorated next Sunday according to the following schedule: Atwoodville, 1:15 p. m., Mount Hope 1:45, Wormwood Hill 2:15 and Gurleyville 2:50, all on D. S. T.

At 3:45 o'clock memorial services will be conducted at the Mansfield Center Congregational church with Rev. Arthur B. Patten of Madison as the orator. The service will open with a 15-minute organ prelude. There will then be a procession to the Mansfield Center cemeteries and at 6 o'clock in the evening there will be a twilight decoration of the graves in the Pleasant Valley cemetery.

Memorial day the program will be carried out at South Coventry with a visit to St. Mary's cemetery at 9:15 a. m. The parade will form at the Center school at 10 o'clock and will proceed to the Nathan Hale cemetery for exercises and decoration of graves. Rev. David Winslow Lovett, pastor of the local Baptist church, will be the orator. There will then be visits to other cemeteries as follows: Upper cemetery, North Coventry at noon; center cemetery, North Coventry, 12:40; Spring Hill, 3 o'clock, and Pine cemetery at 4 o'clock. The parade marshal for both days will be Jacob Franz of South Coventry, a Spanish-American War veteran.

A report of the ticket committee for the 1930 annual Elks' Country fair has been accepted by the general committee which has already gone well into the plans for this year's affair. Maurice S. Leonard is chairman of a special feature while the regular ticket committee consists of Nelson A. Daniels, chairman; Maurice S. Leonard, Harold C. Wiggins, Roy W. Downer and John D. Roy.

Chairman Aime J. Martineau of the general committee has named the following sub-committee chairmen with power to choose their assistants: William P. Kelley, ticket sales; Tom L. Overholtz, entertainment; Robert E. Casey, advertising and dance hall; Lester French, exhibition; Fred Dumaine, refreshments; Roy W. Downer, publicity; Edgar W. Jacobs, stock room; Paul L. Moran, midway; and Everett E. Beckwith, ticket sales on grounds. The finance committee consists of Chairman Martineau, Treasurer John H. Wilcox and Nelson A. Daniels while the purchasing committee includes Chairman Martineau, Secretary William B. Sweeney, Edgar W. Jacobs, Paul L. Moran and Exalted Ruler George W. Hickey. J. Francis Moriarty has been appointed assistant treasurer.

John Desrosiers, a native of this city, who escaped from a jail bus in Waterbury, January 7, as he was being taken to court to stand trial, has been captured in Cleveland and was returned to New Haven Sunday night by Sheriff James Geddes.

After an absence of five months Desrosiers was taken into custody in Ohio. He was originally accused of participation in a $2,000 robbery in Waterbury, but will now face additional charges, including that of escape. He got into trouble in Ohio in an attempt to steal an automobile spotlight.

With its annual campaign launched over a week ago, the Salvation Army was still short of its goal of $3,000 by $2,400 today, and efforts were renewed to focus local interest on the drive in the hope of its early culmination as a success. Through Judge of Probate Valentine L. Murphy, chairman of the advisory board, an appeal to civic pride to continue putting worthy projects "over the top" was made today.

Not all "prank" painting is done in red as evidenced in the village of Andover where every other glance reveals something in green. Some enterprising artist began Saturday night to touch Andover up in green, but the paint was laid on in unbecoming streaks which the natives think is probably along futuristic efforts. The Congregational church steps are daubed in green. The seats and walls of the town hall are green, the $100 stage curtain in the hall is torn in two sections, all road signs have been retouched in favorite emerald and the large sign of the Andover Lake corporation, which cost over $60 is a "mess". Frank Hamilton and Ralph Bass found their kitchen windows painted green, and so it goes all over the village which is much disturbed over this latest of damaging pranks. With suspicion thrown on Andover young men an investigation is being conducted.

F. Ward DeKlyn of Danbury, right eminent grand inspector for Connecticut, conducted the annual inspection of St. John's Commandery, No. 11, Knights Templar, at Masonic temple Monday night. A supper was served by members of Radiant chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

The matter of the contract drafted by the special committee with Walter A. Musgrave of Hartford, certified public accountant, for an audit of all town accounts, was considered at a meeting of the board of selectmen held this forenoon. On the strength of an opinion rendered by Town Counsel Attorney Arthur T. Kelley that certain flaws existed in the contract, the selectmen voted not to sign the paper. First Selectman William A. Buck is to issue a statement Wednesday setting forth the views of the board on the matter. Information this afternoon was to the effect that several other bids for the work other than the one of the Hartford accountant has been received, one being for less than $4,000.

A cut of one hour per day has been made in the schedule of the finishing departmetn of the American Theard company. The new schedule of five days a week is now from 7 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 3:45 p. m., the closing hour in the past having been 4:45 p. m. The manufacturing department will continue on its present schedule of four days a week.

Census returns received at the third district offices here today show that Old Lyme, in New London county has a 1930 population of 1,308, a gain of 362 over 1920 when the population was 946. There are 58 farms in the town.

Justice of the Peace Albert M. Gilman dismissed the case against the South Coventry youth arraigned before him Monday night on a charge of throwing a fish spear through the hand of Stanley Garmilensky, also of South Coventry. The justice gave as his opinion that both sides were to blame owing to the ill feeling prevailing between the two families.

Members of the Hartford Exchange club were guests of the local club at a dinner and entertainment held in the Nathan Hale hotel tonight.

Former teachers of the Willimantic State Normal school who attended the reunion held Saturday and remained as week end guests of local people were: Miss Mary M. Southern, now teacher in New Britain, guest of Miss Mabel H. Johnson; Miss Mabel Jenkins, teacher at Wellesley college, with Mrs. Robert H. Fenton and Miss Miriam Skidmore, of New York, with Mrs. Fred J. Kirtland.

Camps Woodstock and Hazen will be described at a public meeting to be held in the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening with L. Edwin Hill, Windham County Y. M. C. A. secretary from Danielson as the speaker. Four local boys have already arranged to attend Camp Woodstock.

Rev. Frederick C. Williams of St. Paul's Episcopal church is attending the Diocesan convention at Christ Church Cathedral, Hartford, today and Wednesday. The lay delegates from the local church attending are Dr. Louis I. Mason and Lloyd Williams.

The Glee club of the Willimantic State Normal school pleased a large audience in a presentation of the operetta Blue Beard at the Windham Center school auditorium tonight.

Mrs. Florence Holmes Fitch is to sail Friday for France, being sent by a well known magazine, to conduct duplicate games of contract bridge on the French line Paris going both ways. She plans to spend about a week in Paris.

Mrs. Foster Weiss of Walpole, Mass., and Mrs. Merton Waterman of Holyoke, Mass., have been guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lynch, Jr., after attending the normal school reunion Saturday.

Duncan McArthur attended a dance given by the Kiwanis club in New London this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert T. Clark, who are driving from Miami, Fla., were guests Monday night of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Cutler in Nutley, N. J. Mrs. Cutler, the former Miss Anna Giswold, ler, the former Miss Anna Griswold, formerly taught school here.

Mrs. C. C. Case had as guest today Mrs. Harold A. Moore of West Hartford.

Judge James F. Twomey of this city, district manager of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, today attended a luncheon of the Hartford Life Insurance Underwriters association held in Hartford. This afternoon Judge Twomey delivered an address on Life Insurance in the auditorium of the Morse Business college, before an audience of over 200 students. He explained the various forms of policies and the advantage of insuring while young. Judge Twomey has a state-wide reputation as a specialist on life insurance.

FIVE YEAR OLD BOY HURT WHEN RUN OVER BY AUTO

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 20—Willard Thompson, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thompson of Storrs, is in painful and probably serious condition at St. Joseph's hospital suffering from a double fracture of the jaw, severe laceration of the ear and possible fracture of the skull, as the result of being struck and run over by an automobile manned by Nathan Day, aged about 15, son of Henry Day, also of Storrs. The Day boy had been playing with the automobile and in operating it about is said to have backed into the little fellow. The accident happened at 4 o'clock this afternoon in front of the home of Thomas Brown, members of that family causing the child to be rushed to the hospital where treatment was given by Dr. F. J. Ottenheimer. Several teeth that had been broken were extracted by Dr. C. M. Scripture.

COLCHESTER

The graduating class of Bacon academy has been busy compiling the annual school year book, "The Baconian Echo." Members of the Echo staff are: Editor-in-chief, Oscar Horwitz; business manager, Samuel Jaffe; sports, Miss Vivian Cohen; humor, Peter Hominick; assistant business managers, Misses Sarah Liberman, Ruth Mintz and Gladys Kalmanowitz; literary editor, Miss Dorothea Gersten; photograph editors, Duddy Horwitz, Samuel Horwitz and Edna Kashkin; junior editor, Miss Gertrude Seger; sophomore editor, M. Busel; freshman editor, M. Jaffe; faculty advisor, Miss Alice B. Condren.

The book is to be dedicated to Attorney Edward M. Day, of Hartford, a graduate and trustee of the academy, through whose generosity the former Congregational chapel building was recently altered and furnished as a domestic science laboratory and assembly hall for the use of the academy students.

The publication is to be a great advance over previous year books. A better quality paper will be used and probably an embossed cover will be an added feature. Several pages of snap-shots of incidents of school life will be inserted. In addition to pictures of the graduates, there will be several pictures of the various school organizations and reference will be made to the activities of the different school organizations, including the track, baseball and basketball teams, the dramatic, science, French and glee clubs and the school orchestra.

The athletic, social and dramatic activities of Bacon academy have been unusually broad and varied during the present school year and the instructors have taken a particular interest in stimulating the students to make the various organizations a success. It is thought The Echo will be ready for distribution about June 15.

Work is progressing on Ruben Schuster's new cement block garage, on land adjoining the new dam on Norwich avenue. The sidewalks have been completed and men were busy Tuesday on the roof.

WEDDING

Katz—Krupnic

Miss Nettie Krupnic, youngest daughter of Mrs Yetta Krupnic, of Lebanon avenue, Colchester, and Nathan Katz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Katz, of New York city, were united in marriage Thursday, May 15, at the home of the groom's parents in New York by Rabbi Silverman, of New York. There were no attendants. The bride was attired in a white taffeta gown, a bridal veil, and carried a bouquet of white and pink roses. About 60 relatives were in attendance. After the ceremony, a supper was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Katz left on a trip to Atlantic City. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Katz will reside at 66 Powell avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., where the groom is a prominent furrier.

The Judge Charles F. Brown residence on Norwich avenue is being repaired and painted.

Fresh native eggs were selling in some of the local stores Tuesday at 30 cents a dozen.

EAST WOODSTOCK

Gift from Dakota

Mrs. E. R. Pike received a beautiful basket of birch bark filled with mosses and wild flowers from her son, Galen Pike, and wife, from the Black Hills in South Dakota, on Mother's day.

Irene and Margaret Bosworth, Dorothy Hopkins and Alice Potter have German measles.

At the meeting of the Community club last week Wednesday evening, Miss Mary F. Potter, of North Woodstock and Hartford, gave a very interesting talk relating to her work as junior agent of adult education in the state. Miss Irene Viens gave an illuminating talk relating to school expenses. The committee, Miss Rilla Child, Mrs. W. D. Baker, President Lester Bearce, William Child, served cocoa and wafers during the social hour.

Stafford Springs

Mrs. Lena Holt, widow of Herbert C. Holt, died at her home on Furnace avenue, late Monday afternoon, after several weeks of ill health. She was born in Stafford Springs Dec. 30, 1866, the daughter of Jacob and Wilhelmena Adams Glover, and had lived in Stafford all her life. She was a member of the First Methodist church of Stafford Springs and of Baker chapter, O. E. S. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Holt Bartlett, of Hartford; a sister, Mrs. Emma Whiton, of Stafford Springs, and two brothers, F. J. Glover, of Stafford Springs, and H. E. Glover, of Providence, R. I.

Mrs. Peter Morgansen

Mrs. Mary Morgansen, 72, wife of Peter Morgansen, died Monday at her home in Buff Cap in the town of Tolland. She was a native of Denmark but had resided in Tolland for the past 40 years. She is survived by her husband, Peter Morgansen, and three sons, Peter, of Meriden, Harry, of Tolland, and Arthur, of Rockville, and by a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Mattesen, of Stafford Springs. Mrs. Morgansen was a member of Grace Episcopal church in this town.

Double Violation

Peter J. Bushnell, of East Hartford, was arrested by Sergeant Harris J. Hurlburt, of the Stafford Springs state police barracks, Monday, when he was found operating an unregistered motor truck. The sergeant also discovered that Bushnell was carrying long timbers on his truck and that they extended 17 feet beyond the rear of his car and there was no red flag attached to warn vehicles approaching from the rear. Bushnell was presented in the borough court before Judge Heald Tuesday morning. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10 for operating an unregistered car and $5 for not having a red flag attached. The total fine and costs amounted to $26.35 and were paid by Samuel Isaacson, his employer.

Benjamin Majewski, of Worcester, arrested by State Trooper Stevens for not having an operator's license, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $10 and costs of $11.35.

Burial of Mrs. Hassett

The body of Mrs. Ellen Welch Hassett, widow of Patrick Hassett, who died in Palmer Sunday, was brought to Stafford Springs Tuesday morning for burial in the family lot in St. Edward's cemetery.

John Hancock is making improvements at his East Main street residence.

CENTRAL VILLAGE

Charles MacFarland, employed in Putnam at the Windham County Children's home, had his car damaged, having parked it while at work. Some of the home children started the car and damaged it in such a manner that it had to be taken to a garage for repairs. He motors there daily.

Arthur Davis, employed in Providence, spent the week-end at home.

Local people will be in Canterbury today (Wednesday) to attend the W. C. T. U. convention.

Master Aubrey Tillinghast has been in Pineville recently.

Edward Cutler has been a business visitor in Providence.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker have returned to their home in Southampton, L. I., having spent a week with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Stetson.

Mrs. Edith Hatfield has returned from Norwich, where she has been spending a few days with Miss Muriel Holdredge.

Miss Alfreda Eyers received a May basket, after school, from her pupils. The children remained at the school house and played games, as Miss Eyers' home is in Moosup and she commutes daily. All enjoyed the contents of the basket.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dean spent Monday at Canterbury Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Redding, of Jewett City, former residents here, were callers here Monday.

Mrs. Martha Handy will be a guest this (Tuesday) evening at the home of Mrs. Norman Parkhurst in Jewett City, who will entertain the officers of the Order of Amaranth.

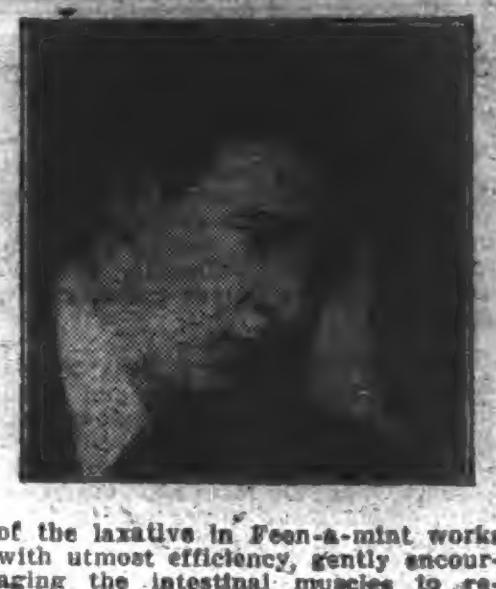
Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Welsh, of Baltic, have been visiting relatives here.

Despondent Through Grief

John, familiarly known as Jack Sullivan, whose body was found in the mill pond back of his home Monday evening, may have fallen into the water, as he had been seen sometimes getting water there, although it is generally thought he committed suicide as he had been very lonely since his return from a Norwich hospital a few days ago. He recently purchased some new clothes and friends thought by his conversation that he was going on a visit. He lived alone in one of the Farnsworth tenements and had not been seen by his neighbors since Saturday. Since the sudden death of his wife, who was killed by an auto about two years ago, he had been despondent.

Mr. and Mrs. William McMahon have been entertaining relatives from Moosup.



Tired Feeling Called Nature's Protest for Poor Care of Body

Constipation more apt to be cause than ordinary day's work . .

A regular well cleaned system is the first and perhaps the biggest step toward health and strength, according to many modern specialists. Bad skin, pimples, headache, biliousness and general run-down or tired feeling may all be signs of poor bowel functioning.

Yet there is now no real need to suffer from constipation and thousands and thousands of people are finding relief in Feen-a-mint—the modern chewing gum laxative that you can purchase everywhere. This is because Feen-a-mint works on an important new principle—that of uniform internal distribution.

Because you chew Feen-a-mint it is effective in milder doses than ordinary laxatives. For the effectiveness of a laxative is not so much dependent upon the quantity swallowed as upon the thoroughness of its distribution throughout the ailmentary tract.

While you chew this delicious bit of gum the tasteless laxative it contains is gradually released and mixed with the saliva. Thus it is carried to the intestinal tract smoothly, evenly, without shock to the system or the distressing after-effects so common with old-fashioned laxatives. Each particle of the laxative in Feen-a-mint works with utmost efficiency, gently encouraging the intestinal muscles to resume the activity necessary for healthful elimination.

The action of Feen-a-mint is thorough, gentle, dependable. With the proper dosage, it is not necessary to increase the amount of Feen-a-mint you take nor to switch to another laxative for a change. Feen-a-mint is harmless and contains no habit-forming drugs. Truly the health laxative Ask for a package at any drug store. —Adv.

Don't say NO!

DANIELSON

OWEN MCKENNA DIES FROM INJURIES RECEIVED IN FALL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, May 20.—Owen McKenna, 62, died today at the Memorial hospital in Worcester of injuries he received several weeks ago when he fell from near the roof of the Church of the Five Wounds at Ballouville while he was engaged in making some repair work. His condition has remained serious since his injury, and his recovery has been despaired of for several days past. The body was brought back to this town this afternoon, in charge of L. E. Kennedy. Mr. McKenna is survived by his wife. He also leaves two daughters, one residing in Springfield, the other in Porto Rico.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Damase Boulais

After an illness of five months Mrs. Stephanie Boulais, 62, wife of Damase Boulais, well known local contractor and builder, died at their home on School street at 3:40 this morning. Mrs. Boulais had been under the care of a physician five months to a day, but in an impaired state of health for some time previously.

Prior to her marriage she was Miss Stephanie Vegiard and was born at St. Angel, P. Q., Feb. 17, 1868, a daughter of Joseph and Suphraine Poirier Vegiard. She came to this country with her parents when she was six years of age, and in the succeeding few years was a pupil with her future husband at the East Brooklyn school. They were married in Canada 39 years ago, but residents of Danielson during practically all of their married life.

Mrs. Boulais leaves her husband, three sons, Oscar and Raymond of Danielson, and Arthur of Goodyear, and two daughters, Mrs. Clara Poitras and Miss Olive Boulais, both of Danielson.

At Pomfret this morning State Officer John Murphy of the Danielson barracks arrested William Dewert of the U. S. S. Dobbin, now at Newport, after Dewert's machine figured in an accident with another machine operated by Joseph Fitzgerald of Willimantic at Overlock's corner. Mr. Fitzgerald received a cut back of one ear and after being given attention at Pomfret was treated at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam. Both cars were quite badly damaged in the accident. Dewert, who was operating a car with a South Carolina registration, was taken into a justice's court and fined $1 for operating a car without having a license to do so and $5 for failure to grant half the traveled right of way. In view of the fact that he had very little money in his possession, $4 of the fine was remitted.

Tax Collector James R. Walsh was a busy man today and the prospects are that he will continue to be through Wednesday, the time limit for paying town taxes if one would escape being assessed interest at the rate of 9 per cent per annum. Mr. Walsh has collected many thousands of dollars in taxes during the past month and the amount was being materially swelled today, with the prospect of there being heavy receipts on Wednesday. Thereafter, Mr. Walsh will start his collections from delinquent taxpayers, of which there are numbers each year.

Despite the fact that he has an injured left hand, hurt in a training bout, Rene Peloquin said this morning that he expects to appear at Taftville Wednesday evening to take part in the boxing match in which he is scheduled to appear. The swollen member was x-rayed yesterday at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam. Today, the swelling was reduced from what it was at the week end, but Rene was to see a physician this afternoon for one more examination. He expressed his confidence that he would be able to go on.

Miss Sallie Fannie Gleaton, field secretary for the League of Women Voters, will come here Wednesday under the auspices of the Killingly Woman's club to speak at 3 in the afternoon in the community room of the Connecticut Light and Power company building. Her subject will be Jury Service for Women.

Susie G. Williams, Brooklyn, secretary of Quinebaug Pomona grange, has sent out notices relative to an evening meeting of the organization to be held on Saturday, May 31, with Little River grange of Hampton. Supper is to be served from 6 to 7 o'clock, and the business session will open at 7:30 S. T.

C. L. Johnson, commissioner of domestic animals, will give a talk and a play will be presented by the Dramatic club of the Connecticut Agricultural college, under the direction of Prof. Seckerson. The musical numbers will be by members of Little River grange.

Secretary L. Edwin Hill of the Windham County Y. M. C. A. has perfected the regulations under which the "Y" junior world series will be played during the early days of June. In the elimination round each team will meet the other two teams once. Winners in the northern division and in the southern division will play Monday, June 2. Central and northern division winners will play June 4, and the southern division winner vs. the central division winner on June 6.

Finals in this little world's series will consist of three games. The first on June 9, second on June 11, third on June 14. Winners will be declared when two games are won. All the finals will be nine inning games, as against seven-inning games during the present league season. Each team will be allowed to enter 18 players. An official list of players and umpires will be given out later, and also information as to where the games are to be played.

Something in the way of getting by a little difficulty with an automobile registration was noted here. A car passed through the business section carrying a 1929 Connecticut registration at the rear. Naturally that attracted attention, but a checkup showed that the forward plate was a 1930 one. And his peculiar combination came about because the owner had lost the rear 1930 plate, and having had the same number last year pressed the old one into service for the time being. It is not intended to infer here that the motor vehicle department would approve this practice.

Lionel Poirier is completing the schooling-training course for members of the state police department at the Ridgefield barracks this week, and it is expected he will be assigned to duty at once. Mr. Poirier is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Philias Poirier of School street. Several years ago he was one of the outstanding basketball players in Danielson and vicinity. He has been in training at the Ridgefield barracks for about three months.

E. C. Rogers, owner of the Putnam Inn, is now engaged with renovation work at the Hopkins property, which he purchased here last fall. The interior of the house is receiving careful attention and work also is being done on the exterior. As yet, Mr. Rogers has not announced his plans for the property, one of the most sightly and best located in Danielson.

Rev. J. Rees Jones, rector of St. Alban's church, left this afternoon for Hartford to attend the annual diocesan convention of the Episcopal church. Treasurer Sidney W. Bard of the Brooklyn Savings bank is also attending as a representative of Trinity church, Brooklyn.

Wednesday, May 21, last day for paying town of Killingly taxes. Collector James R. Walsh at his office 10 a. m. to 1:00 p. m., and from 2 to 4 p. m.—adv.

Robert Bard has completed the work of taking the census of the town of Brooklyn, which town is expected to show a considerable increase in population over the figures for 1920.

Eli Blanchette was before the town court this morning and was fined $1 and costs for failure to park the motor vehicle he was driving within 12 inches of the curb. The machine was left so far out in the street as to interfere with traffic.

Friday afternoon at the parish house, members of the Sewing guild of St. Alban's church will give a silver tea to which the women of the parish have been invited.

Next Sunday will be observed as Memorial Sunday in some of the communities in this section, and there will be solemn exercises in memory of the soldier and sailor dead.

On the strength of all that is being said about the matter, summer motor trips out of this section to Canada are going to be popular this year. Scores of Danielson people are planning to make the trip, numbers of them to visit with relatives.

Sidney W. Bard has returned from Atlantic City, where at the convention of the National Mutual Savings Bank association he represented the Brooklyn Savings bank.

PUTNAM

RESERVES JUDGMENT IN CASE OF MRS. O. BECCA

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, May 20—Following a week of investigation by State Officer Royal V. Scranton of the Danielson barracks, which followed the arrest of Mrs. Olemlia Becca of North Grosvenordale, the woman who is the mother of five children, was presented in justice court there yesterday afternoon before Judge P. P. Tourtellotte on charges of intimidation and breaking and entering. She was found guilty of the former charge and the latter was nolled on the request of counsel and promise of the defendant that she would leave the village within a month.

The woman was arrested after a letter threatening his life by decapitation had been received by Demetrio John, a Greek, who resides in North Grosvenordale. John, alarmed at the crudely typewritten missive, which had a caricature of a be-headed man on its margin, complained to the state police at Danielson. With the letter in hand, Officer Johnson traced it through the Webster post office, where it was postmarked, to the home of Leo Demeter in the village. George Noan, a 16 year old Rumanian, later proved to be the author of the death threatening epistle. Noan told police that Mrs. Becca had dictated the letter to him and had sent her 13 year old son to Webster to mail it. She was immediately placed under arrest on charges of intimidation and later charged with breaking and entering the home of John on November 10, 1929 and again last month. On each occasion loot to the amount of $400 was taken by a thief. The mother was defended by a Southbridge attorney who pleaded her case and asked leniency on grounds that a jail sentence would place the woman in a precarious situation, since she is the mother of five and a widow. The source of a roll of bills totalling $140, found in Mrs. Becca's trunk, was cleared at yesterday's hearing. Thirty dollars was given to her for safe keeping by John after the break and theft at his home in November. $100 was the gift of a friend seeking to aid her in her illness and the remainder was contributed by a brother. This explanation lifted suspicion that she was responsible for the most recent robbery at John's home and in deciding the case, Judge Tourtellotte, ordered the case continued for one month, reserving judgment, until the woman had been given an apportunity to remove to Southbridge.

LARGE AUDIENCE WITNESSES PRESENTATION OF "CHEERIO"

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, May 20—The coffers of the milk fund of the Cosmos club are filled to the overflowing mark, thanks to the splendid cooperation of business Putnam and the remarkable turnout to musical comedy "Cheerio" by the Putnam theatre going public. The production was staged at the Bradley theatre Monday evening by a group of talented local artists under the direction of John P. Heald of Webster, author.

The characters taking part in the story were: Vincent Mack, a director, Ellis Pritchard of Pomfret; Lydia Hathaway, a producer, Melba Dunleavy; Arthur Harrington, a financial backer, Charles Swain of Pomfret; Tommy Toler, (Joseph Donovan); Joe Lucas, (Leo Pominville); Rufus Johnson, a blackface comedian, (James Maitland); Abe Rosenbaum, (Lionel Charron); Sylvia Paddock, (Beatrice Gahan); Gladys Devoe, (Yvonne Fisher); Hercules Monahan, (John Ivascyn), of Webster.

Russell Sherman, in the role of a song and dance man, greeted the audience with the song "Hello People." This was followed by the first action of the evening. The scene was on the Harrington estate, where Vin Mack, Lydia Hathaway, Arthur Harrington, Joe Lucas and Tommy Toler were discussing plans for the construction of a company for a stage production which was soon to be introduced. The discussions were concluded when Tommy Toler was unsuccessful in convincing Miss Hathaway, the casting director, that he was a fit subject for a headliner and at this point, Joe Lucas (Leo Pominville) broke into the song, "Sin You Sinners." The refrain brought on the chorus group, composed of Pauline Rawley, Irene Jarvis, Hester Miles, Blanche Benoit, Irene Bruce, Clara Giraca, Gisselle Tourville, Ruth Bradley, Martha Thayer, Grace Vegiard, Dorothy Mansfield and Catherine Banahan. Abe Rosenbaum parted with his worries long enough to render the number, "I Can Get It For You Wholesale." In the second rumble, the song hit, "Lucky Little Devil" was featured by Dorothy Trudeau and Russell Sherman, after Mrs. Trudeau, had shown Russell, "The Right Thing to Do." Russell, "The right thing to do."

The inimitable Charles Swain of Pomfret, delighted the audience, when he failed to follow street directions and let it happen in the comedy skit, "It Might Have Happened," in which Mr. Swain, Mary Nelson of Pomfret and Russell Sherman took part.

"What Have You" was sung and the melody tunes beautifully danced to, by Miss Irene Bruce and Ellis Pritchard.

The first part was concluded, just as the "Plot Thickened" and with the song, "Happy Dayes Are Here Again," sung by the entire comedy. "His Big sung by the entire company. "His Big Moment," created a riot as Pa McGoofus, (E. Pritchard), and Ma McGoofus, (Mary Torrey), in the living room of the old homestead in the wilds of Pomfret, awaiting with outstretched arms for the return of the long lost son Jimmy, (L. Pominville), who arrived home after 20 years with his beautiful wife, Jenny, (Mrs. Fisher).

A song and dance, "Ain't Cher" by Irene Jarvis and Giselle Tourville was cleverly done.

Ruth Bradley assisted by William Jones danced as Miss Bradley rendered the vocal selection, "Dance Away the Night," while the company in couples, waltzed beautifully across the stage.

Pauline Rawley and Dorothy Mansfield sang and danced in cleverly gotten-up costumes and were followed by a cafe scene in which Gladys Abe and Rufus had their weak moments, while the spectators roared away at their antics.

An eccentric dance by Ruth Bradley and Hester Miles preceded the finale in which the whole company gathered about to listen to the financial report of Lydia Hathaway's production, which on the stage, barely escaped without a deficit, but was saved by the timely intervention of a check for "$2,000" donated by Arthur Harrington, to provide "bread and butter" for the troupe.

Andrew McMullen of Fremont street, for the past few years Western Union lineman for this section, has been transferred to Shelburne Falls, Mass., where he will direct the work of a company construction crew. Mr. McMullen has been engaged in line construction for a number of years. Edward Dunn of Danbury will be his successor, taking over the division communication work this week.

County Secretary L. Edwin Hill of Danielson, stated today that total receipts for the county Y. M. C. A. work for the past year were $5,880.94, with total expenditures amounting to $5,300.76. Expenditures were as follows: Salaries, $3,240.55; field, $535.76; printing and stationery, $56.59; postage, $66.63; supplies, $49.59; conferences, $41.70; retirement fund, $137.50; Camp Woodstock, $400; refund, $276.81; contingent, $64.42. The receipts comprised mostly of contributions from various towns in the county are as follows: Eastford, $2.00; Killingly, $1,234.50; Plainfield, $1,547.25; Pomfret, $10; Putnam, $1,567.75; Thompson, $455; Woodstock, $136; service account, $338.51; refund, $589.93.

In view of the fact that county "Y" during the past year, has promoted more work than ever before, on a limited amount of money, its coming through the year with a balance on hand after settlement of all bills, is considered a paramount achievement. The town of Putnam according to the treasurer's report was the community making the largest single contribution to the "Y" cause. Plainfield, as is indicated, was runner-up with Killingly running third. During the past year the Y. M. C. A. work has taken on new life with the stimulation of action in the work by the organization of groups in the rural sections of the county. This programme has been carried out by County Secretary Hill, who was re-elected at the annual meeting of the county organization held last week.

CREDITORS OF BANKRUPT RHEA CORP. WILL GET $90,000

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, May 20—(AP)—The superior court of Providence has taken action in the final settlement of the bankrupt National Rhea corporation and under the terms of a decree entered there yesterday, the creditors of the concern will receive a first and final divinded of 56.66 per cent, totaling $90,108.59. The decree also provides for the discharge of Lewis A. Waterman, receiver, and dissolution of the corporation. The biggest item of assets of the corporation was the recent funds realized by the sale of the company's plant in this city which was sold at public auction for $60,000 to a new manufacturing concern, known as the Putnam Spinners, Inc.

A similar motion to the one presented in the Rhode Island court yesterday will be presented to Judge Arthur F. Ells in the superior court in this city next week, when the civil term of court reconvenes. The case of the National Rhea company, which was a R. I. concern, was acted upon in both Connecticut and Rhode Island courts, because of the fact that the rayon manufacturing plant's major interest was located in Putnam.

A number of members of the Putnam Rotary club were in Webster last evening attending a joint meeting of the Uxbridge, Putnam, Southbridge and Webster clubs which was held in the main dining room of the new Webster auditorium.

A. G. Gelinas, a former merchant and resident of this city, is visiting with friends in this city. He now makes his home in Nelson, British Columbia, a community in the Canadian northwestern province near Vancouver. He made the trip across the continent by automobile.

Some men seem to make a habit of getting what they want by pretending that they don't want it.

JEWETT CITY

CAMPERS WIN 10 TO 1 IN OPENING LEAGUE GAME

(Special to The Bulletin.)

JEWETT CITY, May 20.—The opening game of the Jewett City Twilight league between the Knights of Columbus and the Campers, played before an attendance of over 400 fans Tuesday evening resulted in a victory for the Campers by the score of 10 to 1.

The Kaceys lined up as follows: C. Dudkowski, 3b; ss, Bud Jodoin; p, Bernal; 1b, E. Blake; lf, F. Liberty; rf, R. Dudkowski; cf, Gaska; 2b, C. Donahue; p, R. Guillet. Campers—Cf, Lefty; p, Jarvis; 2b, Liberty; rf, Beaulieu; ss, Tarkmon; 1b, Perry; lf, Slonski; 3b, Solenski; c, S. Liberty. Home run, Solenski; three-base hit, Beaulieu; two-base hit, Tarkmon, Jarvis, R. Dudkowski. Struck out, by Jarvis 5; by Bernal 4.

The Campers made nine hits and two errors, the Knights two hits and two errors. The winning pitcher, Jarvis, Scorer, Malek. Umpires, Robertson and Boucher.

ACTUAL START MADE ON ROAD CONSTRUCTION

Boroughites' prayers were answered Tuesday morning when Contractor M. A. Gammino's roadbuilding gang began operations in earnest. When the men had quit for the night they had built close to 1,400 feet, one-half width, of the state's new cement highway. By a coincidence, F. H. Gilbert, a local man, and a one-time contractor, was among the spectators of the new job. Thirteen years ago, when the state was making its first experimental tests of cement highway, Mr. Gilbert built a mile stretch on the Voluntown road, a little east of Pachaug. This being one of the first few miles to be built, was found to be today in excellent condition, showing no appreciable wear, and with a repair charge which is practically negligible. Mr. Gilbert told of the present-day improvement in equipment, speaking of the power paver which does the work of 15 men. The next procedure is to lay the gutters and shoulders on the south side, after which traffic will use the new part. The state engineer said Tuesday that Jewett City by its vote to extend the cement from curb to curb had advanced itself 15 years in a single summer.

Following three jewery days, this section received a wetting Monday evening that presented no half-way features. From 10:45 to 11:30, the rain descended in torrents of such volume that there came seven-tenths of an inch in 45 minutes.

Many borough radio owners tuned in on WEAN at 8 a. m., Tuesday, to hear the solo by Delwyn Martin, sing "I Know that My Redeemer Liveth," broadcast from Providence.

Tree surgeons, who have been at work on the maples which beautify the setting of the new Jewett City Savings bank, have not only added to the fine appearance of these trees but have given them a new lease of life.

At the meeting of Anne Brewster Fanning chapter, Mrs. C. B. Spicer, the regent, appointed the Memorial day committee: Miss Ida Foster is to decorate the Memorial tree on the Slater library lawn, Mrs. E. C. Whiting the Soldiers' monument in Fanning park, Mrs. Spicer the grave of Anne Brewster Fanning, the chapter's patron saint; Mrs. William Phillips the Real Daughter's grave, and Mrs. A. M. Brown the boulder in Pachaug. Mrs. Spicer and E. L. French are to place a marker on Asa Partridge's grave in Geer cemetery. Mrs. H. E. Olson is to purchase flags to decorate the graves of the Revolutionary and War of 1812 soldiers, to be given to the Legion post. Committees for June are: Nominating, Mrs. G. H. Jennings and Mrs. William Phillips; program, Mrs. W. H. Payne and Mrs. F. S. Leonard; auditors, Miss Alice A. Brown and Mrs. E. A. Faust. Invitations were read from the Legion post to participate in the Memorial day exercises, to the tercentenary pageant in Windsor May 31, June 1 and 2, and from C. S. McGowan to the American National college May 29.

Mrs. Euder LeClaire, Mrs. Albert Johnson, Mrs. John LeClaire, Misses May Driscoll, Mary McDermott, Winifred Scates, Anne Driscoll and Anna Walsh attended Willimantic Normal school reunion.

Two officials, Secretary Healey and Mr. Edwards, from the State Agricultural office in Hartford, have been invited to address a gathering of everyone interested in Pachaug, at a meeting in Grange hall Friday evening. There is to be an orchestra and other musical numbers and refreshments are to be served.

This (Wednesday) evening the game scheduled in the Twilight league is between Ashland and Fisk at 6:30 on the Fisk grounds.

There would be fewer divorces if all husbands and wives could be their own bosses.

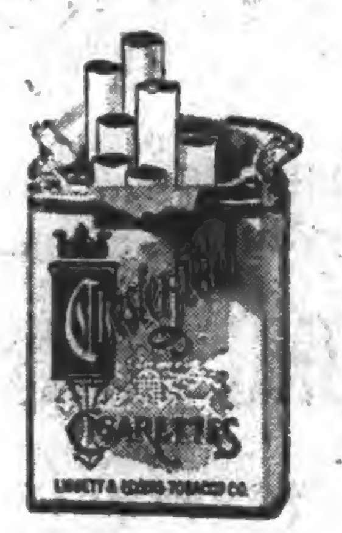
In a banker it's Integrity

in a cigarette it's Taste

GOOD REPUTATION and high standards—these are among the banker's chief assets. Likewise, Chesterfield's.

SMOKERS THE WORLD OVER stick to Chesterfield because of its thorough dependability of quality, its unchanging good taste.

GOOD TASTE!—What smoker would trade it for any number of cigarette claims? No Chesterfield smoker would. For here choice tobaccos are blended and cross-blended to a finer aroma and a richer, milder flavor to give you the utmost a cigarette can offer… "TASTE above everything".



We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.

PUSHING TARIFF ALONG

It was only by the narrowest squeak that the senate yielded to the situation which has developed over the tariff and prevented a deadlock in conference. Giving authority to the senate conferees to go ahead and reach an agreement upon the disputed points of the tariff bill doesn't necessarily insure the adoption of the measure, but it makes progress toward that end possible.

The senate has told its members of the conference committee that the restrictions which were placed upon them have been removed. Two votes the other way would have prevented this in regard to the debenture clause, while one vote would have upset it in regard to the flexible provision, where a tie developed which it was necessary for the vice-president to break. Thus it is indicated that the division in the senate is particularly close in regard to these features, the elimination of which from the tariff bill by the conferees is indicated in view of the attitude which has been displayed against them by the house and the belief that the president would veto the bill should it be sent to him containing them.

The action of the senate paves the way for a conference report upon which action can be taken. It gets the measure away from the stalled situation into which it had been forced because of the promises exacted by the senate and it seems highly probable that the compromises effected in conference will eventually be accepted by the two houses in order to prevent the time and effort devoted to the revision of the tariff from being a complete waste.

The country has experienced the effects which have come from the uncertain situation created by the long-delayed revision. The president asked for a limited revision. Opinions seem to differ as to just what was meant, in spite of a fairly clear interpretation on the part of the chief executive. No tariff ever suited everyone and such will be true of the measure which has been advanced nearer to adoption, but there will be the satisfaction of knowing that if the flexible clause is retained that the president will be in a position to correct inequalities and injustices up to a certain limit on the advice of the tariff commission.

PEDESTRIANS AT NIGHT

It is perfectly evident to those who drive at night, or any other time for that matter, that too much attention cannot be given to making the roads safer. Stress has been laid upon having the automobiles carry adequate lighting facilities for front and rear, and seeing that the lights operate. Trucks must not only carry similar lights but they must also have reflectors attached to the rear of the car, which is also true of all commercial cars, so that if for any reason the rear light fails there will be something to warn the car following of the obstruction ahead.

These reflectors have been recognized as a desirable thing. They have been in operation long enough to convince the drivers at night that they provide an added measure of safety with the result that it is being advocated that signboards be fitted out in such a manner that they will reflect what the driver is seeking to learn as to route number and places ahead. This contributes to safety only in that it would eliminate much stopping, starting and turning of cars in the highway in order to get needed information.

But while such a change is being advocated it would seem that there is need for some provision being made to cover the pedestrian at night. Too many persons are killed needlessly while walking along the side of the road at night. Certain of those cases may be due to the careless, hit-and-run type of drivers, but there are plenty of careful drivers who narrowly avoid persons walking in the road because it is impossible to see them at a distance. With a pedestrian wearing a reflector strapped to the back of his arm, or about his body, there would be protection afforded for the individual and a warning given to the auto driver, and in the interest of all concerned it is no more than should be expected. It is a protective measure that has been too long neglected.

THE FRELINGHUYSEN SCHEME

Slick politics seems to be the answer to the action which has been taken by former Senator Frelinghuysen in withdrawing his name as candidate for the short term as United States senator from New Jersey, while retaining his place for the term of six years for the same office.

The purpose is not so much to help Mr. Morrow as it is to confuse the voters and thereby work to the disadvantage of Mr. Morrow and the benefit of Mr. Frelinghuysen. He is perfectly willing that Mr. Morrow should have the honor for the short term, or until next March, but he wants to get the office after that date and it would seem that he was ready to stoop to the fooling of the public in order to get it.

At least that is the impression that is gained from the statement attributed to a Frelinghuysen leader in the New York Times' account of the Frelinghuysen withdrawal. He is quoted as saying that they are relying upon confusing the voters. His words are: "You wait and see. With Morrow's name there (on the ballot) twice people will go into the polling places and some of them will vote for him for the short term and some of them will vote for him for the long term. Of course, the majority of people who want to vote for him will give the two correct votes, but there will be a lot who won't, and that is where we will win."

What is going to be the reaction to this strategy? Here is an instance where the announced intention is to fool the voters. The declared desire is to see the voters confused to such an extent that they will not do what they intend and want to do. The aim is to lead them into the trap, but it would appear that this scheme has been disclosed in time so that the public can be fully informed, and when voters stop to realize the trap being arranged for the Morrow supporters it will be surprising if there isn't a wholesale departure from the Frelinghuysen ranks to the Morrow camp because of the very admission that has been made and their unwillingness to be a party to any such trick. That method of getting a nomination cannot be expected to make any appeal. It certainly does not create confidence and is likely to be the cause of unexpected strength for the Morrow candidacy, whether he happens to need it or not.

WESTERN HEMISPHERE IMMIGRATION

Those who are making pleas for the restriction of immigration in these days when unemployment is getting so much attention can expect to find much support. While they are assured of certain backing at all times, their arguments fall upon more fertile ground when attention can be directed to any considerable number of people who are without employment. Thus the efforts in behalf of increased restriction can be expected to be greatly encouraged at the present time.

Congressman Johnson of the house immigration committee is urging that stringent restrictions be adopted for all nationals of the western hemisphere, similar to those which now apply to Europeans and those on other continents. He is not willing to except any country in this respect, but he admits that it is not possible to bring about such a change at this time. He is confident that the house will take favorable action upon the bill which has been passed by the senate placing a quota upon Mexicans. This is a step which has encountered much opposition because of the need that exists for much Mexican labor in the agricultural activities in the southwestern states, and the desire to refrain from making any move which will be interpreted as an unfriendly move toward the neighbor to the south. Having overcome some of the feeling that has been displayed toward this country by Mexico, it is natural that we should not invite a return to other days. Mexico is sensitive and it has taken years in which to bring about the existing state of good will, all of which could be easily upset by what might be misinterpreted as an unfriendly act.

Because of the situation among neighbors, progress must necessarily be slow in the shutting out of nationals from such countries. We are willing to accept the desirable but we do not want the undesirable. We do not want many who are coming here from neighboring countries, but who could not enter directly from their own. Thus western hemisphere restrictions and especially in relation to Canada must necessarily proceed slowly, if at all.

U. S. OF EUROPE

The idea of a United States of Europe is not a new one. It has been advanced before and it is not with the feeling of confidence that it will be immediately accomplished that Premier Briand puts it forth at this time.

He is one of those who have been thinking about it for a long time. He has studied its possibilities, dreamed of accomplishments, advocated such action. He told about his ideas some time since at Geneva and the natural result was that he was asked to be more definite and to display a plan. He has got down to such details that makes a study of his idea possible and he invites criticism. He doesn't take the view that his plan must be adopted or nothing. He wants it torn to pieces for constructive results.

Conditions which have developed in Europe since the war have given encouragement to the advance of such a move. He has seen the countries getting together, coming to a better understanding of their problems, overthrowing old practices and indicating a serious desire to adjust their differences in a sane manner. It indicates the possibilities of carrying this relationship further, to the point where there would be a United States of Europe made up of 26 nations.

Of course, it is possible, but one can hardly say that it is probable. That means an even more radical step than standing for peaceful adjustment of international disputes or the limitation of naval armament. Still, if it is ever going to be accomplished it must be advocated, studied, discussed and accomplished piecemeal, and it is just such progress as Briand seeks.

He knows the traditions, the feeling of the nations, their differences and the handicap to bringing them all under one government. It will take more than one conference before it is accomplished.

A MATTER OF DIGNITY

When Aunt Kizzie bought her wooded estate down on the bluff overlooking Oregon river she made her sister's only child, Doris, the happiest girl alive by inviting her to spend the summer with her.

One might suppose that a summer spent alone with one's Aunt Kizzie out in the country would prove dull indeed for a lively girl of 20. But Doris knew that at heart Aunt Kizzie was really younger and peppier than she, and the possessor of surprisingly advanced ideas concerning the modern woman. Doris loved her aunt, she loved the solitary trails along the river where she rode the sleek black pony, she adored roaming about the big house with its curios and antiques, and walking in the old-fashioned garden. Best of all she liked her trips to New Salem, three miles away, perched on the hill by the river, its main street lined with funny little shops where one might poke around and gossip and pass the time of day.

It was on one of her customary trips to town with Aunt Kizzie's grocery list that Doris first saw him. He was alighting from a sleek brown horse in front of the postoffice. Doris stood still and watched this marvel of masculinity. He was young and handsome and he was wearing a bright red hunting jacket. Doris' heart fluttered and her mind was so taken up that she forgot to get the groceries and walked home in a trance.

"If you only could see him," she confided to Aunt Kizzie, "you would agree I was justified in forgetting the groceries the moment I saw him."

"Let's find out who he is and invite him to dinner." Doris regarded her aunt reprovingly.

"I would rather," she said with dignity, "never know him than take such a step."

"Pish tosh," said Aunt Kizzie, "such old-fashioned notions!"

Next day as she took her customary ride along the river trail Doris was petrified to see that bright red hunting jacket approaching from the other direction. Should she speak? Or should she maintain her awful dignity? She was so overcome with confusion that as they passed she looked steadily at the ground, refusing even to nod at the beloved unknown. Returning from her ride, Doris was received by her excited aunt.

"Just now," cried Aunt Kizzie. "I saw him—your Adonis, in the red hunting jacket, putting away his horse in the stable next door! He must be our neighbor. Now I shall surely make his acquaintance and invite him—"

"Aunt," said Doris solemnly, "I won't hear of such a thing." But her heart was pounding. "If, as you say, he really lives next door, maybe he'll find some occasion to come over and we'll both meet him in a dignified manner."

"Dignified!" said Aunt Kizzie, with scorn. "While you're being so dignified some clever girl will have her aunt invite him over." But Doris was not to be dissuaded. Then a most unexpected thing happened.

Two days later, hurrying homeward in a heavy rainfall, Doris saw him turn the corner sharply on his horse. Jumping quickly aside to get out of the horse's way, Doris suddenly flopped down in a mud puddle, her packages flying in all directions.

"Oh, I'm sorry," he said, leaping from his horse. "Here, let me help you."

"No, thanks," replied Doris with dignity, "I'm perfectly all right." But as she tried to get up she sank back with a little gasp. "Oooh," she wailed. "My knee cap. It—it hurts dreadfully."

Bending down, Aunt Kizzie's neighbor lifted Doris tenderly in his arms and carried her straight to her own door, where Aunt Kizzie, perceiving them coming, received them with open arms, and led them to her best bedroom. Doris was laid on the bed and the doctor summoned.

That night, as Doris lay propped up on pillows, Aunt Kizzie stole in softly.

"I've a confession to make," she said solemnly. Doris waited. "When I saw you coming up that path in the arms of a strange young man, dripping wet and muddy, nursing an injured knee cap, I decided nothing could possibly be more undignified. So I threw all dignity to the winds and invited him over for tomorrow night. Now, are you angry?"

"You're a perfect dear," cried Doris. "Is he coming?" Aunt Kizzie laughed.

"He accepted in the most undignified manner imaginable. Threw his hat in the air and kissed me and asked if I'd mind if he came every night—to read to you, until you're able to get up again." Aunt Kizzie smiled shyly. "But he was so altogether undignified I know you'll never approve of him—"

"Pish tosh," said Doris happily. "Approve of him? Most emphatically. I—I guess after all, Aunt Kizzie, my notions are as little old-fashioned as yours!"—Chicago News.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 20— When Charles Laban Abernethy of North Carolina started his congressional career by being elected without opposition to fill a vacancy during the 67th congress, he began at once increasing his majorities as he rolled along in successive terms.

He seems to have it figured out just what the folks back home want him to do.

And with another election campaign—his sixth—in sight, Mr. Abernethy has hit on a new scheme for reporting to his constituents just what he has been doing all this while in Washington.

Having obtained permission to extend his remarks in the Congressional Record, he promptly headed his contributio to the Appendix of the Record "My Record in Congress." just like that, with no false modesty or political hocus-pocus about it.

Simplified

Presently the folks down in the third North Carolina district will be getting copies of this report through the mail. And they will find that Mr. Abernethy has made the business of recapitaluating his Washington activities as simple and easy as possible for them.

He has resorted to the index of the Record, which shows every bill, resolution, petition or other matter introduced by each member at each session, every subject on which he rose to remark and every other time in which he figured importantly on the house floor.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Abernethy said to his constituents, this survey of the floor activities of a house member told only a small part of his duties and labors in behalf of the home folks.

"The major portion of his work has to do with the various departments and activities of the government, but I feel that it will be of interest to give my constituents a brief resume from the index," Abernethy said.

Statistics

And he is right about that. It ought to interest other folks than his own constituents because it affords a compilation of the floor labors, at least, of an active minority member of the house over a period of nearly 10 years.

Here are some of the statistical facts you can extract from the Abernethy record:

He has introduced about 90 bills or resolutions, most of them having to do with his own district's affairs.

He has talked in the house on more than 300 subjects at various times. It would go up to 500 or 600 items of "remarks by" if you included all the notations in the index where he spoke several times on the same subject during a debate.

Abernethy also included a table of "allotments to river and harbor projects in the state of North Carolina during the fiscal years 1922 to 1929." It adds up close to $10,000,000, apparently, justifying the member's statement that "congress and the government have been liberal to our state in this particular."

YOUR HEALTH

Soup

By Mary A. Buettner, Nutritionist, Syracuse, N. Y.

(From Gorgas Memorial Institute)

Soup is the least expensive of any article of food. Properly made it is also one of the most nutritious and easily prepared. But strangely enough it is probably the least used.

It is inexpensive because materials that can be employed in no other way, bits that are usually discarded, can be utilised. It is most nutritious because it can contain practically all the necessary elements of a perfectly balanced diet. It is most easily prepared because there is no question of exact quantities.

It is seldom necessary for an intelligent housewife to buy any of the ingredients that go to make up a soup. If meat is desired as a basis, save the bones of a fowl or a roast no matter how little meat appears to be on them. In the case of red meats some of the parts that only dry up in the roasting or broiling may be trimmed off before cooking and used to better advantage in soup. If meat has to be bought, a half pound of hamburg steak or lamb stew meat will require less cooking and cost no more than a soup bone.

The water in which vegetables are cooked, and the liquor from the canned variety should always be used.

Outside leaves of cabbage and lettuce, celery tops and tomatoes, canned or fresh, all add vitamins and flavor. A potato, a carrot, an onion or two will not be missed from the store of vegetables always kept on hand, but will materially increase the value and attractiveness of soup. Other things that may be added to give it body and flavor are an apple, a bit of green or red pepper and a teaspoonful of breadcrumbs, oatmeal or any cereal. Instead of tomatoes a dash of kitchup or chili sauce gives a tang.

All vegetables should be thoroughly washed and wilted parts cut away. Putting them through a grinder or cutting them up in very small pieces will shorten the time necessary for thorough cooking. This is a most important consideration for the preservation of vitamins which are destroyed by prolonged boiling. The ingredients should be placed in cold water and brought to a boil slowly. As they cook press them occasionally with a potato masher.

When all the materials have been reduced to a pulp the soup is done. Strain it through a coarse colander, pressing the mass that remains with the masher until every bit of liquid is squeezed out of it. Allow the soup to cool until the grease hardens and remove it. The addition of some boiled rice or barely makes a dish fit for gods and humans—never twice alike, but always good.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Impressed by Visit

Mr. Editor: It is with a great deal of pleasure that I will endeavor to tell you and your readers of my visit to your plant on May 20th, 1930.

Never in all my travels and visits to over 5,000 different publishing houses has it been my pleasure to see and read so many old papers. It is astounding to just glance at the walls of the office and the plant, with its many pictures and real photographs.

Your files are most complete than many papers one-third the age of your three wonderful publications. The tradition of it all is beyond my humble expression and appreciation.

I will look forward with a great deal of anticipation of a return visit when I will be able to take time to grasp what I have been seeking in my journeys around the world.

May all live to see this 150th anniversary, and next to give an expression of the Fourth Estate—and its mission in New England and our wonderful country.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

Reddy Finds His Mouse

To find is not complete success,
For you may find yet not possess.
—Reddy Fox.

Reddy Fox is quite used to disappointments. He long ago learned how to grin over a disappointment. "One may as well grin as cry," says Reddy. So he grinned, though a bit ruefully, as he left the place on the Green Meadows, where he could smell Mouse, but could find none. He tried to put out of his head all thought of Meadow Mouse. Now and then he put his nose to the ground to take up the scent of Farmer Brown's Boy. He didn't need to do that, because he knew exactly where Farmer Brown's Boy had gone. He did it from habit.

Presently Reddy came to the bushes on the edge of the Green Meadows. "It was right here that Farmer Brown's Boy threw something away," said Reddy to himself. "I'll look around and see what it was. Probably it was nothing to interest me, but at least it will satisfy my curiosity."

So Reddy began to look around and it didn't take him long to find that old oilcan. At first he didn't know that this was the thing Farmer Brown's Boy had thrown there, but when he started to smell of it he got the man smell and then he knew. "Huh!" muttered Reddy. "I wonder what he brought this old can way over here for."

Just then Reddy got something besides the man smell. It was the smell of Mouse. It was the smell of Meadow Mouse. Reddy lifted his nose and very carefully tested the air. Unmistakably he smelled Mouse. Reddy forgot all about Farmer Brown's Boy. Down went his nose to the ground and Reddy began to eagerly search all around that can. He was puzzled. He didn't get that Mouse smell. He poked his nose under the leaves, into every little bunch of grass, all around that can for some distance, but no smell of Mouse did he get. Then he came back and sat down beside that can to try to think the matter out. No sooner had he sat down than he smelled the Mouse again. He knew that it was not the scent left by a Mouse, but the scent of a Mouse that was right close at hand. He tingled all over. He actually looked up in the bushes, half expecting to see a Mouse above his head somewhere. You see, Reddy knows that mice do climb up in bushes sometimes. But no Mouse was in the bushes above his head.

Reddy leaned forward a little and the Mouse smell became stronger. With it was mingled the man smell. And right then Reddy realized that that smell came from that old tin can. He put his nose to the top of that can. He got the man smell, where Farmer Brown's Boy had had the handle of the can in his hand. But stronger, much stronger, was the smell of Mouse and it was coming from the little round hole in the top of the can. Reddy put his nose to that round hole and then sniffed. A look of pleasure came into those crafty eyes of his. He grinned. He almost laughed aloud. That Mouse was in that can!

"As I live, I believe that is Nanny Meadow Mouse!" said Reddy to himself. "Yes, sir, I believe that is Nanny Meadow Mouse! I have almost caught her many times, but now I really have caught her. She must have been in this old can when Farmer Brown's Boy picked it up. He didn't know he was bringing her over here for me, but that's what he was doing."

Reddy put his black nose to that hole in the can and sniffed once more. Down inside that can poor little Nanny Meadow Mouse shivered and shook as she heard that hungry sniff. She had heard it before and she knew who it was that was sniffing. Reddy Fox had found his Mouse.

Stories That Recall Others

Just a Taste

Three-year-old Lou delights in trips to the farm with her next door neighbors. Recently while on one of these trips she saw the pet lamb fed from a bottle and was very much interested. After the bottle was emptied she thrust her little hand through the fence to pet the lamb. She drew it back hastily. When asked whether it bit her, she replied:

"No, it just tasted my hand."

Discouraged

Martha, a first grade pupil, came home from school a little tired and vexed. Things had not gone to suit her, for this is what she told her mother:

"Well, if I had my life to live over, I certainly wouldn't go to school."

A HISTORY OF CONNECTICUT INDUSTRY

Released by Manufacturers Association of Connecticut

Robertson Paper Box Co., Inc., Montville.

The history of the Robertson Paper Box Co., Inc., starts with the wooden Rockland paper mill built in 1850 and the Montville Paper company, 1859. Carmichael Robertson bought the latter in 1863 and the former in 1873, and built the Bank mill in 1886, operating the three plants under his name.

On his death, in 1888, the business was carried on by his sons, Alexander, Tryon and William, as the C. M. Robertson estate, manufacturing manila paper from rope, writing, anti-rust and wall papers.

In 1895 the Red Box company built a frame factory adjoining the Rockland mill to make paper boxes. This was acquired by the estate in 1897, making its entry into the folding box business, its principal product today.

A stone mill now replaces the Rockland mill and a modern brick factory replaces the old box factory. The other properties have been disposed of and a large number of houses acquired which are rented to employes.

The company was incorporated in 1908 as The C. M. Robertson company, but the name was changed to Robertson Paper company in 1916. The present name was adopted in 1927.

The paper mill makes paper board in all grades from white patent to chip, specializing, however, in colors. Practically its entire production is taken by the box factory, which makes a complete line of folding paper boxes. A complete printing plant is maintained for printing the boxes in any desired colors, in the line of production.

Resident salesmen are located in New York and Philadelphia and the company's product is shipped to all the seaboard states as far south as the Carolinas, being used by many leading manufacturers.

CONSULTING CONNECTICUT IN AUTOMOBILE TAXATION PLAN

"A uniform system for rating and taxing motor vehicles," has been the subject of an investigation by the bureau of standards in cooperation with the state of Connecticut according to Director Burgess of the bureau of Washington, who gives an outline of the plan wroked out.

"The widespread use of such a system would insure consistent taxes for all classes of vehicles, provide for uniform basic methods for rating vehicles and collecting fees throughout the country, and yet permit the several states to select tax schedules suited to their individual requirements," says a statement from the bureau.

The investigation sought to discover a simple method of distributing a total tax levy as far as possible according to the amount and character of each vehicle's use of the street and highways. The major factors in this computation were considered to be the weight of the loaded vehicle, its annual mileage, and the type of tires used.

The bureau's report is said to outline "a method for estimating the equitable relation between gross weight and total annual tax for vehicles traveling an avearge number of miles a year."

By imposing a sufficiently high fuel tax so that it alone is nearly equal to the total tax desired for the lighter cars, a very nominal registration fee is made possible for this class and the best practical distribution of tax according to miles traveled is insured for all vehicles. An increase scale of registration fees for the heavier vehicles is generally necessary. "A general formula involving gross weight which, by a proper change of constants may be used to express total annual tax, annual fuel tax, or registration fee for pneumatic or solid tired vehicles is used in computing the tax schedule which may then be printed in a table for convenient administration," declares the statement.

SOUND LINES CASE STIRS STATE INTEREST

The interest in the question of the separation of the Sound Steamboat lines, which includes the line operating between Hartford and New York on the Connecticut river, has intensified throughout Connecticut. A temporary committee known as the Sound Lines committee has, through the chambers of commerce and the manufacturers' associations of the state, called a meeting for Thursday at 2 p. m. (D. S. T.), May 22, at the old state chamber of the state capitol in Hartford.

It has been announced that the purpose of this meeting is to arrange for the employment of counsel, the designation of witnesses, and the coordination of testimony for the presentation of Connecticut's case before the interstate commerce commission in Boston on June 16. While a number of organizations have not as yet passed upon the advisability of the separation, there seems to be little question that the state of Connecticut will be united in opposing the proposal that the control and operation of the steamship lines should pass from the New Haven railroad. It is pointed out that Connecticut shippers and receivers of freight would be seriously hampered in service which they now receive and that the instability caused by the separation would be to the distinct disadvantage of the state as a whole. It is also evident that the independent steamship lines now are not entirely enthusiastic for separation, realizing that uncontrolled competition would be a serious handicap to them.

The Connecticut state chamber of commerce, the Manufacturers' Association of Connecticut, as well as all local chambers of commerce and manufacturers associations will be represented at the meeting.

It is entirely probable that the meeting will bring out the desirability for requesting that the interstate commerce commission assign a hearing for Hartford subsequent to the Boston hearing. It is felt that it would be an imposition to ask large numbers of interested Connecticut citizens to go to Boston for the necessary extended stay.

FREE EMPLOYMENT OFFICES FOR VETERANS

Before June 1, 1930, nearly twenty offices will be open in various sections of the country as free employment bureaus for ex-service men, according to information received by Edwin S. Bettelheim, national service officer of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S., from the department of labor.

These offices, to be maintained by the government, will be established in large industrial centers, including such states as New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and Missouri. Veterans' bureau regional offices will be used as far as practicable.

The service is expected to be permanent, available to all veterans of all wars.

An appropriation of $100,000 was granted for this free employment service in the 1931 appropriation bill, becoming available for use on July 1, 1931. However, an additional $23,000 was obtained in the recent deficiency appropriation bill, making it possible to commence operations immediately.

FUNERALS.

Daniel Shields.

With many relaives and friends present the funeral of Daniel Shields was held Tuesday morning at 8.15 o'clock at his home, No. 85 Cliff street. At 9 o'clock there was a solemn requiem mass at St. Mary's Memorial church. The celebrant was Rev. Joseph Shields, Dominican father at Mary Knoll, Ossining, N. Y., a nephew of the deceased, Rev. John Walsh of Stratford, Conn., was the deacon and Rev. Arthur Sullivan, sub-deacon, and Rev. Edward Morrison of Colchester was seated in the sanctuary.

The funeral of Frank Corbin was held at the parlors of Undertakers Cummings and Ring Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the service was conducted by Rev. Arthur Sullivan, curate of St. Mary's Memorial church. The burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, friends acting as bearers.

YANCEY LANDED ON AIR FIELD NEAR VERA CRUZ

MEXICO CITY, May 20—(AP)—The department of communications announced today that Captain Lewis A. Yancey, American flyer making a six-weeks air-tour of Latin America, landed shortly after noon at Tejeria air field near Vera Cruz. He went there from Merida, Yucatan, to which he flew from Havana yesterday.

The amphibian airplane bringing back the ashes of Colonel Pablo Sidar from Costa Rica also landed at Tejeria field today. It will be escorted by Captain Yancey to Puebla tomorrow.

On account of unfavorable flying weather, both airplanes remained at the Vera Cruz field for the night.

TURNER-STANTON HEADS TESTIFY IN TRIAL OF BOOKKEEPER HUBER

Officers and office employes of Turner-Stanton company, 231 Broad street, manufacturers of cordage and small hardware sundries, gave the bulk of the testimony in the superior court here Tuesday before Judge Allyn L. Brown and a jury on the first day of the trial of William S. Huber on an arson charge because of a fire in the mill on the night of Saturday, Jan. 25, close to midnight. There was an approximate fire damage of $22,000 and the state alleges that Huber, who was bookkeeper for the concern, had a motive in destroying books which would show alleged discrepancies in income tax returns.

Mr. Huber is defended by the Bridgeport law firm of Goldstein, Shapiro and Brody, with Mr. Shapiro and one of his associates conducting the case here. State Attorney Arthur M. Brown is assisted in the prosecution by City Attorney Charles W. Cassidy of this city.

Company's Treasurer Testifies

Edward L. Hall of Uncasville, treasurer of the company, was the first to testify, stating that Mr. Hall made out the checks which he and his brother, Ralph G. Hall, general manager, signed, and that he had never questioned Mr. Huber as to his books or his business methods up to the time of the fire as Huber was held in high esteem by the officers of the company. The witness said he was in New York on the night of the fire and learned of it by a telephone message. He went to the mill on the afternoon of Jan. 26.

Mr. Hall said that Huber owned 29 shares of the 200 shares of the company outstanding, that 50 shares were held by the witness and his brother and the rest are in the family. No audit of the books was made while Huber was there, because the directors voted it was too expensive, the witness said, and he denied that Huber had told him to have an audit made so that the company could find out where it stood.

Testimony By General Manager

Ralph G. Hall, of Old Canterbury Turnpike, general manager of the company, testified that he got to the mill about five or ten minutes after he had notice of it a few minutes after midnight. When he went into the company office, accompanied by Huber, the safe door was found open and the books gone. All the office girls knew the combination of the safe, the witness said, and he testified that the police brought in one book from the outside and a few unimportant merchandise and stock books were found. Later, other business record books were found under a rubbish pile in the packing case room in the basement. Some were charred and others were in good condition. They were found by Michael Bowen, the fireman at the mill.

On cross-examination the witness said that Huber showed as much interest as anybody in looking for the books and when the safe door was found open Huber exclaimed: "The books are gone."

The witness said that he and his brother had agreed not to pay for a telephone call to Chicago, made by Huber because Huber had made this call after the fire, on business of his own. This was brought out as being a message to Mr. Turner, president of the concern, who was traveling at the time. Huber notified Turner that he was being questioned in connection with the fire.

Revenue Agent Testifies

James Duffy of New Haven, an internal revenue agent, gave testimony that he had come to the mill on the Wednesday preceding the fire and had seen Huber, telling him that he wanted to check up the 1928 business. He said that Huber took him up into the attic of the mill and showed him a great mass of books and other articles and told him the books were among those. Duffy said he told Huber he would come back on the following Monday to see the books.

After the fire Duffy said that he was unable to make an audit because the books were destroyed. He saw them in the office of Mr. Alexander and said that they were so badly damaged that he could not make the audit.

Mill Employes Testify

Miss Mildred A. Cass, office assistant at the Turner-Stanton Co. plant for seven years, testified to her duties in keeping records of stock and materials and also as to what the office equipment was. She said the safe opened in a "trick" way, but had no real combination and she told of several who knew of the way to open the safe. Besides herself these were Huber, Miss Lappie and Charles Bushnell.

At the time of the fire she said the books of the 1928 accounts were on top of the safe or on a table, but she thought none were in the safe. She could not recall who was present when Duffy was in the bookkeeping department with Huber on the Wednesday preceding the fire.

She said she left the office at noon on the day of the fire and did not learn of the fire until the following Monday. As far as she could recall the books were in or on top of the safe or table when she left the place. When she went to the plant after the fire the safe was empty.

On cross-examination Miss Cass said she wrote out checks for Huber to sign and gave him the figure for the amount for the payroll checks. She could not recall any conversation between Mr. Duffy and Mr. Huber and she said she did not see Huber bring any books from the attic at the time Duffy called at the mill.

Miss Annie C. Lappie of Fitchville, also of the office force at the mill, testified that the books for the current year were kept in the safe and books of 1928 were on the safe at the time of the fire. She could not recall seeing Duffy before the fire or seeing Huber bringing any books down from the attic on any day before the fire.

Alfred H. Beebe, superintendent at the Turner-Stanton company for over 15 years testified to the layout of the building, speaking of the case room with the boiler room adjoining on the lowest floor of the building. He said he left the plant on the day of the fire at 1:45 in the afternoon and was the last to leave that day as far as he knew. He testified it was not the custom to keep the fire under the boiler going over Sunday and it had been drawn on this Saturday. The witness said he first knew of the fire by a telephone message from Huber between 4 and 5 o'clock and he went to the mill about 7 o'clock. He described what he saw at the plant but said he could not say whether the safe was open and he said it looked as if the center of the fire was in the case room. He was present when some books were found in the case room while state policemen were present. Mr. Beebe told of having been engaged in taking inventory before the fire and said he turned over the final sheets to Huber at the latter's request on the morning of Jan. 25. He understood that Huber wanted to work on the inventory during the afternoon.

Looked for Missing Books

Michael Bowen, fireman at the mill, testified that he let the fire out at 11:45 a. m. on Jan. 25 and when he left the mill about 12:30, Superintendent Beebe was the only one left there. He did not go back to the mill that day, but learned of the fire about 2:30 on Sunday morning when a policeman came to his house. He went to the fire about 3:15, when the firemen were playing water on the blaze in the boiler room. Bowen then went down town and came back about 5 o'clock, staying around the mill until noon.

On Monday the witness said he and several other men were looking for the books of the company. He found three big books in the case room and the state police found some more. The books were under some partly burned excelsior.

Charles H. Bushnell, employed in the shipping room of the Turner-Stanton mill, gave testimony that he first heard of the fire on Sunday afternoon. When he left the place at noon on Saturday the only one left at the place was Superintendent Beebe. He told of his practice of getting stamps for parcel post every day from the safe in the office which he could open. The stamps were contained in a wooden box and there was also a steel box which contained money he used to pay the shade-pull women. On the morning of Jan. 25 the safe was full of books when he got the two boxes out, he said.

Bushnell told of being at the mill office on Tuesday, after the fire, and at that time the safe was empty. The witness said he was present when office books were found in the case room by Michael Bowen. These were subsequently taken to the home of Edward Hall on Broad street. He said he could not identify any of the books as having been on or in the safe.

On cross-examination, the witness said it would take at least two trips if any one took the books from the safe down to the case room and piled a lot of debris and rubbish over them.

Recalled to the stand, Bowen, the fireman, testified that when he locked up the mill, he fastened the boiler room door from the inside and went out by a door on Broad street. He did this on Saturday, Jan. 25.

Superintendent Beebe was also recalled to testify that the shipping room door on Broad street was fastened by a catch inside and the door to the braiding room had a Yale lock.

Huber at Seifert's Home

Kurt W. Seifert of 181 Palmer street, an automobile mechanic in government employ at the state armory, testified that Huber was at his home on the night of Jan. 25, accompanied by his wife, and stayed there till about 11:30 or 11:45. They were playing pinochle or studying ritual work. Mr. and Mrs. Huber left by automobile.

Henry D. Smith, 35 Warren street, freight agent for the New Haven railroad, gave testimony that he saw Huber and his wife on Franklin street about opposite the Providence bakery between 11:45 and 11:50. Mr. Smith accepted Mr. Huber's invitation to ride and they went by the factory on the way towards Smith's home. When Huber let Smith out at Warren street, Huber turned the car around and drove away.

E. L. Hall, recalled to the stand, testified that in 1927 Huber had spoken to him about the government wanting to check up on the income tax returns for 1924. The witness said they went to the attic and couldn't find the books and the company had to pay a penalty of $200 or $300, and the witness said he signed an affidavit.

NORWICH BUILDING LOAN TO OPEN NEW SERIES

At the monthly meeting of the board of management of the Norwich Building and Loan association held Tuesday evening in the Thayer building, it was voted to open a new series, No. 31, in July, and President E. O. Rodier was empowered to appoint a committee to arrange for this series.

The report of the treasurer showed disbursements of nearly $23,000 for the month of April. The secretary made report upon the loans completed during the past month; action was taken upon new applications for loans, and routine business was transacted.

At the annual convention of the Connecticut League of Building and Loan associations, held at New Britain on May 7, the local association was represented by Charles I. Smith, treasurer; Alexander Sharp, assistant secretary, and Henry D. Johnson, secretary, and these delegates made a report of the convention.

The meetings were held in the afternoon and evening with a large attendance. John C. Barry of Portland, who has been a very efficient president for the past three years, declined a re-election and was placed on the executive committee. William J. Rawlings of New Britain, who has been first vice president, was elected president. The reports showed a year of progress and questions of interest were discussed.

At the dinner meeting in the evening the principal speaker was Willard K. Denton, vice president and treasurer of the Railroad Co-operative Building and Loan association of New York city. Mr. Denton showed the importance of the building and loan associations by the statement that over 70 per cent of the homes built since the war have been financed by building and loan associations. The association which he represents is the second largest association in the United States. In 1925, its assets were $17,000,000 and now are $58,000,000 or more than twice the assets of all the associations in Connecticut.

In an interesting way the speaker showed how his association developed new business and helped home builders by furnishing plans, giving building advice and supervising the construction.

LEGION AUXILIARY TO START POPPY DRIVE

Auxiliary to R. O. Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion, is to start its poppy drive on May 24. Several members of the auxiliary have volunteered to assist in the selling. The poppies to be sold were made by disabled veterans of the department of American Legion auxiliary of Minnesota. All money received from the poppy sale of the Norwich auxiliary is used for welfare work. Throughout the past year, out of the $108.56 made on the sale of 1929, the local auxiliary has expended $76.80 for shoes, food, fruit, flowers, clothing and money to needy ones. Last year 172,000 poppies were sold throughout the state, but this year, up to May 17, there had been 223,000 poppies ordered by the different legions and auxiliaries. The money received for the popies does good in two ways, as the veteran is paid for the ones he makes and the money received by the auxiliary is used for welfare work.

WOMAN'S CRUSADE REPORTS AND ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

On Tuesday afternoon the Woman's Crusade held its annual meeting in the woman's room of the Central Baptist church, Mrs. Nathan Gilman, the president, in the chair.

Following the devotional service which was led in an earnest manner by Mrs. Emma Harding, Mrs. Frank A. Mitchell gave a very interesting and informing talk on some of the New London county institutions. Touching upon the jail, the speaker expressed herself as greatly in favor of erecting a new jail to be used jointly by Norwich and New London—an up-to-date suitable structure adapted to modern living conditions. Turning to the county home and its new building, Mrs. Mitchell gave a clear description of the plan of the structure, the method of housing and care of the children, the playgrounds and both general and minute details of the life of this large family.

A rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. Mitchell for her informing message.

At the business session the reports of the work of the year were given.

The annual report of the secretary, Mrs. Frederick Sage, was read by Mrs. Bailey, later elected to succeed Mrs. Sage, who resigned her office after three years of faithful service.

Mrs. Robert McNeely presented the treasurer's report which showed that $336 had been expended by the Crusade during the year. Among the expenditures were those for three public meetings amounting to some $130, for the Americanization school led by Mrs. Robert Otis $25, for a complete treasure chest for the Philippines $8, and for "peace" prizes $7.50.

The report also showed that county, state, national and international obligations had been met in a very prompt manner.

For the programme committee Mrs. Harold A. Johnson reported programmes provided for ten monthly meetings. Attention was called to the presentation of the "peace" prizes offered by the Crusade in June last. Mrs. Nathan Gilman presented these to LaVere Tubbs and William Prothero at the commencement exercises of the Broadway grammar school. Miss Harriet Cross reported that the literature committee had disposed of some 750 leaflets, that the Union Signal and the Young Crusader had been renewed for the Otis library, and that Mrs. Boole's fine book, "Give Prohibition Its Chance" had been placed in the library. Through Mrs. David A. Pitt the public meetings committee reported three public meetings, a public debate in December, a victory supper in January and an address in May. The total attendance numbered between 200 and 1,000 people. The offerings totalled about $100.

The report of Mrs. Joseph Fields for the flower and relief committee showed a total of 30 calls made and 150 articles of various kinds sent in kindly ministration to the sick and needy.

Mrs. Johnson gave as the sum of her activities in the publicity committee 450 cards, letters, notices and 'phone calls.

Mrs. Arthur F. Wyman described the treasure chest and its contents which she had been appointed to purchase, reading the very interesting letter to accompany the chest. The letter was written by request, by William Prothero.

At the close of the reports the following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. Nathan Gilman; recording secretary, Mrs. William F. Bailey; corresponding secretary, Miss Kate Willey; treasurer, Mrs. Robert McNeely; program committee, Mrs. Charles A. Hagberg and Mrs. William Wyman; literature committee, Miss Harriet Cross and Mrs. Arthur F. Wyman; public meetings committee, Mrs. David A. Pitt and Mrs. Harold A. Johnson; flower committee, Mrs. Joseph Fields; publicity committee, Mrs. Winifred M. Pulsifer; vice-presidents—Central Baptist, Mrs. Charles A. Hagberg; First Baptist, Mrs. Arthur Blackledge; Third Baptist, Mrs. Herbert I. Peckham; Trinity Methodist, Mrs. Alvin Lewis; Bean Hill Methodist, Miss Florence W. Bennett; A. M. E. Zion, Mrs. Speed Johnson; Grace Memorial Baptist church, Mrs. Dixon; Calvary Baptist, Mrs. Louise P. Hall.

URGING MRS. HIGGINS FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONERSHIP

On the ground that it would be desirable to have one woman member on the board of county commissioners, the name of Mrs. Edwin W. Higgins of this city was presented to Governor Trumbull over a month ago by the Connecticut Child Welfare association for the New London county board. A number of local friends of Mrs. Higgins have also written to the governor in endorsing her and on Tuesday representatives of the Child Welfare association called on Lieut. Gov. Ernest E. Rogers to urge that an appointment be made at once and that Mrs. Higgins be named for the vacancy that now exists on the New London county board.

MADE NOMINATIONS IN WHITE CROSS COUNCIL

At a regular meeting of White Cross council, No. 13, K. of C., presided over by Deputy Grand Knight Patrick Coleman, reports of committees were accepted and officers for the coming year were nominated as follows: Grand knight, Patrick Coleman; deputy grand knight, John C. Donovan; chancellor, William Stoudt; recorder, Leonard Desmond; treasurer, Harold Desmond; warden, George Lee; inside guard, John Kelly; outside guard, William Shannon. The speaker of the evening was Attorney Charles V. James, who gave a very interesting talk. A vote of thanks was given the speaker. Refreshments were served after the meeting. Officers will be elected at the next meeting.

SQUAD A CREW CALLED OUT TO RESCUE CAT

Tuesday afternoon at 5:18 o'clock Squad A responded to a telephone call to rescue a cat from the top of a tree at the residence of Henry H. Pettis, No. 127 Broadway.

Parish House Supper

A chicken pie supper marked the completion of the addition to the parish house at Grace Episcopal church, Yantic, last week. An orchestra provided music during the evening. The patronage netted $73 for the church treasury.

For European Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Alex F. Shaw of Providence, with Mr. and Mrs. William B. Shaw, are to sail today (Wednesday) from New York for a European trip during which they will visit England, Scotland, France, Italy and Germany. Mr. Alex Shaw was formerly superintendent of the United States Finishing company plant in this city.

NEW OWNERSHIP WILL OPERATE DAVIS-WARNER

The entire assets of the Davis-Warner Arms corporation, whose factory is on North Main street at the foot of 12th street, have been purchased by the J. Stevens Arm company of Chicopee Falls, Mass., which is a subsidiary of the Savage Arms corporation of Utica, N. Y.

It is stated that the factory in this city has work ahead and orders to fill and is to be kept in operation at least for six or eight more months, and there is hope that the commercial importance and success of the Norwich plant may insure its continuance beyond that.

The original N. R. Davis & Sons company, predecessor of the Davis-Warner Arms corporation, was established in 1853. The present company manufactures single and double barrel shotguns, employing between 60 and 70 men with a weekly payrool of about $2,500. The plant has a capacity of 200 double barrel and 200 single barrel guns per week.

ART SCHOOL EXHIBIT OF SPECIAL INTEREST

Today (Wednesday) at 2 o'clock the public has been invited to attend the opening of the 40th annual exhibition of work of the students of Norwich Art school and Norwich Free Academy. The work has been hung in the Converse Art gallery and may be seen each day until Friday May 30th, inclusive, from 2 to 4:30.

A motor-driven spinning lathe and a buffer have been added to the equipment of the school. The students will demonstrate pewter spinning, pottery building and glaze making, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Charlotte Fuller Eastman is directress of the Art school.

POSTPONMENT IN CASE BROUGHT AGAINST DR. CASEY

Charged with manslaughter, Dr. William B. Casey was presented Tuesday morning in the city court, but at the request of his counsel, Attorney Thomas M. Shields, trial of the case was postponed until Tuesday, May 27. He was released in bonds of $5,000.

Dr. Casey is charged with causing the death, through induced abortion, of Mrs. Edward Frechette, 20, late of 229 Prospect street. He was arrested as the result of an investigation held by Coroner Edward G. McKay.

Movie Directors say: "Lovely Skin"

Eyes instinctively linger on the girl whose skin has the silken smoothness of a flower. No other attraction is so immediate . . . none so sure!

Over and over Hollywood has proven this on the screen. "Only those girls become stars whose skin is so lovely that the close-up shows no flaw," say 45 foremost directors.

And, nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap! As Lucila Mendez, vivacious Radio Pictures' player, says: "It leaves the skin so very smooth. I am devoted to it."

LUCILA MENDEZ

Lovely Anita Stewart, too, finds this delicately fragrant white soap ". . . lathers so quickly . . . and is so soothing."

ANITA STEWART

And winning Jobyna Ralston says: "Since the talkies have increased the number of close-ups, smooth skin is more important than ever. I always use Lux Toilet Soap to guard mine. It is a marvelous soap."

In the dressing rooms of all the great film studios, Lux Toilet Soap has been made the official soap. Are you, like the enchanting screen stars, caring for your skin this way? Luxury such as you have found only in fine French soaps at 50¢ and $1.00 the cake—now 10¢.

NEW LONDON CITIZENS AT HEARING TO TAKE COUNSEL ON TRAFFIC RULES

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 20—A public hearing is to be held in the council chamber, municipal building Friday evening at 7:30 for the purpose of permitting a general discussion of the proposed traffic rules, based on Section 9 of Chapter 269, of the public acts of 1929. Because of the constantly increasing number of automobiles about the streets, causing congestion, especially in the heart of the city, the public hearing is called.

Burglary-Made-Easy

Automobile Patrol Officer Clarence Martin last night found the rear entrance to the plumbing shop of Charles Smith, on Williams street unlocked. The officer was able to secure the building without calling upon the proprietor to do so.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Elizabeth Campo, daughter of Frank Campo, 116 Mistuxet avenue, Mystic, to Edward J. Sweet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sweet, Shannock, R. I.

Submarine tender Bushnell of the navy control force, has been transferred from the submarine base to the lower harbor where the boat will remain indefinitely. The Bushnell recently returned to port after having been in southern waters for four months.

WATERFORD BOY STRUCK BY A NIANTIC MACHINE

Joseph Salego, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kiril Salego, Logger Hill, Waterford, was painfully injured today when struck by an automobile driven by Murray Hill, of Niantic. The boy is a patient at Lawrence-Memorial hospital suffering from concussion of the brain and a fractured collarbone. Providing a fractured skull is not revealed the boy undoubtedly will recover and Hill will not be arrested, for investigation has determined that the driver was not at fault for the accident.

The boy and several other children were occupants of a New London-Niantic Coach company bus driven by Ambrose Casey, of this city. When the Waterford school, which the children attend, was reached Casey warned the children to be careful in crossing the highway. The Salego boy darted from behind the bus, but upon observing a truck approaching stepped back. As the truck passed, the boy ran into the highway and in front of the pleasure car driven by Hill, whose view of approach had been obstructed by the truck. Before Hill could stop the car the child was struck and hurled to the concrete highway. The child was rushed to the hospital where tonight it was stated that his condition appeared favorable. Hill also was injured for he applied his brakes so suddenly that the auto skidded on the slippery road because of last night's rain. The driver lost control of the car and with the result that it plunged through a hedge and overturned.

FIRE APPARATUS OUT FOR BURNING UNDERBRUSH

A brush fire this afternoon shortly before 5 o'clock alarmed residents in the vicinity of Williams street and Mohegan avenue and an excited person caused an alarm to be sent in from Box 18. Chief Calvin Edmunds and four pieces of apparatus responded with the result that the burning undergrowth was quickly controlled before damage resulted.

LAWLESS MOTORISTS ARE ORDERED INTO COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, May 20—After conformity to the traffic rules throughout the city for several days, auto drivers started again today ignoring all acts of law concerning the regulating of traffic and as a result numerous arrests were made. These included J. G. Gentry, Franklin, Mass., parking overtime on State street; John D. Avery, 12 Highland avenue, parking overtime on State street; Gordon MacIntosh, 31 Blinman street, parking overtime on Bank street; Florence W. Tyler, Noroton, parking overtime on State street; Alex Levine, 32 Richter street, Providence, R. I., parking overtime on Bank street; Francis DeGange, 60 Ocean avenue, parking overtime on State street; John Ficarra, 32 Truman street, parking overtime on State street; Thomas R. Don, 65 Jay street, parking overtime on State street; John W. Rolfe, 449 John street, Bridgeport, parking overtime on State street; Mrs. Georgiana Kimball, Meridian street, parking away from the curb on that street. All of the drivers posted a bond of $2 for their presentation in the police court tomorrow, excepting Mrs. Kimball, who was released with a warning to adhere to the traffic rules in the future.

Low temperature tonight caused an unusual number of unemployed to seek lodging in the tramp room at police headquarters. As a result of the large number to make application, the room was crowded.

Mrs. William Lynch and infant son, of 34 West Coit street; Miss Lucille Burnett, 27 Walbach street; Mrs. Harold Durfee, Noank; Charles Bailey, Groton; Lester Leighton, Niantic, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

FUNERAL

John Taylor

Funeral services for John Taylor, who died at Odd Fellows' home, Groton, Sunday, were held, together with committal service in Trinity cemetery, Portland, Conn., this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Both services were conducted by Portland lodge of Odd Fellows.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Albert O. Nash

Mrs. Mary Eveline Nash, 83, widow of Capt. Albert O. Nash, died early today at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Morris G. Payne, 19 Alger place. Besides her daughter, Mrs. Nash is survived by two sons, William N. Pinney, of Ellington, and H. H. Pinney, of Cleveland, Ohio, and by two brothers, Albert M. Hibbard and William C. Hibbard, both of Springfield, Mass. She was a member of the First Baptist church. Mrs. Nash was born in East Windsor and had she survived until the 29th inst., would have attained the age of 84. She was the daughter of Monroe and Elizabeth Bissell Hibbard and was twice married. Her first husband was the late Loren Pinney of Ellington, and her second husband, Capt. Nash, a native of Westerly, but had resided in New London many years. Mrs. Nash had been an invalid for several years and for the past three years had been confined to her bed.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered the suspension of the driver's license of Boleslaw Sefcik, 324 Main street.

Wallace E. Bray, 172 Crystal avenue, employed at the plant of the Portland Trawling company, Groton, today reported to the police that the markers of his Chevrolet coach were stolen last night while the auto was parked in the yard of the fishery. The markers are N—5261. It is believed that the thief intends to use the markers on another auto.

Joseph Ricatta, 106 Whittlesey street, was charged with breach of the peace and was fined $10 and costs. Ricatta, who was arrested last night by Patrolman George Perkins, was on his way home and in passing through Bayonet street, a thoroughfare which he travels frequently, encountered several youthful acquaintances. Their pranks annoyed Ricatta who suddenly pulled a monkeywrench from his pocket and attacked Leonard Hunter, Williams street youth, dealing several blows that bruised the youth's body and shoulder. When Hunter made complaint against Ricatta the latter was arrested.

CITY OF LOWELL STRANDED NEAR CRESCENT BEACH

Steamer City of Lowell, one of the liners of the New England Steamship company and until recently running on the Providence line, went ashore in Niantic bay early this morning, but the boat was later floated, apparently undamaged. The liner had received a thorough overhauling at Newport, R. I., preparatory to being assigned to summer schedule. She departed light for New York last night and when off Niantic the Lowell got out of her course and entering Niantic bay went hard ashore about midway between Black Point and Crescent Beach. A message for assistance was sent to the Merritt-Chapman-Scott company here and the motor-tug Cricket was dispatched to the stranded liner. Reaching the Lowell about 2:30 o'clock, a hawser was attached to the grounded steamer and at 3:30 this morning the Lowell was pulled into deep water. She then resumed her trip to New York. The weather was clear last night although a strong wind prevailed, but there was an utter absence of fog.

YOUTHFUL ELOPERS PROVE TO BE UNTRUTHFUL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, May 20.— Stella Gerwatowski, 17, who resides with her parents at 45 Terrace avenue, and Murphy Sryacusa, 22, until a short time ago a resident at 228 Montauk avenue, eloped last week. Their love-making has ended abruptly for the youthful couple were apprehended, in Paterson, N. J., Sunday with the result that the girl has been returned to her home and Sryacusa is now of parts unknown, for he also was released from custody. Sryacusa, after gaining the acquaintance of the girl, abandoned his rooming house and secured lodging at the girl's home. There the pair continued their love-making and last Thursday, secretly left the city. Nothing was heard from them until Sunday when the parents of the girl received a dispatch from their daughter saying that she and her sweetheart were in New York and it was compulsory that they marry. After the marriage, the girl stated, they would go to Boston. However, they neither married nor went to Boston. It was known that Sryacusa's mother resided in Paterson, N. J., and the police of that city were requested to arrest the pair if they were found in that city. As was expected Murphy and Stella were found at the residence of Sryacusa's mother and were taken into custody. The father of the girl went to Paterson and as he did not desire to prosecute his daughter, being willing to provide a home for her, the girl was given into the parent's custody, returning to New London. Because of the girl's father wishing to avoid prosecution there was nothing for the Paterson police to do but to release Sryacusa. When the girl returned to this city it was proved that her statement that she was in a delicate condition was untrue.

SAILOR GALLANT FINED TOTAL OF $400 AND COSTS

Joseph Gallant, a sailor, was in the police court this morning, charged with violation of the liquor law on two counts, keeping with intent to sell and possession. He entered a demurrer, which was overruled and a fine of $200 and costs was imposed on each count. Charles Davis, another sailor and Aaron Bend, 41 Belden street, who were found in the drinking resort, 135 Main street, of which Jack Halpern is the proprietor when the house was raided, were charged with frequenting a disorderly house, but today the charges were nolled. Gallant and the frequenters were arrested last Friday night by a raiding squad in charge of Sergeant John Courtney. A search of the premises revealed several pints of liquor, which were secreted in a canvas bag in a closet.

David Alter, 15 Perry street, was charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law in passing an automatic danger signal on Truman street. His case was continued until tomorrow.

M. J. Sabagh, 42 Faire Harbour place, was charged with violation of a city law, which prohibits the parking of an automobile in a section of Shaw street, opposite Garibaldi park. He was given suspension of judgment. Sabagh parked his auto and refused to remove it when ordered to do so by Patrolman Sylvia.

Harold F. Watson, Wethersfield, charged with parking overtime on State street, did not present himself in court so his bond of $2 was forfeited.

The other cases presented were for intoxication and there were four of them. Two were given suspension of judgment. Another was fined $10, but execution of the sentence was suspended while in the case of the fourth a fine of $10 was imposed.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre.

Yes, this is laugh week in Norwich as you've all probably guessed anyway from watching the people as they come out of the Palace theatre, where Winnie Lightner and Joe E. Brown are now playing in that new uproarious comedy featuring "Hold Everything."

Joe and Winnie would be good in any picture, but in "Hold Everything" they are superbly grotesque. This picture gives the stalwart Winnie a chance to do some of her roughest love-making while it also provides a glorious opportunity for Joey's facial contortions and splendid braggadocio. Nobody will want to miss it on any account whatsoever.

Of course there are others in the cast—and good stars, too. Georges Carpenter, handsome Georges, the Greek God, the Orchid Man, the classic fighter of the prize ring, is cast in this picture, and he has plenty to do. His voice has a charming accent, and whether he sings, talks, makes love to Sally O'Neill or fights through two terrific rounds, he is always the gallant, the suave Frenchman who has won and kept the heart of America both by his looks and his courage against terrible odds in the squared circle.

Bert Roach is another featured player in this classic of the comedy screen, this Warner Brothers technicolor marvel of action, dialogue, song and dance. Bert provides many comedy touches and proves an excellent actor in the difficult part in which he was cast.

But to get back to Winnie and Joe. It would certainly be a shame if a single movie fan were to miss seeing this inimitable pair in action. Come and listen to Joe brag about how good he is. Come and see Winnie bet on the other fighter even though she loves Joe. Come and listen while the great Joe asks the world, "Can I take it, boy;—can I take it?" Joe certainly does take it—on the chin and plenty, but in the end he always comes back for more and manages to stay on his feet a large part of the time. Oh, this is priceless stuff. Don't fail to come and get an early seat for it before Friday night because it will be gone after that.

Broadway Theatre

Gone are the phantoms, the illusive, unreal shadows of the talking screen, for in "Young Man of Manhattan," the rousing comedy-drama opening at the Broadway today, the characters are so real, so alive, so modern, so human that they seem part of your very life. Katherine Brush wrote the story as a Satevepost serial, published it in book form and it swept the country with its vividness. Herself, a newspaper woman of distinction, she culled a set of characters from her own experience and wove a story of human life and its frailties that is startling in its realism. There is Claudette Colbert, a "movie column" editor, ambitious and successful, Norman Foster, a sports writer on the same big Metropolitan daily, Charlie Ruggles, another reporter, whose one ambition is to drown the 18th amendment, and "Ginger" Rogers, a society deb, frankly on a man-hunt. The lives of these four clever actors become apparently hopelessly entangled in a series of dramatic incidents that will leave you gasping, but the inebriated skill of Charlie Ruggles "cuts the Gordian knot" and the sun breaks through the clouds. Among the stirring glimpses of the sporting world incidental to the plot are the Dempsey-Tunney fight, the Navy-Princeton football classic, the world's series in St. Louis, the seven-day bike races in New York and the Yankees' training camp. Claudette Colbert is even more alluring and cuddlesome than in "The Lady Lies" and "The Big Pond," Norman Foster is a genuine find for the talkies, Charles Ruggles has already achieved his notch in the anti-Volstead hall of fame, and "Ginger" Rogers lives up to her label of "five feet of dimpled dynamite." Altogether one of the most enjoyable pictures of the season, and a distinct relief from musical comedies and revues. On the same program are Laurel & Hardy in a roaring feature-length comedy "Blotto," Keane & Whitney in "Room 909," another full length comedy of convention doings, the latest Fox movietone news and other short featurettes.

WAUREGAN

A delightful party was held in honor of Misses Alice and Helen Smith, a number of friends from Anthony, R. I., surprising them with a May basket. Games and music were enjoyed.

Albert Williams, an employe on the company farm, is recovering, following a serious operation performed at the Day Kimball hospital.

Miss Carrie Knox is out, after a siege with grip.

Earl Leach is spending a few days at Boston, where he will find time to see a few good ball games.

Several auto parties from the village saw the game Sunday between the N. Y. Yankees and Boston.

The flowers decorating the altar at the Congregational church Sunday were given by Mrs. J. W. Atwood, in memory of her husband.

Delegates have been appointed to attend the Conference of Windham County Congregational Churches today (Wednesday) at Plainfield; these same delegates also will represent the church at the dismissal council held at Putnam the 28th of this month.

Rev. W. Williams has been invited to deliver a Memorial sermon at a service held under the auspices of the Putnam Federation of Churches, next Sunday evening.

Many a man would give time if he asked his neighbor to forgive him instead of the Lord.

FORMER PUTNAM MAN EXECUTOR OF ESTATE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., May 20.—Tuesday afternoon in Westerly probate court, Judge Edward M. Burke disposed of matters as follows:

Estate of Phoebe Phetteplace. Petition received from son-in-law, Stewart D. Fisher of Westerly, formerly of Putnam, that testatrix, a former resident of Lincoln, R. I., died in Westerly April 6, 1930, and left a will in which be was named executor, asking for probate of estate. He was represented by Attorney S. H. Davis. Will read; witnesses, Gertrude C. Thayer, Allen C. Thayer and Charles A. Thayer, the first and last only appearing from Putnam in court to testify. With no objection estate was admitted and Stewart D. Fisher was confirmed as executor. Bond was made $500 with surety. William H. Browning was named appraiser.

Estate Fred L. Pierce. Administrator John Ferguson appeared in court with final account which was amended to show a distributive share received by Edna Pierce Merrill of Florida, and thus allowed and ordered recorded.

Estate Robert Duff. Petition received from Widow Margaret Lawrence Duff for the admission of estate of testator who died in Westerly April 23, 1930. Will was read and the witnesses, Alice W. Fisher and Theresa Nardone, appeared in court to testify. Will was admitted and Andrew W. Fisher was named administrator with will annexed. Bond was made $10,000 with Howard E. Thorp as surety and he was also named appraiser.

VISITATION INSPECTION OF DEBORAH CHAPTER, O. E. S.

Deborah chapter, No. 9, Order of the Eastern Star of Westerly, Mrs. Jennie A. Mitchell, worthy matron, and Gustave P. Brucker, worthy patron, had its annual visitation and inspection at Masonic hall on Tuesday evening.

At 6:30 p. m. a lobster and chicken salad supper was served in the armory banquet hall of Narragansett commandery, No. 27, K. T., in charge of a committee headed by Past Worthy Matrons Mrs. Eleanor P. Mitchell and Mrs. Mrytie P. Campbell.

CARROLL CASWELL DIES AFTER AUTO ACCIDENT

While returning by automobile Monday afternoon from a visit to their Watch Hill summer home over the week end Mrs. Harry H. Caswell of 69 Florida street, Springfield, Mass., and daughter, Carroll Caswell, aged 8, sustained injuries when their car overturned on the wet highway surface which resulted in the death of the daughter.

The Caswell Westerly property comprises a house off the Shore road adjoining the Lester Lonnergan property and near the Winnapaug Golf club, also a house at Watch Hill. The fatal accident occurred in Somners road, East Longmeadow, when the Packard roadster driven by Mrs. Caswell overturned. Her injuries caused her to be taken to the hospital.

William E. Wooden left Tuesday on the New England express for Providence to attend the diocesan convention of the Rhode Island Episcopal church as a delegate from Christ church, Westerly.

George B. Utter was a business caller in Boston Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Albert Pawson of Bradford sailed from New York Thursday last for a visit to Bradford, England, to return to Westerly next July.

Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Benvenuto and daughter Clara, of Westerly, will leave town for New York this month to sail for Genoa, Italy, to pass June on a vacation visit with relatives of Mrs. Benvenuto in Lombardy.

Wilfred B. Utter left Tuesday morning on the New England express for Boston.

TOWN COUNCIL FIRM AS TO ZONING RULES

A special town council meeting was held Monday evening. Absent were Councilmen George E. Broughton, Isaac G. Smith and James Naccarata. Henry B. Morris of the Post road appeared before the council on his appeal from the ruling of the Westerly zoning board declaring that Town Solicitor Ferguson had told him there were two courses for him to take, one to ask the council for a special five-year permit for a business location on the Post road, or else he could take the matter to the R. I. superior court. Mr. Morris said that he had been before the zoning board several times. He had purchased his property on the Post road where eight years ago a place was built for a business purpose. His neighbor across the road Jean W. Opple and wife were willing to have a corresponding amount of their highway front made a business section if it was necessary for him to obtain a permit this way. "People from the city are coming out and competing with the country residents," said Morris. The zoning board refused to permit a present gas tank to be moved back on his lot when he asked for the privilege of another pump and denied him an opportunity to compete with only one tank.

Solicitor Ferguson declared that the statements made by Mr. Morris did not concern the town council; zoning laws had to be upheld and that the zoning board stood between the individual and the public. Councilman Montie asked if there was not a tendency for business to move in the outskirts where there was available parking. Mr. Ferguson said there was sufficient area provided for that purpose. Council President Burdick and Councilman Meikle declared their belief that the Boston Post road would ultimately be a business area. Solicitor Ferguson said that the real applicants for these business privileges were the various oil companies which were endeavoring because of competition to override zoning laws and that the individuals applying for concessions were not the actual ones behind the petitions. Council President Burdick directed Mr. Morris to bring before the council his petition to change a present residential section on the Post road to a business area.

President Burdick stated that the time had come to elect a new water commissioner to take the place of the late president, Tristam D. Babcock, a matter which had been left over from the last meeting. Farquhar Smith was nominated by Archie Meikle and seconded by Mr. Montie and Fraser, the latter remarking that Mr. Smith had been a business success and is energetic and hard working. Mr. Meikle said he had a good record as a town councilor. His election was unanimous.

The matter of a superintendent of The Comfort Station at Watch Hill, to be opened Memorial day was brought up and President Burdick was so named and instructed to see that the building was reshingled, according to zoning requirements with fireproof shingles and given a coat of paint, which he said he would do at his own expense.

Town Clerk Col. Everett E. Whipple was named a council committee to be present at the annual prize drill at Battery E, 243rd R. I. C. A. C. at the Dixon street armory on May 27, to present the council award for the best drilled man, the first prize of a medal valued at $10. Second prize $5 in gold, third prize $2.50.

Milk licenses were voted George W. Wood, John Wilkinson, Morrone and Castagna and John E. Duphy. Victualizing licenses were voted Elizabeth Edwards at 319 Atlantic avenue and to Charles B. Havens, at 312-315 Atlantic avenue on the recommendation of Westerly chief of police. The council voted to have no parking on the west side of Main street between Cross and Margin streets. The council formally adopted the revised Westerly motor traffic town ordinances. There will be no parking in the changed regulations on Beach street between Elm street and the southerly side of the manufacturing plant of the George C. Moore company on Broad street, no parking between the Rhode Island-Connecticut state line and Main street on the south side of Broad street and on the north side from the R. I.-Conn state line to a point at the intersection of the north boundary line of Main street and Broad street, on Main street between Commerce and Union street on the west side. A 30 minute parking will be allowed on Main street between Broad and School streets. Other changes were of minor nature.

John Ferguson was named a committee to ascertain the cost of publishing the whole town ordinance on traffic in booklet form, in lots of 500 or 1,000. The council then went into executive sesion, on recommendation of Solicitor Ferguson.

MYSTIC

CLINTON L. ALLYN DIES—FORMER NORWICH MAN

Clinton L. Allyn, 82, died at the Home Memorial hospital in New London Sunday. He was admitted to the institution the latter part of last week, following a slight shock. He was president of Mystic Industrial company. For many years he was superintendent of the Allyn Spool company of Norwich, before coming to Mystic. His wife died while they were living in the tenement upstairs, in the Allan Avery house, on East Main street, now owned and occupied by Franklin G. Post and family. He then moved to his late home. He was at his business at Allyn's Little Machine shop, West Main street, until last week.

Mystic League of Women voters met with Mrs. Kariska Gates of 15 Gravel street, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Frank Kahl, chairman of the social hygiene committee, was fortunate in securing Mrs. H. L. Hunt of Niantic who proved a most interesting speaker.

The Country club committee, Thursday evening, will be Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Z. Chesebro, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Lathrop, Miss Edith Rathbun, Miss M. Josephine Dickinson, Mrs. Fannie S. Dodge and Mrs. William White.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Austin, their daughter Grace, also Lloyd and Kenneth Meyer visited Norwich relatives Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Main and daughter, Miss Hazel Main, were business callers in New Haven Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Levine and daughter and Mrs. Annie S. Phillips of Dorchester, Mass., have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. A. S. Harvey of Old Mystic.

Herbert Davis of New York has been visiting Mrs. Davis, of Reynolds Hill, Mystic.

Miss Martha Jones of Pawtucket spent the week end with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. George P. Jones, of Quiambaug.

A number of school members and their parents and friends were in Stonington Monday evening, to hear the Stonington high school chorus present a choral fantasia from Il Trovatore, assisted by the high school orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Everett Hoxie of Wequetequock, called on Mr. and Mrs. George R. Swain, Sunday afternoon.

Rudolph Eckman of Old Mystic is spending several days in New York.

Raymond Holmes of New York visited relatives in the village over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chappius, of Old Mystic, have purchased the house recently owned and occupied by Mrs. Sarah Crumb, who died several weeks ago. They are having repairs made and electric lights are being put in. Mr. and Mrs. Chappius are now living in the house in Old Mystic, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Coit of Mystic. Mrs. Chappius is principal of Poquonoc Bridge school.

Friday, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning, there is to be a class for chair caning in Grange hall, for members and their friends of the Mystic Farm bureau group, Mrs. W. L. Main, leader. Miss Ruth T. Russell, of Norwich, home demonstration agent, will give instructions. For the dinner at noon, each member is to bring some article of food.

Jack and Jean Desley, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford J. Desley of Old Mystic, celebrated their 5th birthday Saturday, entertaining some of their small friends.

MONTVILLE

A public meeting is to be held this (Wednesday) evening at Uncasville school auditorium for the purpose of organizing a fire company in Montville. Through the cooperation of a number of citizens an association was formed about five years ago for the purpose of encouraging town improvements and to organize a fire company, but this project eventually was dropped. A committee was formed the first part of this year from the members of different organizations for the purpose of raising money to defray the expenses of the community tree at Christmas. This committee conducted a successful card party and after the bills were paid there remained a balance. The committee decided to continue to build up a fund to be utilized for village improvements. At a meeting held last week to discuss the need of a fire company it was decided to call a public meeting. The committee sent out notices Friday and Saturday to that effect.

Shower for Miss Newton

A miscellaneous shower was given Miss Arzelia H. Newton, of Uncasville, Monday evening at the home of her parents, anticipating her marriage with George A. McCarthy, of New London. Whist was played and prizes were won by Mrs. Lester Dart, Ernest Moss, Miss Myra Hatfield and William A. Smith, Jr. Miss Newton received many gifts. The home was prettily decorated in pink and yellow and with a large May basket, by Mrs. Charles A. Bugbee. Refreshments served included a large fruit cake decorated in pink and yellow and adorned with figures of a miniature bride and bridegroom. This was made by Mrs. Bugbee. About 30 of Miss Newton's friends were present for the enjoyable evening.

There was a large attendance at the entertainment and dance given by the employes of the Uncasville-Shelton Corp. at the Montville Community house, Saturday evening. Music was furnished by the Polish orchestra from Meriden. This was the last in the series of entertainments and dances given by these employes for the benefit of their annual picnic to be held at Rocky Point, this summer. The committee members who made these dances a great success included: Supt. Richard Johnson, Middy Gero, Thomas Goff, John Noyes, Ralph Bugbee and David Crothy.

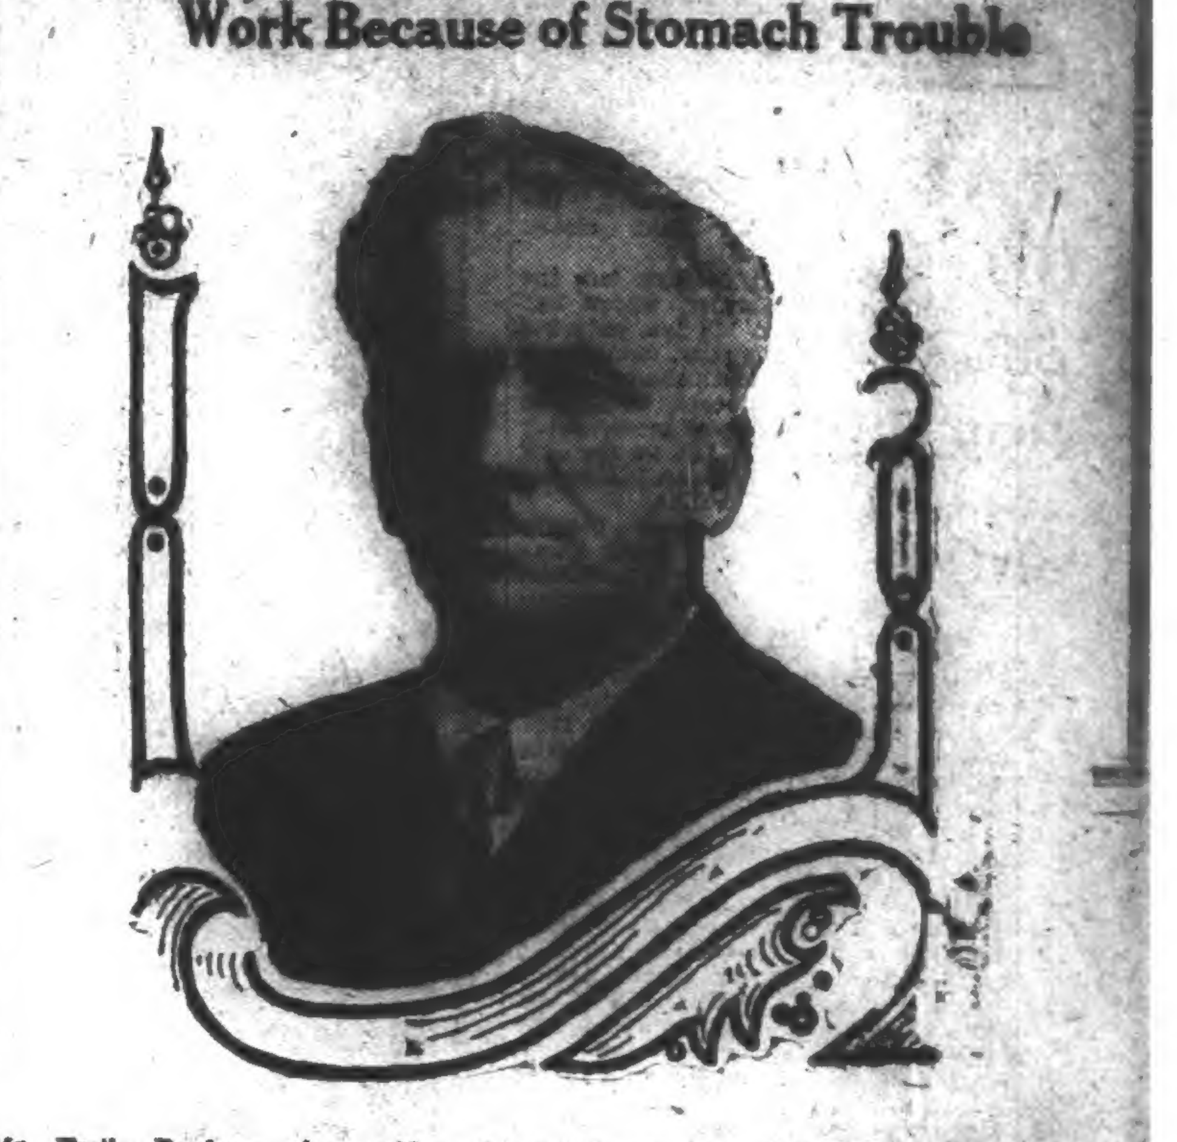
Toolmaker Often Was Unable To Work Because of Stomach Trouble



Mr. Emile Brodeur who resides at 191 South Leonard St., Waterbury, and who is employed by Waterbury Clock Co., says: "Bon-Tone has put an end to eight years suffering with stomach trouble. I certainly was in an awful condition. After I ate I would have severe pains in my stomach and would feel bloated, would belch gas and feel miserable. This kept getting worse all the time and finally I got so I would vomit all I ate and often would become very ill and would have to stay home from my work sometimes two days in one week. I didn't relish any food as I knew what I would have to suffer after eating. I had a lot of headaches and constipation was another source of complaint. With the first two bottles of Bon-Tone I took I could see a marked improvement so I kept on and now after eight bottles of this herbal remedy, I feel just fine. It has done me far more good than anything I ever took and I have taken plenty of medicines trying to get relief. I can now eat food I never dared eat before and it doesn't hurt me at all. I don't have any more pains, gas or vomiting spells—my stomach is working as it should. Constipation and headaches are things of the past and anyone who has suffered the agonies of stomach trouble will be able to realize how grateful I feel to Bon-Tone for the good it has done me."

Call on the Bon-Tone Man, at Smith's Pharmacy, Norwich, and he will tell you why thousands praise this tonic daily.

AUTHORIZED Buick SERVICE Marquette

Ask for a Copy of Buick's Owner Service Policy

The complete facts regarding Buick service, including Buick's new Owner Touring and Change of Residence privileges, may now be had in a brief, compact booklet, "Buick Owner Service Policy."

Buick would like everyone who now owns—or expects to own—a Buick car to be thoroughly acquainted with the liberal provisions of this Policy.

You may obtain a copy of this interesting booklet from the nearest Buick dealer, or by writing direct to Buick Motor Company, Flint, Michigan.

"Satisfy the customer." This has been the service policy of the Buick Motor Company throughout the twenty-seven years of its history. And so faithfully has Buick followed this policy that today the familiar blue and white emblem of Authorized Buick Service is a guidepost to prompt, efficient and courteous maintenance to more than 1,500,000 Buick owners. Buick has twice as many owners as any other company selling cars priced above $1200.

Here are just a few of the many important provisions of Buick's Service Policy:

More than 4,000 factory-supervised Buick Service Stations—equipped with genuine factory parts and tools—assure all Buick owners the same fine standard of skilled Buick service.

A written Warranty, covering the first 4,000 miles or the first 90 days of ownership, whichever shall accrue first, guarantees every new Buick car to be free from defects in material or workmanship.

Should parts or workmanship prove defective at any time during the Warranty period, Buick dealers will supply the parts and perform the necessary labor free of charge.

In addition to careful pre-delivery tests, the Buick owner receives two major inspections without cost—one after 500 miles and another after 1500 miles of driving. These include a thorough road test of all elements of performance.

The "Tourist" and "Change of Residence" clauses permit the Buick owner to change his residence as frequently as he desires or to tour any part of the United States or Canada and still receive the full Warranty benefits from the nearest authorized Buick dealer.

All Buick dealers fulfill these provisions of Buick's Service Policy. All dedicate themselves to the task of serving promptly, efficiently and courteously—providing maximum service at minimum cost—that owners of Buicks may remain friends of Buick always.

SHORT COVERING CANCELED EARLIER LOSSES IN STOCK MARKET YESTERDAY

NEW YORK, May 20.—(AP)—Under the impetus of extensive operations on the short side, stock trading resumed more familiar proportions today. It was largely a bears' market, although substantial buying orders, as well as short covering, during the last hour served to cancel earlier losses of 3 to 5 points in most of the leaders, which were lifted moderately above the previous close.

The day's sales totalled 3,526,400 shares, the best volume in nearly a fortnight, but strenuous and persistent short selling was required to shake the list out of its recent rut. U. S. Steel, American Can, General Electric and others were liquidated freely until the late dealings, when signs of an over-sold condition appeared and purchases of stock on the scale down were swelled by large buying orders for the prominent shares. As the shorts covered, the market rallied rapidly and closed strong.

Steel and General Motors led the late upturn. The former, which had been shoved down to 166 1-8, only 3-8 above its low for the year, came back to 170 1-8, where it finished with a 2 point net gain. Motors, bought in blocks of 5,000 shares or more, moved from just above 47 to 50 for a 2 1-2 point advance. General Electric recovered a 3 point decline.

The price movement was clearly professional. Selling of Steel was accelerated somewhat by unofficial reports that the industry's ingot production this week had dropped to an average of 75 per cent of capacity against 76 per cent last week, 96 per cent a year ago, and was slightly less than 82 per cent at this time in 1928.

Other items in the news, including a few unfavorable dividend actions, seemed to lend strength to bear sentiment, although the belief was expressed in some quarters that pessimism, as well as optimism, could be overdone. However, few observers were willing to revise their opinion that the market was facing a period of marked irregularity during which profits would be readily taken on rallies and stocks accumulated on declines. Uncertainty over the tariff appears to be an important factor just at present.

Calumet and Heckla Consolidated Copper declared a dividend of 50 cents, or half the previous disbursement. Gotham Silk Hosiery omitted the quarterly payment of 62 1-2 cents, announcing that in view of unsettled conditions in the industry the directors had deemed it advisable to preserve the company's financial position, which was said to be strong. Mergenthaler Linotype failed to declare the customary extra.

The credit situation remained unchanged. Call money was plentiful at 3 per cent and there were some concessions from that rate in the outside, but the demand for funds was slow. Time money was steady.

Utilities, as a group, were heavy and the rails dull, although Union Pacific moved up five points despite a reduction of about $600,000 in April net operating income as compared with last year's figure for the same month. J. I. Case went through one of its wide moves, advancing 7 points before the directors declared only the regular dividend and failed to make an announcement concerning a split-up. The stock then dropped 17 points from the top but recovered to 328 for a 3 point net gain. American Tobacco B lost several points and then rallied to finish 4 1-2 points higher. A large list of stocks made only small net changes.

Grain prices declined. Wheat sold off 1 1-8 to 1 1-2 cents on bearish Oklahoma and Canadian crop news. Corn eased 1 to 1 1-4 on bearish Illinois crop reports. Sugar was quiet and irregular. Cotton closed steady, 5 to 12 points higher.

European currencies were firmer, with sterling cables up slightly.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, May 20.—(AP) — The bond market made an indifferent start but a good finish today. The languidness displayed for many days was minimized as trading was accelerated, imparting a firmer tone to standard issues, particularly rails.

The volume was considerably above that of the past few sessions and accumulations were more extensive in the high grade domestic group and convertibles. The latter, which have been strongly reactionary of late reflecting the dull share market, were able to recover most of their lost ground.

Another notable feature was the improvement in United States government bonds. Broad trading continued in foreign bonds but on the whole price changes were small.

Banks and corporations appeared to have come into the market today more extensively than they have for some days. The heaviest demand among rail issues was for Erie 5s, and Pennsylvania 4 1-2s, which gained more than half a point each, and St. Louis, San Francisco 4 1-2 and 4s which ended more than one point higher. Gains of 1-8 to 1-2 were made by many others while recessions were generally on thin sales. St. Paul 5s, one of the most active issues, lost 3-4 of a point.

Widest fluctuations were shown by industrials. Cuba Cane Products 6s sagged one point to a new 1930 low at 25. American Beet Sugar 6s lost 2 1-2; Colorado Fuel and Iron 5s gained 1 1-2. East Cuba 7 1-2 rose two points. Foreign bonds moved within narrow limits.

Trading in American Telephone 4 1-2s was the heaviest in many days, the convertible moved irregularly, dropping 2 1-2 points but closed only 1-2 lower. General Theatres 6s of '40, International Telephone 5s, Philadelphia, Reading Coal and Iron 6s, were steady to firm at the close.

United States governments showed new life and gained good fractions. Liberty 1st 4 1-4s, an inactive issue, led the group with a gain of 1 12-32s on the sale of two bonds.

THE CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, May 20.—(AP) — The curb market was awakened from its drowse today with a rapid churning about of prices, which piled up total sales of more than 1,000,000 shares for the first time in several days, and left stocks irregularly higher.

Leading issues sold off sharply in the early hours of trading, then rebounded even more swiftly in the last half hour, in sympathy with the sharp upturn on the big board. Most of the more active shares fluctuated over ranges of 2 to 5 points.

Electric Bond and Share dropped 3 points, then rallied to close fractionally higher. American Superpower and United Light A were also firm at the close. American Gas and American Light sold off 4 and 3 points, respectively, then reduced their losses to 1 point each.

In the Natural Gas group, Duquesne, a comparative newcomer was well bought, reaching a new high record level at 17. United Appalachian, Missouri Kansas Pipe Line, and Memphis moved in narrow ranges.

Oils were highly irregular, Vacuum dropped about 2 points to a new low for the year, and made partial recovery. Cities Service, after selling off about two points, closed down 3-4. The Indian Territory issues were off about a point at the finish. Humble was up 2 and Gulf down 2 5-8.

In the specialties, Louis Phillipe A stock sold up a point to 22, equalling the year's high, in response to the announcement of a consolidation with Neet, Inc., and another cosmetics manufacturer, but Neet failed to make notable response.

Cooper Bessemer was a firm spot in the industrials, rising a couple of points to a new high, evidently in response to a favorable analysis by a private statistical agency. Driver Harris rallied about 5 points. Deere sold up about 5, lost its gain, and closed up 2 1-2. Aviation stocks were largely dull, although Irving Air Chute was again in fair demand.

In the investment trusts, all American General sold up a couple of points, evidently in response to report of a merger with Atlas Utility, but lost part of its gain when the report was denied by the management. Atlas sagged.

GALES FERRY

The annual meeting of the Epworth league was held Wednesday evening in the vestry. The pastor, Rev. Harold H. Critchlow, presided in the absence of the president, Courtland E. Colver, Jr., and Mrs. Dudley C. Perkins was appointed secretary in the absence of Miss Em Beth Bennett. A report was given by Miss Lillian Atkins for the third department and Mrs. Courtland E. Colver read the treasurer's report. Pledges to the church budget and world service were made as in former years and it was voted to make the interest on the parsonage loan a goal for the coming year. Mrs. R. Irving Hurlbutt, chairman, reported for the nominating committee, and the following officers were elected as nominated: President, Miss Lillian Atkins; first vice president, Miss Helen L. Colver; second vice president, Miss Ethel F. Main; third vice president, Miss Velma Atkins; fourth vice president, Miss Gertrude D. Allen; secretary, Miss Em Beth Bennett; treasurer, Miss Margaret S. Colver. A social hour followed. Sandwiches, cake and cocoa were served.

The Church That Grew in Pentecostal Power, was the theme of the Sunday morning sermon at the Community church, by the pastor, Rev. Harold H. Critchlow. The anthem, I've Found a Friend, sung by the choir at the offertory, had solo parts by Miss Grace A. Chapman and D. R. Povey. A bank of dogwood blossoms was arranged in front of the altar.

A meeting of the Sunday school board was called at the close of the church school. Rev. Mr. Critchlow, presiding. Plans for Children's day were made, Mrs. Avery Main and Mrs. J. Edmund Norman, being elected program committee. It was voted to hold the exercises at the church school hour, following the morning service. Sunday, June 15. Mrs. Nelson Parker and Mrs. C. Alton Chapman are to have charge of the decorations. It was voted to present the graduating classes Bibles and the junior department superintendent, Mrs. R. Irving Hurlbutt, with Mrs. H. H. Critchlow and Mrs. C. A. Chapman as appointed the purchasing committee. The annual church budget pledge was made.

The Symmetrical Life was the subject of the evening sermon and was followed by the anniversary service of the Epworth league and installation. Miss Helen L. Colver, first vice president, was in charge of the opening song service and the junior choir sang God's Love Will Never Grow Old.

This week, Thursday evening, District Superintendent Myron E. Genter, of Norwich, will conduct the first quarterly conference in place of Wednesday evening as first announced.

A meeting of the Ladies' Aid society has been called for Friday afternoon in the vestry.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, May 20.—(AP)—Creating a precedent, oats today temporarily became the price leader of the grain trade, and pulled values down all around. A selling flurry to stop losses on the part of holders of oats futures resulted in new bottom prices for the season on every oats future except May.

Stop loss selling spread from oats into wheat and had a bearish influence on corn. Favorable crop prospects for oats started the selling, and revealed that the oats market was without any aggressive support from buyers.

All grain closed weak at practically the day's lowest level, with oats and wheat both 1 1-8a1 1-2c a bushel under yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1c a 1 1-2c down and provisions varying from 2c decline to an equal gain.

Provisions were easy, responsive to downturns in hog values and in grain.

NEW YORK, May 20.—(AP)— Steel ingot production has been reduced during the past week, with the average around 75 per cent compared with 76 per cent in the preceding week. The United States Steel Corporation has made no change, continuing to operate at a shade under 80 per cent.

Plants of the Real Silk Hosiery mills are being operated at capacity, according to President Porter M. Farrell, who reported that the company's sales for every month this year have surpassed the same month in 1929.

A block of 34,980 shares of stock of the Chase National Bank were sold at auction today in lots of 1,000 shares for a total of $5,975,140. Prices ranged from 169 1-2, to as high as 175.

Edwin A. Potter, Jr., vice president of the Guaranty Trust company and a director in Wilson and company, Remington Arms and several other concerns, has been elected a director of the Starrett corporation.

SOUTH KILLINGLY

Funeral services for Mrs. Aden Tillinghast were held in the church, Tuesday afternoon, at three o'clock. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Watt, assisted by Rev. Mr. Wooster of the North Sterling church, Rev. Mr. Buker of Anthony, R. I., and Rev. H. A. Coolidge, pastor of the local church. "Abide With Me," and "Still Still With Thee," were sung by a male quartet from Danielson and Mr. Wooster sang "No Night There." Burial was in Westfield cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Barlow and son, Ernest, spent Sunday with Boston friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Slater recently entertained Mrs. Willis Hill and daughter Audrey, of Central Village.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spaulding have returned to their home in Auburn, R. I., after spending two weeks' at Spaulding cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Winsor Barlow of Hillsgrove, R. I., spent Sunday with local friends.

A very pleasant social was held in the Community house, Friday evening under direction of Mrs. Byron Place and Mrs. George Slater. The entertainment consisted of orchestral music, piano selections, vocal solos, readings, an umbrella act and music and stunts by the Boy Scouts and their leader.

Mrs. Fred Willis and Addie Holland, of Putnam, were entertained at dinner, Tuesday, by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hall being the birthday anniversary of Miss Holland.

Elwin Tilton was in Meriden, Friday, where, as a member of the K. H. S. band, he participated in the state contest.

Several local people were in Danielson, Wednesday evening, to hear the very fine concert given by the Pawtucket high school band.

Some planting has been done, but on account of dry, cool weather, seeds germinate very slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. John Crowley spent Friday evening with Providence friends.

The death of Mr. Mazzarella occurred Saturday at his home on the Providence road. He has been a resident here for many years.

Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Coolidge spent a day, recently in Becket, Mass., where they formerly lived.

NO. GROSVENORDALE

Sunday at 3 p. m. there was a baseball game between Quinebaug A. C. and the Giants of North Grosvenordale. Quinebaug won 13 to 10. It was the opening game of the New England Southern league. The lineup was:

Quinebaug A. C.	Giants
Mack 1b	Mandeville cf
Donahue 2b	R. Ravenelle 2b
Desautels ss	H. Ravenelle lf
G. Canty 3b	Johnson 1b
J. Canty cf	Duquette rf
F. Mangan lf	Blid c
Donais rf	Aucoin 3b
Hetu c	Wasclewski ss
Wentworth p	Hebert p
Weich p	Coderre p
Kelly rf	Lepire lf
	Ducharme lf

Another game will be played next Sunday between St. Joseph's of Webster and the Giants at the Grosvenordale Athletic grounds

A driver named Teberski, from Webster, met with an accident here Sunday afternoon. With him was Esther Korch also of Webster. While they were coming down the road a car was parked near the highway watching the ball game backed and hit Tiberski car on the side and turned it over. Tiberski had two broken fingers and Miss Korch had a bruised eye.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dillon and son, Thomas, Jr., of Middletown, Conn., spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. William Prnice.

B. Laflamme, arrested Saturday night for non-support, was sentenced to 14 days for non-support and 15 days for bad conduct, by the court.

A meeting was held at the Legion rooms Sunday afternoon for boys of 12 years and older. Commander Frank Pelletier organized a Boy Scout troop to carry out the Boy Scout movement discussed and urged by Oscar Swanson post.

Brown, of the Y. M. C. A. grammar baseball league, is leading the three other teams in the league and is striving to win the championship pennant. Grosvenordale (Brown) has won three straight games with no defeats while Thompson (Dartmouth) has won two games.

A baseball game was played on the Grosvenordale Athletic grounds Friday between St. Joseph's school of North Grosvenordale and St. Mary's Boy Scouts of Putnam. St. Joseph's won, 10 to 9.

Miss Cecile Loiselle, formerly of this town, now an entertainer over WORC, Worcester broadcasting station, sang in St. Joseph's church at the 8 o'clock mass Sunday morning.

G. Corriveau of this town has bought a farm near the Quinebaug road from Mr. Kaminsky.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lachapelle and Arthur Lachapelle motored to Ansonia Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Provost spent the week-end with Attawaugan relatives.

COLUMBIA

The Center school gave a play at the town hall Friday afternoon to an audience of parents and friends. The children had read "The Merchant of Venice" and then from memory had reconstructed the play in their own words and it was given in this form. The children taking part were: Antonio, Westcott Rice; Bassanio, David Hunt; Shylock, Sylvia Price; Portia, Margaret Badge; Nerissa, Lois Clarke; Gratiano, Jasper Woodward; Duke of Venice, Bertha Buell; Messenger, Jack Siegel; Balthazer, Mary Szegda; Clerk, Joe Szegda; people in the court scene, Grades 1 and 2. Between the acts Bertha Buell played a piano solo, Westcott Rice a violin solo and Sylvia Price sang a Jewish song. The children showed much ability and gave a good entertainment. Similar plays are being given in each town school, one act from each to be chosen and used at the graduation exercises of the town schools next month.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hutchins spent Thursday in Hartford.

Mr. and Mrs. James Grimm of Bridgeport are visiting for a few days with Mrs. Grimm's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Collins, at Chestnut Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stanley and little daughter, Jean, of Andover spent part of Thursday with Mrs. Stanley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hutchins.

R. T. Smith of Hartford is making extensive additions to his cottage at the lake. The work is in charge of Philip Isham.

Several Columbia pupils took part in the exhibition held at Windham high school Friday evening. Parents and friends were invited to inspect the work of each room, also to atend an entertainment given in the auditorium, with music by the high school orchestra, music by the glee clubs, French and Latin plays, and gymnastic exhibitions by both girls and boys.

The Columbia boy scouts, led by their scoutmaster, Jack Buell, hiked to the top of Nigger hill Friday evening and after arriving there regaled themselves with a lunch of hot dogs.

The census enumerator, Raymond Clarke, has completed his work of Columbia with the following results as given by headquarters in Willimantic. The present population is 649, as against 706, in 1920, a loss of 57. However, residents of Columbia do not feel that the town is going backwards as regards population in spite of figures, as 10 years ago summer residents were few, and if the present summer population could be credited to Columbia, the population would be nearly doubled.

Mrs. E. E. Lyman of Wethersfield was a week end guest of her son, Raymond Lyman, and family.

Week end guests of Mrs. Raymond Squiers, were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lyman of Plainville, and Miss Congetta Sergio of Forestville. Miss Sergio taught at the Pine street school last year.

A minstrel show as given by the Sunshine club of Norwich, under the auspices of the local girls' 4-H club, was enjoyed by a large audience at Yeomans hall, Saturday night. The local club reaped some of the financial benefits, the show being given on a percentage basis.

Rev. John Pryor, of New Haven, preached at Columbia church Sunday morning. His subject was: "In Quest for the Best," and his text was: "I seek not yours, but you."

Miss Harriet Fuller had as guests, Sunday, her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. William Cadman, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spencer and family, all of New London.

Buy a Six of Course but be Sure
it's a Super-Six

The Essex Challenger is a Super-Six. By its patented principle the ability of the 6-cylinder type is freed to the limit. It is responsible for a performance and smoothness that belong exclusively to the Essex Challenger. That is why we say—and more buyers every day are saying—"not just a Six, but a Super-Six."

ESSEX Challenger Gives Sparkling Performance

Essex performance comes from its completely balanced motor and power line. This balance of aluminum pistons, crankshaft, clutch and flywheel, coupled with the Lanchester Balancer gives more power and smoothness at all speeds.

Roadability and Safety

Longer wheelbase, larger tires and patented spring suspension make Essex the most roadable of cars. High speed with safety is possible because of the positive action of four-wheel brakes.

Interior appointments carry the same motif as fenders and lamps.

Upholstery is of finest quality. There is a graceful three-spoke steering wheel, and the instrument panel holds starter, electric fuel and oil level gauge as well as motometer.

This is the finest, best performing Essex value ever built. It holds scores of records established during continent-wide Challenger Week. See it and drive it. You will need no other proof that this is not just a six, but a Super-Six.

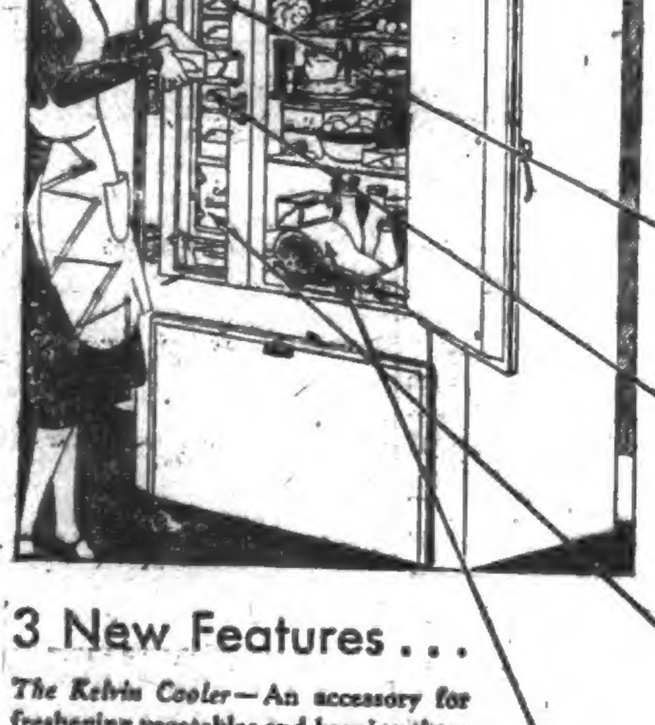
KELVINATOR'S
4-way cold means—



Two Degrees of Cold for Foods—One for milk, meats, fruits, vegetables and other perishables; another for frozen meats and fish, game, frozen fruits. . . . More Ice—100% Faster Freezing of Ice and Frozen Desserts, such as sherbets, mousses and parfaits. . . . Less Work—Being entirely automatic, there is nothing to control by hand, and therefore no tax on the memory. . . . No Food Spoilage—The 4 different cold temperatures do their work in 4 different compartments, entirely separate from each other. Thus the main food compartment is always between 40 and 50 degrees—and never at food freezing temperature.

KELVINATOR'S AUTOMATIC 4-WAY COLD GIVES YOU

1 More Ice Automatically—De luxe models provide more ice, size for size, than any other refrigerator. From 20 to 34 pounds at a freezing.

2 Automatic Super-Fast Freezing—In a second compartment, a very low cold for extra-quick ice. Iso-Thermic Tubes—exclusive Kelvinator feature—give extraordinary freezing speed.

3 Automatic Cold Storage—In de luxe models a third compartment, with below-freezing cold for cold storage of meats, game, fish, ice cream, etc.

4 Scientific Refrigeration—In food compartments, a 40 to 50-degree constant cold—automatically maintained—just the right temperature, science says, to keep foods fresh.

3 New Features . . .

The Kelvin Cooler—An accessory for freshening vegetables and keeping them fresh. Also used as a water cooler. All-porcelain, with faucet. Fits the wide Kelvinator food shelves. New Rubber Ice Trays—Made of flexible pure rubber. Bend easily in the hands, releasing one or a dozen ice cubes. These trays increase the usable yield of ice from 33 to 50 per cent because they prevent waste by melting under faucet. Inside Electric Light—On de luxe models, an electric light illuminates the cabinet. Switch and light indicator on front of box. A convenience that will be appreciated by every housewife.

Everyone can now own a Kelvinator—on Easy Terms—

The model Kelvinator you require may be purchased on easy terms through Kelvinator's attractive ReDisCo monthly budget plan.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

WHEREAS, an application has been made to the Zoning Board of Appeals by Raymond Kiecolt for permission to transfer ownership of the gasolene station at 163-165 North Main Street and also for permission to install two additional gasolene pumps at this same location;

All persons who may be concerned are hereby notified that a hearing upon said application will be held by the Zoning Board of Appeals of the Town and City of Norwich in the Mayor's Office, City Hall, on Thursday, May 29th, 1930, at 11 a. m.

The foregoing hearing is held in accordance with the provisions of a certain "Act Entitled An Act Concerning location of Gasolene Stations" passed by the General Assembly Session of 1929.

Dated at Norwich, Conn., this 19th day of May, 1930.

By WALTER T. CAMP, Secretary.
Zoning Board of Appeals.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

The State of Connecticut through its duly authorized Board of Trustees for the State Training School and Hospital at Mansfield, Conn., invites proposals from reputable contractors for all of the material and labor and power house equipment for the four buildings listed below—

A—The Power House
B—The Laundry
C—The Boys' Dormitory
D—The Girls' Dormitory

all to be erected on the site as shown by the plot plan and all other plans and specifications as prepared by the architectural offices of Towner and Sellew Associates, Architects, Central National Bank Building, Middletown, Conn. and from whom all further information may be obtained.

The Trustees do not obligate themselves to accept the lowest or any proposal and the State does not obligate itself to make any payment on Buildings C and D until such dates as may be subsequent to July 1st, 1930. Connecticut contractors will be given the preference in awarding contracts and the contractor has the privilege of submitting a total bid for the four buildings but each building must be allocated to a definite figure to conform to within the legislative appropriated sum.

The proposals shall be sealed in an opaque envelope, the outside of which shall bear the endorsement:— "Sealed Proposals for State Training School at Mansfield, Conn." and shall have the contractor's name and address on the upper left hand corner, and shall have enclosed with the proposal, a certified cheque for Eighteen Thousand Dollars ($18,000.00) for the four buildings proper and the number of working days required for the entire job shall be stated.

Two thousand dollars for equipment item Part 9 being boilers, etc.

Five hundred dollars for equipment item Part 10 being piping, equipment pertaining to pumps, tanks, etc., also covering.

Fifteen hundred dollars for equipment item Part 12 being for electric wiring from switchboard, etc.

All certified cheques to be made payable to Samuel R. Spencer, State Treasurer and shall become forfeited to the State as liquidated and ascertained damages in event of a bidder failing to enter into a contract and furnish a satisfactory bond within five days after an award has been made.

The proposals shall be addressed to Honorable Everett J. Lake, Acting Chairman of the Board of Trustees and delivered at the office of the State Comptroller on the first floor of the State Capitol in Hartford, Conn. not later than 11:00 A. M. Eastern Standard Time, Monday, June 2nd, 1930 and they will be opened publicly at 1:00 P. M. Eastern Standard Time the same day in the Old Senate Chamber on the second floor of the State Capitol.

A 100% contract bond will be required of the successful contractor which bond shall be paid for by the contractor and shall be from an approved corporate surety company and shall be approved as to form by the Attorney General for the State of Connecticut.

Copies of the plans and specifications may be had by reputable and bona fide bidders from the Architects at any time after Friday noon, May 9th, 1930, upon deposit of Fifty Dollars which will be refunded, less $10.00 for the cost of reproduction of plans and specifications, upon the safe return of the drawings and specifications and receipt of proposal.

Breed Theatre.

Norma Shearer wears one of the most costly garments ever designed for motion pictures in the Pullman train scenes of "The Divorcee," her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, talking picture showing all this week at the Breed theatre.

The gown, a lounging affair, was created by Adrian and executed in gold brocades of solid patterns and panels. It was insured for $15,000 during the production.

Will Address Teachers' League

Miss Sara Fahey, regional director of the Department of Classroom Teachers of the National Education association is to speak to the Norwich Teachers' league, today (Wednesday), on "Developing Appreciation of School Service."

Miss Fahey, who was widely known as a leader in the work of obtaining suffrage for women, has just returned from a field trip for the National Education association which took her as far as Miami, Florida. She addressed conferences and county conventions and college groups. She spoke in Richmond, Winchester, Martinsville, Jacksonville, Columbia, S. C., Charleston, Miami university, Coral Gables and the college of William and Mary, Williamsburg.

A controversy over the relative merits of American and French talkies is being waged in Turkey, with the odds much against the former. The first French talkie is running at Istanbul with such overwhelming success that the local papers are unanimous in asking for more French and fewer American films.

POETRY

Drawing A Post

The Sun, as hot as he was bright,
Had got to his meridian height;
'Twas sultry noon—for not a breath
Of cooling zephyr fann'd the heath—
When Syntax cried— "'Tis all in vain
To find my way across the plain;
So here my fortune I will try,
And wait till some one passes by;
Upon that bank awhile I'll sit,
And let poor Grizzle graze a bit;
But as my time shall not be lost,
I'll make a drawing of the post;
And, though your flimsy tastes may flout it,
There's something picturesque about it;
'Tis rude and rough, without a gloss,
And is well cover'd o'er with moss;
And I've a right — (who dares deny it?)
To place yon group of asses by it:
Aye! this will do; and now I'm thinking,
That self-same pond where Grizzle's drinking,
If hither brought 'twould better seem,
And faith I'll turn it to a stream;
I'll make this flat a shaggy ridge,
And o'er the water throw a bridge;
I'll do as other sketches do—
Put any thing into the view;
And any object recollect,
To add a grace, and give effect.
Thus, though from truth I haply err,
The scene preserves its character.
What man of taste my right will doubt,
To put things in, or leave them out?
'Tis more than right, it is a duty,
If we consider landscape beauty:—
He ne'er will as an artist shine,
Who copies nature line by line;
Whoe'er from nature takes a view
Must copy and improve it too;
To heighten ev'ry work of art,
Fancy should take an active part;
Thus I (which few, I think, can boast)
Have made a Landscape of a Post.

—William Combe, in "The Tour of Dr. Syntax," 1812.

Plain Speaking

If every one should tell the truth,
And tell it all the time,

Occasionally we should need
A friendly tree to climb,
For when we tell our friends the truth
It doesn't always please,
And so we'd very likely feel
The need of friendly trees.

But there is little likelihood
That this will come to pass.
We shall not show our friends their faults
As in a looking-glass.
Instead, their obvious defects
Our speech will minimize,
And we shall smoothly flatter them
With pleasant little lies!

—Somerville Journal.

GREENE AND FONTAINE VIRTUALLY RESPONSIBLE FOR ACADEMY VICTORY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, May 20—Boots Greene was in top form today, letting Westerly high down with three scattered singles, while his Norwich Free Academy mates, and especially Bud Fontaine, his catcher, collected seven hits off two pitchers to win 4 to 1. It was the eleventh victory in 13 starts for the Wildcats and placed them back in a first place tie in the league standing with Bulkeley.

Almost Has One-Hit Shutout

Greene was robbed of a shutout by his own wild throw in the sixth, that allowed Tucker to score, but aside from this stanza Westerly came no nearer scoring than second base and then only once to that station. Westerly only put four men on base, three on hits and one on a pass. Two of the hits, one by Dotolo and the other by Tucker, were of the scratch variety.

Westerly used two pitchers. Tucker worked until there were two out in the eighth and being charged with four runs and six hits. Novak finished.

Fontaine was the leading Academy sticker with a triple and two singles in three attempts. He scored two runs and drove in another so that the tilt was virtually an all-battery affair. Greene and Fontaine worked beautifully together while in the Academy infield Gibbs and Arico also played a nice game. Gibbs had seven chances and Arico 15. One play by Gibbs coming in the third on Christy was a beauty. Christy hit a hot one through Greene that Boots was barely able to touch. It slowed up the ball a bit and Chubby, racing in behind the box scooped it up and nailed the runner by a step.

Academy Scores in First

The Academy scored once in the first inning when Arico walked, stole second and tallied on Fontaine's line single over short. They added two in the third when Fontaine led off with a tremendous triple past Collins in center, the ball rolling to the fence, and he came home on a passed ball. Breen shot a single into left, and stole second. Weisgraber hit to short and when Stenhouse let the ball get away from him at third as Dotolo threw there to head off Breen, Mickey scored. Fontaine started off the eighth with a hit to left and took second when Celestino let the ball get away from him. Bud took third on a passed ball and came in on Weisgraber's hot shot off Stenhouse's glove.

Westerly's run came when Tucker singled past third, took second on an infield out and then, when Greene threw to third on Collins' grounder, to the box to head off Tucker, and threw it wild, Tucker scored.

WILDCAT SCRATCHES

The team didn't hit so well, but it was enough and a little more, the way Boots was going.

This balanced the 12 to 11 victory Westerly gained over N. F. A. at Norwich two weeks ago.

Both first basemen had plenty to do. Arico handled 15 chances and Mudge was only one behind.

Greene, besides pitching a masterful game, checked in with his second hit of the year, a solid single to left in the ninth. He got as far as third, stealing that base after Arico had walked to push him around to second but he was stranded.

The Academy team was shifted around a bit with Fitzgerald at second, Crowell and Flather alternating in right with the change of pitchers and Weisgraber back in left field. Crowell and Flather batted in second position.

A fair sized crowd of around 500 or 600 was on hand.

Of the three hits off Boots, only one, the first by Tucker, was a clean bingle. The others were mis-judged pop-ups on which the Academy could not seem to agree today.

Now comes Bulkeley on the Academy slate the return tilt at Mercer field Saturday. It may be that Greene, after his exhibition of today, will draw that assignment with Weisgraber in left. This looks like the best arrangement Coach Brigham has.

FALL RIVER SLATED TO PLAY J. B. MARTIN SUNDAY

The fast Fall River A. C. nine under the management of Dan Costigan will appear at the Taftville diamond Sunday afternoon to do battle with the J. B. Martin team in its second start of the season. Fans who were planning on attending last Sunday's game to see Walter Lindner, star twirler, and did not as a result of the rain, will again have that opportunity the coming Sunday. He will pitch for the Martins.

N. F. A. Defends Title In Scholastic Meet

This afternoon at Rhode Island state college, Kingston, R. I., five high schools of the eastern Conn.-Western R. I. Interscholastic conference will compete for the league championship in the annual meet. The Academy, for the first time in history, is in the role of defender this year, having won its honors in impressive fashion last year at Morgan park, New London. The other schools competing are Bulkeley and Chapman Tech of New London Westerly and Stonington highs.

The Academy and Bulkeley are looked upon as favorites. Bulkeley scored a close victory over the Wildcats in a recent dual meet and may be listed as the odds on choice to bring home the bacon, but things are usually different in these interscholastics than in the dual affairs. Stonington may furnish plenty of opposition to the Tigers and Wildcats, but Chapman Tech and Westerly are not rated as strong enough to figure seriously in the calculations.

Each school has at least one outstanding performer entered. The Academy has three or four, including Capt. Sam Berkman, Frank Barber, Johnnie Lenkiewicz, Rootes and Wood. Bulkeley has the Priolo brothers, Wetmore. Chapman Tech has Ray Dolan and Joe Quinn. Stonington has Ed Goyette and Westerly, Ed Cotter.

FRENCH ALLOWS REDS 4 HITS AND PIRATES WIN

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 20—(AP)—The Reds dropped their fourth straight game today when French, Pittsburgh portside pitcher held them to four hits, the Pirates winning 5 to 0. Bool's double, a balk and Bartell's sacrifice accounted for the first and winning run in the second inning. The score:

WEEKLY PENSION OF $8 FOR WEALTHY CINCY MAN

CINCINNATI, May 20—(AP)—Recipient of $10,000 a year from the Cincinnati National league baseball club and believed to be wealthy in his own right, August (Garry) Hermann, former dictator of organized baseball, applied for and was granted an $8 weekly pension by the International Typographical union.

Several weeks ago old time printer associates suggested that Garry was entitled to a union pension. Hermann consulted Ben L. Mullich, secretary of local union 3 and found the union granted pensions after members reached the age of 60 and had served 25 years.

Garry is 71 years old and became a member over 40 years ago.

WORLD OF ACTION IN OFFING FOR FANS AT SHYMA SHOW THIS EVENING

TONIGHT'S CARD

Main Bout—Ten Rounds
Al Beauregard of Taftville vs.
Johnny Pena of New York

Semi-Final Bout—Eight Rounds
Eddie Reed of Hartford vs.
Jose Routis of San Francisco

Preliminaries
Six Rounds
Ray Myers of Brooklyn vs.
Eddie Ziegler of Newark

Six Rounds
Rene Peloquin of Danielson vs.
Long Sing Que of New York

Six Rounds
Julio Rossi of Westerly vs.
Ted Blanc of Montville.

What is generally accepted as one of the finest boxing cards that have been arranged by the Shyma Boxing club will be presented at the club's outdoor arena, Taftville, this evening, featuring in the main bout, Al Beauregard, of Taftville, New England bantamweight champion, and Johnny Pena, of New York, sensational Spanish bantamweight, in ten rounds. It is predicted that there will be a knockout in this affair, the odds favoring Beauregard, who has made an impressive record in his late appearances in the ring.

Beauregard-Pena

That this tussle alone is worth the price of admission is conceded by the fans at large. It is bound to be productive of much action as each fighter is desirous of winning by the knockout route. Both men are equipped with a pair of mitts that they can swing with alacrity and have the punch that carries with it that something that stuns the one with whom it comes in contact. Beauregard is now champion of the bantamweight class, which position he has reached after meeting the best in the division, while Pena is just another good fighter. To let Pena gain the decision over him will not look so well, therefore, Beauregard, as he tells it, will go in there with the vengeance to floor his opponent in short order. We will see what we will see.

Reed-Routis

In the semi-final, due to unforeseen circumstances, the officials of the Shyma club have had to make a substitution in view of the fact that Joey Williams, slated to appear in this encounter, was accidentally hurt over an eye and had to drop from the match. So Eddie Reed of Hartford will swap punches with Jose Routis of San Francisco as a result. In matching Reed as Routis' opponent the club's card is improved considerably as Eddie has a remarkable record and is in fine condition, since he has been training for his match with Johnny Pena at the Hartford velodrome next Monday. Reed is going in there to make a good impression on the fans as he is pointing to a title bout with Beauregard. If he makes a creditable showing in tonight's set-to it is understood that he will receive a chance to meet the Taftville boy. So hold your seats if Reed becomes a bit wild and scatters things around the ring.

Myers-Ziegler

In this six round go one of the finest featherweight glove swingers in the country, Ray Myers, of Brooklyn, former national amateur champion, will face Eddie Ziegler, of Newark, N. J., the bout to have a little bit of local interest. Myers who has turned professional and is doing creditable work in these ranks won over our clever little Greeneville fighter, Jimmy Quinn, when he won the amateur title at Boston about a month ago. Now any boxer who has beaten Jimmy has the goods and is certain to make a good showing against any man. Ziegler is a snappy, smart fighter and will give the Brooklyn lad a few things to think about and a few mitts to dodge.

Peloquin-Long Sing Que

Two classy little fighters come together in one of the preliminaries in Rene Peloquin of Danielson and Long Sing Que, who are engaging in a return bout. Although Peloquin is small of stature and has a small reach, he is a clever little boxer and in addition packs a pound of dynamite in each swing. The Chinaman is equally as clever as Peloquin or very nearly so. He lost the decision to the Danielson boy in the first get-together. There will be a lot of good boxing in this tilt.

Rossi-Blanc

The final preliminary affords a boy from Westerly an opportunity to test his mettle with a Montville lad. These boys are Julio Rossi of the Rhode Island city and Ted Blanc from the village of Montville. Blanc is a favorite to win this tussle, as he holds the lightweight championship of Morristown, N. J., county and has had a lot of experience in the boxing game.

The advance ticket sale has been fairly good for this show, which is the first to be held outdoors, after the club had served up a fine assortment of fighters at their indoor arena. Bleachers at the grounds, in addition to the ringside seats, have a seating capacity of more than 1,700, and a good part of these are expected to be taken when the gong is rung for the first tussle.

The Greeneville A. C. nine, one of the fastest local teams, will take on the Fort Trumbull Stars in a contest Sunday afternoon at Hollyhock Island. This is the second game of the series between these two teams, the locals having won over the Stars in their first tilt, 2 to 0.

CHUBBUCK STARS IN AGGIES TRACK VICTORY

HARTFORD, May 20—(AP)—The Connecticut Aggies track team, led by Dan Chubbuck, who took five places and one second to register 28 points, beat the Trinity college team, 86 to 40, here today.

SANDLOT BASEBALL

Broadway school defeated St. Patrick's at the Academy campus Tuesday afternoon by a 12 to 8 score. Hastings, Marshall and Lamperell starred for the winners, while Tommy Roach hurled a nice game for the losers.

St. Mary's fifth grade team won a close game from the Greeneville fifth graders Tuesday afternoon, the score being 4 to 3. Sullivan and Casey was the battery for the winners.

With Shorty behind the bat and Karenkewics twirling the Junior Green Mountains boys trimmed the North Street Pirates Tuesday afternoon by a 9 to 6 score.

The Norwich Cubs would like to arrange a game with either one of the following teams: Trojans, Shymas, Hardigs, Norwich All Stars, to be played Saturday at the J. B. Martin field. Answer through this paper or call 3154 between 6 and 7, any evening.

Several home runs featured the game between the Red Rovers and the Roath Street Tigers played Tuesday afternoon, the latter team winning by a 11 to 6 score. Joe Wallen, who pitched for the winners, contributed three of them. George Stone and Red Burke caught for the Tigers.

The Young Hawks challenge the Roath Street Tigers for a game to be played Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Hollyhock Island. Answer through the paper.

The Red Riders swamped the Ace of Spades nine Tuesday afternoon at Hollyhock Island. The score was 12 to 6. The Red Riders are anxious to play the Silver Bullets on Memorial day. If challenge is accepted answer through the paper.

N. F. A. Tennis Team Downs Tech, 6 to 0

In a tennis match at the Whaling City Tuesday afternoon the Norwich Free Academy team defeated the fast Chapman Tech squad by a score of 6 to 0. The local team as a whole showed the best form of the year, and although Chapman fought hard the Academy won easily.

Spiro, leading off for the Academy, won from Slodden in straight sets, 7-5, 7-5, and Moody at No. 2 for the locals, disposed of his man. Alexander (N), playing a steady game, defeated Tyrrel, and Beckenstein finished out the singles matches by winning handily from Bradshaw, 6-3, 6-3.

In the doubles, Spiro and Moody played their usual good game to gain revenge over Slodden and Raymond, who hold the distinction of being the only team to date which has defeated the Academy's crack combination. This happened when Tech played Norwich in the first game of the season. Morse and Tingley filled out the slate by defeating Bradshaw and Tyrrel in the final match. The scores:

Singles

Spiro (N) beat Slodden (C), 7-5, 7-5.
Moody (N) beat Raymond (C), 6-1, 6-1.
Alexander (N) beat Tyrrel (C), 6-0, 6-1.
Beckenstein (N) beat Bradshaw (C), 6-3, 6-3.

Doubles

Spiro and Moody (N) beat Slodden and Raymond (C), 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.
Tingley and Morse (N) beat Bradshaw and Tyrrel (C), 7-5, 4-6, 6-2.

The next matches are with Torrington H. S. at Torrington Saturday, May 24, and St. Thomas seminary at Hartford, May 26.

LEONARD WINS DECISIVE DECISION OVER ROSSI

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, May 20.—Sheik Leonard of Norwich won a decisive decision over Jimmy Rossi of Westerly in the semi-final of the opening show held in Pawcatuck tonight under the auspices of St. Michael's council, Knights of Columbus. The show marked the opening of the summer season and brought fully a thousand fans to the Stillman avenue open air arena. Leonard beat Rossi in almost all of the six rounds. The fight was fast with both boys willing.

In the main bout, Eddie Keeley, Waterbury heavyweight, won an easy decision over Big Boy Burlap, Westerly's colored champion. Although considerably outweighed, Keeley cut the local champion to ribbons in all of the eight rounds. The Connecticut man was much too fast and kept out of the way of Burlap's characteristic rushes.

The first knockout of the night came in the third bout when Joe Russo of Westerly turned out the lights for Young Martelle of New London in two minutes and 20 seconds of the first round. Young Rochetté of Westerly made his professional debut by kayoing Tony Moretti, also of Westerly, in the fourth round of the curtain raiser. Tony DeBartelo of Westerly failed in his comeback efforts and proved an easy victim for Young Gietro of Bridgeport. The fight went six rounds, with Gietro winning five.

Connecticut State Boxing Commissioner Thomas Donohue was among the officials present. The referee was Billy Taylor of Hartford.

LIQUOR CLEARANCE BILL SUSTAINED IN THE SENATE

OTTAWA, Ont., May 20—(AP)—The senate late today defeated an amendment which would have postponed the coming into force of the liquor clearance bill, prohibiting liquor export to the United States, until proclaimed by order in council. The vote was 59 to 10.

The liquor clearance bill was then given third reading without division.

DUWELL HORSE RACING MAY 30

Horse racing, nearly a forgotten sport here, will be revived on Memorial day with the staging of several running races at the fair grounds in connection with the National A. A. U. 10 mile championship run. The horse racing will be part of a two and a half hour programme and will start at 1 o'clock, an hour and a half before the title run. There will be at least two and possibly three different events and practically all of the fast horses in the vicinity will participate.

The committee arranging for this particular part of the programme has already lined up one special race and an open race and there is a strong possibility that before the end of the week a third race, closed to colts, will be booked.

The special match race, which is creating considerable interest among the horsemen of the city will be run by Base Worthy, a fast horse owned by the West End Riding academy, and Muse of the Trading Cove riding school. This race will be for the best two out of three heats for a purse. Both horses have a wide circle of followers and there is every indication that this event alone will draw a big crowd.

The entrants to date in the open race are Buddie and Moss of the Miller ranch, De War Retta Boy of Chapman's Riding academy, Lady Pendleton, Freckles of the West End riding academy, and Black Jack, which is owned by Richard Rankin of this city. It is understood that several horses from New London will take part in this event, but they are not listed inasmuch as official entry has not as yet been made. An attractive list of prizes will be awarded the winners of the races. It is requested that any horsemen wishing to enter the races get in touch with Jack Kelly at the Trading Cove Riding school or Jackie Wilson at Jack's Sport Shop.

Collision at Corner

Shortly before 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, a Cadillac sedan, used by Michael Falcone in bus service between Norwich and Hallville, collided with a Mack truck owned by Deputy Sheriff Oscar H. Main, at the intersection of Main and Talman streets. As a result of the crash the front end of the sedan was damaged and the crankshaft of the truck was bent. The bus was being driven toward Hallville and the truck, headed in the opposite direction, was about to turn into Talman street when the accident happened.

WOMAN'S CITY CLUB'S THIRD YEAR SHOWS MANY IMPORTANT ACTIVITIES

The completion of the third year of the Woman's City club of Norwich was noted Tuesday evening by a supper-business meeting at the Wauregan hotel. At tables charmingly decorated in spring flowers the club members enjoyed a supper of fruit cocktail, filet mignon, French fried potatoes, green peas, coffee, rolls, strawberry tarts.

R. D. Butler of the Salvation Army gave a five minute talk on the work of that organization and spoke of the financial campaign now in progress, which has as its goal $5,000.

During the business session, Mrs. Joseph P. Cummings, recording secretary, read a comprehensive report of the year's activities, which were shown through brief statements of the standing committees.

The finance committee, Mrs. S. B. Palmer chairman, reported all bills paid and a balance in the treasury, the sum of $307 having been realized by an afternoon bridge at the Masonic temple. The membership is 523, according to the report of Sarah L. Sherman, membership chairman, 55 members having been admitted in the year.

Other reports were by the following chairmen: hospitality, Amy F. Burlingame; programme, Emily G. Campbell; publicity, Caroline W. Latham; house, Miriam B. Rogers; current events, Marion R. Nelson; art, Hannah S. Dodge; music, Margarete Suck; dramatics, Mrs. Willis P. Austin; literature, Louise C. Howe; girls' work, Edna Alling Smith.

In the girls' work report was recorded the second season of the Girls' City club, grown to a membership of 46 and holding its meetings at 8 Washington street, providing wholesome companionship and recreation in attractive surroundings and with understanding chaperonage for the girls of Norwich.

In the report of the civics department, Miss Elizabeth Huntington chairman, reference was made to the round table season, which included talks on drinking water, child study, Americanism, parks and trees, home economics and gardens. In addition to these the committee has been active in other ways and has taken steps in the following matters, according to the report:

Proper dress on the streets of boarders and campers outside the city; arranging for the ringing of church bells preceding the period of silence on Armistice day; observing the request that Fridays be kept clear of club engagements in favor of the churches; bringing to the club for its signature the resolution favoring the adherence of the U. S. to the world court; favoring the installation of an elevator in the courthouse; calling the attention of the health officer to inferior quality of fish and meat in a recently closed market; furthering the effort of the milk inspector to have an ordinance passed allowing the sale of only pasteurized and tuberculin-tested milk; calling the attention of the town health officer to objectionable dump on Oneco street; opening the club room for a group of mothers to meet with school superintendent to discuss classroom questions, and also opening the club room for discussion in regard to the junior high school project; studying the problem of suitable playgrounds in several sections of the city; calling the attention of the chamber of commerce to the lack of adequate picture cards of the city of Norwich with the result that some new cards will soon be put on the market; also calling the attention of the chamber of commerce to the necessity for a bureau of information in the central part of the city for the convenience of tourists, and as a result of this a sign will be placed at the Thayer building entrance directing such tourists in need of information to the chamber of commerce office.

In acknowledgment of the gift to the town by the Misses Lucas of eight acres of land along the Thames for a park, a community picnic is being planned to take place there on June 3.

Mrs. Albert S. Comstock, treasurer, gave a detailed account of the moneys handled during the year, showing the club to be in a very healthy condition financially.

Mrs. Chester C. McGrory, assistant treasurer, announced that she is now prepared to receive membership fees due for 1930-1931. Other announcements were made indicating that the fourth year of the club will be one of loyal efforts and one of increasing strength as a part of the community.

Members of the Girls' City club, who were guests of the evening, showed their pleasure and appreciation by singing several songs, one of which was written especially for the occasion.

A play, Ways and Means, cleverly presented by members of the executive board, brought the evening to a close. The cast follows:

Mrs. Stone, a widow, chairman of the ways and means committee of the Monday club—Mrs. C. B. Gilbert.

Mrs. Gray, her sister—Miss Marion L. Bishop.

Harriet, her niece—Miss Margaret F Sullivan.

Mrs. May, president of the Monday club—Mrs. Joseph P. Cummings.

Mrs. Price, treasurer of the Monday club—Mrs. Roderick F. Sullivan.

Miss Jones, club member, Mrs. William H. Dawley.

Mrs. Scott, member of the club—Miss E. B. Huntington.

Mrs. Sweet, club member—Mrs. Willis P. Austin.

Mrs. Pratt, club member—Miss Audrey Gernon.

Ella, Mrs. Stone's maid—Mrs. Benjamin H. Palmer.

Miss Bernice Willey was the coach and courtesies were extended by the Porteous & Mitchell Co., The Plaut-Cadden Co., The Lantern Gift Shop and the Southern New England Telephone Co.

MADE NATIONAL REPORT TO NORWICH WOMEN VOTERS

A meeting of the Norwich League of Women Voters at Slater hall Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, was addressed by Mrs. Edwin W. Higgins, who was a delegate to the 10th annual convention of the League of Women Voters at Louisville, Ky., recently. Mrs. Higgins gave a very interesting report of the business transacted at the convention and spoke of the convention conferences.

Mrs. Higgins made reference to the fact that one of the main features of the convention was the national and state memorializing of women who were active in securing ballots for the women of the country. She emphasized the fact that Norwich was conspicuous, having four women who are to be honored. Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman was placed on the national honor roll and the name of the late Mrs. Willis Austin has been placed on the state honor roll. The Norwich league placed the names of Miss Edna Tyler, county chairman, and Miss Sally Fanning Gleaton, state secretary, on the state honor roll.

Mrs. Higgins, during the convention, was honored with several important assignments. She participated in a special conference on efficiency in national government, at which William Williamson gave an address on reorganization of the national government and was also assigned to demonstrate machine balloting. Through six charts, given her by First Selectman William S. Murray, she clearly demonstrated the operation of voting machines. After she had concluded her demonstration she passed the charts around to the members in attendance at the conference.

Mrs. Higgins also was assigned to the general council, composed of the state president, one member of the state organization and the national officers. Mrs. Schroeter of New London, a delegate from that city to the convention, was also present at the meeting Tuesday and addressed the gathering on the convention activities.

"MIRAMICHI" QUARTETTE FOR NEW SALMON FISHING REEL

(Special to The Bulletin)

STAFFORD SPRINGS, May 20. — Rev. Felix J. O'Neill of this place has received a request from New York film producers to allow his male quartette "On The Miramichi" to be filmed and recorded in sound pictures of salmon fishing on the Miramichi river in New Brunswick, Canada.

The scene will be set on the spot where he wrote both the words and the air, in his tent, at the request of American fishermen and Canadian guides. The song is now a favorite with big bands in Canada and Conway's band was the first to play it in the United States, in fact the first to play it anywhere. College glee clubs find it a rollicking boating and camping song. Jack Eaton of a corporation for outdoor films will be the producer. He will be assisted by experts in song and action. Pathe will distribute the reels, and the author of "On The Miramichi" will be present at the filming and recording.

"Luckies" Name Delegates

The North Stonington "Luckies" held their last meeting at the home of Vivi and Anna Bergins with every member present. Kathryn Thompson and Anna Tray were appointed delegates to go with the leader to the clothing club meeting at Norwich Town.

Vivi Bergins told about her trip to Hartford to the state 4-H Round-up for part of the programme.

At the close of the meeting the girls cut out their club uniforms, which will be made when they meet again. When the work of the evening was completed refreshments were served.

BEFORE CITY COURT ON FISH SELLING CHARGE

Charged with selling butterfish, a salt water fish, that were undersized, John Gonsalves and Albert Barrows, both of Norwich, were presented in the city court Tuesday morning. After hearing the facts, Judge H. H. Pettis nolled the cases on payment of costs.

It seems that the two men purchased last Saturday 100 pounds of butterfish, at 5 cents a pound, from Albert Newbury of Groton, brought them here to sell and were arrested by Game Warden Watson who later went to Groton and arrested Newbury. The latter was fined $10 and costs in Groton court, a portion of the fine being remitted.

NORWICH TOWN

EARLE W. STAMM SPEAKS BEFORE JOHN MASON CLUB

The "Trip to Hawaii" taken by the John Mason Community club Monday evening was greatly enjoyed by all. It was the May meeting of the club, held in the vestry of the Methodist Episcopal church, and the speaker, Earle Williams Stamm, gave a most interesting talk on his recent trip to San Francisco and Hawaii. So vividly and pleasingly did he picture Honolulu, which he called the most beautiful city in the world, that when the lecture ended all the members of the club were ready to sign up for a trip. The music of the evening was provided by the Delgadi Brothers, a trio playing a violin, guitar and ten-string banjo. These boys were very generous in the number of selections played and were heartily encored. The program was in charge of Carlton Morse and Lewis E. Aldrich, who were given a vote of thanks by the club. The business session was conducted by Woodruff T. Sullivan, who was elected temporary chairman. The secretary's report of the previous meeting was given by Rev. George Warren Potter and the treasurer's report was given by Stanton W. Brown. Lewis E. Aldrich reported on the recent entertainment given by the club. Robert Brown was appointed to serve on the refreshment committee and Harry Cripps on the entertainment committee for June. A delicious clam chowder, with coffee, was served by A. D. Zabriskie, assisted by Arthur Fulton, Woodruff Sullivan, Stanton Brown and Lewis Aldrich.

Scouts to Have Totem Contest

At the meeting of Troop 2, Boy Scouts, connected with the Methodist church, held Saturday evening, the troop voted to include in the interpatrol contest now being held a totem pole contest. The patrol making the best totem pole to be a part of the decoration of the scout room will receive 150 points to its credit. The troop was inspected by Patrol Leader Arthur Bennett. In the opening ceremony each of the patrols scored ten points. The Stag patrol under the leadership of Arthur Bennett, is still holding first place in the contest and scored 45 points at the meeting. Wolf patrol, under the leadership of Leon Ladd, scored 15 points and the Flying Eagle patrol, under the leadership of Clayton Rose, scored 20 points. The standing in the contest is now Stag 150, Wolf 85, Flying Eagle 35. The troop marched to Huntington Green, where they were drilled by Leader Donald Olsen. The meeting closed with short patrol meetings following a game period. The troop is to hold a special meeting Wednesday evening and the regular meeting is to be held Thursday evening on account of a play to be given Friday evening by the Junior vested choir. The scouts who have entered the jamboree contests are: Knot tying, Scouts Ross, Gallagher, Eccleston, Olsen, Eyberse, Bennett, Ladd and Brown; first aid, Jordan and Olsen; signalling, Gallagher, Jordan, Olsen; dressing race, Ross and Bennett; fire making, Olsen.

Rev. George Warren Potter was called to Providence Thursday by the serious illness of his brother, Charles. The brother recently underwent a major operation. Sunday night, he was rushed to the Rhode Island hospital, where he is on the danger list.

Sunday morning at the Methodist Episcopal church the pastor, Rev. George Warren Potter, spoke on "Hypocrites," taking for a text Matthew 7:16, "Ye shall know them by their fruits." Rev. Mr. Potter told of the long line of hypocrites that have followed in the footsteps of Herod to the present-day backslider, who has been so carried away from spiritual things by the things of the world that he tries to defend himself by standing outside the church and calling those faithful souls who are carrying on, hypocrites. The Junior vested choir under direction of Mrs. Lewis E. Aldrich sang an anthem, "Praise Him." There was an attendance of about 60. At the evening service the pastor gave a stereopticon lecture on "The Abundant Life." The operator, Ralph Smith, showed over 60 beautiful hand-colored slides. There was an attendance of over 70.

Nutmeg Entertainers

Under the auspices of the John Mason Community club the Nutmeg Entertainers presented a program in the vestry of the Methodist church. Lewis E. Aldrich was chairman of the committee in charge. The first number was a group of piano-accordion selections by Edward H. Smith. A little sentiment and humor was given by Archie H. Perry. A group of songs by Carlton Bowers completed the first part. The second part included "Risky Pat at the Piano," Mr. Smith; "Down the Maine Trail," Mr. Perry; monolog, Mr. Bowers. The third part of the program was a sketch, "The Street Faker," with the following cast: "Doc" Sweetwater, an enticer of money, Mr. Smith; Smudge, enticed from home, Mr. Bowers, and Hi Grass, willing to be enticed, Mr. Perry.

The Wolf Cub pack connected with the Methodist church held a meeting Saturday morning in charge of the cubmaster, Rev. George Warren Potter. There was an attendance of 20. The committee selected at the previous meeting gave its report in regard to the pack entering the Cub organization of the Boy Scouts. The pack voted not to enter the Boy Scout movement for at least six months. At the end of that period the pack will take up the matter again but it is doubtful if any change is made. Following the opening ceremony, the pack marched to Huntington Green, where a drill was held. Cub Willard Wilbur was color bearer and Edward Jordan, recently appointed an assistant cubmaster, acted as drummer. After a game period the meeting closed with the Wolf Cub howl.

ZONING BOARD RESERVES DECISION AFTER HEARING

The zoning board of appeals, of which First Selectman William S. Murray is chairman, reserved decision after conducting a hearing Tuesday morning in the mayor's office at the courthouse on the application of Valley Oil Co. for permission to transfer ownership and to install nine gasoline pumps and tanks on their leased premises at 60 West Thames street.

No one appeared in opposition.

Attended Yeomenette Reunion

A reunion of the National Yeomenette held Saturday evening in the old English room at the Hotel Bond, Hartford, had an attendance of about 50. Those attending from Norwich were Mrs. Maurice Kennedy, Mrs. Joseph Barry, Miss Marguerite Driscoll, Mrs. Ernest Bean and Mrs. R. C. Bolles, of Quaker Hill.

W. A. SOMERS WINS IN SUIT BROTHER BROUGHT

In a suit brought against William A. Somers of this city by his brother, John J. Somers of Bridgeport, judgment has been given in favor of the Norwich man by Judge Allyn L. Brown of the superior court. The judgment was handed down and filed with John H. Walker, clerk of the court on Tuesday. John J. Somers made a claim for an accounting and division of the proceeds from the Norwich property, No. 212-216 Main street.

The memorandum of decision by Judge Brown is in part as follows:

The undisputed evidence shows that the plaintiff and defendant, who are brothers, had for some years prior to July 10, 1919, as partners conducted a market under the name of Somers Bros. on Franklin square in Norwich. As such partners they had a lease of the property known as 202-216 Main street, expiring Oct. 1, 1917 and of 218-224 Main street, expiring Jan. 1, 1913, each of which leases contained an option for five years extension. By a bill of sale dated July 10, 1909, the plaintiff sold to the defendant all of his "right, title and interest" in the partnership business, specifically referring to the stock in trade, fixtures and personal property used in connection with the business, and the book accounts and claims incident thereto, but making no reference to the unexpired lease above mentioned.

The plaintiff alleges in his complaint, that prior to July 10, 1909, the date of his bill of sale to the defendant, he had negotiated with the owner of the property in question for the purchase of the same on behalf of the defendant and himself, and that subsequent to Oct. 11, 1909, the date of his power of attorney to the defendant, the latter continued these negotiations on their mutual behalf until Dec. 19, 1914, when the defendant took title in his own name alone. The plaintiff seeks an accounting by the defendant of the rents collected by him on the property in question from July 10, 1909 to date.

Although the defendant rested his case without offering any evidence it is my conclusion that the plaintiff has failed to sustain his burden of proving that he "retained his interest" in the leases above mentioned and further that no such negotiations were carried on by the plaintiff and defendant for the purpose alleged.

My conclusions above stated require a defendant's judgment. But even were it found that the plaintiff "retained his interest in said leases," as alleged in the complaint, in view of the defendant's third defense the same result must ensue. This raises the principal question of law argued by counsel—the defendant contending that the six year statute of limitation applies, and the plaintiff, the 15 year statute. It is my conclusion that the six year statute is applicable which would preclude recovery by the plaintiff. The law appears to be well established, that while as to an express trust a different rule controls, the six year statute applies in the case of a trust arising by operation of law, which the plaintiff must rely upon, if any.

Sixth Birthday Party

Tuesday evening from 2 to 5 at the home of her aunt, Mrs. William J. Carroll, 815 Boswell avenue, Margaret Keenan of Southbridge, Mass., was given a party in honor of her sixth birthday by a number of her little friends. Games were played and a luncheon was served on a prettily decorated table by Mrs. Carroll, assisted by Mrs. Wm. LaRochelle, Sr. Those present were Hilda and Mildred Burke, Alice, Louise, William and Rita LaRochelle, Margaret, John, Alice and Helen Keenan, Albert and Patricia Bowe and Betty Marinello.

The little hostess received many useful and pretty gifts and the guests departed with May basket favors filled with candy and nuts.

COUNTY CONGREGATIONALISTS ELECT OFFICERS AT NIANTIC MEETING

Rev. Charles H. Ricketts of this city, who for several years has been moderator of the New London Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers, was again elected to the office when the association held its annual meeting Tuesday with the church in Niantic.

Elected with him were the following: Vice moderator, George S. Palmer of New London; registrar and treasurer, Rev. Dwight F. Stone of Hanover; scribe, Dr. James H. Weeks of Stonington; auditor, Weston C. Pullen of this city.

Chairmen of standing committees were named as follows: Benevolence, Rev. J. Beveridge Lee of New London; social service, Rev. William Fagan of Mystic; religious education, Rev. A. H. Abbott of this city; evangelism, Rev. Walter Vey of Lebanon; pastoral supplies, Rev. C. H. Ricketts of this city; missionary society of Connecticut, Rev. Frank Palmer of this city.

Mrs. J. Romeyn Danforth of New London was elected to the executive committee for five years and two delegates to the national convention in 1931 were elected. These were Rev. Dr. Theodore M. Shipherd of this city and Miss Adelaide Randall of Groton. Rev. W. S. Reynolds of Lisbon is alternate for Dr. Shipherd and Mrs. Edna Tryon of North Stonington for Miss Randall.

There was an attendance of about 75 at the meeting and reports of the standing committee chairmen for the past year were read, following the prayer which opened the meeting.

A brilliant address was given on the Next Step in the Plan of Advance, by Rev. Judson L. Cross of New Haven.

Worship was led by Rev. Y. O. Wain of Niantic. Luncheon was enjoyed, followed by music.

At the afternoon session Rev. Dr. Shipherd gave a talk on the Relation of a Local Church to the Community Welfare.

Preached at Housatonic Church

Mrs. George H. Strouse of Bozrah spent Sunday morning at the Congregational church of Housatonic, Mass. Her subject was Africa, her theme being, A Challenge to Infidelity or Africa's Contribution to Evidences of Christianity. Her text was 1st Corinthians 1-21. "For after that in the wisdom of God the world by wisdom knew not God, but it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe." Mrs. Strouse was a missionary in Africa years ago and she told of her personal experiences and the great progress made in that continent since that time. Mrs. Strouse spoke to the young people in the evening, using a news dispatch describing the court of King George and Queen Mary as a symbol of the glories of heaven.

Nearly every man is conceited enough to think that he isn't.

GAS the better FUEL . . . assures continuous HOT WATER for every need

We of this modern age demand an abundant supply of piping hot water at every turn of the faucet. And only one fuel . . . Gas, the modern fuel, can make this demand possible at all times . . . at any moment of need . . . year round. Doctors advise many baths for health . . . children can be kept spotlessly clean only with plenty of hot water . . . clothes begrimed in their daily contact with the dirty air about us must be washed with hot water . . . plenty of it. It is the greatest modern convenience for the home. See the up-to-date gas water heaters on display in your own city or town. These new appliances are reasonably priced. A small payment and the balance on convenient terms will place a gas water heater in your home.

PRICES SMASHED
CHRYSLER "77"
SAVE $200 to $350

Effective at once, prices of current Chrysler "77" models are reduced $200 to $350—the greatest price slash in all Chrysler history.

This price reduction is occasioned by the fact that Chrysler will introduce—sometime in mid-summer—a new model to take the place of the present Chrysler "77".

Other current Chrysler models—"70", "66" and Chrysler Six—are being continued unchanged.

Here is the greatest bargain ever offered in brand-new motor cars. At $200 to $350 off, the supply will not last long. Act now. Your present car will be accepted in trade. Chrysler's liberal financing facilities are available.

SAYS RASKOB'S ONLY AIM IS TO KILL 18TH AMENDMENT

Chairman of the Democratic National Committee Was Assailed In the Senate By Senator Robinson—Attack Followed Report By Senate Lobby Committee On the Muscle Shoals Activities of Chairman Huston of the Republican National Committee—Robinson Accused Raskob of Playing An Important Part In Lobbying Against the 18th Amendment.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—A speech assailing Chairman Raskob of the democratic national committee for his connection with the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, was delivered in the senate today by Senator Robinson, republican, Indiana, after the senate lobby committee had submitted a report on the Muscle Shoals activities of Chairman Huston of the republican national committee

The Huston report was presented by Chairman Caraway of the lobby committee without comment almost at the same time that Robinson presented one discussing the lobby committee testimony concerning the democratic national chairman.

That presented by Caraway reviewed testimony concerning the collection of $36,100 by Huston from the Union Carbide company, which was interested in Muscle Shoals legislation, and the deposit of the fund in Huston's brokerage account where it was used for purchase of stocks. No comment was made on the testimony by the committee which confined its report entirely to a relation of the testimony.

After the report was read, Robinson, the only administration republican member of the committee, characterized it as "entirely political and intended to achieve only political results on the eve of a political campaign."

Robinson asserted that he was convinced that Raskob "went into the democratic party and became chairman of the national executive committee for one purpose only, and that was to destroy the 18th amendment of the Constitution."

Robinson's report said Raskob was a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, had contributed $77,000 and that the association "has generally had his active aid and assistance in all its plans and undertakings."

"In the evidence before your committee," the report continued, "it developed that few, if any, of the methods of lobbying were neglected by the association against the 18th amendment. In all of these activities, Mr. Raskob had an important part."

Speaking almost two hours, Robinson asserted that Huston had given every cent of the money he collected from the Union Carbide company to the Tennessee River Improvement association of which he is a former president.

"And that's the whole case against Claudius Huston as it appeared in the record," he shouted.

Explaining that a number of prominent democrats, including Senator Breck, democrat, Tennessee, had been active in the work of the Tennessee River Improvement association, Robinson said:

"Yet in this partisan report there is not one word of mention of any of these democrats. Of course, the reason is perfectly obvious."

Robinson said the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment contributed to campaigns for judges, governors, lieutenant-governors and senators "provided not only that they should be members of the democratic party but that they should be against the Constitution."

"If Claudius Huston was lobbying, trying to influence legislation and governmental action," he added, "it was for the industrial development down in the Tennessee valley. John J. Raskob was engaged in lobbying against the Constitution of the United States."

Robinson said Raskob had testified before the lobby committee that he did not know what salary Henry H. Curran, president of the association, received. He added that it was brought out later that Raskob and four others had contracts to pay Curran $5,000 each a year.

The Huston report said he had received $22,000 from the Union Carbide company on March 7, 1929, three days after President Hoover took the oath of office, and $14,100 on June 26, 1929.

It said the money was deposited in his New York brokerage account and added:

"The $22,000 payment went to the credit of an account then running, reducing the balance due the brokerage firm, while a new account was started by the deposit of the $14,100 check from which purchases of stock were made on margin, afterwards sold at a profit of approximately $300. The profit Huston retained, asserting that he had frequently advanced funds to the association upon which he neither asked nor received interest."

M'BRIDE INTERPRETS HOME BREW STATEMENT BY FORT

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—Notice was given today by F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, that if any wets believed they were going to get home brew from his organization they were doomed to disappointment.

This statement was made by McBride before the senate lobby committee, which is investigating his prohibition activities. It resulted from questioning by Chairman Caraway, of the committee, concerning the league's attitude toward Representative Fort, republican, New Jersey, a candidate for the republican senatorial nomination.

Explaining that the New Jersey league had endorsed Fort's candidacy and that the national league would follow suit, McBride asserted that Fort had not said in a recent speech in the house of representatives that home brew could legally be manufactured.

Senator Caraway quickly obtained a copy of Fort's speech, which was widely interpreted as expressing the opinion that home brew could be manufactured legally, and read a portion of it. He quoted Fort as saying in part:

"Perhaps the act needs clarification on the question of home brew although nobody has ever been convicted for making it for home use. But, otherwise, it seems to me pretty clearly to fulfill the purposes of its adoption and to satisfy the real wishes of the American people—for the preservation of their industrial system, their prosperity, and their homes."

Commenting on the speech, Caraway said, smilingly:

"He says nobody had ever been convicted for home brew, and they ought to be content, if they want beer, with what they made if they were not too lazy to make it."

"I will tell you what I think he is stressing in this speech," McBride replied. "There is a good thought in it. That is, as we are fighting this through, that we should probably stress the sale of liquor rather than some of the other things.

"That was just his thought. There are quite a number of people who feel that way about it."

McBride also testified that he did not approve a "score card" prepared by the South Dakota league for grading the qualifications of candidates for public office. He was questioned yesterday by Blaine about the card and they quarreled over the senator's method of questioning.

THREE GANGSTERS CAPTURED BY A ROOKIE POLICEMAN

NEW YORK, May 21—(AP)—A rookie policeman, only four months on the force, was credited today with the capture of three gangsters after he shot a gun from the hand of one and wounded a bystander with the same bullet.

The policeman, Stephen Jenis, had been notified that three suspicious looking men were parked in front of an ice cream factory in the Bronx. He ordered the men from their car and as they stepped out, one of them drew a gun.

Jenis shot the weapon from his hand, the bullet passing through the man's arm and grazing a ditch digger at work in the street.

The men, who said they were beer runners, gave their names as Michael Robino, North Bergen, N. J., and Andrew Sheridan, and Patrick Carroll, of New York.

They declared they were waiting to take a rival beer runner "for a ride," but police believe they were planning to holdup the ice cream factory.

GROUP OF 35 RUSSIANS TAKEN TO ELLIS ISLAND

NEW YORK, May 21—(AP)—A group of 35 Russians, representing four soviet commercial groups, were detained by immigration officials when they arrived today on the liner Paris. All were taken to Ellis Island for questioning.

Commissioner of Immigration Day said that all Russians must undergo a thorough examination before they can be admitted to this country because of the lack of diplomatic relations between the United States and the soviet.

Decisions on their cases will be reached tomorrow.

The Russians, brought here under the sponsorship of the Amtorg Trading corporation, purchasing agent of the soviet in America, are representatives of Russian factory construction, automobile, electrical and transportation organizations.

They intend to study American methods and place orders here for the soviet government.

QUICK ACTION DEMANDED ON LONDON NAVAL TREATY

WASHINGTON, May 21—(AP)—President Hoover and senate advocates of the London naval limitations agreement today demanded prompt action on the treaty as navy leaders continued their bombardment of the pact before two senate committees.

Moving to quash the talk of deferring a vote on it until next session, the president informed Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, at a white house conference that he hoped for ratification before adjournment.

At the same time, Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee announced that he was proceeding on the assumption that the treaty would be acted upon at this session and that he would be ready to conclude hearings by his committee tomorrow after hearing Rear Admiral J. M. Reeves.

SALE OF BUILDING WHICH WAS CAUSE OF FAILURE

WORCESTER, Mass., May 21—(AP)—The Mayflower Realty corporation of this city, today sold the million dollar Mayflower building at Main and Central streets, which houses the Plymouth theatre, to Attorney Harrison Hewitt, of New Haven, Conn.

Insolvency of the Colonial Bond and Mortgage company, of New Haven, parent of the Mayflower corporation, is said to have been caused by failure to dispose of this building. The company held a first mortgae of $800,000 and a second of $350,000 on the pro- President Hoover and senate advocatperty.

MEDALS FOR SAVING LIVES OF FELLOW EMPLOYES

WATERBURY, May 21—(AP)—Insull medals and citations for saving the life of a fellow employe after he had been rendered unconscious by a severe electrical shock, were presented to two Connecticut Light and Power company employes by J. Henry Roraback, president of the company tonight in the presence of 1,200 employes of the company in Buckingham hall. The awards were made to Frank J. O'Hara of the Norwalk branch, and to John H. McCabe, of the Branford division, both linemen.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, May 21—(AP)—Federico Velazquez, opposition candidate in the recent Dominican presidential election, who was arrested several days ago on charges of fomenting a revolution, has been freed by order of the court of appeals.

TARIFF BILL TO REACH CONGRESS NEXT WEEK

WASHINGTON, May 21—(AP)—Nearing a final agreement, the conferees on the tariff bill today agreed to throw out the senate's export debenture amendment which is opposed by President Hoover and the house.

Making further concessions to the house, the senate conferees agreed to eliminate the senate's duty of thirty cents an ounce on silver and the amendment permitting free entry of cement for state and municipal public works, leaving stand a rate of six cents a hundred pounds on all cement.

The house managers receded, however, and allowed a rate of one dollar per thousand board feet to be placed on fir, spruce, pine, hemlock, and larch lumber despite defeat recently on the house floor of a levy of 75 cents on these softwoods. The senate bill carried a rate of $1.50 per thousand feet.

The elimination of the debenture provision had been expected since Monday's vote of the senate to free its conferees from pledges binding them to the farm bounty proposal. Should a flexible provision curtailing some of the president's power be agreed upon republican leaders see little difficulty in the way of final passage. Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, chairman of the senate conference committee, said it was not likely that the report could be made to the senate before next week.

MRS. HAMILTON SUED FOR ALIENATION OF AFFECTION

NEW YORK, May 21—(AP)—Mrs. Julia Hamilton, who was secretly divorced more than a year ago from Cosmo Hamilton, English author, was sued yesterday for alleged alienation of affections.

Mme. Nina Caracciolo Satar-Khan, New York dancer, charged that Mrs. Hamilton enticed her husband, once an officer in the Russian imperial army, by a promise of a profitable business career which she guaranteed through her social position. The dancer said Satar-Khan left her last January.

Cosmo Hamilton, coming here on a visit recently, announced he had been divorced more than a year ago in Paris.

Mrs. Satar-Khan asked damages for $25,000.

Mrs. Hamilton is the former Julia Curry, of San Francisco, and was at one time the wife of Guy Bolton, theatrical producer.

DECISION RESERVED IN $6,000,000 HUBERT ESTATE

NEW YORK, May 21.—(AP)—Decision was reserved today by Surrogate James A. Foley on motions to dismiss the objections to the will of the late Conrad Hubert, flashlight manufacturer, who left $6,000,000 to be distributed by Calvin Coolidge, Alfred E. Smith and Julius Rosenwald to charity.

The objections were filed by Joseph Horwich, a brother, who claimed that the will was invalid in that it named no specific charity.

C. Bertram Plante, one of the executors, filed an answer today, citing that the law requires no definite beneficiary to be named when the gift is for educational, charitable or benevolent purposes.

ALCOHOLIC NEURITIS TO BE CLINICAL STUDIED

HARTFORD, May 21.—(AP)—Alcoholic neuritis, more commonly known as "jakey drop," a mysterious form of paralysis which has broken out in widespread parts of the country, will probably be among the clinical studies tomorrow of the 138th annual convention of the Connecticut State Medical society now in session in this city. Delegates are expected to visit the Municipal hospital where 29 victims of the virulent disease, including three women, are now receiving treatments.

Officers will be elected tomorrow morning and the session will close tomorrow night with the annual dinner at the Hartford club.

TWO RODEO PERFORMERS INJURED IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, May 21—(AP)—Two performers appearing at the Red Horse ranch rodeo show at the Arena, were injured today, one seriously, during the matinee performances.

Goldie Buttner, trick rider, received three fractured ribs and possible internal injuries, when he was kicked and trampled by his horse. He was placed under observation at New Haven hospital.

Crushed by a steer against some heavy planking, Frank Coons received two cracked ribs. He was treated at the Arena.

ALLEGED RUM RUNNER SHOT FLEEING FROM TROOPER

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., May 21.—(AP)—Shot by a state trooper after a long chase, Emile Duquette, 23, of Champlain, an alleged rum runner, was in a hospital here, tonight in a serious condition. A bullet shattered his left hip and another wounded him in the right thigh. Alleged Canadian ale he was carrying in a small roadster was confiscated by United States customs men. The trooper reported he fired only after Duquette had knocked him down with a rock.

SPRINGFIELD MAN WAS INJURED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 21.—(AP)—Patrick Griffen, 50, of 120 Morland street, Springfield, Mass., was struck by an automobile tonight and crushed against a midtown pillar of the Third avenue elevated.

He was taken to Bellevue hospital in a serious condition from a scalp cut and a possible skull fracture.

Miss Jennie Zangara, 22, a passenger in the automobile was treated for a slight cut on the scalp. Her brother, Salvatore, 24, who was driving, said Griffen darted into the car's path.

Sen. Adopts Couzens' Railroad Bill, 46-27

Resolution Restricts Consolidations Until March 4—Curbs Holding Companies.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(AP)—The senate today adopted by a vote of 46 to 27 the Couzens resolution to restrict railroad consolidations until next March 4 and to make illegal the exercise of joint control through holding companies or otherwise without the approval of the interstate commerce commission.

The vote followed lengthy debate in which Couzens, republican, Michigan, author of the measure, assailed the operations of holding companies and demanded a curb for unifications in general "until congress can legislate further."

Opposition to the resolution was voiced by Senator Hawes, democrat, Missouri, and Senator Fess, republican, Ohio, who asserted it would suspend execution of a consolidation plan congress has commanded the interstate commerce commission to make, and was an "affront" to the house which is now investigating holding companies.

The resolution specifically would suspend authority of the interstate commerce commission to approve any unification or consolidation which, except for the commission's approval, would be in violation of anti-trust laws.

Amendments by Senators Swanson, democrat, Virginia, and Glenn, republican, Illinois, accepted by Couzens before the vote was taken, provided that the resolution should not prevent acquisition or control of steam or electric railroad properties commonly classified as short-line railroads, required as a condition to any other acquisition or control previously or in the future authorized by the commission.

Couzens also accepted an amendment by Senator Connolly, democrat, Texas, providing that no unification, merger, or consolidation should be authorized which did not require continued preparation of general offices and shops where previously located, or adequate and continuous compensation for removal.

The resolution would prevent unification of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads under the commission's general plan for consolidations.

The Northwestern unification was assailed in the debate by senators opposing as well as supporting the measure. Senator Hawes asserted, however, that it should be dealt with in some other manner.

CHARLES CURTIS DEFENDS THE ACCEPTANCE OF FEES

CHICAGO, May 21—(AP)—Harry K. Curtis, son of the vice president of the United States, Charles Curtis, tonight defended the acceptance of fees from a group of building contractors, maintaining the money, approximately $10,000 was taken for legal advice. Curtis had been summoned to the state's attorney's office for questioning concerning informal charges placed before the prosecutor by contractors who said they had paid the young attorney money in exchange for his influence in securing government contracts.

Concerning the acceptance of the fees, Curtis said, "Last year I was approached by a representative of some building interests and asked if I could secure government contracts for his clients. I told him 'No'.

"Later he called and asked if I would represent his firms in legal matters, and I assured him I would undertake any legitimate legal work. I received $500 as a retainer. In December it came to my notice that a number of contractors had been told they were to receive work on an '18-22 1-2 per cent cost price plus' basis. I called some of the men into my office and told them flatly they had been misinformed and if they thought I had not represented them commensurate with the fees they paid me I would return the money.

"I have since returned almost all of the fees," Curtis said.

FRENCH ARMY CONTINUES EVUCATION OF RHINELAND

MAYENCE, Germany, May 21—(AP)—The French army of occupation tonight appeared to have been transferred into one big moving and hauling concern.

Apparently the military authorities are convinced that speedy evacuation of the Rhineland is desired by the home government as well as the Germans. As a result even the daily drill of the soldiers has been given up, and while "Squads Right" is forgotten the men in horizon blue are heaving military equipment on railroad cars and trucks for the homeward trip to France.

Indications are that the Palatinate will be virtually free of troops in ten days.

LIPTON'S YACHT WINS HER FOURTH CONSECUTIVE RACE

SOUTHEND, England, May 21—(AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton's America's cup challenger, Shamrock V, continued her triumphal career today by winning her fourth consecutive race.

Running with a nice breeze over a 40 mile course, the Shamrock V finished victor on corrected times by 10 minutes, 8 seconds with a total of 4 hours, 44 minutes, 6 seconds. Canada was second, Cambria third, White Heather fourth and Lulworth fifth.

Conditions favored the Lipton yacht with a light breeze at the start. Sir Thomas expressed much pleasure at the Shamrock's performances.

REPORTS SUGAR FACTORIES MAY LOCATE IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, May 21.—(AP)—The New Haven Journal-Courier says that a large concern with sugar factories in New York and Porto Rico is considering making this city the distributing point for its products.

Steamers 350 feet long and drawing from 18 to 20 feet of water, the Journal-Courier says, will be used to bring sugar here from Porto Rico.

Expressing thanks for aid he received in his campaign for funds to establish a republican newspaper in Ireland, Eamon De Valera, Irish republican leader, sailed from New York for Queenstown on the United States liner George Washington.

Graf Zep To Land At Pernambu[illegible]o This A.M.

Intense [illegible] Is Causing the Gr[illegible] Run a Little Short [illegible]er:

[illegible]BUCO, Brazil, May 21—[illegible] mighty dirigible Graf Zeppelin, [illegible]adily nearing the South American coast on her adventurous voyage to the New World, tonight had passed the Cape Verde Islands and was heading across the South Atlantic for this port.

Advices received here late today said that the Graf had passed over Sao Thiago of the Cape Verde group and had dropped her mail. She was proceeding satisfactorily.

Because of running out of water owing to the tropical heat through which she is passing, Dr. Hugo Eckener, the Graf's veteran commander notified the landing field here that the airship will halt at Pernambuco to take on water before proceeding to Rio Janeiro.

The Zeppelin encountered contrary winds for many hours, which, together with the heat caused a water shortage.

At least a three hour stay will be made here to replenish the water supply. There is a mooring mast here erected especially for the Graf.

City and state officials in Pernambuco are planning a series of entertainments for the Graf's passengers during her stay here at the end of the week after she has visited Rio Janeiro.

Residents of Pernambuco today eagerly followed news of the Graf's progress. Sometime early tomorrow morning, the dirigible is expected to cross the Equator and to make its first appearance in the southern hemisphere.

The progress of the Graf today was not unusually fast but was steady. This morning she was sighted by the steamship Carnarvon Castle, southeast of the Canary Islands and several hours later she was reported by the British steamship Accra about 500 miles northeast of the Cape Verde Islands.

A message tonight from the Island of Fernando do Noronha quoted Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, as saying the German dirigible would arrive here tomorrow morning and leave tomorrow night for Rio Janeiro. He expects to reach Rio the following morning.

To Arrive 8 a. m., E. S. T.

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, May 21.—(AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, radioed aviation authorities here tonight that the German dirigible would arrive here some time after 10 a. m. (8 a. m., E. S. T.) tomorrow.

RENEWS ATTACK ON FED. COUNCIL OF CHURCHES

WASHINGTON, May 21—(AP)—Renewing his charge that the Federal Council of Churches has violated the principal of separation of church and state by engaging in political affairs, Representative Tinkham, republican, Massachusetts, said in a statement tonight that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has contributed about 10 per cent of the total income of the organization.

"It is well known," he said, "that the large international oil interests, international bankers and large international business interests are profoundly interested in having the United States change its foreign policy for their own purposes.

"Under these circumstances, the following facts should be of much interest: That this council receives only about one-fourth of its income from its church constituency, the remaining being received from 'other sources,' on its face a highly dangerous financial policy for the organized church participating in politics to pursue.

"Recent revelations show that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., contributed $35,650 in 1926; $32,717 in 1927; $36,250 in 1928 and $32,500 in 1929, about ten per cent of the total annual income from all sources and about 35 to 45 per cent of the amounts received from contributors of $500 and over during those four years."

REPORT COMING FROM LAW ENFORCEMENT COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, May 21—(AP)—The national law enforcement commission has indicated that it would comply with a request of the house judiciary committee to make a supplemental report on its recommendations to congress to strengthen law enforcement and to relieve federal court congestion.

The commission is to meet Friday to draft the supplemental report which is to be based on numerous bills before the judiciary committee that have been proposed to carry out commission's original recommendations submitted by President Hoover January 14.

The committee has been divided over the commission's proposals to define minor liquor law violators under the prohibition act and to authorize United States commissioners to handle misdemeanor cases.

The supplemental report is to be submitted to the committee next Monday and is expected to advise which measures the commission believes will carry out its recommendations.

ALBERTA IS SWELTERING AFTER SPRING BLIZZARD

WINNIPEG, Man., May 21—(AP)—A spring blizzard which swept over Alberta last night and today, leaving in its wake a thick blanket of snow, was bearing down on Saskatchewan and Manitoba tonight.

Today, however, this province almost sweltered. The sun was hot and thermometers in Winnipeg hovered close to 70.

Residents of Edmonton, in northern Alberta, awoke this morning to find a three inch snowfall which became deeper as the flakes continued to descend throughout the day. Temperatures slid below the freezing level and a 30-mile northwest wind blew.

COMMANDER BYRD TO RETURN TO PANAMA CITY

PANAMA CITY, May 21—(AP)—The Pan-American Airways announced tonight that Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd would return here from Boquette tomorrow afternoon having asked that an airplane meet his party at the airfield in David tomorrow morning.

The Antarctic explorer has been taking a rest of several days on Boquette, which is a cool mountain spot.

PINCHOT LEADING BROWN BY 10,000 VOTES IN PA. PRIMARY

Unofficial Returns From All But 212 Districts Indicate That Pinchot Has Won the Republican Nomination For Governor — Late Returns Give Davis a Plurality of More Than 238,000 Over Grundy For Senatorial Nomination —Reports Are Current That a Wet Independent Ticket Will Be Placed In the Field Against Pinchot.

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—(AP)—Gifford Pinchot, independent republican candidate for governor, led Francis Shunk Brown, backed by the Philadelphia Vare organization, by 10,000 votes on the face of unofficial returns from all but 212 districts in Pennsylvania in yesterday's primary election.

Additional scattered returns from rural districts overcame Brown's lead and placed the former governor well in front for his party's nomination for another term.

The late returns swelled the overwhelming plurality of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis over United States Senator Joseph R. Grundy to more than 238,000.

Brown and Davis, backed by the Vare republican organization, ran up leads over Pinchot and Grundy of 187,730 and 183,695 respectively in Philadelphia. While Davis went on to win additional pluralities upstate, Brown's figures slipped steadily backward as the Pinchot vote from rural upstate Pennsylvania. In Allegheny county Davis easily carried Pittsburgh while incomplete returns showed Brown unable to hold his own in that metropolitan center.

The success of Davis removes from the United States senate the man whom Governor John S. Fisher appointed to take the seat made vacant by the refusal of that body to seat William S. Vare.

Senator Grundy, who leaped into the public eye through his championship of high tariff rates during last year's lobby investigation, campaigned on the basis of the necessity of a continuance of his work for protection of Pennsylvania industry. Davis also pledged support to a high tariff but in addition sought the labor vote on his record as secretary of labor for the past decade.

While Pinchot, through large pluralities in rural Pennsylvania, overcame the big Brown lead in Philadelphia on the basis of incomplete returns there was a possibility of revisions of figures. Not only was the race so close on the unofficial returns as to lack conclusiveness, there was the possibility that the party warfare would not end with the primary election.

Reports were current that in the event of a Pinchot victory a wet independent ticket would enter the field at the general election in November. Pinchot campaigned as a dry. Brown urged a referendum on the matter of repealing the state enforcement law. The wet ticket demanded repeal of the state enforcement act.

RESISTANCE CAMPAIGN IN INDIA MORE VIGOROUS

BOMBAY, May 21—(AP)—The Indian situation took a definite turn for the worse today, as the government viewed it, with the nationalist campaign greatly increased in vigor and the resistance of the authorities stiffened proportionately.

The salt pans of Dharasaha formed the chief battlegrounds—and battles really occurred today, in contrast to the more or less mild contest of passive resistance that has taken place in the same place for a week.

Violence developed today, and some 600 volunteers were reported to have been injured. In the first raid of the nationalists this morning, they split into two groups, and while the police were beating back one offensive with their sticks the others closed in on the barbed wire surrounding the salt pans. The second group also was driven off, and about 300 were injured.

The second attack was conducted similarly, and about 300 casualties resulted.

The first dramatic action on the part of the authorities came with the arrest of Mrs. Sarojini Naibu, who headed the nationalist campaign following the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi and Abbas Tyabji.

THAW TO DEBARK FOR A HOLIDAY IN FRANCE

PLYMOUTH, England, May 21.—(AP)—Harry K. Thaw stopped here this afternoon aboard the liner Ile De France long enough to see at the spot whence the Pilgrim fathers sailed for America. Later he went on to Havre, where he will debark for a holiday trip in France, Austria and Switzerland.

Thaw made no effort to go ashore and said he never had had any intentions of trying to land in England, which barred him two years ago as an undesirable alien. It was reported that he would have been barred today had he tried to land.

Fellow-passengers said Thaw had a quiet trip across the Atlantic and avoided all conversation with strangers. He took no part in the ship's games, and as he was reported to have suffered from insomnia the lights burned in his cabin almost all of every night.

BARBER DIDN'T KNOW HE WAS TALKING TO DETECTIVE

PHILADELPHIA, May 21—(AP)—Alexander Zeigler, a talkative barber, literally talked himself into jail today. The man in the chair who listened attentively was a detective.

While shaving John Perjolup of the city hall squad, Zeigler talked of the weather, the Athletics, the price of liquor and then about baseball pools, lotteries and the number game.

Russell Boyd entered the shop and the barber greeted him familiarly. From their conversation, Perkolup said, he learned that Zeigler was an agent for a baseball pool ring and that Boyd was a manager of agents.

The detective trailed Boyd to his room where he said he found five suitcases filled with baseball pool and lottery tickets. Both Boyd and Zeigler were arrested.

Detectives said headquarters of the gambling ring are in Bridgeport, Conn., and that thousands of its agents are operating throughout the east.

KING GEORGE RECEIVED THE NEW POET LAUREATE

LONDON, May 21—(AP)—The king today received John Masefield, the new poet laureate, at Buckingham palace.

A large crowd gathered outside the railings and gateway to see the man who, once a "hobo", and formerly a saloon porter and sailor, had risen to such eminence in literature as to earn the highest mark of recognition from royalty.

Masefield, though naturally retiring, possesses a sense of kindly humor and when he found a band of press and moving picture photographers confronting him at the gates, good-naturedly posed for them.

LORD DERBY SAILED FOR HOME ON MAURETANIA

NEW YORK, May 21—(AP)—Lord Derby, British turfman who took advantage of his visit to America to see the famous Kentucky race which was named after one of his ancestors, sailed for home today with his daughter-in-law, Lady Maureen Stanley, on the [illegible]unard liner Mauretania.

ANNUAL MEETING OF STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

HARTFORD, May 21.—(AP)—More than 200 men identified with the business and industrial life of Connecticut attended the annual meeting of the state chamber of commerce here today.

John E. Edgerton, president of the National Manufacturers' association; Brinton Carrigan, marketing councillor for the Scovill Manufacturing company, Waterbury, and F. F. Devereux, of the Electrical Research Products, Inc., spoke at the luncheon.

Charles S. Whitman, former governor of New York; John J. Pelley, president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, and Bruce Bairnsfather, humorist, were speakers at the banquet tonight.

President Henry Trumbull of the state chamber, presided and greetings from the state were given by Lieut.-Gov. Ernest E. Rogers.

Eleven directors were elected. They were: Percy Ainsworth of Rockville; E. G. Buckland, of New Haven; F. S. Chase, of Waterbury; Albert E. Lavery, of Bridgeport; Roy C. Wilcox, of Meriden; S. McLean Buckingham, of Hartford; Charles E. Hoyt, of South Norwalk; Frank Cheney, Jr., of South Manchester; Col. James L. Howard, of Hartford; J. K. Punderford, of New Haven, and James H. Morgan, of Hartford.

PETITIONS ASK FOR RECALL OF THE MAYOR OF DETROIT

DETROIT, May 21—(AP)—Petitions asking the recall of Mayor Charles Bowles made their appearance late today, only a few hours after the mayor had formally discharged Harold H. Emmons as police commissioner.

Twelve charges are cited, among them that the mayor had "tolerated lawlessness by law enforcement agencies."

It is the first time a recall has been attempted since this provision was included in the city charter. Under the law the petitions to become effective must bear signatures of 25 per cent of the city's qualified electors who cast votes for governor in the last general election. The number of signatures required is 89,497.

Three of the 12 charges refer to the law enforcement difficulties in which the administration has become involved. Two make reference to the reform pledges made by the mayor in his pre-election campaign. Another makes an issue of Commissioner Emmons' discharge "for ordering enforcement of law while Bowles was out of town."

THREE YOUTHS GET LIFE IMPRISONMENT FOR MURDER

ELIZABETH, N. J., May 21—(AP)—Three youths, 16, 18 and 20 years old, were convicted of murder today and sentenced to life terms in state prison. A recommendation of mercy by the jury saved them from the electric chair.

The three, George Daniecki, the youngest, William Garry and William Gallagher, smiled slightly when the jury announced its verdict.

Mrs. Daniecki, mother of George, collapsed and was carried from the room. Later she declared, "I'm glad it wasn't electrocution, but it's terrible as it is." Gallagher's young wife, Helen, 18, wept, and Garry's mother dropped her head.

The three beat to death John Hayden, 58, a watchman, with a tire iron while robbing him of $4.65 February 17. They were arrested two weeks later in Manassas, Va.

A $35,000 EXTORTION LETTER SENT RACE HORSE OWNER

BELLEVILLE, Ills., May 21.—(AP)—William Reichart, Jr., wealthy race horse owner and milling man, received a telegram Monday demanding $35,000, it was learned today. Reichart, who turned the message over to St. Clair county authorities, refused to discuss the affair, saying officials had warned him to keep it out of the papers.

Nine men, principally gamblers and bookmakers, have been kidnaped and held for ransom in the St. Louis district in recent months. A total of $150,000 is reported to have been paid for their release. A week ago extortionists sent letters signed "Red Terror" to several St. Louis bookmakers and gamblers demanding $30,000 each. According to one letter the "Red Terror" had approximately 100 on the list for a total of $3,000,000.

MAY LOSE LEG BECAUSE OF AUTO ACCIDENT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 21—Edward Brown, 16, son of Mrs. Rose Brown of 344 Valley street, will probably have to undergo an amputation of the right leg as a result of injuries sustained in an accident on Walnut street, near Prospect street, about 3:45 o'clock this afternoon when the car in which he was riding and which was driven by Frank Rice, 18, son of Carl E. Rice of Lewiston avenue, collided with one driven by Richard Edgar of South Coventry and overturned.

Edgar, who is a salesman, had come westerly on Prospect and made a left turn down Walnut street. He was driving an Overland sedan. The Rice machine, a Pontiac sedan, came down the steep Walnut street incline, crossed Prospect and went to the right of the Overland, against the corner curb. The right front fender and front bumper of the Overland collided with the left front of the Pontiac, the latter machine getting out of control and turning over on its right side, diagonally across Walnut street, opposite the Irving M. Ford store. Brown's leg went out of the right front window and was wedged beneath the machine, being extricated with considerable difficulty. He was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital where Dr. Edward J. Ottenheimer gave treatment for a severe fracture and lacerations on the right leg, near the ankle. The attending physician said later that it might become necessary to amputate the limb. The accident was investigated by Captain Frank McLean and Officer Roderick Lariviere.

SELECTMEN BELIEVE CHARGE FOR AUDIT IS TOO MUCH

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 21 — The Windham board of selectmen today issued a statement with regard to their refusal to sign the contract prepared by a special committee with Walter A. Musgrave of Hartford and Danielson, certified public accountant, for an audit of all town books. The selectmen set forth as the main reason for their refusal to sign the contract the belief that the charge of $10,000 named in the contract is considerably in excess of the sum required for an audit. The selectmen state that several bids for the audit had been received, ranging from $3,500 upward, the highest one, with the exception of that from Musgrave, being for $9,000.

Feeling that the sense of responsibility against undue expenditures lies with them, the selectmen are standing pat against signing the $10,000 contract. This contract provides for an audit of the books of the treasurer and the collectors of taxes and all other books, records, etc., of any other official as may be necessary; a report of the bonded and floating indebtedness and the condition of all funds; an audit to cover the entire period from the fiscal year 1919 to 1929, inclusive; and an agreement that the town pay the auditor as compensation a sum not in excess of $10,000, the exact sum to be arrived at by computing the customary charge for such services; payment to be made as follows: $2,000 in 30 days from time of beginning work; $2,000 in 30 days after time of first payment; balance on completion of work.

In returning the contract to the special committee the selectmen state that while the committee have the duty of selecting the auditor and have the authority to prepare a contract, yet such committee have not been deputed to enter into a contract with such auditor on behalf of the town; under the vote of the town and by reason of the general authority had by the selectmen it appears to be necessary that they, the selectmen, make the contract with the designated auditor and agree with him as to the terms of such contract.

It is state that one of the best known firms of public accountants in this state offered to cover the 10-year period for a fee of $9,000, but express the opinion that an audit should be brought down to September 16, 1930, and that an examination covering the time from October 1st, 1927, to September 16, 1930, would be all that is necessary to reach the result desired, this would be done for a much smaller fee.

In view of these offers to have the work done for less money and the fact that the town has already paid for an audit, made by its regularly elected auditors, the sum of $528 for the year 1928-1929, the selectmen point to the excessiveness of the $10,000 proposed contract. The fact that no fees are specified, except the limit of $10,000 and mention of "customary charges," appear in the contract is grounds for another objection to signature by the selectmen.

In closing the selectmen's statement reads: "It is desirable that the matter of the completion of the contract be arrived at at the earliest possible date; the work should be begun at once. The selectmen will turn over to the auditor the room now occupied by them and will use the small room between the selectmen's room and the town clerk's office, while the work on the books is in progress.

"There has been some talk of making the committee more representative of the town by adding a member from each of the Windhams and of making the number of the committee seven or nine, instead of three as at present; if this should be done it might be well to notify the principal auditors and public accountants in the state and invite them to send to the committee sealed propositions and offers in the nature of bids for doing the required work, which should go to the lowest qualified bidder; there is no sense in paying more than we have to for the job and more than it's worth simply because of the limit fixed by the town. The selectmen believe that the work can be profitably performed for less than $5,000 covering the entire 10 year period.

"We want the audit; we want it done in a business-like and friendly manner; pay what it is worth but waste no money." William A. Buck, J. C. Healy, C. Arthur Kenney, Board of Selectmen.

THREE BOYS CHARGED WITH SHOPLIFTING ARE CAUGHT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, May 21—The apprehension late this afternoon of a 15 year old Ashford boy caught in the act of shop-lifting in the W. T. Grant store led to the arrest tonight of two other boys based on similar charges. They are Ralph Goodwin, 16, of Westford Hill, Ashford and Martin Navratil, 17, of South Willington, all three students of the local trade school.

The two boys will be arraigned in police court tomorrow morning while the minor will be presented in juvenile court. John Ference, 15, also of Westford Hill has been summoned as a material witness. According to confessions, the boys have been engaged in shop-lifting in the local stores of the F. W. Woolworth Co., W. T. Grant, F. W. Grand, A. and P., Jordan Hardware and North street bakery for the past month, the total value of the goods taken being estimated at $30.

When caught this afternoon the 15-year old lad was laden down with miscellaneous merchandise, taken from the counters of the Grant Co. The arrests were made following investigation by Captain of Police Franx McLean, Officer Rudolph Laramie and County Detective Rowe H. Wheeler.

The honest reason

THERE IS ONLY one real reason for smoking and that's pleasure. A pretty good reason after all. The cigarette you select in the long run will be the one that can contribute most to your enjoyment.

Camels are made with that idea in mind—the idea that genuine smoke pleasure is what you want in a cigarette.

When you try them you will find a refreshing difference—a mild, mellow richness of choice tobaccos—a blended harmony of fragrance, silky smooth—that makes smoking a delight.

The fact that more millions have chosen Camel than any other cigarette is a tribute to an honest product, marketed for an honest purpose.

[illegible]SON

[illegible] BOYS ARRESTED, [illegible] STOLEN AUTOMOBILE

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, May 21. — Romeo [illegible], 18, and James Connors, 1[illegible], both Fall River boys, were picked up here about 4 o'clock this morning by Night Officer Laird Winchell near the Main street crossing because they were acting suspiciously and because after he took them into custody and questioned them their answers did not add up right. He summoned Chief John McFarland. The consequent interview between the local officers and the Fall River youths resulted in an admission from the visitors that they had arrived here in a stolen car—a piece of junk, it may be recorded. They had picked it up on one of their home city streets and made off with it. This afternoon Inspector Daniel Killian of the Fall River police department, which had been communicated with, came here and took the boys back to the Massachusetts city. While not explicit about the matter, the inspector declared that both boys have records.

Stephen Suboliski of Foster Center, R. I., a neighboring town ten miles east of here, was exonerated today from criminal carelessness in a finding made by Coroner Arthur G. Bill in causing the death of Leon R. Chatelle, Jr., a child, as the result of an automobile accident at Attawaugan on the afternoon of April 15.

Suboliski was driving his car along the state highway at Attawaugan when the child, as he claimed at the time, dashed out from the side of the road without warning and ran directly into the path of the machine. Suboliski stated when checked up that he had no time to stop his car, though he attempted to do so and made every effort to avoid an accident. A short time after being struck the child died at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam.

In his finding today the coroner says: The undersigned, coroner in and for the county of Windham, having received notice that Leon R. Chatelle, Jr., had died at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam from injuries received when struck by an automobile driven by Stephen Suboliski of Foster Center, R. I., on the state highway from Danielson to Putnam, in the village of Attawaugan, I viewed the body, and on April 21, I held an inquest. From the testimony taken at said inquest I find that Leon R. Chatelle, Jr., died in Putnam on April 15 from a fracture of the skull, caused by being struck by an automobile driven by said Stephen Suboliski. While there is some evidence tending to show that the said Suboliski did not have his vehicle under proper control at the time of the accident, there is not sufficient evidence of criminal carelessness to warrant his being held for trial for causing said death. I, therefore, find that said death was not caused by the criminal act, omission or carelessness of the said Stephen Suboliski or any other person."

GOES TO JAIL FOR TAKING JEWETT CITY MAN'S AUTO

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, May 21.—Leon Jasak, a Jewett City youth, went to the county jail at Brooklyn this morning after being presented in the town court of Plainfield on a charge of having appropriated, without permission, an automobile belonging to Andrew Wolfnack of Jewett City, taking it out for a spin and eventually becoming engaged in a minor accident in the [illegible] Rock district of the town of Plainfield. Jasak was unable to adjust a court sentence under which he was fined $30 and sentenced to 30 days, so went to jail. He was arrested by State Officer James Carmody of the Danielson barracks.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Louis Sheffield

A death at East Killingly this morning was that of Mrs. Grace Sheffield, 50, after an illness of several weeks. She was the wife of Louis Sheffield and had been a resident of East Killingly for a number of years. Mrs. Sheffield was born in Wrentham, Mass., a daughter of Franklin E. and Julia Hopkins Burton. The family ancestors lived in Foster and East Killingly for many years. Mrs. Sheffield leaves her husband and two daughters, Mrs. Samuel Conklin of East Killingly and Mrs. Howard Sayles of Hartford. Her mother, a resident of Providence, also survives. Mrs. Sheffield was a member of the Woman's Relief corps of this town.

Miss Dorothy Fogarty is back as a patient in the Hartford hospital to undergo another operation and will remain there for several weeks. Miss Fogarty had one of her hands badly mangled while operating a winding machine in a local mill. She spent 14 weeks in the Day Kimball hospital at Putnam prior to going to Hartford earlier in the year to remain for six more weeks. Grafting operations have helped restore her hand in part to its former usefulness, but she must undergo three more serious operations before she will have done with the surgeons for the present injury. It is anticipated that her present stay in Hartford will be from six to seven weeks.

Powdrell & Alexander, operating a number of mills in this town, have arranged to take out a blanket form of life insurance covering their employes, and the plan is now being carried out. This concern, manufacturing curtains, sold throughout the United States and Canada through their own sales organization, employs upwards of 1,600 people within the town of Killingly. The life policies arranged for the employes by the company obligate the workers to pay almost a negligible premium out of their earnings each week, the company bearing the brunt of the cost. Taking out of this insurance is in line with what has been done by various other manufacturing concerns in this territory during the past few years.

Earl N. Bassett, who has been associated with his recently deceased father, John B. Bassett, in the operation of the business of the Larkin Reed company, with a plant on East Franklin street, is to continue this manufacturing enterprise, established here about two generations ago and whose products are taken by many mills. The experienced workers in the employ of the concern are remaining and production is going on as usual.

At this week's Thursday evening meeting of the Danielson Rotary club at Paco lodge, Charles Chapman of the Gamewell Fire Alarm Telegraph company will be the speaker.

Mrs. Earle F. Winslow, wife of the assistant postmaster of the Danielson office, was reported this morning as resting comfortably after undergoing a surgical operation at St. Vincent's hospital in Worcester.

Along state-leased trout streams in this territory notices were being posted today warning fishermen that the bag limit on horn pout is 30 per day, by order of the state board of fisheries and game. The fact that a considerable number of fishermen have taken hundreds of these fish hereabouts recently is in part responsible for this restriction, which the average sportsman will applaud.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Gorman of Cottage street and their son, Gerard, have returned from a visit with relatives of Mr. Gorman at South Norwalk.

Mrs. Lucien Lambert was hostess to the members of the Entre Nous club. Winners at bridge were Mrs. Rene Buteau, Mrs. George J. Heneault and Mrs. Louis A. Woisard.

After many weeks of illness, though not in such serious condition now, Miss Nellie Head remains confined to her home on Academy street and still under the care of a physician.

Friends here today received greetings from Miss Marion Gibbs of Norwich, now visiting in Los Angeles.

An innocent enough pastime these spring nights is that of watching the flashers at Dudley, Mass., and near Union, that are guides to the mail fliers on the Boston-New York route. These flashers may be seen from high points about here.

Mrs. P. [illegible] Murray of Academy street is visiting with friends in Providence for a few days.

[illegible] farm milk, cream delivered daily. Heavy cream on sale at Evergreen restaurant. Try our Pasteurized milk. It's safe, it tastes better, it keeps longer. Tel. 264-4 or 59-5.—adv.

Planting of gardens in town is now going on apace. This applies not only to operators on a large scale, but also to those who have a little plot of ground at home where vegetables and flowers for the home are raised each year.

Numbers here continue to be urgent seekers after employment, and applications for jobs come regularly to town officials, contractors and individuals. The situation is not quite so difficult as during the cold weather season, nor yet so good as yet.

When Town Tax Collector James R. Walsh closed his office this afternoon those who had failed to pay their taxes to the town of Killingly were officially on the penalty list, which means that from now on they will be charged interest on what they owe the town at the rate of 9 per cent annually.

Fishermen who have consistently sought after brown trout in the upper reaches of the Assawaga river have had no great luck as yet, though a number of these beautiful fish have been taken from the stream during the current fishing season.

Mrs. Alfred Pluze has gone to Stamford to remain there with relatives for several weeks.

There is little action as yet on the state highway job that will result in three miles of concrete highway being built between Wauregan and Danielson this summer, and for that motorists who travel back and forth between this territory and Norwich are duly grateful, torn-up conditions in Plainfield and Jewett City being considered.

A very considerable delegation of boxing fans left here early this evening to watch the card of bouts arranged for presentation at Taftville.

TOWN SCHOOL COMMITTEE MAKES TEACHER APPOINTMENTS

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, May 21—Upon the recommendation of Superintendent of Schools Leon M. Farrin the town school committee at its May session held Tuesday evening in the law chambers of Torrey and Geissler passed favorably on the applications of several teachers, filling vacancies created in the faculties of several schools in the town, caused by recent resignations.

Miss Angelina O'Flynn for the past three years, teacher at the Sawyer district school, was elected to succeed Miss Mildred Torrey of the primary department of the Israel Putnam school. Miss Torrey submitted her resignation in honor of her approaching marriage.

The board elected Miss Anna Mae Keniry of Bristol, Conn., to succeed Miss O'Flynn as teacher of the primary grade at the Sawyer school. Miss Keniry comes to Putnam well recommended, she being a graduate of the Bristol Normal school.

Miss Sylvia Kurlan, for the past year teacher at the East Putnam school, has resigned to accept a position in Milford, Mass. She will be succeeded next September by Mrs. Clara Gibson whose election took place last night.

Mrs. Gibson is a graduate of the Willimantic Normal school and is a former teacher at the East Putnam school.

Superintendent Farrin said today that with the exception of the few appointments made at Tuesday's board meeting, the faculties of the various schools in the town will remain unchanged, unless other resignations are submitted during the summer recess.

There were 21 members of the Putnam Rotary club in attendance at the joint meeting of the Putnam, Webster, Southbridge and Uxbridge clubs which was held Tuesday evening at the municipal auditorium in Webster. The weekly noonday luncheon and meeting of the local club was omitted today. Next week, the club members will be the guests of President and Mrs. Subbob Nickoloff at their Pomfret street home.

Newspaper accounts of the investigation being made by state and county police in an effort to undo the mysterious stranger who has successfully obtained money from innumerable banks and stores in this section by passing fraudulent checks, have for the time put an end to the activities of the passer of spurious notes. Every banker in the eastern part of the state and storekeepers hereabouts are keeping a sharp lookout for the man whose description and tactics have been wired to nearly every business house.

Rumors to the effect that the [illegible] Silk company, owners of a large plant on Providence street, is negotiating the purchase of the Adams Manufacturing company plant on Main street, which is now being vacated, today were branded false by a member of the new industries committee of the chamber of commerce. As far as could be learned there is no concern at the present time contemplating the purchase of the large mill and its village of tenements. The machinery of the textile plant is being removed to the company's other plant at Shelton, Conn., where a consolidation is taking place.

Those who were up and doing at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday morning were afforded an opportunity to inspect a house on wheels, which passed through this city on its way to Boston. The strange dwelling place, encountered engine difficulties while proceeding down Hospital hill on Pomfret street. The two men stopped a few moments to make repairs and during the time they were delayed, an early morning motorist who chanced to pass the queer appearing vehicle, surmised it to be one of Al Capone's fleet of tanks used in the recent Chicago warfare and reported to the police, "That an armored car was out of commission on the hill near the hospital." Officer Joseph Page responded to the early morning call and upon arrival at the westerly end of Pomfret street, found the unique transient bungalow. The two occupants invited the policeman to a tour through their home.

The body of the moving house was mounted on a regular six cylinder automobile chassis. It was entirely constructed of steel and windows throughout were conveniently arranged with panes of non-shatterable glass. The fore-part of the van resembled the cockpit of a cabin airplane and contained the operating devices. Beds for two occupants were provided, together with all cooking conveniences and bathroom facilities of the ordinary household. A drinking fountain in one corner of the rolling ark was cleverly installed. The interior decorating scheme carried out to the last detail the ideas of the modern decorator. All furnishings were carefully and tastefully arranged to provide all the comforts of home life for the two men who were engaged in a tour of New England.

Buses of the Short Line systems, operating between Putnam and Webster and serving commuters between North Grosvenordale and this city, have had their franchise revised so that on return trips to Webster, the coaches follow the Front street and School street routes instead of the Providence, Main street to Union square route as formerly followed by the Connecticut company buses before that concern surrendered its franchise to the Short Line. Patrons of the line residing on Main street, desiring to ride from Putnam to Mechanicsville and points north, will now have to either walk to the terminal in Union square or to the corner of School and Providence streets, where they may board the coaches. Incoming buses will follow the Providence and Main street route, however. The new plan no doubt will inconvenience many accustomed to taking the bus at various stopping posts along the old route, followed for so many years by the trolleys and buses of the Connecticut company and whether it will work out to the satisfaction of all cannot be determined at the present.

In the interest of service improvement, inspectors of the telephone service were today making a canvass of the Putnam district making inquiries of subscribers for faulty apparatus, which might cause service interruptions. From a report, the work of the inspectors was light for the Putnam district of the Southern New England company is enjoying exceptionally good telephone service.

Misses Rose and Mary McCormick of North Grosvenordale, nieces of Martin J. Hogan of Tatem street, will sail for their home in Rossport, Ireland, next month. A number of Putnam people attended a farewell party tendered in their honor last evening. The Misses McCormick will return to this country in September after passing the summer months on the Emerald Isle.

The city street oiling programme for the year will be underway early next month.

Work on the million-gallon steel tank on Oak hill is progressing rapidly, with riveters heading the bolts into position with compressed air guns.

Mrs. Philip Knapp is ill at her home on Farrows street.

A night force of operators began work last evening in the weaving department of the Waterman Worsted company on Pomfret street.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving H. Miron of Florence street were in Providence Wednesday evening attending the annual fair of the order of Shriners of that city.

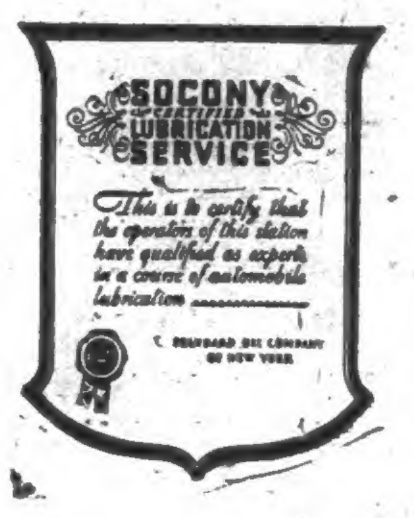
SOCONY LEADERSHIP

Last Year Socony introduced Socony Special plus Ethyl—by every test the finest motor fuel.

And now SOCONY LEADS AGAIN



SOCONY
LUBRICATION SERVICE
This is to certify that the operators of this station have qualified as experts in a course of automobile lubrication
STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK

A wonderful new service to add to the life of your car

AS A RESULT of a year of close cooperation with the leading manufacturers of motor cars, Socony announces a new lubrication service for car owners.

Eleven thousand men have been trained in 53 schools to render this service—a Certified Lubrication Service.

If you take your car today to a Socony Station displaying the special sign shown above, you can know positively that it will be lubricated right at every single point.

The cost will be no more than you have been paying for hit-or-miss lubrication service.

There are about 40 points on your car that require lubrication. The 36 popular makes of automobiles have an average of thirteen models apiece, representing the production of only the past three years.

36 cars × 13 models × 40 lubricating points = about 19,000 lubrication points which the service man must remember — as well as the proper lubricant for each.

Many cars require 7 different lubricants for different parts.

No wonder that service men cannot carry all this in their heads. No wonder, when you drive your car away from a station, you often wonder whether some points have been missed.

Working with the manufacturers, Socony engineers have developed special charts showing every lubrication point on every model of every leading make of car, and indicating just which lubricant should be used.

Special tools have been acquired to enable the service men to reach every grease cup, every joint, every single lubrication point.

Finally—in 53 schools conducted by lubrication engineers —11,000 Socony Service men have been trained to lubricate your car not only thoroughly but quickly, to save your time.

Take your car in today and have it made ready for its summer's work. Watch the chart as the service man covers each point. Note how quickly and surely he works. No guesswork, no carelessness, everything sure. That's why we call it Socony Certified Lubrication Service.

SOCONY

Certified

LUBRICATION SERVICE

What is it?

A service performed for you by men scientifically trained in schools over a period of 16 weeks, in the expert lubrication of cars.

These men work from special charts —prepared by Socony engineers with the cooperation of the car manufacturers—showing every point to be lubricated and indicating the exact kind of lubricant to use at each point, as recommended by the car manufacturers.

They have the proper tools, they use Socony lubricants—best in the world.

What it means to you

Socony Certified Lubrication Service assures proper lubrication for your car.

The use of the chart of your own car assures you that not a single lubrication point has been missed and that the proper lubricant has been used at each point.

Where can you get it?

Socony Certified Lubrication Service is available at Socony Stations displaying the sign above. More stations will be commissioned to render this service as their operators prove they are qualified.

PENNSYLVANIA RESULTS

How uncertain and complicated was the situation in the Pennsylvania primary is revealed by the indicated results. Secretary Davis, who has a long and excellent record as head of the department of labor, carried the state by what appears to be a majority vote, being far ahead of both of his opponents and assured of the nomination. It was a vote which displayed the united support which he received, but a unity which was not passed along to Francis S. Brown for governor on his ticket.

For the gubernatorial nomination, republican-wise, indications point to former Governor Pinchot unless late returns and a revision of the figures cause an upset. This appears to be one of these results which frequently happens in a three-cornered contest, for with Pinchot, a pronounced dry, getting the plurality, as now seems probable, he has been pushed into nomination by the division of the opponents of dryness, one strong factor contributing to his success being the 250,000 votes which were taken away from Brown by the support given to the wet candidate. Thus the wets have to contemplate the situation of having contributed their assistance to the support of the bone dry candidate, as against the candidate seeking a referendum on repeal of the enforcement law, quite the same as Pinchot in his effort for the senatorship two years ago insured the retirement of Pepper and the choice of Vare, a sopping wet, through the injection of his own candidacy.

The primary disclosed the republicans of that state torn by a conflict of leaders. Being impossible to come to agreement upon candidates and issues, the way was opened for a triangular contest. It accomplished the elimination of Senator Grundy and a rousing vote for Davis, in which there is to be seen a magnificent endorsement of the Hoover administration, but in the governorship contest there was a fight between the wets and the drys which on the surface indicates a dry victory but only because those who are directly opposed to the dryness of Pinchot withheld their support from the gubernatorial candidate, Brown, who really had a chance to beat Pinchot. Davis wins by a majority. Pinchot, if he wins, will do so by a narrow plurality. Pennsylvania faced a puzzle in the primary and as far as the state election goes it still has a puzzle ahead.

THE NEW JUSTICE

The confirmation of Owen J. Roberts as a justice of the United States supreme court to succeed Justice Sutherland came promptly and unanimously, quite in contrast to the attitude displayed to the two previous nominations for members of that body.

It was apparent from the committee report that it had been impossible to find anything in the career upon which a sane opposition could be hinged. He has been a pronounced success as a lawyer and he was favored by not having been a judge whose upholding of the law and standing by decisions of the highest court in the land could not be raised against him.

Particularly favorable to him was the manner in which he conducted the government's interests in the famous oil cases. He was selected for this work because of his recognized ability and special fitness. His efforts in that direction made a favorable impression and when he was nominated by the president there was nothing with which to offset it unfavorably.

Having made an enviable record as the prosecutor and handler of big cases, it was natural that he should be sought for higher service. When he was chosen as the government's prosecutor his appointment was confirmed by the United States senate. That doesn't necessarily mean that he would be insured endorsement for supreme court justice, for it hasn't followed in other cases, but there was everything in the meantime which justified such approval. The presentation of his name was received with such approval that ratification was forecast and the acceptance of him as the new justice gives promise that a valuable addition has been made to the bench of the highest court in the land. His appointment was an excellent one and the senate has shown that it recognizes it. It is decidedly gratifying that he should receive a unanimous endorsement.

NEW YORK'S POLICE HEAD

New York has a new police commissioner. He comes into office as the successor to Grover A. Whalen, who was drafted for the work a year ago without previous experience. He was brought in for the purpose of clearing up the Rothstein murder. He has made many changes in the department and instituted new policies, but the murder mystery remains.

His successor, Mr. Mulrooney, takes hold of the reins after a lifetime spent in the department. He knows the business from the bottom up. He has had long and telling experience. He isn't placed in command at this time to solve any particular situation, but because Mr. Whalen agreed to take the commissionership for a limited time, to sacrifice a $100,0000 job for one paying $10,000 out of civic pride. Having served for the period which it was understood he would direct the department, he considers the time ripe to turn over the affairs to others and inasmuch as it is understood that his successor has been chosen on his recommendation it is to be expected that his policies will be continued.

Mr. Whalen has been wrestling with no small problem in the past year, that of meeting traffic conditions. Just before retiring he put into operation the rule that jaywalking must stop. That crossings must be used by the pedestrians, and that at unguarded crossings autos must recognize the rights of the pedestrian and permit him to cross the street once he gets started.

The new commissioner therefore finds himself face to face with no easy task. He is expected to enforce the new ruling. He hasn't a Rothstein mystery but he has a job which is generally recognized as difficult, possibly more difficult than finding who killed Rothstein, for the public has been accustomed to crossing the street about where it pleased and it is going to be hard to change the custom, especially in those sections where jaywalking can be done with safety.

Because of the problems and responsibility assumed by any commissioner of the police in New York, the work of that official commands attention far beyond the confines of the big city, and there is no evidence that it will experience any decrease because of the change of department heads.

THE LONDON TREATY

From all indications there are enough senators favorably disposed to the London treaty to act favorably upon it at this session. There appears to be a desire to get it out of the way. There also is an effort to speed up the hearings which might be prolonged to the point where delayed committee reports would encourage delaying action until later in the year.

The treaty is a matter which involves the senate and not the house. It would be possible for the senate to dawdle along on this matter with lengthy hearings until everyone got so tired that adjournment would be voted without action. It is this possibility which seems to be aimed at by those who are seeking curtailed hearings and an early vote.

The effort in behalf of delay is coming from the big-navy men, some of whom are opposed to the administration, but all of whom are determined that the treaty shall not be ratified if they can prevent it.

Many a piece of legislation has been favored by the senate which could not be brought to a vote. Blocking action has been the policy under those circumstances, the hope being that through delay it would be possible to bring about a different attitude through changing conditions or possibly log rolling.

We find now that the treaty's ratification is being urged by leaders of both parties in the senate. Representatives of both parties have had a hand in the negotiations and their work has created much confidence among a majority of the senators. This doesn't mean that there are not opponents, or that opponents are not to be found on both sides of the political fence. It might not be accurate to say that the opposition is not genuine, or that it is political or obstructive, but the situation appears to be such that the majority is favorably inclined and anxious to act. Thus the struggle centers upon whether it is possible to prevent reports at this time upon which the senate can act. It is a case where lines are certain to be drawn quite differently than in other instances and it rests with those who want action at this time to so handle the situation as to get it.

LIABILITY AT CROSSINGS

There continue to be those who think that they can disregard their responsibility at railroad crossings, crash into trains and then collect damages. This helps to provide more business for the courts but decisions also continue to pile up to correct the views of those involved.

Out in Illinois a motorist drove his machine into a train at a railroad crossing, causing the derailment of the locomotive and several cars. Suit was brought and judgment has been obtained in the district court for $10,000 against the motorist. This was a reversal of the customary practice, but it is in accord with decisions which have been rendered by the supreme court concerning crossing accidents.

It tells the motorist who is inclined to duck his responsibility at crossings that he is in wrong and that he is liable for damages caused under such circumstances. There are also those cases of contributory negligence where drivers fail to protect themselves and those with them by making certain that trains are not approaching before crossing at grade.

It might be expected that such decisions would make such an impression upon other highway users when they come to railroad crossings that they would observe all necessary precautions. There may be some upon whom it does, but there continue to be plenty who are ready and willing to take desperate chances for no better reason than to boast of them later on, provided they are permitted to escape the mutilating effect of being struck by the cowcatcher or going under the wheels.

The grade crossing, whether protected or not, is a place to be careful. Neither chance nor law suit should be relied upon at such places before or after accidents. It is far better to play safe and avoid being crushed, sorry or penalized.

FIRST EDITIONS

It wouldn't have been so bad, June often reflected, if anybody under 80 ever came up to the rare book room where she worked all day long. She could have endured the monotony better if somebody with a bright smile ever invaded her domain. But as it was she was surrounded with rows on rows of rare old first editions and an air of gloom made gloomier by the studious aged professors and the honor students and old ladies who seemed to be the only ones interested in her part of the library.

June loved boks. She alored to handle the age-old volumes, to read the handwriting of famous people in their original letters. But how she wished that young faces would appear and young minds seek out the wisdom that older ones in a distant past had bequeathed here for them to find! Then one day something unusual happened.

Henry Whipple, richest banker in Pineville, died and left his entire Washington collection, containing priceless manuscripts and first editions, to the Pineville library. June was in ecstasy. In the course of several days during which she labored lovingly over her task of cataloguing Mr. Whipple's gifts, June came upon something which made her heart beat fast. Opening a large portfolio she found a miniature album which contained three portraits—an oldish man, Mr. Whipple undoubtedly; a woman, obviously his wife, and the finest looking young man June ever had seen. This, she guessed, was Mr. Whipple's son.

"At least," thought June, "if I cannot have young faces near me, I can have a picture of one." And she arranged the album open on her desk so that the young man could gaze out at her all day.

From that moment June found herself looking much too often at young Mr. Whipple's picture. The merry eyes seemed to be looking straight into hers. In fact, the picture became so real that she found herself holding imaginary conversations with it.

One afternoon when June came back from lunch her assistant announced: "A young man was up here looking for you." A young man? Impossible, thought June.

"He wanted to see whoever was in charge here," went on Miss Jacobs, "and he was terribly disappointed when I told him you wouldn't be back for an hour. He couldn't wait."

The next day at noon June made a decision. She would go without her lunch in the hope that the same young man would return. But though she waited and waited and grew hungrier and hungrier no one came and she spent another wretched afternoon bemoaning her solitary fate.

But just before noon next day, as June sat perched on the top rung of the little wall ladder, putting away some first editions of Shakespeare, she was astonished to hear a bright masculine voice calling up to her, and looking down she perceived—could it be—the portrait on her desk, in the flesh!

"I say," called the portrait, "could you come down a moment? I've something to ask you." June scrambled down.

"I've been up here before," said Mr. Whipple—she knew it was he—"to see you. Did you by any chance find, in my dad's collection, some portraits? They're of no value except to my mother, and she's wild to have them back." June blushed furiously. The telltale portraits were at that moment adorning her desk behind the book stacks.

"I think," fibbed June, "that I did run across some pictures. I'll see if I can find them."

"Five minutes later June stepped from behind the bookshelves with the miniature album in her hand.

"Is this," she asked innocently, "what you're looking for?" Mr. Whipple smiled acknowledgment.

"This is a great place," he said conversationally, looking about him.

"I think so," said June. "I love these old books."

"You'd like our library at home," said Mr. Whipple. "We've no end of interesting first editions. Could you spare the time to run over there with me for lunch?" Could she? June's shining eyes answered for her.

"Do you know," said Mr. Whipple as they drove along the boulevard, "my mother will be delighted to have these portraits back. She'll give you a nice reward for finding them."

"Oh, no," said June quickly. "It was a pleasure." Reward! She could scarcely refrain from telling Mr. Whipple that his appearance that morning was the nicest reward she could possibly have wanted!—Chicago News.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 21—Whenever Henry Fountain Ashurst gets to his feet in the senate, gallery goers may expect pleasing entertainment.

He has oratorical abilities far beyond the run-of-the-mill senator.

Ashurst is one of the biggest men physically in the senate, for one thing, standing upward of six feet.

Also, he possesses terrific vocal horse power when he cares to use it. Senator Gould of Maine sadly admitted this in a tilt with the Arizonan.

"I cannot holler as loud as he (Ashurst) can, but I can tell the other side of the story," he said.

Ready Wit

But what marks Ashurst particularly is his ready wit, a seeming desire never to be personally offensive to his colleagues in the shafts he drives with unerring tongue. He appears to get huge joy out of verbal battling for the sake of the game itself, as well as that of the cause he espouses.

He even gets pleasure out of other senators' forays. He will sit in his place and nod with sympathetic vigor over somebody else's gusty outbursts, even when he disagrees with what is actually being said. Or he will frown portentously when the speaker frowns; smile engagingly when the words to which he listens would seem to call for smiling delivery. It is the Ashurst actor complex always at work within him.

Eloquence

And now and then, usually most unexpectedly even to himself, the big Arizonan, who is launched on his fourth term in the senate, breaks out into a speech that proves him gifted with an eloquence and dramatic power unique among political orators these prosaic days. He was thus moved during the Mexican immigration debate to reaffirm that his opposition to immigration came of no race prejudice.

"We have drawn upon other races of the world for our own culture," Ashhurst said. "Name our language; it is only 60 per cent English. Our election laws were drawn from Australia, and the decimal money system from Holland. Name anything of our culture that is of particular value and it will be found that we drew the germ of its truth and beauty from some other country.

"The people of the British Isles gave us the stately language of Milton and Shakespeare, of Burns and Moore and Byron. The Irish race has furnished to us the bravest and most eloquent of men. How could I have a prejudice against Italy, which have given to the world her poems of stone and her heritage of music?

"But we cannot absorb more than 100,000 immigrants annually. If we atempt to do it, that American lamp which illuminates the earth will be extinguished, never to be relumed in a hundred years."

Not bad for an off-hand effort by an ex-cowpuncher whose education began, in part, in a Stockton, California, business college.

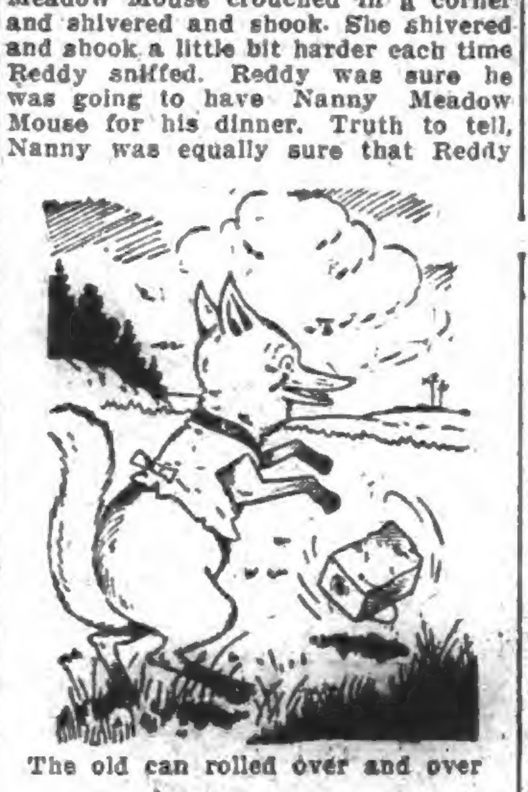
BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

A Prison Becomes a Castle

What shuts you in without a doubt
Is also shutting others out.
—Nanny Meadow Mouse.

Reddy Fox sniffed and sniffed at the round hole in the top of the tin can in the bushes on the edge of the Green Meadows. With each sniff he grinned more broadly than before. Down below, inside that can, Nanny Meadow Mouse crouched in a corner and shivered and shook. She shivered and shook a little bit harder each time Reddy sniffed. Reddy was sure he was going to have Nanny Meadow Mouse for his dinner. Truth to tell, Nanny was equally sure that Reddy was right. Reddy knew that he had her trapped in that can and she knew it, too. But for the time being both quite overlooked the difference between being inside and outside.



The old can rolled over and over

"So I've caught you at last, Nanny Meadow Mouse!" exclaimed Reddy. "I knew I would sooner or later."

It was then that Nanny suddenly realized that she wasn't really caught. Anyway, if she was caught, it was the can that had caught her and not Reddy Fox. "You haven't got me as yet," squeaked Nanny.

Reddy chuckled. "Try to escape," said he.

Now, this was the last thing that Nanny Meadow Mouse intended to do. In the first place, she couldn't try to get out, or rather she couldn't get out if she tried, so long as that can remained standing upright. Nanny was beginning to understand that what had been her prison was now a castle. It might be keeping her in, but it was keeping Reddy Fox out. Reddy tried to put his paw in the little round hole. He didn't succeed very well. But he did tip the can over. The can lay on its inside. There was nothing now to prevent Nanny's getting out. That is, there was nothing but the fact that Reddy Fox was waiting for her. Reddy sniffed at the little round hole. Then he once more tried to put his paw in. Nanny, crouched in a far corner, managed to grin this time. She didn't believe Reddy could get his paw in, but if he did it wouldn't matter. He couldn't possibly reach her. And she could set her sharp little teeth in that black paw if she left like it.

It was about this time that Reddy began to appreciate the fact that while Nanny was so near, she was also very far away. He couldn't get into that can and he couldn't make her come out of that can, unless he did it by frightening her. So Reddy began jumping on that can and knocking it about, hoping that Nanny would be so frightened that she would run out. But Nanny was too wise a small person to do anything of the kind. He was simply making her more uncomfortable, rather than frightening her. You see, she knew that all this shaking up and knocking about meant that Reddy Fox couldn't get her.

The old can rolled over and over. Two or three times Reddy sent it end over end. Each time he followed it with a bound, to be ready to pounce on Nanny when she should run out. But Nanny didn't run out. Then Reddy did a foolish thing. He lost his temper. He bit at that can. He jumped on it. He kicked it, just as if it were something alive and could feel what he was doing. Inside, Nanny was most uncomfortable. She was, of course, dreadfully frightened, but she was wise enough to take care to keep away from that little round doorway.

Finally, Reddy Fox gave up. There was nothing else to do. He began to see how foolish he had been. "What I should have done," said Reddy, "was to have quietly hidden and not let Nanny know that I was anywhere around. Then she would have come out and I should have had no trouble at all in catching her."

So it was that Nanny Meadow Mouse was really better off than she had been before Reddy Fox found her. He had knocked that old can over, which made it easy for her to get out now when she wanted to. Her prison had, indeed, become her castle.

YOUR HEALTH

War On The Fly

By Dr. J. C. Anderson, Austin, Texas.
(From Gorgas Memorial Institute)

Science has proved that some of the most serious diseases of men are caused or transmitted by insects. Even if this were not true, the discomfort and the physical and mental irritation caused by insect pests would be reason enough for their annihilation. But being true, it leaves no excuse for our letting such criminals as flies contrive to live.

Six methods of attacking flies are recommended.

1.—See that your screens are in good condition. Whether painted screen wire, galvanized wire, or copper or bronze wire is used, purchase only the 16 or 18 mesh size. Anyone who screens with 12 or 14 mesh will be disappointed in the results.

2. Keep the fly out of your kitchen. The female cannot lay her eggs until after she has had a full meal or rich food, such as butter, cream, and sweet stuffs.

3. Keep the fly away from the baby. Thousands of germs cling to a fly, which leaves a trail of these on any person it touches.

4. Get after the breeding places early. Keep your garbage can tightly covered. The fly feeds and breeds in the refuse such cans contain. See that your back yard is free from filth, and that manure is hauled away at least weekly from stables in your neighborhood.

5. Place traps in your yard some distance from the house, so that you can destroy the pests before they have a chance to get into your home.

6. Keep tab on your grocery and meat market. If there are flies buzzing about, you may rest assured the store is not clean. By observing rules of cleanliness and using traps, a proprietor can practically eliminate flies. If he does not, take your trade to one who does.

"Swat the fly" is a good maxim, but it is not the whole story. Fight the pest in every possible way, and watch the health level rise.

Little Talks on Thrift

Joy of Thrift Not In Scrimping But In Developing True Progress

A reader of this department writes: "I should like to have information on the amount of one's income to be spent on each item."

It would not be possible to give an answer to this question for the reason that different conditions prevail with each individual: We each have our problems of personal economics and what might be considered good thrift upon the part of one person might be quite the opposite for another. We are all striving to make progress but each of us is confronted by situations that must be taken into consideration in planning our budgets.

There are certain principles, however, to which we should all adhere. We should bear in mind that thrift is not merely saving money. It is the progress of thriving. We should save as much money as possible and most persons are so situated that they can to advantage save from 5 per cent to 25 per cent of their incomes but we should not save money to the detriment of our personal welfare. We must conserve our health and maintain a standard of living commensurate with our position in the world. If we are young we must secure an education. We must do our share in contributing to worthy religious and philanthropic movements. We must not get into a rut with means that we should read good books, patronize good forms of entertainment and broaden ourselves through travel. At the same time we must do none of these things wastefully. Thrift is the elimination of waste.

The science of personal management involves ingenuity and resourcefulness. We can not work out our destiny by fixed rule. We must think out our plans and have sufficient willpower and character to do what we know is for our best. In this way we develop judgment and administrative ability.

The joy of thrift is not in scrimping and saving every penny possible and putting it in a savings bank. The joy of thrift is in planning our personal affairs so that we shall truly thrive. The test of thrift is our ability in spite of all odds and obstacles to carry a well ordered system of personal advancement.—By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.

A HISTORY OF CONNECTICUT INDUSTRY

Released by Manufacturers Association of Connecticut

The Atwood Machine Company, Stonington.

In 1852 in the town of Atwoodville, Conn., J. E. Atwood started to build machinery for the twisting and spinning of silk. Intermittently during the next 12 years, Mr. Atwood continued making machinery of this character.

In 1864, J. E. Atwood, with his son, Eugene, started in anew to continue this line of work in Conantville. In 1870 this small plant was moved from Conantville to Willimantic. Obstacles soon arose to discourage the efforts of these two men. In April, 1874, their shop in Willimantic was burned to the ground, destroying all patterns, jigs and drawings. Thoroughly believing in the future of their product they started again, this time in Stonington, making new patterns and jigs from memory and in many cases designing new and improved parts.

The new location in Stonington was assisted [illegible] an old stone mill built for the manufacture of woolens and later for making Joslyn firearms. This stone building, since modernized, is a part of the present modern factory.

From this fresh start in Stonington has developed the leading plant for the manufacture of throwing machinery made for the workers of silk and rayon throughout the world. The company normally employs from 400 to 600 people and maintains a sales office in five strategic points in the United States and has agents in Europe, South America, Australia, India, China and Japan.

The present officers guiding the work of this active industry are: F. F. Dodge, president; E. H. Peirce, vice president and general manager; C. H. Cowan, second vice president; F. E. Harrington, secretary and assistant treasurer; E. H. Cutler, treasurer and

Shopping in Paris

A woman who recently returned from a trip abroad was telling her efforts to buy a spool of thread in Paris. Not knowing the word for thread, she strolled through one of the big department stores, seeking a notion counter, so she could point out the desired article.

She searched in vain, and was about to give it up when she found a long thread hanging from her bead purse. She held it up to the saleswoman who was trying to understand her request and was rewarded by an instant smile and "Our, Madame," as the saleswoman rushed off. A minute later she returned triumphantly bearing scissors with which to cut off the thread—and the shopper went back to the hotel to ask the word for "thread."

Manufactures have proposed that the Union of South Africa bar importation of second hand clothing, contending that it is unhygienic.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall or Liggett Drug Store.

A prominent citizen of New London county, who is thoroughly alive to the seriousness of the forest fire situation in the county, has offered a reward of $100.00 to any one who furnishes sufficient information to convict the party responsible for the fire of May 2, 3 and 4, which burned such a large area in North Stonington near the Ledyard line, and a $25.00 reward for information leading to the conviction of any person setting any fire without a permit from the fire warden in the towns of North Stonington, Preston, or Ledyard. This reward to be good until the parties responsible for four fires have been convicted.

Ends Piles Quick

No Salves or Cutting

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal medicine can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, removes this congestion and strengthens the affected parts.

HEM-ROID is now sold by druggists everywhere, and has such a wonderful record of success even in chronic and stubborn cases that Lee & Osgood invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID and guarantees money-back if it does not end all Pile misery.

PUBLIC SHOULD APPRECIATE PUBLIC SCHOOL SERVICE

Developing public appreciation of public school service was the subject of a most interesting talk given before members of the Teachers league at Broadway school Wednesday afternoon.

The speaker was Miss Sara H. Fahey of New York city, eastern regional director of the department of class-room teachers of the National Education association. She informed her hearers that teachers are partly to blame for this lack of appreciation because they are so busy doing their daily work, trying to teach the children of the public to become worthy citizens of the state and country that they have little time or strength left to acquaint the public with the needs of the profession.

Miss Fahey believes that the public in general always wants its children to have the best possible advantages. Miss Geraldine Enos, vice president of the league, introduced the speaker.

COMMISSIONER MACDONALD TELLS OF LOCAL ROAD PLANS

State Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald, who was the speaker here Tuesday night at the Arcanum club membership supper gave some interesting information about plans of the state department regarding local road changes.

He spoke of Yantic as being one of the places which they call "critical points," where the trunk lines converge and find their outlet through a single road which is in poor shape. He mentioned that trouble over some meadows had compelled the state department to abandon plans that had been worked out here and that new plans will be worked out. It is probable that about $1,000,000 will be spent at this point, but it will not be completed for several years. Grade crossings are to be eliminated as far as possible.
